Eldon & St. Louis RR.—Proposed $3,000,000 Mortgage.—The stockholders will vote at Mexico, Mo., on May 23 on a proposition to issue $3,000,000 first mortgage bonds. The road is projected from Eldon, Iowa, to Mexico, Mo., 132 miles.

Empire Steel & Iron Co.—New Enterprise.—Rogers, Brown & Co. announce that this company, recently incorporated with $5,000,000 of authorized capital (see V. 68, p. 524), has purchased the furnace and ore properties at Greensboro, N. C., and will put the furnace in blast as soon as practicable—probably in May. The company will have no securities to offer. It will devote itself wholly to the development of its properties, which it is intimated may embrace other furnaces and mines besides those at Greensboro. A press dispatch on April 3 from Birmingham, Ala., says the company has bought from the Bessemer Land & Improvement Co. the Bay State Iron Furnace built at Fort Payne ten years ago, but idle for several years past.—V. 68, p. 524.

Federal Sewer Pipe Co.—Prospectus.—Prospectus says:

It is proposed to organize under the laws of Delaware the Federal Sewer Pipe Co., which it is intended shall take over the following leading companies or interests engaged in the manufacture of sewer pipe and kindred products, viz.: Standard Sewer Pipe Co., Buffalo Sewer Pipe Co., J. V. Rose, Patton Clay Co., Penn. Sewer Pipe Co., Buckeye Sewer Pipe Co., Summit Sewer Pipe Co., Harry Thompson, Crown Fire Clay Co., Uhrichville Fire Clay Co., Diamond Fire Clay Co., Gt. West Fire Clay Co., Ohio Valley Fire Clay Co., P. Connor, Freeman Fire Clay Co., J. Lyth & Sons, Knowles, Taylor & Anderson Co., Myers, Hartford Co., Toronto Fire Clay Mfg. Co., H. B. Camp Co., McKilfresh Clay Co., Bennett Sewer Pipe Co., Grand Lodge Sewer Pipe Co., Rochester Sewer Pipe Co., Pgh. Clay Manufacturing Co., Sharon Clay Manufacturing Co., Lock Haven Clay Works, Akron Sewer Pipe Co., Robinson Bros. & Co., Hill Sewer Pipe Co., National Sewer Pipe Co., J. J. Mazure, Buckeye Fire Clay Co., Columbia Sewer Pipe Co., John Franey's Sons & Co., the Kennedy-Kling Co., Calumet Fire Clay Co., Empire Fire Clay Co., N. U. Walker Clay Manufacturing Co., Ohio Vitrifed Pipe Co., Cincinnati Sewer Pipe Co., State Line Sewer Pipe Co., McMahon, Porter & Co., Goshner, McAdoo & Co., Jackson Fire Clay Co.

The company is to be authorized to issue $12,500,000 of 7 per cent non-cumulative preferred stock (preferred as to capital and dividends), and $12,500,000 of common stock; $1,750,000 of the preferred and $1,750,000 of the common stock are to be retained in the treasury for additional facilities, improvements or for other corporate purposes.

The constituent companies, as partnerships and individuals are to deliver their properties, plants, materials, merchandise, contracts, patents, trade marks and good-will to the new company free of all indebtedness. The plants, exclusive of good-will, have been appraised by competent committees, selected by the owners of the plants, at the sum of $3,390,000. The "quick assets" of the constituent companies to be received into the treasury of the new company exceed $1,000,000, and the additional working capital provided under the plan is the further sum of $750,000 in cash. It is estimated that the economies resulting from a single management of all the concerns will, in addition to the present earnings and without any material advance in prices, increase the net profits more than $900,000 per annum. The owners of the plants have accepted in payment for their plants and underwritten about 80 per cent of the securities now to be issued. The manufacturers having the largest business and the widest and most successful experience have consented to serve as directors of the new company and to manage its affairs.

For the purpose of carrying out the above plan Simon Borg & Co. and P. J. Goodhart & Co. jointly offer for subscription $3,750,000 preferred stock at par, with an equal amount of common stock.—V. 68, p. 618.

Port Wayne Electric Corporation.—Sale.—At Indianapolis, on March 31, Judge Baker, of the Federal Court, entered an order directing that the company's plant be offered for sale on April 18 and thereafter until an acceptable offer be received. A press dispatch says:

The plant, as shown to the Court, is appraised at $700,000, with total liabilities of $1,600,000. The company owes directly $900,000, the balance being liens as indorsers, on which it is expected that the principals will pay off sufficient to reduce the liabilities to $1,200,000.

The General Electric Co. has held a first mortgage on the plant for $255,000; $41,000 of debenture 6s, due 1914, have been sold at auction recently at 5.—V. 68, p. 282.

Galveston La Porte & Houston RR.—Galveston Houston & Northern Ry.—Successor Company.—The charter of the Galveston Houston & Northern Ry. Co., the successor to the Galveston La Porte & Houston RR., was filed at Austin, Tex., March 31. The principal office is located at Houston, and the company has a capital stock of $500,000. The incorporators are Charles S. Broadhead, Delacy Chandler, John H. Atkinson, W. B. Munson and J. T. Munson. L. J. Smith, who bid in the road at foreclosure sale, assigned his interest to Charles S. Broadhead, by whom the final payment of purchase money was made and to whom the road was ordered, on March 29, to be transferred. A press dispatch says:

A legal struggle will come in the disposition of the $125,000 for which the road was purchased. The outstanding claims amount to over $1,300,000. Of this amount $243,000 are receiver's certificates. The bondholders will resist the payment of these on the ground that they had no notice of issue, to which they were entitled under the law.—V. 68, p. 618.

Genesee & Wyoming Valley RR.—Reorganized.—The Genesee & Wyoming Valley RR. was incorporated March 25 with $100,000 capital stock as successor of the Genesee & Wyoming Railway. The directors are:

Joseph N. Smith of Lynn, Mass.; Milo M. Belding, Jr., and Edmonds Putney of New York City; Edward L. Fuller of Scranton, Pa.; Henry D. Fuller of Bayonne City, N. J.; David Hyman of Genesee and Frank P. Blade of Westfield, N. J.—V. 67, p. 1207.

Greger Manufacturing Co.—Listed in Philadelphia.—The company's $500,000 common stock (shares $10 each full paid) has been listed on the Philadelphia Stock Exchange. From an official statement come the following facts:

The company was incorporated in New Jersey Dec. 14, 1898, to manufacture patented noiseless devices for manhole coverings in sewers, etc.; also gate valves to regulate flow of water, gas and oil, improved gas-meters, etc. Its property consists of United States patents, machinery, patterns, drawings, material and other equipment in works (leased with option of purchase) located on the east side of 22d St., between Washington Ave. and Alter St., Philadelphia. Of the capital stock ($500,000, all issued) $10,000 was issued for cash and $490,000 issued for patent rights, machinery, etc. No funded debt. No floating debt.

A Philadelphia paper says that the company manufactures an asphaltum filled or noiseless manhole covering, which has been adopted by the Electric Bureau of Philadelphia on the underground system for municipal lighting, and is also used in the sewerage systems of Philadelphia and New York.

Herring—Hall—Marvin Co.—Safe Consolidation.—Plan Still Unmatured.—The plans for uniting the safe manufacturers of the country are still unmatured, and no prospectus is obtainable. Gonnor & Co., No. 31 Nassau Street, are interested in the undertaking.—V. 68, p. 618.

Houston (Tex.) Water Co.—Re-incorporation, Etc.—The Houston Water Co. was recently incorporated with $240,000 of capital stock as successor of the Houston Water Works Co. President Scanlan says:

The change was made simply because the charter of the old company had expired and we had to reorganize to renew our corporate rights. The new company has assumed all the liabilities of the old.

The claim of the Phoenix Lumber Co. to recover $80,000 for loss by fire eight or nine years ago as a result, it is claimed, of insufficient water pressure is still kept alive and an application for a receiver was recently made on account of it.

Hudson Tunnel Ry.—Sale May 2.—The foreclosure sale is advertised for May 2 at Jersey City. The reorganization plan adopted in June, 1896, and much interesting information regarding the state of the enterprise was in V. 62, p. 1177 and V. 63, p. 151.—V. 68, p. 493.

Independent Electric Light & Power Co. of San Francisco.—New Enterprise.—This company, with a capital of $10,000,000, has filed articles of incorporation with the County Clerk at San Francisco. The directors are Claus Spreckels, John S. Spreckels, Adolph B. Spreckels, Charles E. Hume and W. K. Gibson.

Indiana Electric RR. Co. of Goshen, Etc., Ind.—Consolidated Company.—This company, with $1,000,000 of authorized capital stock, was organized at Goshen, Ind., on March 28, to unite the old Indiana Electric Railway Co. in Goshen and Elkhart with the South Bend Street Ry., the South Bend & Elkhart Street Ry. and the General Power & Quick Transit Co. When the line between Elkhart and Mishawaka is completed this spring the company will have a complete line from Goshen to South Bend and a system aggregating 45 miles of track.—V. 61, p. 925.

Indianapolis Street Ry.—Contract Signed.—The contract with the city was signed on Thursday. The terms of this contract as originally submitted were shown in our issue of March 23, p. 371. At last accounts no prospectus had been published (the one printed having been an old one), but the understanding was that the share capital would be $5,000,000 and that $3,750,000 new 4 per cent bonds would be issued, subject to the $1,000,000 of existing bonds (see V. 68, p. 473). City requires payment of $1,260,000 cash in instalments.—V. 68, p. 618.

Indo-Egyptian Compress Co.—Incorporated.—This company has been incorporated at Trenton, N. J., with authorized capital stock of $15,000,000 [$10,000 paid in], by Charles P. Howland and Hugh A. Bayne of New York and George Welwood Murray of Montclair.

International Navigation Co.—New Mortgage Filed.—The company has filed its new mortgage for $20,000,000 on all its real estate, steamships, stocks and privileges, including piers Nos. 14 and 15, North River, to the Fidelity Insurance, Trust & Safe Deposit Co., as trustees.—V. 68, p. 524.

International Power Company.—Prospectus.—A prospectus gives the following information regarding this company, recently known as the International Air Power Co.:

The company is a New Jersey corporation, capitalized at $4,000,000, divided as follows: Preferred stock, $800,000; common stock, $7,400,000. It has purchased the Rhode Island Locomotive Works of Providence, R. I., and the plants of the American Wheelock Engine Co., of Worcester, Mass., together with the patents and business of both these concerns, and has arranged to purchase a controlling interest in all the rights of the Hooley-Knight system of compressed air. While the company will continue the manufacture of stationary engines and locomotives at Worcester and Providence, respectively, its chief specialty will be the manufacture of the autotruck. It will also produce air locomotives, air cars and air compressors to furnish power to the autotrucks, air cars and air locomotives. The International company will act as a parent concern to autotruck companies, which it is intended to organize in all of the larger cities of the world.

The company is to start out free from floating debt and with a little over $2,000,000 cash for working capital and extensions and improvements, its assets being: Properties, patents, manufacturing rights, contracts on hand, $3,000,000; cash capital, about $2,000,000; total, $8,000,000. On a conservative basis the annual profits are estimated as follows: From steam locomotive business, $250,000; from stationary steam engine business, $500,000; from air motor business, $2,000,000; total, $2,750,000.

The company has an order for 1,000 autotrucks for the New York Autotruck Company. As the substitution of electric, cable and compressed air propulsion for 10,000 horses on the street car lines of New York City justified a capitalization of over $200,000,000 the substitution of compressed air power for 110,000 horses used in the trucking business in the same proportion should show a fair return on a capitalization of $2,000,000,000.

It is said to have been the original intention to issue only common stock, but certain of the interests bought out demanded preferred stock and $300,000 was issued to take care of them. All of the stock to be offered for subscription is reported as underwritten, and the public will be asked to take no hand in the project.

The Corliss Steam Engine Works at Providence, control of which was arranged for last February (see V. 68, p. 282), were taken over last week. President Joseph H. Hoadley is quoted as saying:

The International Power Co. has now absolute control of every piece of property of the Corliss Co. as an asset in the mortgage which we hold. The plant is valued at $2,000,000 and is one of the best known engine works in the world. It is our intention to concentrate the whole compressed air industry at Providence. Already application has been made for 10,000 autotrucks. Our plants, with their present equipment, can produce at least 4,000 of these annually.—V. 68, p. 571.

Jacksonville Tampa & Key West Ry.—Savannah Florida & Western Ry.—Purchased.—The main line of the Jacksonville Tampa & Key West Railway was purchased at foreclosure sale on Tuesday by the Plant Investment Co., owners of the Savannah Florida & Western and other lines, for $600,000. The Atlantic Coast St. Johns & Indian River Division was knocked down to T. Sanford Beatty of New York for $60,000. By purchase of the main line the Plant system obtains a through line from Tampa to Charleston via Jacksonville.

Sale of Deposited Bonds.—The Smith Committee had previously sold its certificates to the Plant system at 45 per cent, of which 40 per cent is to be paid in cash immediately, and 5 per cent later on, provided, however, that the claims prior to the first mortgage do not exceed $350,000. In case they should exceed this amount the bondholders are to make good the difference, and the 5 per cent is held back for that purpose. The Lisman Committee, which was organized for the purpose of preventing an assessment, and selling the road, has sold its bonds to the Plant System for cash, and its certificates have gone in on the same basis as those of the Smith Committee. The total issue of first mortgage bonds was $1,566,000, nearly all of which have accepted the offer of the Plant Investment Company. The final notice to non-assenting bondholders appears in our advertising columns.—V. 68, p. 618, 86.

Kansas City Pittsburg & Gulf RR.—Default.—Receivers Appointed.—At a late hour on March 31 Judge Gibson of the City Court at Kansas City, on application of C. E. Granis of New Haven, a stockholder, appointed E. L. Martin, Robert Gillhall and J. McD. Trimble—respectively Vice-President, General Manager and General Counsel of the road—to be receivers of the property. President Stilwell says:

The uncared-for indebtedness, including the $575,000 coupons due April 1, is only $1,000,000, or 5 per cent of the capital. The earnings of the road for March were $336,000, far in excess of anything that I had expected before the canal was completed. With this amount of indebtedness it will be easy to reorganize the road and to put it on its feet in a very short time. In three or four months the road, if not interfered with, would have paid its floating debt without any trouble, and would have had to take care only of its coupons.

Interest on the deposited bonds was advanced at maturity, April 1, at the Mercantile Trust Co., New York, and at the office of Adolph Boissevain, in Amsterdam, for account of the reorganization committee, as stated in the advertisement in CHRONICLE of last week.

Second Application for a Receiver.—On April 6 the State Trust Co. of New York, one of the trustees under the first mortgage, filed suit in the Federal Court at Kansas City to foreclose the mortgage and for the appointment of a receiver in the interests of the bondholders. The Missouri Kansas & Texas Trust Co., as the other trustee, is made a defendant in the suit. The present receivers, it is alleged, represent the former management and cannot be expected to administer the trust for the best interests of the bondholders.—V. 68, p. 618.

Kinloch Telephone Co. of St. Louis.—Mortgage.—The company has placed on record a mortgage dated August 1, 1888, to the Mississippi Valley Trust Co., as trustee, to secure an authorized issue of $2,000,000 of 30-year 6 per cent first mortgage gold bonds. The mortgage provides that there shall be certified $1,400,000 upon present plant, viz.:

A switch board with a capacity of 6,160 lines, a complete subway system in the conduit district, poll lines covering over 9,000 poles, 6,160 telephone instruments, 4,500 of which are installed and in service by subscribers in St. Louis and East St. Louis, etc.

The remaining $600,000 bonds are to be reserved to meet 90 per cent of the cost of extensions or betterments, but only when the revenue is to be increased thereby to show 6 per cent on the bonds issued therefor.—V. 68, p. 336.

Lanyon Zinc Co.—Mortgage.—The company has made a mortgage for $2,000,000 to the Colonial Trust Co. of New York, as trustee.—V. 68, p. 428.

Lowell Lawrence & Haverhill Street Ry.—Haverhill & Amesbury Street Ry.—Newburyport & Amesbury RR.—Brookton Street Ry.—Purchased by a Syndicate.—Control of these Massachusetts companies, it is understood, has been acquired by a syndicate. It is suggested that the same syndicate is probably back of the purchase of the Lynn & Boston system of 150 miles from the North Shore Traction Co. [see below], and that the plan may be to bring the trolley companies in the region tributary to Boston under one management. The companies above named have the following amounts of road and capitalization:

Company.	Miles.	Stock.	Funded debt.
Lowell Lawrence & Haverhill....	64½	$1,500,000	$1,475,000
Haverhill & Amesbury.....	26	150,000	500,000
Newburyport & Amesbury.....	20	80,000	358,000
Brookton Street Ry.....	43	586,000	750,000
Lynn & Boston RR.....	150	1,266,000	5,699,000

—V. 65, p. 1022; V. 68, p. 619.

Manhattan (Elevated) Railway.—Third Avenue RR.—Traffic Agreement.—The following official announcement was made on Monday: A traffic agreement, to take effect not later than May 1, 1899, has been entered into between the Manhattan Elevated system and the Third Avenue Railway system [comprising the Third Avenue RR., the Dry Dock East Broadway & Battery RR., the Forty-second Street Manhattanville & St. Nicholas Avenue RR. and the Union Railway lines], providing for cross-town transfers to the elevated railways at Canal Street, Grand Street, 42d Street, 110th Street, 125th Street, 135th Street and at all the streets in the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth wards where connection is made between the Suburban Elevated and the Union Railway, for a transfer fee of 3 cents.

Passengers will also be able to transfer at all Third Avenue elevated stations between the City Hall and 177th Street to the surface cars beneath, and continue their journey to intermediate streets, practically making each street corner an elevated railway station.

President Gould, of the Manhattan Railway, says:

We not only practically extend the elevated system to Yonkers and New Rochelle, but by cross-town lines we secure direct connection with the Pennsylvania Railroad at Desbrosses and Cortlandt Streets, as well as other important ferries on the east and west side. A strong point in the plan is that it takes effect and will produce results to all concerned at once. We are also at work on the question of joint power houses and an even closer consolidation of the two systems.

The Union Railway is now being operated electrically, and the other lines of the Third Avenue system are in process of change to the underground trolley system, which will soon be completed. The Manhattan Company has secured the capital necessary for the change of its system to a third-rail trolley road, and the alliance of the two systems will permit the development of the express service on the elevated structure, with frequent trains running from thirty to forty miles an hour, and of the local and cross-town traffic on the surface lines, as is proposed in Brooklyn.

A Railroad, not a Street Railway.—Attorney General Davies, at Albany, on Monday, decided that the Manhattan Railway is a railroad, not a street railway corporation, and that its bonds are a legal investment for savings banks.

Acquisition.—The reported acquisition by the Third Avenue RR. Co. of the Tarrytown White Plains & Mamaroneck Ry. is mentioned under caption of that company.—V. 68, p. 618, 525.

Mexican National RR.—Called Bonds.—Notice is given that 116 bonds of $1,000 each of the six per cent forty year first mortgage bonds (prior lien) issue of $12,500,000, have been drawn for payment at par and will be paid on June 1, at the agency of the Company in New York, or, at the option of holders in London, at the counting house of Messrs. Matheson & Co., No. 3 Lombard Street, at a rate to be hereafter announced.—V. 68, p. 614, 618, 624.

Michigan Telephone Co.—Listed in Boston.—The $2,500,000 of capital stock of this company, now controlled by the Erie Telegraph & Telephone Co., has been listed in Boston. Charles J. Glidden is President.—V. 68, p. 331.

Minneapolis & St. Louis RR.—Absorbed.—Deeds have been filed transferring to the Minneapolis & St. Louis the 123 miles of the Wisconsin Minnesota & Pacific, which were recently purchased per plan in V. 68, p. 130, 332.—V. 68, p. 332.

Nashville Street Ry.—Called Bonds.—The company has called for payment at par and interest the $125,000 bonds of Nashville & Edgefield Street RR. of the Series of Oct. 15, 1886. The bonds will be paid on April 29 at the First National Bank of Nashville, Tenn.—V. 68, p. 41.

National Cash Register Co.—Incorporated.—This company has been incorporated in New Jersey with authorized capital stock of $5,000,000, of which $1,000,000 is to be 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock. The company takes over the National Cash Register Company at Dayton, O.

An official announcement says:

This is not a consolidation of various cash register companies. The National Company already owns or controls about all of the valuable cash-register patents. This increased capitalization is simply to enable it to take care of its rapidly increasing business, and to enlarge its plant, which is devoted exclusively to the manufacture of cash registers, of which it makes nearly one hundred styles and sizes.

National Fish Co.—New Enterprise.—Application was filed at Dover, Del., on March 31 for a certificate incorporating this company, with a capitalization of $3,000,000. The incorporators are John B. Neal, Napthali D. Freeman, Solomon Y. Cobb, John Burns, Jr., George M. Ingalls and Jay C. Smith, all of Boston.

National Metallic Roofing Co.—Incorporated.—This company recently filed a certificate of incorporation in the office of the County Clerk at East Orange, N. J. The capital stock was placed at $100,000, but this, it was said, would probably be increased to $120,000,000. Incorporators: Harlan P. Lloyd of Cincinnati, James B. Dill of this city and Frederick W. Garvin.

National Steel Co.—Official Statement.—The following is from official data:

CHARTER RIGHTS.—The charter gives the company authority to guarantee the payment of dividends or interest on any shares, stocks, debentures or other securities issued by, or any other contract or obligation of, any corporation whenever proper or necessary for the business of this corporation in the judgment of its directors or the executive committee.

Both preferred and common stock shall have equal voting powers. The corporation shall not be at liberty without the consent in writing first obtained of the holders of two-thirds in amount of the preferred stock issued and outstanding: (a) To create or issue any other or further shares ranking in any respect pari passu with or in priority to the aforesaid issue of $27,000,000 of preference shares; (b) Nor to increase any charge, except as herein provided, upon the net profits of the corporation which shall not be subordinate to the rights of the preference shares; (c) Nor to reserve a surplus fund which shall not be chargeable with the payment of the accrued dividends on the preference shares.

The said preference shares shall carry a fixed cumulative preferential dividend at the rate of, but never exceeding, 7 per cent per annum on the par value thereof. In any year dividends amounting to 7 per cent per annum shall not be paid on such preferred stock, but the deficiency shall be a charge on the net profits, and be payable, but without interest, before any dividends shall be paid upon or set apart for the common stock. The balance of the net profits, after the payment of said cumulative dividend at the rate of 7 per cent per annum to the holders of the preferred stock, may be distributed as dividends among the holders of the general or common stock, as and when the board of directors or the executive committee shall in their discretion determine. In the event of liquidation the surplus assets shall be applied in the first place in repaying to the holders of the aforesaid cumulative preference shares the full amount of the principal thereof and the accrued dividends, if any, charged before any amount shall be paid upon the common stock.

From time to time the preferred and common stock may be issued in such amount and proportion as shall be determined by the board of directors, in accordance with the laws of New Jersey.

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS.—These were shown in V. 68, p. 429. The directors are divided into five classes, three in each class, class 1 to serve 1 year; class 2 to serve 2 years; class 3 to serve 3 years; class 4 to serve 4 years; class 5 to serve 5 years.—V. 68, p. 619.

New Brunswick Gas-light Co.—Offer to Purchase.—Rogers, Brown & Co. of 31 Nassau Street, New York, it is understood, have offered $105,000 for this company's stock, being equal to $31 per share for each of the 3,000 shares of $30 each.

New England Electrical Vehicle & Transportation Co.—Installments on Stock.—Boston "Journal" of March 31 said:

This company is organized under the laws of New Jersey with an authorized capital stock of $25,000,000, par $100, of which $15,000,000 has been offered and taken at private subscription. It is put out on the basis of a 10 per cent payment—5 per cent payable to-day and 5 per cent payable on June 15. The stock is quoted at $10 bid, with only $5 paid in. Hon. George von L. Meyer will be the President of the new company. The company's cars will cost about $1,500 each, and 160 have been ordered for Newport and 100 for Boston.—V. 68, p. 573.

It will be equipped to handle freight by steam and passengers by electricity. The company owns large terminals at Peoria and Pekin, and has a 50-years lease of the Chicago Rock Island & Pacific RR. terminals at Peoria, which gives the Peoria & Pekin entrance to every industry in Peoria, with the privilege of handling all the freight except that running over the Rock Island road. The company also has a 50 years traffic agreement with the Central Street Ry. of Peoria, which road controls all the surface lines of the city. The company will issue 30-years 5 per cent gold bonds amounting to $500,000 and stock amounting to $500,000. W. H. Trumbull and P. L. From this there was deducted for bad and doubtful accounts $29,840; expended in developing weighing machine department, $38,874; reserved for depreciation of machinery and sundry small accounts, $32,014; a total of $109,728. This leaves a net addition to the profit and loss account for 1898 of $82,941.

Rapid Transit in New York City.—New York & Brooklyn RR.—Proposition of Metropolis Contract Company.—Fredrick B. Eiler, representing the Metropolis Contract Company, on Monday made a formal proposition on behalf of his company for the construction and operation of the tunnel railway. The substance of the proposition follows:

"The Metropolis Contract Co. is prepared to contract with the Commissioners of Rapid Transit in accordance with the plans prepared by them, and under the law as it now exists, for the construction of the entire rapid transit line from Park Row to the Bronx Park on the north and northeast, and to within five hundred feet of the present Kingsbridge station of the New York & Putnam R.R. Co. on the north and northwest, with express trains, as well as local, for the sum of $33,000,000, and will complete the entire structure within two years and six months after awarding the contract, or, if desired, will build such sections first as your Commission may determine. It will agree to pay to the city the interest on the bonds issued by the city for construction, and also create a sinking fund which will pay off the principal of all the bonds before their maturity, so that the road and tunnel will become the property of the city of New York without the expenditure of any money whatever, absolutely clear of any incumbrances. In addition to which it will pay the City Treasurer 5 per cent of the annual gross receipts of the company from all sources.

"It will agree to transfer without additional fare to any line crossing its route, owned or controlled by the Metropolitan Street Railway Co., the Third Avenue Railway Co. or any other street-surface railway company, and will give to such surface railway company two and one-half cent out of the five received by it for fare, and will accept from any such surface railroad company its transfer tickets, good for the entire line of the proposed railroad, on the same terms. In addition to which it will construct at the same time the tunnel for the New York & Brooklyn R.R. Co. (see V. 63, p. 794; V. 64, p. 83), the franchise for which is owned by an allied interest, and transfer to and from Brooklyn upon the same terms, that is to say, five cents for a single fare. This latter corporation—the New York & Brooklyn R.R.—controls the Henning Gravity R.R. patents, which cover the mode of construction, which requires the depression between stations and a gradual elevation to them.

"In order to guarantee that there shall always be capital sufficient for the operation of the road after construction, the Metropolis Contract Co. will cause to be deposited in the United States Trust Co. of New York a fund of $5,000,000, available only for the purchase of rolling stock and equipment and for the purposes of operation. As a guaranty of the completion of the contract, it will deposit upon the awarding of the contract $1,000,000 in cash with the Comptroller of the city and a bond with sufficient sureties for $15,000,000 for the completion of the road within the specified time, and $1,000,000 additional as a continuing security for the payment of the sums at the time and manner heretofore mentioned. This $1,000,000 bonds, with the rolling stock and equipment, which will cost under your specifications something over $2,000,000, will be a continuing guaranty that the city will receive its payment."

The company states that it has already entered into contract with the Carnegie Steel Co., Limited, and others for the necessary materials, etc., and has let sub-contracts covering all the underground and tunnel work. The nine contracting firms, it is stated, are among the stockholders and include some of the principal contractors in the country, as for instance, E. D. Smith & Co. of Philadelphia, who lately completed the Reading road's subway in that city and were employed on the Boston subway; John O'Brien & Co., etc. Charles Sooy Smith is to be chief engineer. The company was incorporated in 1897 (see V. 65, p. 1174) with a nominal capital of $10,000.—V. 68, p. 619; V. 64, p. 83.

Of the stock issue $20,500,000 preferred and a like amount of common is offered for subscription at par for the preferred. Of such subscription the vendors were to take at least $11,000,000, leaving $9,500,000 for general subscription. The combined product of the four breweries is about 200,000 barrels annually, and they have a capacity sufficient to meet all increasing demands. The annual average net profits for the years 1897-1898, after charging off all expenses, including depreciation and salaries, were $254,643; charges will be $1,150,000 bonds, 6 per cent, $69,000; $1,150,000 preferred stock, 8 per cent, $92,000; balance for common stock, $93,643. Tennessee Central Ry.—Projected Line.—President Jere Baxter writes as follows regarding his projected line, which, including branches, is to aggregate 233 miles of road:

"Our road is projected to extend from Clarksville in Middle Tennessee, via Nashville, and through Rutherford, Cannon, DeKalb, White, Cumberland and Roane counties to Harriman in East Tennessee, where it will connect with the Cincinnati Southern and the Southern System. The road will have connection at Clarksville by an extension of 19 miles with the Illinois Central. We do not use the Nashville & Knoxville road at all, and we do not go to Knoxville; we stop at Harriman, Knoxville being some 45 miles further East. We run through a fine agricultural country from Clarksville to the foot of the mountains, the ascent of which begins at Sparta in White County, then we ascend the mountains and soon reach the level plateau, which extends about 40 miles east; then we descend the mountains at Rockwood, where the Roane Iron Works are located, getting thereby into the valley traversed by the Cincinnati Southern. The plateau above referred to is the largest undeveloped coke and coal area now known in the United States, which this road is intended to expose to the markets of the world. Its coking qualities are unsurpassed by either Connellsville or Pocahontas."

The contract for the whole line was recently reported let; the 66 miles at the eastern end from Kingston and Harriman Junction to Crossville and thence by branch to Monterey was to be completed this year.—V. 68, p. 43.

The preferred stock shall also have a preference over the common stock in any distribution of the assets of the corporation other than profits until the full par value thereof and 7 per cent per annum thereon from the time of issue shall have been paid by dividends or distribution. The preferred stock shall not be entitled to any dividend in excess of said 7 per cent per annum, nor to any share in distribution of assets in excess of said par value, and the amount then unpaid of such cumulative dividends, but only the common stock shall be entitled to any further dividend or to any further share in distribution.

RIGHT TO MORTGAGE.—The corporation may, by action of the board of directors, without assent or other action of the stockholders, except as hereinafter provided, purchase, acquire, hold, lease, mortgage, pledge, sell and convey such property, real, personal and mixed, without, as well as within, said State of New Jersey, as the board of directors may from time to time determine, and in payment for any property may issue or cause to be issued stock of the corporation or bonds thereof, secured by pledge or mortgage or unsecured, provided, however, that the corporation shall not mortgage any property, except by purchase money mortgage, without the assent in writing or by affirmative vote of the holders of at least two-thirds of the preferred stock then issued and outstanding.

The "new securities," we are informed, is stock of the American Tobacco Co.—V. 68, p. 617.

United States Rubber Co.—Purchase of Banigan Mill.—The Banigan interests, which control the Banigan Rubber Mill at Olneyville, have sold out to friends of the United States Rubber Co. The companies not controlled by the latter company were recently reported to have a daily capacity of 48,000 pairs of rubbers, of which number the Joseph Banigan Co. supplied, it was said, 10,000 pairs.—See statement in CHRONICLE of March 25, page 574.

Virginia Iron Coal & Coke Co.—The prospectus says: The company has effected the consolidation and practical control of the iron industries in the district of Southwest Virginia. Its properties include: Nine blast furnaces, several of them practically new and of large capacity, in all 500,000 tons of pig iron per annum; land, etc., hereof owned by ten different coal and coke companies, aggregating about 125,000 acres of carefully selected coal lands [five coal mines are now in full operation]; practically all the valuable iron ore lands and mines in the district [mostly purchased, some smaller properties leased], consisting of about 60,000 acres.

The net earnings of the company managed by George L. Carter are approximately $250,000 per annum, with only one blast furnace, two hundred and fifteen coke ovens, five collieries in operation, and ore mining sufficient for the requirements of one furnace. Mr. Carter has consented to take the presidency and management of the new company. Besides the railway tracks belonging to the several furnaces and mining plants, there are railroads 93 miles in length, which it is proposed to acquire, operate and extend about 14 miles, under a separate incorporation, the stock and bonds of the railroad company to become assets of the Virginia Iron Coal & Coke Co.

The furnace properties were erected principally with English capital, and involved a large investment; but they were completed in a period of great depression, and were soon closed. Other plants were completed, but never went into operation. All have been well cared for and are in good condition. Contracts for the entire output can now be made for a considerable period in advance at satisfactory prices.

The new company has an authorized capital of $10,000,000 and authority to issue $10,000,000 of first mortgage 5 per cent gold coupon bonds. For present purposes the company has issued: Bonds, $7,500,000; stock, $7,500,000. The balance of the bonds and stock to remain in the treasury to be hereafter used, if necessary, for the acquisition of additional property, additional working capital, or other general purposes of the company. It is believed that with nine furnaces and a railroad, and with practically inexhaustible supplies of ore, coal and coke, the combined properties can not only earn interest on the bonds, but make a satisfactory return to the stock.

The properties acquired include: Dora Furnace Co., Pelaski, Va., one furnace; Max Meadows Iron Co., Max Meadows, Va., one furnace; Radford-Crane Iron Co., Radford, Va., one furnace; Graham Furnace Co., Graham, Va., one furnace; Salem Furnace Co., Salem, Va., one furnace; Buena Vista Furnace Co., Buena Vista, Va., one furnace; Crozier Iron Co., Roanoke, Va., two furnaces; Bristol Iron & Steel Co., Bristol, Va., one furnace; Crescent Horsehoe & Iron Co., iron mills, iron ore, etc., properties of Reed Island Iron Co., Locust Hill Mining Co., Foster Falls Mining & Manufacturing Co., Wythe & Speedwell Iron & Manufacturing Co., Cripple Creek Ore properties, Edith Mining Co., Blue Ridge Mining Co., Consolidated Coal, Land & Iron Co., Wheeler. Ore lands in Johnson, Carter and Sullivan counties, Tenn., and in Washington, Smyth, Wythe and Pulaski counties, Va. Coking and steam coal properties of Virginia & Tennessee Coal & Iron Co., Tom's Creek Coal & Coke Co., Wise County Coke Co., Speedwell Coal & Coke Co., Kentucky Coal & Coke Co., Jones Coal & Coke Co., Swansea Coal & Coke Co., Pine Run Coal & Coke Co., Coaburn Coal & Coke Co., Coaburn Colliery Co., Sexton Coal & Coke Co. and Lee Coal & Coke Co.—V. 69, p. 479.

York Southern RR.—Sold.—Sperry, Jones & Co. of Baltimore have purchased a majority of the stock and bonds of this company and propose to extend the road southward about 42 miles to Baltimore and later from York, Pa., northward about 21 miles to a connection with the Reading. When so extended the York Southern RR. will be about 104 miles in length.—V. 68, p. 87.

The Commercial Times.

COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

FRIDAY NIGHT, April 7, 1899.

The general business situation has undergone few changes of an important nature. Confidence has continued general. The activity of demand, however, in some lines of merchandise has shown something of a shrinkage; this is largely explained by the fact that the speculative buying, which was quite general during the recent upward tendency to values, has subsided, and the bulk of the orders now being received is in the way of actual trade wants, the higher prices ruling having a tendency to make buyers more conservative in their operations. Unseasonable weather has continued to be experienced in the Middle West, and there are indications that the winter-wheat crop has suffered some damage from the cold weather. The fall of needed rains has been reported in the Southwest, and has been favorable for crop preparations, particularly in Texas. The advices from the Philippine Islands have been of a nature to create a hopeful feeling for a speedy termination of the insurrection.

Speculation in cotton for future delivery has been without animation, as the trading has been largely in the way of liquidating outstanding contracts in the near-by deliveries. Holders of the summer months have been gradually unloading, prompted by a fairly full movement of the crop. The fact that a stock of low grade cotton is accumulating at this port, which for the present is not wanted other than to make deliveries on contracts, also has had a tendency to discourage longs in the near by positions, as they do not care to receive this cotton and have been gradually liquidating their accounts. Early in the week, owing to the Liverpool market being closed in observance of a holiday, little of importance was done in the local market for foreign account. Subsequently, however, there was fair buying for Liverpool account in the near-by deliveries to cover sales and this demand largely absorbed the long cotton that came on the market, and held values to a fairly steady basis. There has been some selling of the new crop deliveries for foreign account, and during the latter part of the week the fall of needed rains in Texas prompted some selling for local account. There has been, however, a limited amount of buying for investment account based on the talk of backward preparations of the crop and the possibilities of a smaller acreage, and this has held a decline in check to some extent. To-day the market was unsettled. At the opening prices advanced slightly in response to stronger advices from Liverpool than expected and buying for Liverpool account. After this demand had subsided prices reacted, but at the close there developed a demand from local shorts to cover contracts and prices again advanced, closing unchanged to 3 points higher for the day. Cotton on the spot declined 1-16c. on Monday and on Tuesday. To-day the market was dull and unchanged at 6 3-16c. for middling upland.

On the basis of the rates on and off middling as established by the Revision Committee, the prices for a few of the grades would be as follows:

A considerable portion of the Sea Island cotton shipped to foreign ports goes via New York, and some small amounts via Boston and Baltimore. Instead of including this cotton for the week in which it leaves the Southern outports, we follow the same plan as in our regular table of including it when actually exported from New York, &c. The details of the shipments of Sea Island cotton for the week will be found under the head "Shipping News," on a subsequent page.

THE WAGES DISPUTE IN THE ENGLISH COTTON INDUSTRY.—Under this caption will be found in our editorial columns to-day an interesting article by our Manchester special correspondent.

NEW YORK COTTON EXCHANGE.—At the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the New York Cotton Exchange, held Thursday, a committee of seven was appointed to nominate officers for the following year. The committee is as follows: Henry Hentz, C. W. Ide, Reinhard Siedenburger, G. C. Hopkins, Samuel Sondheim, M. J. Parrott and Henry Schaefer.

NEW ENGLAND MILLS SITUATION.—The new scale of wages which restored the cut made in 1898 went into effect on Monday last, April 3. Operatives in the Ponemah Mills, Taftville, Conn., however, to the number of about 1,000, went out on strike Monday last owing to the refusal of the company to make the 10 per cent increase granted to spinners general. It is stated that there is no immediate prospect of a compromise. Some 2,500 weavers employed in the mills at River Point, Quidnick, Lippitt, Natick and Slatersville, R. I., have quit work on account of dissatisfaction with the extent of the increase in wages accorded on April 3.

BREADSTUFFS.

FRIDAY, April 7, 1899

A quiet market has been experienced for wheat flour. Buyers generally have continued to hold off, the disposition generally shown being to confine purchases almost exclusively to a hand-to-mouth basis. There has been, however, no attempt to force sales, and values have been fairly well maintained. The demand from exporters also has been quiet. City mills have had a moderate sale, and have brought steady values. Rye flour has been quiet, and there has been a slightly easier tendency to values. Corn meal has had only a limited sale, and there has been a slight weakening in values.

Speculation in wheat for inture delivery has been fairly active. The tone, however, has been somewhat unsettled and for the week the changes in prices were of an unimportant nature. Weather reports from the winter-wheat belt have been the principal factor in the situation, and prices have moved up or down according to the character of the advices received. Saturday the reports were of very cold weather West, and they carried prices to a higher basis. Monday, after a firmer opening on unfavorable crop reports, the market turned easier under predictions of milder weather West, and a full movement of the crop also had a weakening influence. Tuesday there was a quiet market and prices again weakened slightly under warmer weather at the West and easier foreign advices. Wednesday the market was easier earlier in the day under fair selling by longs. Toward the close, however, there developed a decidedly strong tone and prices advanced rather sharply on a demand from shorts to cover contracts, stimulated by unfavorable crop accounts. Thursday there was a firmer market on fair buying, stimulated by crop damage reports as a result of the recent severe weather experienced in the winter-wheat belt. Toward the close, however, realizing sales by longs and aggressive operations by bear operators resulted in all of the early improvement being lost. Business in the spot market has been on a limited scale only, as exporters have not been extensive buyers; prices have followed the course of futures. To-day there was a moderately active market and prices weakened slightly under liquidation by longs and sympathy with the weakness in financial circles depressed prices. The spot market was quiet. The sales for export were 112,000 bushels.

Indian corn futures have received only a limited amount of attention and there has been a gradual sagging of prices. Freer offerings from the country and a prospective increased movement of the crop had a weakening influence, prompting liquidation by longs, and under their offerings prices have weakened slightly. Business in the spot market has been fairly active, as exporters have been buyers at prices showing slight declines in sympathy with the easier market for futures. To-day the market was quiet and slightly easier. The spot market was fairly active but at slightly lower prices. The sales for export here and at outports were 390,000 bushels.

Oats for future delivery at the Western markets have been quiet. Early in the week there was an easier tone under some liquidation by longs, prompted by freer offerings from the country. Subsequently, however, the tone was steadier, as the crop movement was slightly under expectations, and there was a demand from shorts to cover contracts.

Business in the spot market has been only moderately active, as the home trade has been the only buyer. To-day there was a quiet and slightly easier market. The spot market was moderately active and steady. The sales included 25,000 bushels for export.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

NEW YORK, FRIDAY, P. M., April 7, 1899

Market conditions have undergone very little change during the past week. The day-to-day demand, outside of some new lines for fall, has been on a moderate scale and free from special features of importance. Buyers holding the opinion that quietude meant weakness have been testing the cotton goods division with bids below current quotations, but have only succeeded in making clearer the fact that the general situation has not lost strength to any appreciable degree. In no lines of staple cottons are there stocks sufficient to induce sellers to make concessions to move them, and in all leading lines of seasonable fabrics the supplies on hand are not more than adequate to meet ordinary supplementary needs of the balance of the season. Some irregularities are noted, but they are always the outcome of conditions peculiar to the individual seller. Buying for fall in special lines has again been on a liberal scale and an encouraging indication of the confidence with which purchasers view the prospects of the coming season.

WOOLEN GOODS.—Business in heavy-weight woollens and worsted for men's wear has again been quiet. A fair number of orders has been recorded for both staple and fancy lines, but buying is not spirited enough to be satisfactory. The best demand has run upon serges and an occasional line of these has been sold up. Light weight serges for quick delivery are generally well situated. In the general run of piece-dyed fabrics and in fancy chevrons and worsteds business so far this season has not come up to expectations, and the market shows some irregularity in prices, although sellers still express confidence in the later demand being sufficient to take care of the season's output. Overcoatings are quiet and unchanged. Cloakings occasionally 5 per cent higher. Fall dress goods are selling well in both plain and fancy lines, with a firm tone. Flannels are generally well sold and prices tend upwards. Blankets quiet.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The exports of cotton goods from this port for the week ending April 3 were 27,393 packages, valued at $869,538, their destination being to the points specified in the tables below:

• From New England mill points direct.

The value of the New York exports for the year to date has been $4,164,054 in 1899, against $2,926,222 in 1898.

Actual buying of heavy sheetings and drills on home account has been moderate this week. Some fair-sized export orders have been in the market, but difficulties in obtaining the required shipments or the high prices asked by sellers have stood in the way of their execution in most instances. There is no sign of any leading line of brown cottons weakening. Wide print cloth yarn fabrics are steadier than they were last week. Business in ducks and osenburga has been light at previous prices. All leading tickets in bleached cottons are steady in price, in face of a quiet general demand. Wide sheetings and cotton, flannels and blankets are quiet but firm. Denims, ticks, plaids and other coarse, colored cottons have been in limited request, but the market is indifferently supplied and prices are maintained. Kid-finished cambrics inactive. Fancy and staple lines of printed calicoes in moderate request but firm throughout. Dark printed flannels for fall opening with good demand and fully 10 per cent higher than last season. Woven patterned dress goods for fall have sold well in plaids and fancy effects. Glenghams in limited supply and very firm. Print cloths inactive in regulars at 23c. Old goods close steady.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS.—Dress goods for fall improving in demand. Silks also in better request and very firm in price. Ribbons also firm. Linens quiet and unchanged. Burlaps firm. Laces and other specialties quiet.

MUNICIPAL BOND SALES IN MARCH.

A glance at the appended table of municipal bond sales for the month of March will reveal the same conditions that have been prevalent for months past, namely, high prices and a small supply. Reports show that the market has not been for years so bare of desirable municipal securities as it is at present, and it is therefore not surprising that such high prices as now offered should prevail. A significant fact, very noticeable at present, is the absence from the list of bidders (except in rare cases) of those bond houses which a year ago were represented at every important sale. The reason given for this is that the high prices which investors are compelled to bid, in order to obtain bonds, leaves such a small margin of profit that many have abandoned the municipal field for the present, and have turned their attention towards the railroad market (particularly street railways), which offers greater opportunities.

The total of sales recorded during March was $5,507,311, not including $1,276,345 of temporary loans reported. This may be compared with $7,038,318 for February 1899 and $6,309,351 for March 1898.

The number of municipalities issuing bonds was 100 (emitting 111 separate issues), as against 113 and 128 for February and 117 and 140 for March 1898.

The principal sales of the month were as follows: $231,000 4 per cent 15-30-year (optional) refunding bonds of Atchison County, Kan., awarded to Mason, Lewis & Co., Chicago, at par; Luzerne County (Pa.) Central Poor District, $200,000 3½ per cent 4-23-year (serial) gold building bonds, awarded to the Lamprecht Bros. Co., Cleveland, at 102-311; Lyon County, Kan., $167,000 4½ per cent 10-20-year (optional) and $25,000 4 per cent 5-20 year (optional) refunding bonds, awarded to Spitzer & Co., Toledo, at 101-488; Columbia, Pa., $170,000 3½ per cent 10-30 year bonds awarded to Sailer & Stevenson, Philadelphia, at 102-79; Woonsocket, R. I., $150,000 4 per cent 20-year gold refunding bonds, awarded to the Third National Bank, Boston, at 111-28, and $265,000 4½ per cent bonds of Morgan County, Ala., awarded at 100-80 to Denison, Prior & Co., Cleveland.

In the following table we give the prices which were paid for March loans to the amount of $4,470,331, issued by 80 municipalities. The aggregate of sales for which no price has been reported is $1,036,980, and the total bond sales for the month $5,507,311. In the case of each loan reference is made to the page of the CHRONICLE where a full account of the sale is given.

California.—Bond Bill Unsigned.—The Governor has announced that he will not sign any bills other than those which have already received his official sanction. Among the many bills killed by this method, according to the San Francisco "Chronicle," is Senate bill No. 54, providing for the issuance of $1,000,000 bonds for the extension of the San Francisco sea wall.

Colorado.—Bond Bill Passed.—The Legislature has passed a bill authorizing the issuance of bonds for public improvements in cities of less than 100,000 inhabitants. The bills authorizing counties and school districts to refund their bonded indebtedness have also passed.

Greeley County, Col.—Bond Litigation.—A suit has been instituted in the District Court of Weld County to prevent the city officials from delivering to the purchasers the $65,000 refunding water bonds recently sold to Trowbridge, MacDonald & Niver Co. of Chicago. The ground for the complaint was that the bonds were invalid because, first, the question of refunding the issue was not voted upon; second, that the bonds were made payable in gold, "thus discriminating against other lawful money of the United States;" third, that the bonds were made payable outside of the State only and are to be delivered to banks outside of the State; fourth, that twenty-five thousand dollars of the bonds are absolutely payable in 15 years and $40,000 in 30 years, thus making two series out of one issue, and finally, as to optional redemption, the bonds are divided practically into 20 series, refundable at times varying between 5 and 25 years. A temporary injunction has been granted.

Kittitas County, Wash.—Litigation.—The following letter was recently received from the Prosecuting Attorney of Kittitas County, C. R. Hovey, relative to the attachment made by Frank M. Van Horn on $4,000 deposited by the Commissioners in the Chemical National Bank, New York City, for the payment of interest due by the county. Mr. Hovey writes as follows:

Yours in the case of Van Horn vs. Kittitas County is received.

The funds in the Chemical Bank were placed there by the county to meet an interest payment on an issue of county bonds of $12,000 sold in 1902. The suit is claimed by the plaintiff for damages because of his failure to obtain a second issue of bonds made in 1906 amounting to $119,000 sold to Harris & Co. In the year 1904 Kittitas County had outstanding about $81,000 in principal of warrants with interest which amounted by the Fall of 1906 to $99,000 more. In the spring of 1906 bonds were offered for the principal and Parson, Leach & Co. were the highest bidders. On a test case it was determined by the Supreme Court that the interest as well as the principal had been validated in the proceedings had prior to the first offer of sale and it therefore became necessary to offer bonds for the whole amount. At the second sale Parson, Leach & Co. were not the highest bidders and did not get the bonds. The county has several defenses to the action, but at the present time we expect to get the money, which they have attempted to attach, released, which will put an end to the action in New York.

The county has no outstanding warrant indebtedness, pays cash for every thing, and is amply good for any judgment Van Horn could obtain, and is willing to test it in the proper jurisdiction.

We expect the money to be released shortly. Messrs. Roosevelt & Kobbe, of Wall Street, have charge of the county's interests.

Missouri.—Legal Rate of Interest.—The House of the State Legislature has passed a bill reducing the contract rate of interest on loans from 8 to 7%.

Nebraska.—Legislature Adjourns.—The State Legislature for 1899 ceased to exist on April 2, 1899.

New York City.—Mayor Vetoes Hempstead Bill.—As stated in the CHRONICLE March 25, 1899, the State Legislature recently passed a bill providing that certain territory be taken from the City of New York and annexed to the town of Hempstead in Nassau County. Under the city charter the bill was referred to the Mayor who has sent it back to the Assembly with his official disapproval. The Mayor's reasons for the veto are, first, that that section of the town of Hempstead now included in the City of New York was annexed with the approval of the voters of that section, which action was confirmed by the Legislature of 1896 and again in the city charter adopted in 1897. A further objection as given by the Mayor was that by the existing charter the City of New York assumed all the indebtedness of the territory united into one municipality by consolidation. The bill takes away a portion of the territory from the city, but leaves the city liable for indebtedness for improvements made upon the land thus removed from its limits. The contract entered into by the City of New York upon consolidation constitutes a vested right, which this bill impairs and affects to the injury and disadvantage of the city.

New York State.—"Manhattan Elevated" a Railroad.—The Attorney-General recently decided that the Manhattan Elevated Railway Co. is a "railroad" and not a "street railroad" corporation. This decision, under the provisions of Paragraph 6, Section 116 of the Banking Law, would (all the other requirements of the law being met), make the bonds of the above company a legal investment for savings banks.

Interest Bill Defeated.—On April 4, 1899, the Assembly of the State Legislature, by a vote of 64 yeas to 63 nays, defeated the Miles bill proposing to reduce the legal rate of interest in the State to 5%.

Per y County, Ill.—Report on Bond Litigation.—On March 10, 1899, John Boyd, counsel for the county, made a lengthy report to the Board of County Commissioners, recounting the series of litigations over the county's bonds, covering a period of twelve years. The bonds in question were for $100,000, issued in aid of the Chester & Tamaroa Railroad and $100,000 in aid of the B. & S. I. Railroad. The suits to test the legality of the bonds were carried through the lower courts and finally taken to the United States Supreme Court, which on March 4, 1895, handed down a decision declaring the B. & S. I. bonds illegal (thus affirming a decision of the United States Circuit Court) but reversed the decision of the lower court in the case of the C. & T. bonds, and declared that they were a binding obligation of the county. This latter ruling of the U. S. Supreme Court was based upon the finding of record by the County Board at the time of issuing the bonds, in which the Board declared that the Chester & Tamaroa Coal & Railroad Co. had complied with all the conditions imposed upon it, and that the county judge had been authorized by the Board, to certify under oath, that all conditions of the order submitting the proposition to a vote had been complied with.

An attempt has been made by the county to compromise this last (or legal) issue on the basis of paying the face of the bonds, the bondholders to deduct or knock off the unpaid accrued interest but without success.

Texas.—Bond Election Bill Passed by Senate.—The State Senate has passed a bill requiring counties and cities to submit propositions for the issuance of bonds to a vote of the qualified taxpayers. The bill also provides that the proposition so submitted shall distinctly specify the purpose for which bonds are to be issued, the amount thereof, the time in which they are payable and the rate of interest.

Legal Rate of Interest.—The State Senate has passed a bill prohibiting any person from charging or taking from another any rate of interest greater than 10% per annum.

OUR STATE AND CITY SUPPLEMENT.

The regular semi-annual number of our STATE AND CITY SUPPLEMENT is issued to-day, and is sent to all subscribers of the CHRONICLE. The tables and statistics in the SUPPLEMENT have been completely revised, and the information brought down to the latest dates from official data. Besides this, there has been a net addition of 103 to the number of returns contained in the book, this being the result of the inclusion of 256 new places, as against 153 taken out because their debts have been reduced to very trifling figures or wiped out altogether.

Among the editorial matter in the SUPPLEMENT we would direct attention to the article entitled "The Proposition to Settle the West Virginia Debt," and to that indicating the changes made or contemplated in the Savings-Bank Investment Laws of the New England and Middle States.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

The stock market has had its ups and downs but all through the week has given uninterrupted evidence of strength. It opened Monday with easier money, lower foreign exchange, more steadiness in prices for railroad securities, but a further considerable decline in industrials and new specialties; on the same day the Government condition report for winter wheat was made public and was interpreted at first as showing a larger falling off in production than anticipated, but looked upon later as much less unfavorable. Tuesday there was a general recovery, the movement being led by the Vanderbilt railroad stocks, followed by the securities of other railroad properties, and finally shared in by almost the entire list of industrials and specialties. This decided change no doubt had its basis in the excellent industrial outlook and in the tendency towards harmony in railroad rates recently manifest, this harmony being further evidenced by a conference that day held at Chicago of the executive officers of the larger railroad systems centering at or connecting with that city and with the Pacific coast, the Canadian boundary and the Gulf of Mexico. Additional stimulant to renewed buying Tuesday was the demand to cover short sales of last week, the easier money market, and the more favorable view taken that day of the crop outlook as forecast by the Agricultural Department's condition figures. Wednesday much the same conditions controlled sentiment, and the market remained strong, with an advancing tendency in all branches. Thursday the industrials and local transportation companies continued active, but as the winter-wheat situation was considered less favorable, the Samoa difficulty appeared somewhat threatening, and foreign exchange, which had risen Wednesday, was again marked up, railroad stocks became irregular and closed weak, with prices lower, especially for the grangers. Yesterday there was also more or less irregularity, with the local transportation companies again very active and the general list firm.

We have referred above to the steadier condition of railroad rates and to the meeting held at Chicago on Tuesday in furtherance of that condition. We cannot too strongly commend this endeavor; its success looks more promising than on any previous occasion so far as we can remember, and its importance at this juncture can hardly be exaggerated. General industrial prosperity, as we have so frequently stated, means more business for our railroads than they have ever had, and all that is needed to insure higher dividends is to maintain rates. Greater confidence in the success of this movement is felt because its attainment is not sought through any rate agreement, but is to be brought about by conformity to the Inter-State Commerce Law and by the roads compelling one another to live up to that law. It will be remembered that the idea received its first expression through the Receivers of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad last December. In a letter written at that time to the Chairman of the Inter-State Commerce Commission, the Receivers announced that after January 1 1899 the road they represented would scrupulously maintain the published tariff; further, that they would ask the Commission to aid them to prevent competition from taking the form of illegal concessions through secret rates, drawbacks, or other devices. In that interest and for the purpose of restricting the practices referred to, the Receivers proposed to report to the Commission any departure from published rates, that the facts might be investigated, the truth fully ascertained, and the illegal practice stopped. At the conference this week in Chicago each representative declared that his road was at the present time complying with the Inter-State Commerce Law. The resolutions further expressed the wish of all the roads to co-operate with the Commission in securing a strict observance of its provisions. At the same time, however (and this is an instructive fact), the sentiment was practically unanimous against furnishing any evidence to the Commission which would send individual shippers or railroad men to prison. That sentiment shows what a blunder it was to attach an excessive punishment to cases of discrimination, &c. Making such acts penal offenses, naturally enough, operates to prevent the execution of the law instead of aiding to enforce it.

No more interesting conundrums have been proposed for a long time than those raised over the approaching payment of $20,000,000 by our Government to Spain. There are three queries that have been pressed for solution. (1) When will the money be paid? (2) Will not the effect of the payment be disturbing to our money market? (3) Will not the transfer to Spain unfavorably affect foreign exchange and hence derange Stock Exchange business? As to the first of these, the fact that on Tuesday the ratifications of the treaty of peace between the United States and Spain were formally exchanged at Washington seems to make this payment the next event in the natural order of a full settlement between the two countries. Moreover, as the United States has the money on hand and as Spain is losing interest every day a transfer is delayed, it is reasonable to assume that the transaction will be speedily closed. With reference to the second problem, we fail to discover anything of a revolutionary character connected with the transfer of the amount named from the Sub-Treasury to Spanish agents here. It certainly cannot affect our money market other than favorably to have these millions disbursed which are now locked up in Government vaults; on the other hand it will not flood us with loanable funds, because Secretary Gage will take the occasion of this disbursement to draw one million dollars a week into the Treasury from the depositary banks. The doubtful factor then, if there is any, must relate to the removal of the money from New York to Madrid. Is not that, too, made over-much of? The Spanish officials are not neophytes in finance. Their bankers, too, are as clever as any in the world. Both bankers and the Spanish officials have been knowing to this transaction ever since the Treaty was signed. Would it not be unreasonable under such circumstances to assume that the parties to receive the money would wait until the money was paid before providing a way for its carriage to its destination? To wait until the money was in hand would advertise a need for exchange and be the work of a highly unskilful agent—in fact a mere bungler. Obviously an experienced operator would have his medium of transfer arranged quietly and before hand, so as to effect the movement with the least friction and hence at the lowest cost.

As the week closes the outlook for the winter-wheat crop is interpreted less favorably and prices of this cereal have taken an upward turn. Operators in that field have shown unusual conservatism this season. Although we are passing through a speculative period, values have been kept quite free from unnatural influences and, with rare exceptions, within the easy reach of the European demand. The feeling has apparently been that although Europe needed our surplus this spring we too needed to sell it, so as to be prepared for a large yield the coming summer. No doubt the yield would have proved a "bumper" one had weather conditions been favorable. The last two crops have paid the farmer well while our capacity for increasing the area given to wheat has by no means been reached. Under these circumstances it was clearly important in the interest of a paying price for this year's crops to start the new season with the visible supply reduced to small proportions. The idea prevailing at the moment is that, notwithstanding the enlarged planting, the yield of winter wheat will be considerably short of last year's product, and that the season is so backward that the acreage given to spring wheat cannot materially be added to. Neither of these conditions can be fully relied on yet. The winter plant as the spring opens is evidently injured, and the conclusion seems to be warranted that the yield from last fall's planting will not show as large a result as a year ago. But beyond that the prospect is, with average weather conditions prevailing hereafter, that the year's total yield of wheat will show a large surplus for export. It is an evidence of the more trifles under the influence of which our stock market is now-a-days made to fluctuate, that crop conditions for a month past in the Southwest and now again at this early day in the Northwest have been used for depressing first the Southwestern roads and now the granger roads. We say "early day," because there is not as yet one assured unfavorable fact except as noted above. Even the winter drought that has prevailed in a good part of Texas is said to have been everywhere broken now; and in the Northwest such a winter and early spring as we have had this year is just the kind that has often been followed by a favorable crop season. In brief there is no sense in making one's self miserable or buoyant over crops the most of which are yet to be planted.

A more settled and healthier state of things seems to have developed in the iron and steel trades. This is an encouraging feature, for a continuation of the violent advances in prices which were the characteristic of some of the previous weeks might have had seriously disturbing effects, not alone in our export trade but in the prosecution of domestic enterprises as well. There has been a further rise in values in a number of instances, but outside of steel billets at Philadelphia this rise has been small, while on the other hand there are some instances where an actual decline in prices is to be noted. For instance, No. 2 foundry pig iron at Chicago is quoted this week at $15.00 per ton, against $15.50 a week ago, and Bessemer pig at Pittsburg at $15.00, against $15.15. Generally speaking the declines are not large, nor are they very numerous, but they are important as indicating a break in the upward movement and the prospect of a return to more nearly normal conditions. There have been two developments of moment this week affecting the future of the iron trade. The first of these is the collapse of the strike of the iron ore workers in the Marquette range. The strike was not the result of any dissatisfaction with the rate of wages paid, but grew out of a demand that none but union men should be employed at the mines. The serious phase of the strike was that there seemed a possibility that it might extend to other regions and thereby curtail the supply of iron ore at a time when there was already fear that there might be insufficient ore mined to meet the steadily growing demand. The return of the men to work removes all danger from that source and has no doubt been one of the influences contributing to bring about the present more assuring condition in the iron market.

The other development of the week to which we desire to direct attention is found in the result disclosed in the "Iron Age's" monthly return of the blast furnaces in operation, with their weekly product. This latest statement shows very clearly that, given time, no one need fear that the country will not be able to increase the output sufficiently to meet all requirements. The February and March compilations, it will be remembered, had shown a decline in both the number of furnaces in blast and the weekly output, due in part to unfavorable weather. Now that the season has advanced and this drawback been removed, the output has been raised to the largest figures reached in the country's history. In brief, between January 1 and March 1 the number of active furnaces was reduced from 200 to 192, and the weekly product from 243,516 to 228,195 tons. This was an important contraction, coming at a time when the demand for iron was so urgent. Now, at one bound, the number of furnaces in blast has gone up from 192 to 205 (meaning a net addition of 13 active furnaces) and the weekly product increased from 228,195 tons to 245,746 tons, the latter a figure, as already stated, never previously attained. The addition during the month, it will be observed, was 17,551 tons per week, which is at the rate of over nine hundred thousand tons per year. The shortened output in the two previous months has caused a greater decrease in stocks than any recently recorded, the holdings April 1 being reported only 311,963 tons, against 427,081 tons March 1, while at the same time the stocks of iron held by the American Pig Iron Storage Warrant Company have declined from 126,300 tons to 109,700 tons. But at 245,-746 tons per week, the make of iron is now at the rate of over 12½ million tons per year, which is one million tons more than the production for 1898, the largest on record. Besides this, extensive preparations are in progress for starting idle furnaces and erecting new ones in various parts of the country.

The market for money has been easier this week in the call-loan branch. The influences operating have been in part the liquidation on Friday of last week of large speculative accounts in the stock market, which enabled those houses which were then borrowers freely to lend; and also in part to the offering of the proceeds of large sterling loans which were said to amount to $5,000,000. It is probable that prominent operators in stocks, and particularly in specialties, were among the most liberal lenders, with a view to favorably influencing the market for their properties. The offerings from this source were especially observable on Monday, when there was also a distribution of the proceeds of the sterling loans. On the following day a large part of the subscriptions to the new Manhattan Railway stock, and a portion of the money paid on Monday for Chicago & Alton stock and for the International Steam Pump Company's stock, was offered through the trust companies, and these offerings aided in increasing the supply of loanable funds, keeping the market easy. After the middle of the week rates grew a shade firmer, though they did not materially advance. There was some discrimination against industrials by banks and by other lenders on the Stock Exchange, though not to the same extent as was noticeable last week, and the difference between loans on call on good Stock Exchange collateral and those on industrials did not exceed 3 per cent. It may be noted, however, that the foreign bankers refused to accept industrials as collateral. Another notable feature was that there was little or no public bidding for money on industrials, contracts on these being privately made. Doubtless the more liberal treatment of this class of securities by the majority of lenders of money this week was due to the action of the Committee on Stock List of the New York Stock Exchange in requiring statements from industrial corporations as a condition to the listing of the stock on the Board. Conservative lenders of money were inclined to regard with more favor the stock of companies which had complied with these requirements, and therefore had been entered upon the list, than they would regard the stock of companies which had not yet conformed to the rule. This favorable consideration, it may be noted, applied not only to loans on call, but to those on time on stock collateral.

Money on call, representing bankers' balances, has loaned during the week at the Stock Exchange at 2 per cent and at 8 per cent, averaging about 4½ per cent. On Monday the early loans were at 6@8 per cent, but in the afternoon liberal offerings of foreign and domestic money caused a decline to 3 per cent, though the bulk of the business was at 6 per cent. On Tuesday after opening at 6 per cent considerable amounts of money were offered by trust companies and in the afternoon the rate fell to 2 per cent, at which fairly large sums were loaned in the final dealings. The bulk of the day's business was at 5 per cent. On Wednesday the range was from 5 per cent to 4 per cent, with the majority of the loans at 4½ per cent, and one feature was the comparatively slight discrimination against industrials, and in some cases from 30 to 50 per cent of these stocks among the collateral was accepted at the average rate for the day. On Thursday loans were made at 4 per cent and at 6 per cent, with the bulk of the business at 4½ per cent. On Friday the range was from 3 per cent to 5 per cent and the transactions were largely at about 4½ per cent. Banks and trust companies quoted 5 per cent as the minimum over the counter until Wednesday, when they reduced the rate to 4½ per cent, though these institutions loaned on Tuesday and on Wednesday at about the lowest Stock Exchange quotations. Money on time continues to be quoted at 4 per cent for sixty to ninety days, and 4@4½ per cent for four to six months, these rates representing loans on good mixed Stock Exchange collateral. The offerings are liberal at these rates, and banks and other institutions seem desirous of making contracts for periods which will run until the season for active money early in the fall; but at the low rates they require first-class security. As above noted, there is a disposition to be more liberal regarding such industrial property as has been examined by the Committee on Stock List of the New York Stock Exchange, and has therefore been listed. As an illustration of the change in sentiment concerning loans partly on industrials it may be stated that one bank which last week, as we then reported, made a loan at 5 per cent for six months on a line of railroad stock and bond collateral with an admixture of a few hundred shares of a dividend-paying industrial, the margin required for the whole loan being 40 per cent, has this week made a loan at 4½ per cent for six months on one-third railroad collateral and two-thirds good dividend-paying industrial security, the whole loan having 40 per cent margin. In the case of both loans the borrower had first-class standing. The offerings of commercial paper have been a little less liberal this week and the inquiry is somewhat lighter, though it is more general than it was last week, a larger number of the city banks being buyers. Rates are 3½@4 per cent for endorsed bills receivable, 4@4½ per cent for prime and 5@5½ per cent for good four to six months single names.

The Bank of England minimum rate of discount remains unchanged at 3 per cent. The cable reports discounts of sixty to ninety day bank bills in London 2¼@2½ per cent. The open market rate in Paris is 2½ per cent, and at Berlin and Frankfurt it is 3½@3¾ per cent. According to our special cable from London the Bank of England gained £259,604 bullion during the week, and held £30,350,-400 at the close of the week. Our correspondent further advises us that the gain was due to the import of £303,000 (of which £279,000 were bought and £24,000 from Holland), to receipt of £157,000 net from the interior of Great Britain, and to the export of £200,000 to the Cape.

The foreign exchange market has been active this week. Rates fell on Monday by reason of the offering of exchange against sterling loans, but they promptly recovered on the following day, influenced in great part by the expectation that the exchange of ratifications of the Treaty of Peace between the United States and Spain would be immediately succeeded by the payment of the $20,000,000 Philippine indemnity, and that this money would be speedily remitted to Europe. While the leading foreign bankers professed to have no knowledge of any preparations whatever for the remittance of the money, there was a feeling that at least some of these bankers were really parties to the accumulation of exchange for this purpose, and this sentiment doubtless had much to do with the firm tone to the market for the remainder of the week. The steamer Moana, which left Sydney, N. S. W., on Wednesday, has $750,000 gold destined for San Francisco. Arrivals of gold reported at the Custom-House this week were only $5,891.

Nominal rates for exchange were quite generally reduced on Monday half a cent compared with those at the close of last week, and the range until Thursday was from 4 84½ to 4 85 for sixty day and from 4 87 to 4 87½ for sight. After Thursday rates were partially restored, making sixty day 4 85 and the range 4 87 to 4 87½ for sight. Rates for actual business opened on Monday at a decline of one quarter of a cent, compared with those at the close on Friday of last week, to 4 83½@4 83¾ for long, 4 85½@4 86 for short and 4 86½@4 86¾ for cables. The market was weak because of liberal offerings of exchange against sterling loans, as above noted. The supply seemed to have been absorbed on the following day and then the market grew strong, influenced by the expectation of an inquiry on account of the Philippine payment, and rates for actual business advanced one-quarter of a cent all around, to 4 83½@4 84 for long, 4 86@4 86½ for short and 4 86½@4 87 for cables. On Wednesday the tone was still stronger, and rates for actual business advanced half a cent for long and short, to 4 84½@4 84¾ for the former and 4 86½@4 86¾ for the latter, while cables were one-quarter of a cent higher, at 4 87@4 87½. On Thursday the tone was firm, though business was small, and the only change made in rates for actual business was an advance in cables to 4 87½@4 87¾. The market was quiet and easy on Friday, but the only change in rates was a reduction of one-quarter of a cent in cables. The following shows daily posted rates for exchange by some of the leading drawers.

SAMOA.

The very unfortunate occurrences of the last four months in the Samoan Islands, culminating in last Wednesday's sensational despatches, may be described as the third chapter of a very remarkable colonial experiment. The next chapter, foreshadowed by the sensible treatment of the matter by the Powers, will largely concern itself with repairing the mischief of the past. After what has already happened thus far in 1899, it may be said with little fear of contradiction that if the Samoan experiment has proved nothing else, it has shown how distant islands should not be governed.

The story of the Samoan undertaking is confused and complicated, and unfortunately the root of the recent trouble lies deep in the previous history of the islands. The Germans were unquestionably among the first to discover the commercial value of the islands. At the time of the curious Steinberger incident, twenty-three years ago, when an agent sent out from Washington to pay our Government's compliments to the South Sea Islanders was discovered later governing Samoa himself under a fictitious American protectorate—as long ago as this the German traders had their eye on the islands. By 1885 not only had the German interests accumulated a considerable amount of property in Samoa, but they had engaged in such extensive disputes with the native king that the German Consul-General seized all of the chief's private land at Apia to hold until the chief should settle with the foreigners. Oddly enough, during the very period of these German acquisitions the Samoan chiefs had sent once to the United States to ask a protectorate and once to Great Britain to propose annexation; and the request had in each case been refused.

Again, when the United States had intervened, in 1886 and 1887, to use its good offices in behalf of the Samoan king as against his creditors, and had proposed an administrative council of three foreigners as advisers to the King, Germany promptly objected to a joint commission, suggesting on its own behalf practical control of Samoan affairs by a single foreign official, to be named by the power having the largest commercial interests in the islands. This counter proposition showed pretty definitely what the Germans conceived to be their own proper position in Samoa. What is more curious, Germany's contention at the Washington conference was supported, at the start, by the British Minister.

So much for the origin of German interest in the islands. It will be recalled that the chance of a settlement on the lines proposed by Germany was destroyed by the revolt of the natives against the ruling King. The deposition of Malietoa and the declaration of Tamasese as King were certainly encouraged by German interests. When, immediately afterwards, the natives again revolted, putting forward a new pretender, Mataafa, and the islands began to be devastated by civil war, it was plain that the other Powers must move in the matter. The result of the negotiations was the compromise, which satisfied few people even then and which has born bitter fruit this year.

The Germans in Samoa, to begin with, were defeated in their championship of the claimants to Samoan chieftainship, for the old chief was restored. They abandoned their own original plan of a single foreign adviser to the Samoan chief, for the "Berlin Act" of 1889, agreed to by England, Germany and the United States, provided for government by a Supreme Court judge appointed by the three signatory powers, and an elective municipal council at Apia headed by a president similarly named by the treaty Powers. The jurisdiction of the Supreme Court judge especially was to be very wide; it was for him to pass not only on all contested legal questions, but on disputes between the Samoans and foreign Powers, on the authority of the King in any given case, and on the question of the election of a new King.

It was this last prerogative which, after ten years of more or less awkward administration of the law under the Berlin Act, has brought about the existing complications. The old King, the restored Malietoa, died some months ago. A dispute at once arose over his successor. His old and defeated rival, Mataafa, was at once in the field, and it was presently evident that he was supported not only by a large part of the Samoan natives, but by the whole influence of the German representatives at Apia. The claim of Mataafa came in due form, last December, under the consideration of the Supreme Court Judge, who ruled that Mataafa was excluded from candidacy by the terms of the Act of 1889. The Judge was an American; he was threatened by the partisans of Mataafa, and had to take refuge on the English warship. The British and American Consuls subsequently issued a joint proclamation declaring Mataafa's election invalid and his title void. The German Consul thereupon, last month, affirmed Mataafa's title, upheld the provisional government, and formally expressed his hope that the new government "would be able to encounter the danger caused anew to the safety of the inhabitants by the English and American proclamation."

It was not very difficult to foresee the kind of situation which must have followed such division among the treaty Powers. Long ago critics of the Berlin makeshift of 1889 called attention to the fact that while machinery for the interpretation of the law was provided, machinery for its enforcement, in default of unanimity among the Powers, was nowhere provided for. As a matter of fact, even the President of the Council at Apia, the official adviser of the Samoan King, was a German who favored Mataafa's candidacy. The situation presented at the opening of 1899 was that of a community under the protectorate of three foreign Powers, with civil war raging in the community and the Powers sharply divided as to the merits of the contest. In most respects the situation was novel in government and diplomacy.

What followed is fresh in most people's recollections. The English and American authorities promptly decided that in the absence of any other rule for enforcing Judge Chambers's decision, the proclamation of the majority of the consuls must hold good. The American cruiser Philadelphia had arrived in March to reinforce the English warship Porpoise, and in accordance with the declaration of the two consuls Mataafa's adherents were ordered to disperse. They failed to do so, and were thereupon fired on from the harbor by the two vessels. The intermittent fighting which has continued since that time led up to the tragedy of last Wednesday.

The one redeeming feature of this unfortunate series of events is the fact that all three governments have treated the matter calmly and intelligently, and that instead of "ultimatums" hurled by one Power at the other, arrangements have been made at once for settling the controversy on a new and amicable basis. As we write, all three Powers have named representatives to a new Joint High Commission and given identical instructions. These three delegates—Mr. Bartlett Tripp for the United States, Mr. Elliott of the British Embassy at Washington and Baron von Sternberg of the German Embassy—are to start next Tuesday for the islands. The possibility of serious trouble is vastly diminished when all three parties to the controversy bend their energies to a peaceful adjustment of this South Sea complication.

At the same time, the possibilities which have been and still are involved in this unpleasant imbroglio prove, as we said to begin with, how colonies or protectorates ought not to be administered. The Samoan compromise was an outgrowth of circumstances, but nobody heartily approved it, even at the start. Mr. Blaine, who was Secretary of State at the time of the Berlin Act of 1889, was not a timid or straight-laced foreign minister, but he said very positively in his instructions to the American negotiators that "the scheme is not in harmony with the established policy of this Government." He was believed, in fact, to prefer even a partition of Samoa among the treaty Powers—a notion which anticipated by several years the policy of the European governments on the coasts of Africa and Asia. Secretary Gresham, writing to Congress five years later, in 1894, declared with prophetic foresight that the Berlin Act, "besides involving us in an entangling alliance, has utterly failed to correct, if indeed it has not aggravated, the very evils which it was designed to prevent." Until the whole controversy is cleared up more explicitly than has yet been done by the brief dispatches from Admiral Kautz, we are not ready even to pass judgment on the attitude of the German representatives. It is quite possible—as indeed this week's later dispatches indicate—that the question has more sides than one. Considering the cool-headed and amicable position taken by the governments concerned, we think that nothing beyond a warning to silence need be vouchsafed to the few of our public men who are trying to stir up international bad feeling. Their efforts are obviously fruitless. Germany is as closely bound in friendship to the United States, through our own large German-born population, as is any State except Great Britain, and in European diplomacy the relations between England and Germany are of the closest.

The Samoan incident, nevertheless, is a noteworthy object lesson to people who suggested last year the disposition of the Philippines through a joint protectorate of foreign Powers. We cannot omit, however, a word of comment on the complete mutual understanding which has existed throughout the episode between the American and English authorities. The "Saturday Review" of London, formerly a typical hostile critic of American ideas and institutions, but whose adverse criticisms were suspended during last year's vicissitudes, returned to its old position a few weeks ago, with the affirmation that the Anglo-American entente was proving itself purely sentimental, and as such lacking in all the elements of permanence. If by sentimental was signified, as we suppose it was, the baser meaning of the word, which refers to the whim or prejudice of a moment, the comment was obviously ill-founded.

But if by sentimental friendship we were to mean good feeling based on common beliefs, theories and purposes, then the word properly describes the present relations between the two peoples. Such relations, it appears to us, are infinitely more well grounded and enduring than alliances based on mutual concessions or bargains in a given situation. The bargain will have its effects until conflict of interests in some larger matter ruptures the bond of union and turns the parties to the one alliance into other and hostile associations. But sympathy of aims and purposes sustains the good relations through the sharpest clash of material interests.

WHEN A CONSTITUTIONAL DEBT LIMIT DOES NOT APPLY.

The United States Supreme Court has recently rendered an opinion apparently upholding the doctrine that in certain cases municipal bonds may be valid obligations even though they have been issued in excess of a definite limit prescribed by a State Constitution. To be precise, the Court has decided that a recital in county bonds that the total amount of the issue does not exceed the Constitutional limit of indebtedness, taken in connection with the fact that the bonds do not show on their face the amount of the issue, estops the county as against an innocent purchaser from disputing the truth of the recital. It is, of course, well established that courts will hold recitals as to facts conclusive within certain limits. In the present instance this doctrine seems to have been carried to its full limit.

The case was that of E. H. Rollins & Sons vs. the Board of Commissioners of Gunnison County, Colorado. In December 1882 Gunnison County issued bonds to take up outstanding warrants. Each bond contained a statement saying that the bonds had been issued in full conformity with the provisions of an Act of the Colorado Legislature passed the previous year, and that all the requirements of law had been complied with by the proper officers in the issuing of the bond. In addition it contained the following declaration: "It is further certified that the total amount of this issue does not exceed the limit prescribed by the Constitution of the State of Colorado, and that this issue of bonds has been authorized by a vote of a majority of the duly-qualified electors of the said County of Gunnison voting on the question at a general election duly held in said county on the seventh day of November A. D. 1882." The county paid the coupons on the bonds up to September 1886, when default was made, which has continued since then. E. H. Rollins & Sons brought an action against the Board of County Commissioners to obtain a judgment for the amount of certain of the coupons. The Circuit Court directed the jury to find a verdict for the County, but the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals reversed this judgment on technical points, and then upon writ of certiorari the case was carried to the U. S. Supreme Court, which has now declared both the lower courts wrong.

The county rested its defense mainly on the contention that in issuing the bonds the county had attempted to incur an indebtedness not authorized by the Constitution of the State of Colorado. As there was no dispute as to the fact itself, the only question was as to whether the recitals referred to estopped the county from setting up the plea that the debt was in excess of the Constitutional limit. Justice Harlan delivered the opinion of the Court, and he said the answer to this question was to be found in the former decisions of the Court. On account of the great importance of the principles involved, he reviews these decisions at length. He refers first to Buchanan vs. Litchfield (102 U. S., 278, 290, 292), where the Court said that as neither the Constitution nor the statute prescribed any rule or test by which persons contracting with municipal corporations should ascertain the extent of their indebtedness, it would seem that if the bonds whose validity in that case was questioned had contained recitals which, upon any fair construction, amounted to a representation upon the part of the constituted authorities of the city that the requirements of the Constitution were met, then the city might have been estopped from disputing the truth of such representations as against a bona fide holder of its bonds. Again, in Orleans vs. Pratt (99 U. S., 676), the Court declared that a recital that the bonds were issued under the authority of a statute, and in pursuance of such statute, did not necessarily import a compliance with the Constitution, but had the additional recital been made that the bonds had been issued in accordance with the Constitution, or had the ordinance stated in any form that the proposed indebtedness was within the Constitutional limit, then in that event there would have been ground for holding that the city could not dispute the fair inference to be drawn from such recital or statement.

Justice Harlan declares that the Court has always been consistent in this view, and he shows that when properly interpreted no conflict of opinion (as had been urged) can be found in its various decisions in the past on the point raised. He considers very carefully the case of Lake Co. vs. Graham (130 U. S., 674, 680, 683, 684), because the decision adverse to the validity of the bonds in that case was thought by the county authorities to be controlling in this instance. As it happens, these bonds had been issued under the very statute (the Colorado Act of February 21 1881) under which the present Gunnison County bonds were issued. He shows how that case differed from this one. In the Lake County case the bonds recited that all the provisions and requirements of the Legislative Act had been complied with, but (and this is the point of difference) no express reference being made to the Constitution, nor any statement made that the Constitutional requirements had been observed, there was no estoppel as to the Constitutional question, because there was no recital in regard to it.

The judgment which does control in this instance, Justice Harlan says, is that of Chaffee County vs. Potter. Here, too, the bonds had been issued under the Colorado Act of February 21 1881. They were in the same form and contained the same recitals as the Gunnison County bonds. A like defense was set up in that case—namely, that the bonds had been issued in violation of the Constitution of the State. But the Court ruled that while the purchaser of bonds in open market is bound to take notice of the Constitutional limitation on the county with respect to indebtedness which it might incur, yet when upon the face of the bonds there is any express recital that the limitation has not been passed and the bonds themselves do not show it has, the purchaser is not bound to look any further. Continuing, the opinion in that case said: "An examination of any particular bond would not disclose, as it would in the Lake County case and in Dixon County vs. Field, that as a matter of fact the Constitutional limitation had been exceeded in the issue of the series of bonds. The purchaser might even know—indeed, it may be admitted that he would be required to know—the assessed valuation of the taxable property of the county, and yet he could not ascertain, by reference to one of the bonds and the assessment roll, whether the county had exceeded its power, under the Constitution, in the premises. True, if a purchaser had seen the whole issue of each series of bonds, and then compared it with the assessment roll, he might have been able to discover whether the issue exceeded the amount of indebtedness limited by the Constitution. But that is not the test to apply to a transaction of this nature. It is not supposed that any one person would purchase all of the bonds at one time, as that is not the usual course of business of this kind. The test is, what does each individual bond disclose? If the face of one of the bonds had disclosed that as a matter of fact the recital in it, with respect to the Constitutional limitation, was false, of course the county would not be bound by that recital and would not be estopped from pleading the invalidity of the bonds in this particular. But that is not this case. Here by virtue of the statute under which the bonds were issued, the county commissioners were to determine the amount to be issued, which was not to exceed the total amount of the indebtedness at the date of the first publication of the notice requesting the holders of county warrants to exchange their warrants for bonds at par. The statute in terms gave to the commissioners the determination of a fact; that is, whether the issue of bonds was in accordance with the Constitution of the State and the statute under which they were issued, and required them to spread a certificate of that determination upon the records of the county. The recital in the bond to the effect that such determination had been made and that the Constitutional limitation had not been exceeded in the issue of the bonds, taken in connection with the fact that the bonds themselves did not show such recital to be untrue, under the law estops the county from saying that it is untrue."

The Court makes these extended references to cases previously adjudged because of the wide difference that has existed among counsel as to the effect of its former decisions. After noting all the circumstances, Justice Harlan declares the Court must decline to overrule the Chaffee County case. Upon the authority of that case, and without re-examining or enlarging on the grounds upon which the decision therein proceeded, the Court rules that as against the bondholder the county of Gunnison is estopped to question the recital in the bonds, to the effect that they did not create a debt in excess of the Constitutional limit and were issued by virtue of, and in conformity with, the statute of 1881, and in full compliance with the requirements of law.

The thought which will occur to every one in connection with the foregoing ruling is, of what avail is a Constitutional limit if it is thus possible to set it at naught? The Court sees clearly the effect of the doctrine announced, and has undertaken to meet the anticipated objection. We must confess, though, to a fear that its reasoning on this point will not be considered entirely convincing and assuring to the average investor in municipal bonds, though possibly the fact that the authorities lay themselves open to prosecution and suit for violating the provisions of the Constitution may by many be considered as a sufficient deterrent against any very great abuse in that direction. Here is the Court's reference to the subject. "It is insisted with much earnestness that the principles we have announced render it impossible for a State by a Constitutional provision to guard against excessive municipal indebtedness. By no means. If a State Constitution, in fixing a limit for indebtedness of that character, should prescribe a definite rule or test for determining whether that limit has already been exceeded or is being exceeded by any particular issue of bonds, all who purchase such bonds would do so subject to that rule or test, whatever might be the hardship in the case of those who purchased them in the open market in good faith. Indeed, it is entirely competent for a State to provide by statute that all obligations, in whatever form executed by a municipality existing under its laws, shall be subject to any defense that would be allowed in cases of non-negotiable instruments. But for reasons that every one understands no such statutes have been passed. Municipal obligations executed under such a statute could not be readily disposed of to those who invest in such securities."

DISAPPEARANCE OF THE SMALLER RAILROAD COMPANIES.

Two recent events serve to direct attention to the rapid disappearance from the railroad map of the country of the smaller roads, in other words, the acceleration with which the leading companies are growing larger through the absorption of the independent lines. We refer to the purchase at foreclosure sale on April 4 of the old Jacksonville Tampa & Key West RR. by the Plant system, and more important still the transfer to the purchasing syndicate on April 7 of the Chicago & Alton. Of course on its face this latter transaction does not involve the merger of the Alton into any other system, and yet every one knows that it marks the end of the career of the property as an independent factor, the understanding being that henceforth the large systems with which the purchasers are identified will use it as substantially a union or connecting line.

This process of consolidation or merger of the smaller lines is such a gradual one and one so quietly accomplished that, aside from a general knowledge that it is much in vogue, few persons perhaps are aware of the extent to which it has gone during recent months. It has taken place in two forms, one through the more complete absorption of the subsidiary lines of the system into the parent company, or into one of the larger of its subordinate companies, and also by the acquisition, through purchase or otherwise, of outside lines. The following table contains the facts concerning the principal independent lines which during the past two years have been acquired for or by large companies:

* The Choctaw & Memphis, successor of the Little Rock & Memphis, is building an extension that, when completed in 1900, will increase the system to about 500 miles.

† To be operated in system from July 1, 1900.

We have here a total of about 11,000 miles of road that has in two years' time been practically removed from the ranks of self-operating properties. We say "practically," because at the moment, pending the completion of plans for other arrangements, several of the companies are still nominally in business for themselves. Thus one of the largest and most noticeable segregations that has taken place is that effected by the Williams' syndicate, in bringing under one control a number of roads on the Atlantic seaboard, these roads having a total mileage of almost 2,500 miles, including a small amount under construction. The companies acquired include the well known Seaboard & Roanoke, Florida Central & Peninsular and Georgia & Alabama, and it is understood that they are to be brought under one management by means of a company to be known as the Seaboard Railway, to be organized for that purpose. The Atlantic Coast Line, which covers much the same territory, has also been adding extensively to its mileage in recent months. The table shows that the system now embraces 2,330 miles of road, 768 miles having been added lately by purchase of the Cape Fear & Yadkin, Charleston & Western Carolina, etc.

Another merger or semi-merger that is even now pending, though its successful issue is assured, is that of the Central Vermont by the Grand Trunk, bringing an additional 500 miles and a route direct to Long Island Sound into the system. The chief of all the virtual mergers are those by which the Lake Shore and the Michigan Central roads, representing over 3,000 miles of road, pass under the control of the New York Central, which company is also on the point of taking long leases of the Fall Brook system, with its 239 miles of road. At the present rate, the time will soon come when the profitable, but small or moderate-sized road will be hard to find.

The following table brings together the more striking of the mergers or virtual mergers which have taken place and are at present taking place within large systems:

In this case the total reached is about 13,000 miles.

This figure embraces not only the successful exchange of stock by which the Great Northern obtained stock control of its leased line, the St. Paul Minneapolis & Manitoba, but the more recent and still pending merger, as a result of which the Southern Pacific, it is announced this week, has acquired 99 per cent of the shares of the Central Pacific. Also are included the acquisition of the practically complete control of the Oregon Short Line by the Union Pacific and the consolidations and mergers that are to come from the carrying out of the successful plan for rehabilitating the Baltimore & Ohio system. The exchange of the second mortgage bonds of the Texas & Pacific for the new bonds of the St. Louis Iron Mountain & Southern (Missouri Pacific) has been well received, and everything points to its complete success. Whether or not an exchange of stock is also proposed, as has been expected by some, the exchange of bonds cannot fail to make closer than formerly the relations of the two properties. The reduction of taxes, general corporate expenses, etc., possible through actual consolidations offers strong inducement to dispense with unnecessary corporations, where such a course is feasible within a railroad system.

President Fish, of the Illinois Central, predicted two years or more ago that the effect of the decisions regarding the Inter-State Commerce Act and the impetus which those decisions gave to keen competition among the roads would be to force the smaller railroad companies out of the field and to throw the bulk of the rail transportation business of the country into the control of a few great corporations. His predictions promise to prove true. The depressed condition of general trade has aided in the movement by so discouraging the security holders of the smaller roads, with or without receiverships, that they have been willing to see their properties sold out at low prices. Consolidations are in the air, so to speak. There is no reason, in the nature of things, why the Mississippi River should keep the systems of the East and the West apart. Through lines from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from New York to San Francisco, under the management of a single board of directors are among the certain things of the future. Events are shaping themselves in favor of such arrangements, and may it not be that the sale of the Chicago & Alton is to be, practically, an earnest of the formation of these greater systems, acting as a bond between the two sections of the country?

RAILROAD GROSS EARNINGS FOR MARCH.

Better weather has brought improved earnings on the railroad transportation lines of the country. In February our compilation, for the first time in many months, showed a loss in aggregate gross earnings. That the bad weather prevailing in that month was the main, the controlling influence in this unfavorable result, is evident from the quick change that came as soon as this drawback was removed. We have noted from week to week, during March, the steady progress towards higher totals, as indicated by the growing magnitude of the gains recorded, and now that we have the exhibit for the full month, the showing is, in every way, in marked contrast with that for February.

In brief, our statement for the month records $2,895,730 gain, or 6.35 per cent. Moreover, fully 94 roads out of the 125 roads reporting have contributed to this increase. Additional significance is lent to the improvement by the fact that it comes after very noteworthy improvement last year. Indeed, our return for that month in 1898 was among the very best that it has ever been our privilege to record. In brief, our statement then showed no less than $6,244,364 gain, or 15.25 per cent. As a matter of fact, March has been a comparatively good month for several years past, though prior to 1898 the increase was relatively small. The gain the present year is additional to this uninterrupted expansion in the years preceding. Here is a summary of the aggregates back to 1895.

We have spoken of the return to more normal weather conditions. But it must not be supposed from this that the month was entirely free from drawbacks of this kind. On the contrary, in the remoter parts of the country, on several of the trans-Continental lines, the obstructions caused by snow blockades continued. Particularly is this true of the roads in Colorado, and the loss in earnings shown by the Colorado Midland is directly attributable to that circumstance. It remains to be said further, with reference to the trans-Continental lines, especially those on the extreme north, that they lost the present year the greater part of the traffic in connection with the rush of prospectors to the Klondike gold regions, which was such a feature last year. The Oregon Navigation reports a decrease in the Alaskan business of $41,407 for the month. It is proper to note, too, that the same road reports a decrease of $50,000 in its local grain traffic, which likewise was of such exceptional dimensions a year ago on the North Pacific coast.

Nor was the grain movement east of the Rocky Mountains up to that for the corresponding period in 1898. At such spring-wheat markets as Minneapolis and Duluth the receipts were of very large proportions and very much heavier than last year, but outside the spring-wheat districts there was generally a falling off, and the corn receipts and the barley receipts ran considerably behind those for March 1898. Taking the movement for the five weeks ending April 1, the receipts of wheat at the principal Western primary markets were 16,753,316 bushels in 1899 against 13,106,212 bushels in 1898, but the receipts of corn aggregated 17,183,211 bushels against 22,086,101 bushels, and of barley 1,982,672 bushels against 3,036,103 bushels. Combining wheat, corn, oats, barley and rye, the aggregate foots up 50,852,478 bushels in the five weeks of 1899, against 53,677,838 bushels in the same five weeks of 1898; besides this the flour receipts at these points were only 959,185 barrels, against 1,299,252 barrels in 1898. The grain deliveries in detail are shown in the following.

The contraction in the grain movement is very strikingly disclosed when we treat Chicago, the largest receiving point, by itself. It should be understood, however, that this contraction results entirely from the phenomenal proportions of last year's deliveries. The movement was not small in itself. Thus, while the receipts at Chicago for the even month at 17,540,306 bushels for 1899 compare with 23,110,049 bushels for 1898, in 1897 the deliveries had been only 12,275,466 bushels. The deliveries of live hogs at the same point record an increase this year, after an increase last year, 770,249 head having been brought into Chicago during March 1899, against 631,731 head in March 1898 and 576,018 head in 1897. The live-stock movement, as a whole, comprised 23,203 car-loads in 1899, against 22,580 car-loads in 1898 and 21,536 car loads in 1897.

Besides all this, the cotton movement in the South underwent considerable contraction. This is apparent only to a small extent in the overland movement, where the gross shipments were 151,713 bales in March 1899, against 162,680 bales in March 1898, but in the case of the receipts at the Southern out-ports the loss is heavy, the receipts having been only 377,659 bales this year, against 520,373 bales last year. The details are as follows:

Obviously with a smaller cotton movement in the South and a smaller grain movement in the West, the gain now recorded in earnings would have been impossible except for the general prosperity of trade and industry all over the country. The gain, therefore, reflects this prosperity, and is the best evidence of it. In a word, the roads are showing larger earnings because they are having a heavier traffic in merchandise and general freight. While there are no strikingly large increases in the case of the individual roads, there are many for fair-sized amounts. The losses above $30,000 among the roads reporting are limited to three companies, namely the Colorado Midland, the Oregon Navigation and the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern. Here is the full list of losses and gains in excess of $30,000.

When the roads are classified, the groups making the best exhibits are the Southern and the North Western. The latter owe their distinction to the magnitude of the spring-wheat movement. The good results on the roads in the South in face of the smaller cotton movement can only be taken to mean that this section of the country is beginning to share in the general activity; mainly, it is to be presumed, by reason of the mineral development going on there—the iron industry, as we all know, being pre-eminently prosperous.

ITEMS ABOUT BANKS, BANKERS AND TRUST CO'S

—The actual sales this week of bank and trust company stocks at auction and the Stock Exchange show very few marked changes in prices. Indeed, in that particular and in the number of sales the record affords quite a contrast with our last statement. We notice that eight shares of the National Bank of North America sold at 200; the last previous sale was in March, and the price then was 155. As the surplus now reported is within about one hundred thousand dollars of the capital, that fact, together with the higher value, would suggest a higher dividend. Fifteen shares of the New York National Exchange Bank sold this week at 110¼; the last previous sale was in September 1898 at 94. The week's statement is a short one, covering only 380 shares in all.

Those who desire to follow the progress of the New York and Brooklyn bank and trust stocks in assets and values will find (1) the dividends for two years, &c., on the third page of cover of our INVESTORS' SUPPLEMENT, (2) brokers' weekly bid and asked prices for all these stocks on page 7 of the eight pages of quotations given in the department of the CHRONICLE called "Bankers' Gazette" each week, (3) other facts on page 49 of QUOTATION SUPPLEMENT issued the first week of each month, and (4) current weekly dividends at the head of "Bankers' Gazette" and weekly returns of the banks in the "Commercial and Miscellaneous News" department of the CHRONICLE.

—Mr. William W. Sherman, President of the National Bank of Commerce, has tendered his resignation, to take effect not later than July 1, and the resignation has been accepted by the board of directors. Mr. Sherman's health is impaired, and, moreover, he is suffering more or less from the accidental fracture of his hip a few months ago, and therefore wishes to retire. Mr. Sherman entered the service of the bank July 1 1858 as assistant to the note teller. He was promoted first to note teller, then to receiving teller and later to paying teller, the latter in 1863, and was made Assistant Cashier in 1878 and Cashier in 1892. In 1892 he succeeded Mr. Richard King as President, and on July 1 next he will have been in the service of the bank forty-one years.

—At the annual meeting of the Boston Clearing-House Association, held on Monday, amendments to the constitution were adopted providing for the organization of a sub-clearing house for the collection of country checks, and authorizing the Clearing-House committee to arrange details. The plan in contemplation was briefly outlined in this column last week. It is proposed to begin by clearing checks of banks in Massachusetts. Should the scheme be successful, the system will be extended to the other New England States. There are thirty-nine banks in the Boston Clearing-House Association. Each bank will be required to pay $125 annually, and the expenses, in addition to this amount, will be assessed pro rata. The fixed revenue resulting from this annual payment, amounting to about $5,000, will be required to defray the cost of the sub-clearing house. It is understood that country banks which decline to make collections under this plan free of cost to Boston banks will be required to pay checks over their counters, such checks being sent by express for collection. The fact is recalled by old bank officers that, fifty years ago, when the Suffolk Bank of Boston and the Metropolitan Bank of New York were agencies for the redemption of notes of banks in New England and elsewhere, institutions which refused to redeem through these agencies were eventually compelled to make such redemption, the agencies gathering notes of these particular banks and presenting them, through the express companies, for payment. If a similar compulsory policy should be pursued by the Boston Clearing House in dealing with refractory country banks on this occasion, the proposed system of collections would probably be a success.

—At least one of the smaller New York trust companies seems to be taking advantage of the new Clearing House rules regarding collections of country checks, and it is seeking to attract deposits by offering to pay 2¼ per cent interest on balances, and it will credit items, payable at discretionary points, at par. Heretofore 2 per cent interest has been the highest rate paid on balances by the majority of New York banks, and very few trust companies have paid 2¼ per cent.

—The exchanges at the New York Clearing House on Tuesday, reflecting Monday's business, reached $352,882,567. The previous highest record was $315,236,782, on January 4. Among the causes contributing to these large clearings Tuesday were the fact that the liquidation on the Stock Exchange the previous Friday and Saturday had made necessary extensive shifting of loans; moreover the checks for the payment on the Chicago & Alton stock, for the International Steam Pump Company's shares and for the new Manhattan Elevated stock went through the Clearing House on that day. Considering these facts, the unprecedented clearings will occasion no surprise. Four banks were debit to an aggregate of $10,115,000, while four other banks were credit $10,297,000 Tuesday. The Assistant Treasurer was also debtor $1,454,762.

—It is in the air that three of our larger banks have it in prospect to consolidate. This is not claimed to be an immediate event—but one which is already in process.

Monetary and Commercial English News

LONDON, Saturday, April 1.

This week is so broken into by the Easter holidays that business is greatly hampered and curtailed. The Stock Exchange is closed from Thursday evening till Tuesday morning; and besides, the fortnightly settlement upon the Stock Exchange has been going on. For mining securities it began on Saturday last, for other securities on Monday; and it ended only on Wednesday evening. Thursday was the last working day of the month, the quarter and the financial year. And naturally, therefore, on the part of most people there has not been very much desire to engage in new risks. Moreover, as Parliament has adjourned over the holidays, there has been a regular exodus from London of everybody who can get away. Both Friday and Monday are legal holidays. Saturday is kept as a holiday by the Stock Exchange, by most of the other great Exchanges, and by an immense number of merchants and others; while the change in the weather from sharp cold to great mildness naturally encourages those people to take a rest even for a few days who cannot get away for longer.

But although business has been a good deal restricted, it has been more active than under the circumstances might reasonably have been expected. And in most departments there has been a very considerable rise in prices. The first and the main cause of the rise undoubtedly is the conclusion of the agreement with France settling the respective spheres of influence in Africa of both countries. France has indirectly, though not in express words, given up everything for which she contended during the Fashoda incident and for years before. She admits that the whole of the Soudan, including Darfur and the Bahr-el Gazel are within the British sphere of influence. And in giving up the whole of the Soudan to all intents and purposes she gives up Egypt as well.

From all this it is concluded that the policy which has so long been followed by France in regard to this country has been definitely abandoned by the present Cabinet and the new President, and that we are likely to see in future much more friendly relations between the two countries. It is understood that negotiations are going on with Russia for the settlement of all questions pending between that country and our own, and though nothing is known either as to the scope or the progress of the negotiations, it is alleged that they are proceeding very satisfactorily.

With the United States, of course, our relations are more cordial than they have ever been before. And our relations with Germany are very good. Therefore the peace of the world seems assured. And that being so, everybody looks forward to an exceedingly prosperous year, especially as it is hoped money will be more abundant and somewhat easier after Easter.

Even in France there is a better feeling than there was. There are signs, indeed, that trade is reviving. It was naturally greatly depressed by the alarming internal condition of the country, and by the danger of war that has lasted so long. Now it is beginning to recover. In Paris itself, indeed, there are complaints because the number of foreigners visiting the city has been exceptionally small during the past six or eight months. But outside of Paris there are undoubted signs of reviving business. In Germany trade is exceedingly active and speculation rampant.

The news from India is likewise very good. And except in one portion of New South Wales, there are strong hopes now entertained that the drought is at an end in Australasia. Good rains have fallen all over the colony of Victoria. In South Australia and in Queensland, and even in New South Wales, both on the west and on the east, there has been a good deal of rain. But a large district of about 200 miles in length and over 100 in breadth from the extreme south of the colony running up northwards is still suffering greatly from the drought, although even there rain is reported this week.

At home, trade is as good as ever, and there is every prospect of a considerable expansion of our exports. Upon the Stock Exchange, as already said, while business has been restricted, there has still been more activity than might have been expected. The most active of all departments was that for Rhodesian mines. In many cases prices have risen in this market from 25 to 50 per cent, and even in some cases 100 per cent, within the week. In the Transvaal mining market there was an inclination, likewise, to put up prices at the beginning of the week; but it was checked by the presentation of a petition from the Uitlanders to the British Government asking for protection and redress of grievances. There has been some slight business, too, in West Australian mines. In the American department more business has been done than for several weeks past, and there has been a fair amount of activity in British stocks of all kinds, especially British railway stocks. Money has been in very strong demand throughout the week, and the Bank of England has done a large business. This is a usual occurrence at the end of March, that is to say in the last week of the month, the quarter and the financial year. During the quarter ending March 31 a much larger proportion of our revenue is collected than in any other quarter, and that transfers an exceptionally large amount of money from the other banks to the Bank of England. Furthermore, our great banks are in the habit of publishing monthly accounts, and for the purpose of showing they hold sufficient reserves they call in money toward the end of the month which they let out again at the beginning of the next month. Lastly the great financial houses acting for governments and corporations have to accumulate very large sums to pay interest and the like in the first week of April.

Owing to all these reasons, the last week in March is usually one of very considerable stringency in the money market. Stringency, perhaps, is too strong a word to use for the present time, as the Bank of England rate is but 3 per cent, and even in the open market rates range from 3½ to 4 per cent. But money was scarce and even difficult to get, and very many borrowers had to go to the Bank of England to obtain accommodation. The banks charged Stock Exchange borrowers from ¼ to ½ per cent more than last time, and the carrying-over rates within the Stock Exchange were proportionately higher. As a matter of fact, however, the account open for the rise is not large. It is very much smaller indeed than it was early in February. It is rather that money was scarce and bankers unwilling to lend than that there was need for unusually large accommodation.

To day interest and dividends will be paid in very large amounts, and other sums will come out early next week. On the fifth the Bank of England will pay the interest upon the national debt. For some weeks, therefore, the open market will be well supplied with funds, and rates are likely to ease off somewhat. But it does not seem probable that they will ease off much, because there is a fear that if they do large amounts of gold will be shipped to the United States and Germany.

Moreover, the Currency Commission, which is examining the Indian currency question, has now practically completed the taking of evidence. It will probably have to spend some time in drawing up a report. Indeed, it is everywhere expected that there will be at least two reports—a majority and a minority. But even if a couple of months are spent in drawing up reports, it is possible that by midsummer the Indian Government may have decided upon the currency policy it will adopt, and may even have begun to make preparations. If amongst the preparations it should be decided to accumulate a large stock of gold—that would have a considerable effect upon our money market. It seems hardly likely, therefore, that rates will be allowed to fall away much. At the same time, they are likely to be easier for some weeks to come than they have been for some weeks past.

On Wednesday the India Council offered for tender 70 lacs, and the applications amounted to 325 lacs. The whole amount offered was allotted at a trifle over 1s. 4d per rupee. Subsequently a little over 3 lacs were sold by special tender at prices ranging from 1s. 4d. to 1s. 4 1/2d. per rupee. Next week the amount offered for tender will be reduced to 60 lacs.

WALL STREET, FRIDAY, APRIL 14, 1899.—3 P. M.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—If there were those who hoped or expected to see the stock market continue in the demoralized condition which characterized it near the close last week, they have been disappointed. There was some irregularity at the opening, but the market rapidly became steadier and the trend of prices has been upward, with some slight reaction as the week advanced. The experiences of last week naturally tend to make operators cautious, but the fact is generally recognized that there is little or no probability of stringency in the money market, and that general conditions favor a reasonably high level of prices. The latter is especially true of securities issued by companies whose operations are known to the public. Stocks of all classes, however, have shown their recuperative powers this week, and in several cases quotations are very close to the highest of the year. The Government report regarding the winter-wheat crop was more favorable than had been expected in some quarters, removing for a time one of the bear arguments which was used with some effect last week, but later information, it is claimed, affords a less promising outlook. Several of the heavy financial operations which have recently attracted attention are now completed, and the markets are not likely to be further disturbed by them; in fact, about the only disturbance they have caused, although much talked about, was either anticipated or imaginary. The money market has become much steadier than it was for several weeks before the recent flurry, and present indications are that it may remain so for some time.

The open market rates for call loans on the Stock Exchange during the week on stock and bond collaterals have ranged from 2 to 8 per cent. To day's rates on call were 3 to 5 per cent. Prime commercial paper quoted 3½ to 4½ per cent.

The Bank of England weekly statement on Thursday showed an increase in bullion of £259,604, and the percentage of reserve to liabilities was 38·90, against 37·20 last week; the discount rate remains unchanged at 3 per cent. The Bank of France shows a decrease of 3,600,000 francs in gold and 1,850,000 francs in silver.

The New York City Clearing-House banks in their statement of April 8 showed a decrease in the reserve held of $1,464,100, and a surplus over the required reserve of $15,018,825, against $15,494,850 the previous week.

State and Railroad Bonds.—Sales of State bonds at the Board include $10,000 Louisiana consol. 4s at 109¾; $3,000 Tennessee settlement 3s at 97; $9,500 Virginia fund. debt 2-8s of 1991 at 83½ to 84, and $50,000 Virginia 6s deferred trust receipts at 8 to 8½.

On a steadily increasing volume of business which averaged about $3,200,000 par value per day, the market for railway bonds has been generally firm, and in a few cases notable advances have been made. St. Louis & Iron Mountain 5s were the strongest feature of the active list, showing an advance of nearly 5 points. Oregon Short Line issues were only a little less conspicuous, the income As and the income Bs having advanced 3 points within the week. Wisconsin Central trust receipts show a gain of 2 points. Cleveland Cincinnati Chicago & St. Louis general 4s were strong in sympathy with the shares, and advanced 2 points. The list of other bonds which advanced a point or more includes Chesapeake & Ohio general 4½s, Kansas City Pittsburg & Gulf firsts, Mobile & Ohio general 4s, Northern Pacific prior 4s, Union Pacific 4s and Wabash debentures, series B.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—The force of the reaction which the stock market suffered last week was soon spent, and the recovery this week has been general. During the liquidation which took place stocks in considerable volume passed into stronger hands, which left the market in a more healthy condition. The dealings have been on a fairly liberal scale, averaging about 730,000 shares per day, of which the railroad list formed a conspicuous part. The Baltimore & Ohio issues were especially strong on the announcement that there will be no foreclosure proceedings and on the election of prominent Western railroad men to the new board of directors. Great Northern preferred advanced nearly six points on limited transactions. New York Central, North Western, Union Pacific, Missouri Pacific and Cleveland Cincinnati Chicago & St. Louis were also conspicuously strong. The local traction stocks were the elastic features. Brooklyn Rapid Transit recovered over 20 points of its recent decline. Manhattan Elevated 12 points and Metropolitan Street Railway about 11 points, some of which has been lost in the latter case.

Stocks on the industrial list which suffered most severely in the break last week have recovered more slowly, but gains are substantial in some cases. American Sugar Refining covered a range of 14 points in its fluctuations, Consolidated Gas 17 points, N. Y. Air Brake, American Tobacco, Consolidated Tobacco and Federal Steel each about 9 points.

RAILROAD EARNINGS.

The following table shows the gross earnings of every STREAM railroad from which regular weekly or monthly returns can be obtained. The first two columns of figures give the gross earnings for the latest week or month, and the last two columns the earnings for the period from January 1 to and including each latest week or month.

The returns of the street railways are brought together separately on a subsequent page.

 b Net earnings here given are before deducting taxes.
 c Deducting other expenditures for repairs, replacements and general expenses, net income applicable to interest on bonds in February was $98,254, against $89,006 last year, and from January 1 to February 23 $241,178, against $182,457. This is the result in Mexican dollars treated (according to the company's method of keeping its accounts) as equivalent to 80 cents in United States money—that is, depreciation beyond 20 per cent has already been allowed for.

Interest Charges and Surplus.—The following roads, in addition to their gross and net earnings given in the foregoing, also report charges for interest, &c., with the surplus or deficit above or below those charges

The following table shows the gross earnings for the latest period of all STREET railways from which we are able to obtain weekly or monthly returns. The arrangement of the table is the same as that for the steam roads—that is, the first two columns of figures give the gross earnings for the latest week or month, and the last two columns the earnings for the calendar year from January 1 to and including such latest week or month.

Street Railway Net Earnings.—The following table gives the returns of STREET railway gross and net earnings received this week. In reporting these net earnings for the street railways, we adopt the same plan as that for the steam roads—that is, we print each week all the returns received that week, but once a month (on the third or the fourth Saturday) we bring together all the roads furnishing returns, and the latest statement of this kind will be found in the CHRONICLE of March 18, 1899. The next will appear in the issue of April 22, 1899.

Lake Erie & Western Railroad Company.

(Report for the year ending Dec. 31, 1898.)

F. W. Whitridge, Chairman of the Board, says:

General Results.—The gross earnings for the year increased $27,981, the net earnings $1,411 and the surplus, after paying charges and dividends, $125,620. The result of the year's business, however, is that after paying the $444,000 (33 1/3 per cent) in dividends, $125,000 to make up the deficiency in the interest guaranteed upon Northern Ohio bonds and $197,979 for improvements and betterments [against $295,551 in 1897], the apparent surplus has been disposed of. The earnings were insufficient to pay the fourth instalment of the dividend, as the stockholders were advised by a circular dated Feb. 3.

Improvements and Betterments.—The following expenditures, aggregating $920,000, were authorized at a meeting of the directors on Feb. 3, 1899, viz.:

The purchase of 1,000 cars at a cost of.....	$508,000
Five switch locomotives, costing.....	42,000
Renewals of 160 culverts and small bridges (which had been constructed of wood, and reached their age limit) with iron and stone, at a cost of.....	170,000
Purchase of new steel, amounting to.....	100,000
Purchase of air brakes and couplers.....	100,000

This $920,000 can be paid from the earnings within the next two years.

"Obligations."—In the circular letter announcing the suspension of dividend payments allusion was made to certain large obligations which would be made the subject of future consideration. The first of these arose from the arrangements made two years ago to build a line from New Castle to Cuyahoga Falls, under the name of the Cleveland & New Castle Railway Co. For the construction of this line a loan was guaranteed by this company of $2,500,000. Subsequently, $1,750,000 of the loan was repaid, and there remains unpaid a balance amounting to $750,000, together with an expenditure for work done and land purchased of about $80,000; making a total on this account of upwards of $830,000. The Cleveland & New Castle Ry. was abandoned in October of last year, at the time of the purchase of Pittsburg & Western R.R. second mortgage bonds, and the endeavor of the present management has been to realize as much as possible from the sale of the property purchased on account of the Cleveland & New Castle Ry. Co., and it is expected that ultimately as much as $250,000 will be obtained from this source, leaving a balance of $605,000 due upon the Cleveland & New Castle loan, which must be paid out of the treasury of this company.

The second large obligation is a loan of $1,500,000, borrowed by this company, for the purchase of the second mortgage bonds of the Pittsburg & Western Ry. Co. Of this amount, $2,000,000 have been called up, and in the judgment of the officers of the company the securities purchased by this sum will be found to be worth quite as much as the amount borrowed for their purchase, and this obligation, therefore, is a cause of no uneasiness and may be expected to be liquidated at the time of the reorganization of the Pittsburg & Western Ry. Co.

Stocks Owned.—A change appears in this year's balance sheet which was directed at a meeting of the board in August last. The change was in form merely, as the transactions had taken place during a number of years theretofore. The securities which now for the first time appear in the balance sheet are, with the exception of the stock of the Cleveland Akron & Columbus Ry. Co., the Burlington Elevator Co. and the Peoria & Pekin Union Ry. Co., not likely to be of value. The Peoria & Pekin Union Ry. is a valuable adjunct of the company, and its stock a valuable asset. The control of the Cleveland Akron & Columbus Ry. has cost the company $725,000 and the stock is of considerable value, though not presently productive of income. [The securities owned are included in the balance sheet below in the item of $1,579,736, and embrace at par value the following:

Northern Ohio Ry. stock, $3,580,000; Cleve. A. & Col. Ry. stock, $2,237,500; Cin. Nor. RR. common stock, $1,084,060; preferred stock, $51,000; 1st mortgage bonds, $36,000; Detroit T. & M. RR. stock, $54,000; 1st mortgage bonds, $54,000; Chicago Ref. Car Line stock, $200,000; bonds, $245,000; P. & P. Union Ry. stock, $100,000; Lafayette Belt Ry. stock, $15,000; Burlington Elevator Co. stock, $5,000.]

In January last an examination of the books of the company was made by a firm of accountants, the result of which was satisfactory in confirming the statements.

Boston & Montana Consolidated Copper & Silver Mining Company.

(Report for the year ending Dec. 31, 1898.)

The report says:

"The developments of the year have been very gratifying, and the quantity of ore reserves has been materially increased. The financial operations of the year have also been very successful, enabling us to pay extra dividends. The increase in the price of copper already received during the present year, and the prospect of a material advance over last year's price being very bright for the balance of the year, it would seem that we have nothing unfavorable to look forward to.

"The litigation in which we have been involved has been vexatious and annoying, and will have to drag its slow way through the courts. At no time has it threatened any serious loss to the company, but it has been necessary to be in a position to take quick action at any time, for which reason the stockholders' protective committee was created."

The assets, liabilities, etc., on Dec. 31, 1898, were:

Knickerbocker Ice Co.

(Report for 9 months ending Dec. 31, 1898.)

President Field says in substance:

From April 1, 1898, to Dec. 31, 1898, a period of nine months, the net earnings of the company were $571,636. We have in store something over 1,500,000 tons of ice. We have saved largely at country points in shrinkage and in distribution expenses in the city by our present methods, and other savings can be made another year. On April 1 last year there were 67 ice houses from which ice was being taken. This was gradually cut down to 22 plants, and it is probable that during the coming season this can be reduced to 14 plants. For the month of March the cost of distribution was 81 cents a ton less than that shown for the same month last year by the data of the then largest companies. The outlook for the present year is of an encouraging nature. We have already closed contracts for over 100,000 tons of ice with consumers who did not take ice from this company last year. In addition we already have contracts for filling and for track elevation work on the Chicago & North-Western, Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul and Lake Shore & Michigan Southern railways, and our general material business looks more encouraging than for many years. Responsible parties have now under consideration the purchase at $600,000 of some of our surplus real estate. If sold, the proceeds will be used for redemption of bonds.

The capitalization consists of $1,000,000 common stock, $3,000,000 6 per cent preferred stock and $1,933,000 5 per cent bonds. Interest on the bonds for the nine months, had the $1,933,000 been outstanding for the entire period, would have required $72,486, and the preferred stock dividend $135,000; these amounts, when deducted from the net earnings of $571,636 shown by the President's report leaves a balance for the common stock of $364,199.—V. 67, p. 1356.

GENERAL INVESTMENT NEWS.

Reorganizations, Etc.—Defaults, Reorganization Plans, Etc.—The usual index is omitted this week, but that covering the items published to April 1, inclusive, will be found in the CHRONICLE of April 8.

Allegheny & Kinzua RR.—Decision—The suit of the bondholders to compel specific performance by Spencer S. Bullis and Mills W. Barse and others, of certain agreements whereby some 46,000 acres of timber-land were to be conveyed to the trustee of the mortgage, or to compel payment of the value of this land, was recently passed upon the second time by the Court of Appeals. The case went again to that tribunal, upon appeal by the defendants, Bullis and Barse, and the decision now rendered holds, affirming that below, that the fact that individuals controlling certain railroads had issued bonds of the consolidated company, upon false representations as to timber land to be furnished as added security, renders them as well as the corporation liable for relief to the bondholders.—"N. Y. Times."—V. 64, p. 632.

Allonez Mining.—Increase of Stock.—The stockholders will vote at the office, 60 State Street, Boston, on April 26, on a proposition to increase the capital stock from $2,000,000 to $2,500,000; par value of shares $25.

American Enameled Paper Co.—Incorporated.—A certificate of incorporation of this company has been filed with the County Clerk of Essex County, N. J., at Newark, the incorporators being employees of the law firm of Dill, Seymour & Baldwin, of this city, and of the Registration Trust Co. of New Jersey. The company, it is stated, is intended to unite the makers of glazed paper in Springfield, Mass., Boston, etc. The capital stock, it is expected, will presently be largely increased.

American Gas Co. of New Jersey.—Listed.—The Philadelphia Stock Exchange has listed the company's $1,000,000 common stock; par value of shares $100 each, full paid. Principal office, 222 South Third St., Philadelphia. An official statement says:

The company was incorporated Dec. 12, 1892, under the laws of New Jersey. Its property consists of capital stock of the following companies, owned whole or in part: Canton Gas Light & Coke Co., Canton, O.; East Chester Gas Light Co., Mt. Vernon, N. Y.; Elgin American Gas Co., Elgin, Ill.; New Rochelle Gas & Fuel Co., New Rochelle, N. Y.; Pelham Gas Light Co., Pelham, N. Brooklyn Rapid Transit Co.—Nassau Electric RR.—Lease, Terms and Status.—As announced last week, the temporary injunction of Peter H. Flynn to restrain the leasing of the Nassau Electric RR. to the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Co. was dissolved on April 7. The case will go to trial the first Monday in May. Mr. Flynn claims to own $1,500,000 common stock of the Nassau Electric RR., out of a total capital stock issue, as stated by him, of $6,000,000 preferred and $7,000,000 common. The Brooklyn Rapid Transit Co. owns 80 p. c. of the stock, and claims Mr. Flynn's holdings do not exceed $300,000. The lease requires that the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Co. shall pay all the taxes and fixed charges of the Nassau Company and a cash rental of $150,000 a year, an amount which the Rapid Transit people claims to be liberal. Mr. Flynn's representative says:

A few hours after the lease was made the Coney Island & Gravesend RR. Co., a perfectly solvent concern, of which Mr. Flynn is President, offered to pay $250,000 a year for the lease.

Former Lieut.-Gov. Sheehan, who appeared for the Brooklyn Heights Co., said there was a deficit of $260,000 in the Nassau Co. last year, and if the proper entries had been made the deficit would have been much greater. The Coney Island & Gravesend Railway Co., on June 30, 1898, owned three miles of track.

The acquisition of the Kings County lines will raise this to $43,301,000. The authorized issue is $45,000,000. The Transit Company will thus control all the elevated lines in Brooklyn in addition to over 85 per cent of the surface roads.—V. 68, p. 669, 329.

Brooklyn Union Elevated RR.—Brooklyn Rapid Transit Co.—Offer for Stock.—H. B. Hollins & Co. announce that the privilege heretofore offered to stockholders of the Brooklyn Union Elevated RR. The company will acquire the control of the following corporations, either through the conveyance of the titles to their properties and businesses or by the ownership of not less than two-thirds of their stock, as may be found practicable: Henry R. Worthington (a corporation), Blake & Knowles Steam Pump Works, limited, Dean Steam Pump Works, Laidlaw-Dunn-Gordon Co., Snow Steam Pump Works. These companies are estimated to transact 90 per cent of the steam pump business of the United States exclusive of high duty engines. The majority of the companies also manufacture such engines.

HENRY R. WORTHINGTON.—The Henry R. Worthington Co. has its "hydraulic works" in Brooklyn, New York, and its foundry at Elizabethport, N. J. The assets as of April 30, 1898, are $6,147,355, without allowance for good will. Its estimated net profits for the year 1898-99, based on ten months since April 30, 1898, after allowing for annual charges, are at least $350,000. The foreign business is transacted by the Worthington Pumping Engine Co., a New Jersey corporation, over 80 per cent of the stock of which is owned by the Henry R. Worthington Co. This foreign business has increased from a nominal amount in 1884 to upwards of $1,350,000 in 1898. In the last three years the foreign sales have increased at the rate of over 15 per cent per annum. In water-works service the Worthington engine occupies the chief place among the engines of the world. It is estimated that there are more Worthington pumping engines in use for water-works service than all other types combined.

The water supply of Brooklyn, New York, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Providence, Jersey City, Newark, Memphis, Nashville, Cleveland, Toledo, St. Louis and Boston is wholly or largely dependent upon Worthington engines. This American water-works business is conducted through the United States Manufacturing Co., the entire common stock of which, being its entire share capital with the exception of $500,000 of preferred stock, is owned by said Henry R. Worthington. The former company owns 60 per cent of the stock of the well known Holly Manufacturing Co., builders of high duty pumping engines, principally for water works. The earnings of this last named company have been applied since the purchase of the stock in 1892 to the reduction of its indebtedness from over $700,000 to less than $200,000, instead of to dividends. When these debts have been paid, the new company will receive its share of the dividends from the business of the Holly Manufacturing Co., through its ownership of the common stock of the United States Manufacturing Co.

Worthington engines are pumping the larger part of the water supply of London, the sewerage of Rotterdam, Bombay and Calcutta, and a considerable part of the water supply of Paris, Buda Pesth and St. Petersburg. Its plants are installed at Johannesburg, and in upwards of three hundred places in Great Britain, France, Germany, Russia, India, Japan, Australia and the Sandwich Islands. Worthington pumps have been adopted by the British Admiralty, as well as the Navy Department of the United States. With few exceptions, all the hydraulic elevators in the country are operated by Worthington pumps, this being an important branch of its business.

BLAKE & KNOWLES.—The Blake & Knowles Steam Pump Works, Limited, has its works at East Cambridge and Warren, Mass. Its brands, patents and trade-marks are known and recognized throughout the world. The company also has a large foreign business, having recently furnished pumps to the navies of Germany, Austria, Spain and many other countries, besides having equipped many of the American men-of-war. Its pumps are largely utilized in the mining industry, being employed at the Anaconda, Portland, United Verde and Australasian and South African mines. Its foreign business for the year 1898-99 was double that of the preceding year. The assets as of April 30, 1898, are stated at $3,178,000 without allowance for good will. The net profits for the year ending April 30, 1899, estimated on the basis of the business for the past ten months will be at least $425,000, after ample allowance for depreciation, etc.

DEAN, ETC., COMPANIES.—Dean Steam Pump Works has its factory at Holyoke, Mass. Its assets of Dec. 31, 1898, were $1,155,000, without allowance for good will, and its net earnings for the year 1898, after allowance for depreciation, $111,973. The Laidlaw-Dunn-Gordon Company has its works at Cincinnati, Ohio. Its assets as of April 30, 1898, are stated at $400,000, without allowance for good will, and its estimated profits for the year ending April 30, 1899, based on the business for the past ten months, are at least $70,000, after deducting depreciation. The Snow Steam Pump Works has its works at Buffalo, N. Y. Its assets are $700,000, without allowance for good will, and its profits for the year, after allowance for depreciation, are $35,000.

CONSOLIDATED COMPANY.—The combined net profits of these five concerns for the year 1898, estimated on the business of ten months of the year, will amount to over $1,200,000, which is equal to a dividend of 3 per cent on the common stock of the new company after paying the preferred dividend. The business is in no way dependent upon the tariff for success. The constituent companies will be taken over free from debt, except as herein stated, and with assets valued by the vendor companies at over $12,000,000, in which are included liquid assets amounting to upwards of $4,700,000—consisting of cash, merchandise and accounts, which will furnish ample working capital for the new company.

Out of the authorized capital there will be reserved and set apart an amount of preferred stock at par for the retirement of the $2,000,000 7 per cent cumulative preference shares of Henry R. Worthington and $1,150,000 6 per cent debentures and $500,000 8 per cent preference shares of the Blake & Knowles Co. There will also be deposited with the Colonial Trust Co. an amount of common stock to induce the retirement of these outstanding securities, reserving, however, to the new company the right to dispose of the securities thus set apart, if not exchanged within a limited time. A conservative estimate of the advantages derived from consolidation is believed to be $1,300,000 over the present earnings, which would make a total of future net earnings, with the estimated earnings based on ten months of the year's business, of $2,500,000, or 6 per cent on the preferred stock and over 11 per cent on the common stock of the new company. Charles C. Worthington will be the President and Max Nathan the Treasurer of the new company.

Lehman Brothers offered a portion of the new stock for subscription, at the rate of $100 in preferred stock and $75 in common stock for each $100 in cash.—V. 68, p. 618.

Kansas City Pittsburg & Gulf R.R. Co.—Reorganization Notice.—The Reorganization Committee, Ernst Thalmann, Chairman, announces that the recent appointment of receivers renders it of the highest importance for the protection of the holders of the bonds and stock that their holdings should be immediately deposited with the Mercantile Trust Co. The agreement gives the right to depositors to withdraw their bonds and stocks if the plan should not be satisfactory to them. See advertisement on another page.—V. 68, p. 672.

Kansas City Pittsburg & Gulf R.R.—Receivership Suit.—At Kansas City on April 7 Judge Phillips granted an order removing the receivership case from the Circuit Court of Jackson County to the United States Circuit Court. J. McD. Trimble, representing the receivers, then filed a motion asking that the case be remanded to the Jackson County Circuit Court. The "Kansas City Star" says: "The time for the argument of this motion was not set, but it will probably be later than May 1, as Judge Phillips will take a vacation at once. In the meantime the present receivers are acting under Judge Philips's orders and at his pleasure."—V. 68, p. 672.

Kings County Elevated Ry.—Reorganization Plan.—The Belmont Committee has prepared a plan of reorganization for the Kings County and Fulton Elevated railway companies, copies of which can be obtained of the Guaranty Trust Co., No. 28 Nassau Street, New York City. Security holders may become parties by depositing their securities in said trust company on or before May 15, 1899, and paying the assessments called for by the plan. The holders of the first mortgage bonds who have already deposited their bonds pursuant to the agreement, dated Jan. 23, 1899, may exchange the temporary receipts for receipts under the reorganization agreement above referred to.

The plan provides for foreclosure and the issue of the following new securities:

FIRST MORTGAGE 4 per cent gold bonds due in 1949; these bonds are to be secured by mortgage covering all the property and franchises of the new company, including after-acquired property. Total issue $7,000,000.

Of which issuable for reorganization expenses.....$5,000,000
 Remaining in treasury for future improvements..... 2,000,000
PREFERRED STOCK, 5 p. c. per annum, non-cumulative [to be exchanged for $1,400,000 Brooklyn Rapid Trans. stock.] 2,800,000
COMMON STOCK [to be exchanged for $600,000 Brooklyn Rapid Trans. stock]..... 6,000,000

After the organization of the new company "the stock of the new company is to be exchanged for stock of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Co. by the committee as follows:" $100 Brooklyn Rapid Transit Stock for $200 preferred stock of the new company, and $100 stock of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Co. for $1,000 common stock of the new company, thus transferring the ownership of the property of the new company to the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Co. free and clear of all incumbrances except said mortgage to secure bonds aggregating $7,000,000, of which $2,000,000 are to be at the date of the exchange of the said stock in the treasury of the new company.

Exchange.—The exchange of old for new securities will be as follows:

Old Securities,	Pay Assess-	New 1st	And	Receive	Brook.
per $1,000 bonds, $100 stock	ment.	Mort'ge	*New	*New	Rap Tr.
		Bonds.	Stock.	Com.	Stock.

do Stock.....	6	....	3	60	7-50

*The new preferred and the new common stocks are to be exchanged for the Brooklyn Rapid Transit stock as stated in the last column.

The committee believe that the above plan of reorganization fairly recognizes the various interests and is for the benefit of all. It contemplates the acquisition of the property by the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Co., subject only to an annual fixed charge of $200,000 besides taxes. It also contemplates the substitution of electricity or some other motive power, in lieu of steam, on elevated lines, and the committee believe that the elimination of competition, the change of motive power and other advantages will bring about results satisfactory to the holders of the securities. For the year 1898 the gross earnings from all sources are reported by the committee as $636,617; operating expenses, $568,563; net earnings, $68,054—V. 68, p. 331.

Long Island RR.—Meeting.—At the annual meeting on Tuesday the only change in the board of directors was the substitution of A. C. Bedford for J. G. K. Duer. The vote on the proposed new mortgage (see V. 68, p. 618,) has been postponed until May 6. The success of the plan, however, is said to be assured since the management holds proxies amounting to over three-fourths of the outstanding stock in its favor.—V. 68, p. 669.

Mexican National RR.—Annual Election.—At the annual meeting of the stockholders at Colorado Springs, April 3, the following board of directors was elected:

W. G. Raoul, C. C. Beaman, Robert Waller, Jr.; Stephen S. Palmer, F. A. Horsey, Henri P. Wertheim, Walter Hinchman, Geo. F. Peabody, Emilio Velasco, Wm. Landa y Escandon, James Sullivan, Justo Sierra and Mariano Escobedo.

W. G. Raoul is President, Gabriel Morton Second Vice-Pres. and Treasurer, Wm. Burekel Secretary.—V. 68, p. 672.

Michigan Central RR.—New Treasurer.—Charles F. Cox has been appointed Treasurer (in place of D. A. Waterman, deceased), and F. Middlebrook, Assistant Treasurer. Both will have their offices at the Grand Central Station, in this city. Mr. Cox is also Treasurer of the Canada Southern, the Cleveland Cincinnati Chicago & St. Louis and the New York Chicago & St. Louis.—V. 67, p. 1354.

Montana Coal & Coke Co.—Incorporated.—This company was incorporated at Trenton, N. J., April 11, with a capital stock of $5,000,000, in shares of $25 each. Incorporators: Joseph A. Coram, of Lowell, Mass.; Timothy E. Hopkins, of Danielson, Conn.; Henry A. Root, of Somers, Conn.; Simon H. Stern, of New York, and Robert Wheeland, of Jersey City. The "Boston Journal" says:

This company owns 3,140 acres of coal lands in Montana, which contain three seams of coking coal, averaging about four feet thick, and is operating 103 coke ovens and proposes to add 100 more; also to build three miles of railroad. The company has floated its stock at $10 per share, on a capitalization of 200,000 shares, for the purpose of paying the purchase price for the property and placing $100,000 in the treasury to build the additional ovens and make the railroad connection. The stock has been underwritten. J. A. Coram is to be President, and the office is located at 60 State Street.

Nashville Street Ry.—Cumberland Electric Light & Power Co.—Purchase.—Connel of the Nashville Street Ry. is quoted as saying that Hambleton & Co. have purchased the interests of Col. C. M. McGhee and N. Baxter, Jr., in the Nashville Street Railway, which composed a large majority of the stock of that company, and have also purchased the stock and other securities of the Cumberland Electric Light & Power Co.—V. 68, p. 672

New York Gas Companies.—Bill to Authorize Municipal Plant.—The bill fathered by Richard Croker providing for the municipal ownership of a gas plant in New York City (existing plants if necessary to be acquired by condemnation) and for the sale by it of gas at not exceeding 75 cents a thousand and feet has been introduced in the Legislature at Albany.

New York Philadelphia & Norfolk RR.—Mortgage.—The company has filed its new mortgage for $4,000,000 to the Fidelity Insurance Trust & Safe Deposit Co. of Philadelphia as trustees; $500,000 bonds are reserved for betterments and extensions.—V. 68, p. 183.

Northern of Guatemala RR.—Guatemala Central RR.—Purchase Pending by Huntington Interests.—The Guatemala Central RR. Co., which is controlled by Mr. C. P. Huntington and associates, has been negotiating for several months for the purchase of the Northern RR. of Guatemala, for the purpose of completing a new through route from the Atlantic to the Pacific, to be operated in connection with the Pacific Mail steamers. A report was current this week that the purchase had been completed, but on inquiry we learn that the announcement was premature. The Guatemala Central RR. is in operation from San Jose, a port on the Pacific, to the city of Guatemala, a distance of 74 miles, with branch from Santa Maria to Patulul, 32 miles. When the Northern RR. of Guatemala is acquired only about 60 miles of track will remain to be laid to complete the through line, 274 miles in length, between the two oceans.

North Shore Traction Co.—Deposits.—From 90 to 95 per cent of the stock has been deposited for sale to the syndicate.—V. 68, p. 673.

North & South Carolina RR.—New Project.—This company is constructing a road from Virgilina, a point on the Atlantic & Danville RR., about 30 miles west of Clarksville, Va., to a copper-mining district, a distance of five miles. It is the intention to continue slowly the construction of the road in a southerly direction, with divergent lines, and eventually to reach Columbia, S. C., a total distance of 180 miles. It is understood that interests identified with the Atlantic & Danville RR. are interested in the project.

Pressed Steel Car Co.—Listed.—The New York Stock Exchange has listed the $12,500,000 common and $12,500,000 preferred stock. The enterprise has already been described at length in this column. The present statement says:

The preferred stock is entitled out of any and all surplus net profits, whenever declared by the board of directors, to non-cumulative dividends at the rate of not to exceed 7 per cent per annum for the fiscal year beginning the first day of January, 1899, and for each and every fiscal year thereafter, payable in preference and priority to any payment of any dividend on the common stock for such fiscal year. In the event of the dissolution of the corporation the holders of the preferred stock are entitled to receive the par value of their preferred shares out of the surplus funds of the corporation before any payment shall be made therefrom to the holders of the common stock.

All of the plants are equipped with new machinery and are free and clear of liens and incumbrances, except in the case of the Joliet plant, which is subject to the lien of a mortgage securing $300,000 of bonds, of which $200,000 have been canceled, and as against the remaining outstanding $100,000, the present value thereof has been deposited with the Central Trust Co. The company has $1,500,000 working capital, and has earned profits to this date amounting to $440,907.29.

Rio Grande Western Ry.—Listed.—The New York Stock Exchange has listed $550,000 of the $650,000 Utah Central RR. first mortgage 4 per cent guaranteed gold bonds. The remaining $100,000 of bonds are held by the Trustee "for the work of actual construction, repair or extension upon the lines and within the franchises of the railroad and railroad property mortgaged." The road is 3-foot gauge and extends from Salt Lake City to Park City, both in Utah, 33 miles, with sundry branches in both cities. Form of guaranty.

"In consideration of the purchase of this bond by the holder hereof and of the matters set forth in an agreement dated the first day of January, 1898, made between the Rio Grande Western Railway Co., the Utah Central R.R. Co. and the State Trust Co. of New York, the Rio Grande Western Railway Co. does hereby guarantee the punctual payment of the interest and principal of the within bond according to the terms thereof, this guaranty to be subject to the provisions of the said agreement.—V. 68, p. 478.

Lawrence, President; Abel Anderson, Vice-President and Treasurer; John P. Allison, J. W. O'Grady and J. S. Goodwin, additional directors. Messrs. O'Grady and Goodwin are from Chicago; the others reside in Sionx City.

Southern Car & Foundry Co.—Incorporated.—This company has been incorporated in New Jersey, with authorized capital of $750,000. Incorporators: Casper H. Hicks, Charles L. E. Degange, F. V. Sullivan and Edgar L. James, all of New York; Ernest H. Taylor, Brick Church, N. J. Two southern car companies outside of the American Car & Foundry Co.—namely, the Lenoir City Car Works, situated at Lenoir City, London County, Tenn., and the Elliot Car Co. of Gadsden, Ala.—have been planning a consolidation, and possibly have caused the above-mentioned incorporation.

Southern Pacific Co.—Listed.—The New York Stock Exchange has listed $18,295,630 additional capital stock, making the total amount listed to date $126,527,900. The additional issue was made against the shares of proprietary companies deposited in trust with the Union Trust Co. for the benefit of the stockholders of the Southern Pacific Company. An official statement regarding the issue and a list of all the shares now represented by the stock of the Southern Pacific Company will be found on page 727.—V. 68, p. 617.

Spirits Distributing Co.—Standard Distilling & Distributing Co.—Contract Confirmed.—At a postponed special meeting last week, the stockholders of the Spirits Distributing Co. confirmed the contract by which the company's business is to be transferred to the Standard Distilling & Distributing Co. and dividends guaranteed on the preferred shares. (See circular, V. 68, p. 86.)—V. 68, p. 86, 573.

Spokane Falls & Northern Ry.—Called.—The $225,000 6 per cent gold debentures of 1897 have been called and will be redeemed on presentation at the Chase National Bank at par and accrued interest. Interest will cease July 1, 1899.—V. 67, p. 179.

Tennessee Coal Iron & RR.—Listed.—The New York Stock Exchange has listed $4,000 first mortgage 6 per cent bonds of the DeBardeleben Coal & Iron Co., guaranteed by the Tennessee Coal, Iron & RR. Co. These bonds have been sold to pay for the $100,000 Enreka Company bonds, which are now due. This issue completes the $3,000,000 authorized by the mortgage. Owing to the operation of the sinking fund there has been cancelled $229,000, leaving outstanding in the hands of the public $2,771,000.—V. 68, p. 567, 573.

Texas & Pacific RR.—Missouri Pacific Ry.—Large Deposit.—It is announced that the deposits of Texas & Pacific second mortgage bonds, preparatory to exchange for Iron Mountain bonds, in accordance with the proposition recently submitted (see CHRONICLE of April 1, page 619), have exceeded the average results at so early a stage of readjustment undertakings. A large majority of the bonds is already in the hands of the Mercantile Trust Company, and it is believed that substantially a unanimous acceptance of the proposition will have been made by Saturday the 15th inst., when the right to deposit will expire.—V. 68, p. 619.

United Railways & Electric Co.—Mortgage Filed.—The company has made its income mortgage for $14,000,000 to the Maryland Trust Co., as trustee, the bonds to be issued in place of preferred stock.—V. 68, p. 620.

Banigan were accepted, and in their place were elected to the board Col. Samuel P. Colt of the United States Rubber Co. and Frederick T. Guild accountant, of Providence. The fifth member of the board will be elected next Monday. It is said the Banigan Rubber Co., although now controlled in the interest of the United States Rubber Co., will be operated independently of the trust, but under the regular scale of prices.—V. 68, p. 675.

West Chicago Street RR.—North Chicago Street RR.—Chicago City Ry.—Negotiations.—The Chicago "Economist" says that negotiations for the purchase of the Yerkes' roads by an Eastern syndicate, represented by the Central Trust Co., and said to include Messrs. Elkins, Widener, Brady, Whitney, Ryan and Olcott, have reached an advanced stage. The syndicate is trying also to get control of the Chicago City Ry., and, if successful, it is thought a union of all the principal surface lines of the city will be effected. The "Economist" adds:

The plan does not contemplate the purchase of the three street rail road properties south of Seventy-first street, the South Chicago City Ry., the Calumet Electric and the Chicago Electric Traction. It is understood that the prices fixed on the stocks of the three principal companies are 400 for City Ry., 300 for North Chicago and 125 for West Chicago, although the West Chicago price is subject to variation.—V. 68, p. 530, 231.

Wisconsin Central Co.—Reorganization Plan.—The Reorganization Committee—George Coppel, Chairman—has prepared a plan of reorganization which is to be carried out under the direction of the following reorganization managers: Maitland, Coppel & Co., 24 Exchange Place, N. ## The Commercial Times.

COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

FRIDAY NIGHT, April 14, 1899.

Business in most lines of merchandise has been fairly active, and although there have been comparatively few advances in values, the general undertone has been one of firmness and quoted values have been well maintained. Further reports of crop damage have been received from the winter-wheat belt and during the latter part of the week prices for wheat advanced slightly, based on these reports. The Samoan episode has received considerable attention, but it is not expected that it will result in serious complications between the countries interested. The condition of war which has existed with Spain since April 21, 1898, formally ended Tuesday, April 11, with the exchange of ratifications of the peace treaty.

Lard on the spot has been quiet and prices have declined under fairly free offerings. The close was steadier at 5.45c. for prime Western and 5.12½c. for prime City. Refined lard has had only a small sale, and prices have weakened. The close, however, was steadier at 5.70c. for refined for the Continent. Speculation in lard for future delivery has been only moderately active. Early in the week the market was raided by packers and prices declined. Subsequently, however, most of the loss was recovered and the close was steady.

DAILY CLOSING PRICES OF LARD FUTURES.

	Sat.	Mon.	Tues.	Wed.	Thurs.	Fri.
May.....	5.52	5.53	5.45	5.37	5.40	5.45

Pork has been in only limited demand and values have weakened slightly, closing at $8.75@8.50 for mess, $10.50@11 for family and $10.50@12.50 for short clear. Cut meats have been quiet but values have been fairly well maintained, closing at 4½c. for pickled shoulders, 7½@7½c. for pickled hams and 5@5½c. for pickled bellies, 14@10 lbs. average. Beef has been in moderate demand and steady at $9.10 for mess, $10.10 for packet, $9.50@11.00 for family and $14.50@15.00 for extra India mess in tierces. Tallow has been quiet and prices have weakened to 4½c. Oleo stearine has had a fair sale at steady prices, closing at 5½c. Lard stearine has sold at 5½c. for prime City, closing steady. Cotton-seed oil has been in moderate demand and firm at 26c.@26½c. for prime yellow. Butter has been in full supply and prices have favored buyers, closing at 14c.@21c. for creamery. Speculation in cotton for future delivery has continued without animation and prices have gradually sagged. Comparatively little new interest has been shown, the trading consisting largely of liquidating contracts by tired longs. The buying power has lacked force, as it has come almost exclusively from Liverpool and local shorts to cover contracts. The principal weakening feature in the near-by positions has been the fact that stocks have been gradually increasing at both interior town and at the ports. The movement of the crop has continued fairly full, while the export inquiry and the export movement have been light. The demand from the home trade also has been limited. Crop accounts from the South have been of a more encouraging nature. Weather conditions in the cotton belt have been favorable and decided progress in crop preparations have been made. This has induced some selling of the new crop deliveries, principally for Liverpool account, and as there has been an absence of buyers, prices have declined. The weakness of the market was most pronounced on Thursday, when selling of the summer months against stop loss orders resulted in prices at one time during the day showing a shrinkage of 10 points. To day there was a quiet and unsettled market. At the opening, in response to stronger foreign advices and some buying for foreign account, prices advanced slightly; then weakened under renewed selling by tired longs and favorable weather at the South, but during the afternoon again turned firmer and advanced on the crop movement for the week being slightly under general expectations. The close showed prices unchanged to 3 points higher for the day. Cotton on the spot has been quiet and prices declined 1-16c. on Thursday. The close was quiet at 6 1/4c. for middling uplands.

On the basis of the rates on and off middling as established by the Revision Committee, the prices for a few of the grades would be as follows:

GOVERNMENT WEEKLY COTTON REPORT.—Mr. W. L. Moore, Chief of the Weather Bureau of the Agricultural Department, made public on Tuesday the following telegraphic reports on the crops in the Southern States for the week ending April 10.

VIRGINIA.—Richmond: Season very backward, and little of usual spring work done.

NORTH CAROLINA.—Cold and wet; very unfavorable; snow Tuesday; ground soaked; farm work already a month behind; very little preparations yet made for staple crops.

SOUTH CAROLINA.—Rains further delayed farm work; little plowing and no planting over western portions, owing to wet ground; much land prepared for cotton over eastern portion; some Sea Island upland cotton planted.

GEORGIA.—Continuous wet and cold weather very unfavorable to general farm work; considerable cotton will have to be replanted in central and southern counties; in northern counties little cotton planted; much land still unprepared for cotton.

FLORIDA.—Week unfavorable for germination and growth; some cotton being chopped.

ALABAMA.—Unseasonably cool; frequent rains except in southern portions; cotton planting well started.

MISSISSIPPI.—Week generally unfavorable for plowing, planting or growing; but little cotton planted, and where growth has started it has been slow; season generally reported from three to four weeks late.

LOUISIANA.—Conditions fairly favorable for work, but weather and ground too cold for germination and growth of vegetation; cotton-planting begun, but acreage will be reduced.

TEXAS.—General rains improved conditions materially, but more is needed in western portion; frost to coast on 7th did considerable damage; too cold for proper germination of seed and healthy growth; much cotton planted in southern portion, and planting will soon be general in northern portions; some early-planted killed by frost in south.

ARKANSAS.—Plowing and planting progressing slowly on account of cold, wet weather in most sections; some cotton planted in extreme southeast section.

TENNESSEE.—Excessive rains, with cold and frosts, delayed farm work; season more than a month late; no cotton planted.

MISSOURI.—Week cold, with heavy snow in central and northern sections on the 3d.

OKLAHOMA.—Cold, from two to three weeks backward; no cotton planted.

These reports are summarized as follows:

Over the central and eastern portions of the cotton region but little cotton has been planted. In Southern Texas much cotton has been planted, and planting will soon be general in the northern portion. Some of the early-planted cotton was killed by the recent frosts in Texas.

BREADSTUFFS.

FRIDAY, April 14, 1899.

Early in the week there was a small and uninteresting market for wheat flour. Buyers continued to hold off, confining their purchases to such supplies as were needed to meet current wants. Sellers, however, were not disposed to force sales, and values were fairly well maintained. At the close of the week, however, reflecting the upward tendency to values for the grain, demand improved to some extent, the home trade being a better buyer, and there was increased activity to the export demand; prices ruled fairly firm. Rye flour has had only a small sale, but prices have been unchanged and steady. Corn meal has been in moderately active demand and at the close of the week prices were firm in sympathy with the advance in corn.

Speculation in wheat for future delivery has been moderately active. Early in the week no decided changes occurred in values, the fluctuations in prices being confined to a fractional range, and the tone held steady. Unfavorable crop accounts from the West and the Government report, which showed a low average condition of the crop, being offset by free selling by prominent bear operators and more favorable weather conditions at the South. During the latter part of the week, however, there developed a stronger tone. The crop accounts continued of an unfavorable nature, advices received from reliable sources stating that damage had been done by the severe weather experienced. These reports finally had a tendency to make shorts nervous, and on Thursday they were free buyers to cover contracts, prices for the day showing an advance of 2 1/2c. Early in the week, prior to the advance in prices, exporters were fair buyers in the spot market. Subsequently, however, on the higher basis of values, demand fell off. To day the market was easier, under realizing sales by longs here and at the West, prompted by a more favorable crop account. The spot market was quiet. The sales for export were 40,000 bushels.

India corn futures have received only a very moderate amount of attention. Early in the week, under reports that with the milder weather at the West, seeding of the new crop was making favorable progress, prices weakened slightly, as longs sold to liquidate their accounts. Subsequently, however, the market turned stronger and prices advanced in response to stronger foreign advices, a good export demand, light crop movement and in sympathy with the advance in wheat. Business in the spot market has been active, as exporters have been free buyers. Considerable business has been done direct from interior markets, a reduction in freight rates attracting buyers. To-day the market was easier with wheat. The spot market was active. Sales for export here and at outports were 490,000 bushels.

Oats for future delivery at the Western market have been quiet. Early in the week there was some selling by the elevator interests, and under these offerings prices weakened slightly. Later in the week, however, the market developed a stronger tone, and the loss was recovered. Offerings from the country trade were light, and there was a good cash demand. Locally the spot market has been moderately active, and values have held fairly steady. To day the market for futures was quiet and slightly easier. The spot market was moderately active and steady.

AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT REPORT.—The report of the Department of Agriculture, showing the condition of winter grain on April 1, and the mortality of farm animals, was issued on April 10 as follows:

The April report of the Statistician of the Department of Agriculture will show the average condition of winter wheat on April 1 to have been 77.9, against 86.7 on April 1, 1898, 81.4 on April 1, 1897, and a ten year average of 84.4. The averages for the principal winter wheat States are as follows: Pennsylvania, 89; Texas, 71; Tennessee, 71; Ohio, 86; Michigan, 73; Indiana, 72; Illinois, 74; Missouri, 73; Kansas, 66; California, 93. Of the thirty States producing winter wheat twenty-six, containing over 76 per cent of the total winter wheat acreage, report a condition below their respective ten-year averages. The average condition of winter rye is 84.9, against 92.1 on April 1, 1898, 88.9 on April 1, 1897, and a ten-year average of 90. The percentage of mortality among farm animals, swine excepted, has been higher than for many years past. Of horses 2.3 per cent are reported as having died from disease, against 2 per cent the preceding year and a ten-year average of 1.8 per cent. Of cattle a mortality of 2.2 per cent from winter exposure and of 2.03 per cent from disease is reported, against 1.3 per cent from exposure and 2 per cent from disease the preceding winter, and 1.8 per cent from exposure and 1.6 per cent also from disease as the ten-year average. Of sheep the deaths from exposure amounted to 3.5 per cent and those from disease to 2.14 per cent, against 2.7 per cent from exposure and 2.3 per cent from disease the preceding winter and 2.5 per cent and 2.3 per cent, the respective ten-year averages. The losses of swine aggregate 8.2 per cent, against 9.3 per cent last year, 1.4 per cent in 1897 and a ten-year average of 8.4 per cent.

The following comparison for a number of years covers the condition of winter wheat in the leading States:

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

NEW YORK, FRIDAY, P. M., April 14, 1899.

Regular market conditions have not undergone any material changes during the week in either the cotton or woolen goods divisions. The day-to-day demand has been quiet and tone and prices unchanged. Potential outside influences have, however, made their appearance in cotton goods. Wages have recently been advanced throughout New England, but in some quarters operatives are dissatisfied with the extent of the increase and have gone out on strike. This movement is as yet unimportant, but there are rumors of probable expansion which if confirmed by action would in the present lean condition of the market have a decided hardening influence upon prices. There is also a movement on the part of Southern fine goods mills towards combination in marketing their product which, if carried to a successful issue, cannot fail to prove a strengthening influence in the fine grey goods division. Meanwhile the situation in cotton goods is well enough assured for the time being to prevent any material break in prices under an indifferent demand and to point to a higher range of values with a moderate expansion in buying.

WOOLEN GOODS.—The re-order business for light-weight fabrics for men's wear keeps up to an unusual degree for this late stage of the season. Serges are in prominent request and against buyers for quick delivery. In heavy-weights serges also have done well, but in most other descriptions the demand continues moderate and fails to improve the general situation. Agents are not pressing for orders to any extent, anticipating near development of re-order business of considerable volume. The market is frequently in buyers' favor, but not quotably so. Overcoatings and cloakings continue quiet, without appreciable change in prices. Dress goods have been in fair request at steady prices in both staple and fancy descriptions. Flannels are well sold up and firm in price. Blankets quiet and unchanged.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The exports of cotton goods from this port for the week ending April 10 were 13,278 packages, valued at $446,975, their destination being to the points specified in the tables below:

* From New England mill points direct.

The value of the New York exports for the year to date has been $4,611,029 in 1899, against $2,991,043 in 1898.

There have been some good-sized orders in the market on home and export account for heavy brown sheetings and drills at slight concessions from sellers' asking prices, and the general steadiness of the market is attested by the fact that these have almost uniformly been turned down. Actual business has been on a moderate scale. Coarse and fine yarn light-weights have ruled steady. Business in bleached cottons has been moderate; prices of all leading makes steadily maintained. Ducks firm but quiet. Denims in moderate request, but supplies limited and prices firm. Ticks generally sold ahead. Plaids, chevrons and other coarse, colored cottons quiet, with prices maintained. Wide sheetings dull but firm. Cotton flannels and blankets and quilts also firm. Kid-finished cambrics quietly steady. Fancy calicoes in moderate request at previous prices; more staple lines firm, with average demand. Printed flannel effects selling readily for fall. Staple and dress style ginghams scarce in all desirable makes. Regular print cloths steady at 2½c., but no demand. Wide odd goods in moderate request at previous prices.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS.—A fair demand has come forward for fall dress goods at steady prices. Silks are very firm, with moderate sales. Ribbons also firm. Linens quiet at unchanged prices. Business in ribbons, laces and other specialties of average extent.

Very comprehensive revisions have been made in the matter contained in the SUPPLEMENT and 256 new places incorporated. The editorial discussions embrace articles entitled "The Proposition to Settle the West Virginia Debt" and "Changes in the Investment Laws for Savings Banks."

Constitutional Debt Limit.—In our editorial columns will be found an article treating of a decision of the U. S. Supreme Court, in which the doctrine is laid down that if there is a recital in a bond saying that the issue is not in excess of the Constitutional limit of indebtedness then the municipality is estopped from disputing the truth of the declaration as against an innocent purchaser.

Greeley, Col.—Injunction Dissolved.—In the CHRONICLE last week we noted that a suit had been instituted to prevent the delivery of $65,000 refunding water bonds recently sold to Trowbridge, MacDonald & Niver Co., Chicago. It must have been evident to the reader that the objections urged against the bonds in the bill of complaint were decidedly flimsy, and we now learn from the Trowbridge, MacDonald & Niver Co. that the injunction was dissolved and the bonds delivered to them on April 1, 1899.

New York State.—Bill to Examine into Claims of Counties for Taxes Assessed on Railroads Receiving Local Aid.—The State Assembly on April 12, 1899, passed a bill conferring jurisdiction upon the Court of Claims to determine the alleged claims of several counties containing towns, villages, or cities bonded to aid in the construction of any railroad passing through those places on account of the payment to the State of the State taxes collected from such railroads within such bonded towns, villages or cities.

Savings Bank Bills.—Senator Krum's bill authorizing the savings banks of the State to invest their deposits in the stocks and bonds of various railroad companies without the State was advanced to third reading by the Senate on April 12, 1899. The bill is printed in full in the editorial columns of to day's issue of the STATE AND CITY SUPPLEMENT.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

There has been no very material change this week in the condition of Stock Exchange business. More spring-like weather, a better crop outlook, heavy railroad earnings, a little better demand for some classes of securities, a little added strength to the market, a little easier money, with industrial development showing no abatement—these are facts that summarize and indicate the status and trend of affairs. At the same time, while this is true there has been decided irregularity from day to day, and on the same day a strong opening and a weak closing, or vice versa, with net advances for the week in some properties and recessions in others. The one movement wholly out of character with the industrial situation, and especially out of character with the foreign trade conditions, is the continued rise in foreign exchange. No special attention seems to be attracted to this circumstance; the rise is classed rather as abnormal and speculative and not reflecting the actual situation. Even last month's (March) trade statement showed an excess of $31,671,000 of merchandise exports. The current month will also net a considerable export balance. Indeed, it would not surprise us if favorable balances were carried through the entire summer, as our general exports, aside from breadstuffs, cotton, &c., continue large, and imports are likely to be smaller again until the movement for the fall trade begins.

On Tuesday the official crop and weather report was published for the week ending April 17. It encourages a much better promise for winter wheat than previous information led one to expect. We give to-day the portions of the information it contained relating to breadstuffs and cotton in our special reports on those products. The general fact disclosed was that weather conditions changed at about the beginning of the second week of April, and since that change the general outlook for all the crops has improved. It would, though, be hasty, we think, to conclude that every surrounding is full of hope now and is to continue so. Indeed, as the week closes the telegraph announces a snowstorm in the extreme Northwest. It may turn out to be of little or no importance. But from the best information we can get there has been a good deal of damage done to winter wheat, though in many sections the fine weather of the last two weeks indicates that the state of the plant is not so desperate as the reports the first week of April led one to suppose. That is, we presume, about what the latest Government information means with reference to that cereal. In addition it is stated that planting has gotten under way, oat seeding being well advanced and spring wheat started in the earlier sections. If this better weather should continue, no doubt all the crops will be speedily in the ground.

The enormous increase in the stock of industrial corporations traded in at the New York Stock Exchange has led to the adoption by commission houses of special rules for handling these properties. There is, however, even now little uniformity in the rules observed because there is no uniformity in the securities. Moreover, each house adopts different regulations, though all seem to agree upon the one essential point, that of requiring a larger amount of cash from speculators in industrials on margin than is exacted for such dealings in the general assortment of railroad properties. For example, where the purchaser on margin of standard railroad stocks is required to deposit in cash 10 per cent of the par value of the property, the remainder being borrowed for him by the commission house, the purchaser of an industrial stock is required to deposit a larger amount of cash; in some cases as much as 50 per cent of the market value of the stock has been exacted, and ordinarily 25 per cent or more, according to the character of the security and the facilities which exist for the broker to borrow upon it. In instances where the property has not sufficient standing to entitle it to reception as collateral under any conditions most commission houses decline to accept margin orders, while other houses do so under special arrangement.

An incident to be regretted has been the withdrawal by the Metropolitan Railway Company of its proposition to build an underground rapid transit road. It could not have done otherwise than withdraw in view of the public hostility shown to the proposal and the criticism it seems to have provoked. Its action has, though, left a situation which is unfortunate for the public. New York wants rapid transit; it wants the work begun now, not five years hence, and by parties capable of carrying the enterprise through expeditiously. Under this proposal there was good promise that these ends would be gained. To us the offer seemed likewise to be a happy escape from the danger of having the city undertake the work. We know that our view on that point is not the view of many others whose opinion we value. But we cannot think of any situation that would be more undesirable than to have this great city add to its work the building and running of a railroad. What short memories some people possess! When has the City of New York built anything that did not cost at least twice as much as private enterprise could have done the work for? Are our people so thoroughly satisfied with the management of affairs now that they feel anxious or even ready to throw another responsibility into the hands of our city fathers—one, too, of such proportions, involving the expenditure of sixty millions of dollars, and when finished so well-fitted to be used as an instrument for political corruption?

Further reasons why we regret the withdrawal of this proposal are the peculiar advantages its terms afford to the city, the special opportunities the company's system of roads enabled it to offer the public, and the eminent fitness the company has shown for wisely and successfully directing such an undertaking. On this latter point what could be a better guaranty of fitness for acceptably carrying through this newer and larger work than the results the company has attained on its surface roads without any compulsion whatsoever on the part of the authorities. By means of a system of transfers put in operation the average fare taken by the Metropolitan Company during the crowded hours is only 2½ cents. We thus see that their conception of the true way to manage the property they controlled was to increase the speed, to improve the accommodations and to reduce the average fare to 2½ cents, that is, to reduce it below any similar service. Thus it has come to pass that to-day an individual can go speedily to almost any destination in the old City of New York for five cents which would have cost him fifteen cents or more, at not half the speed, under the old system. To the class with limited means and to the wage-earner this is a boon not easily over-estimated.

But it is not only this public spirited way of developing an enterprise that commends the offer. Besides that the terms the road proposed were to our mind very liberal. That, however, is not a point worth discussing. When the public showed that it thought them not liberal enough, the only course for the Metropolitan Company to take was to make their offer better or to withdraw. They have done the latter, because we suppose they took all the risk they thought it wise to take and gave as large benefits to the city as in their opinion the undertaking warranted. It only remains now for the Legislature to pass the amendment to the Rapid Transit Bill and if better terms can be obtained the Commissioners can be trusted to get them. But there are two facts or principles which ought to influence public judgment in the matter of awarding the contract. One is that the city stands in great need of rapid transit now and the sooner the work is begun and the quicker achieved the sooner the comfort of men of moderate means will be advanced, the faster the development of the city will progress, the real estate valuations will increase, and with wisdom and prudence in the management of Government affairs the per cent of taxation to each individual will lessen. The other fact to remember is that capitalists and not the city should build and own the road. It is in the interest of good morals, good government and future taxation that we urge that this idea should prevail.

There has been considerable discussion recently about the inaccuracies of figures we make up every Friday to foreshadow the bank return of Saturday. We began those compilations many years ago; others have since undertaken the same work. The compilations have been continued by us only because we believe they show what we undertook to show, and that it is an important movement they give the measure of. As most of our readers know, they are intended to determine the volume of the interior flow of currency to and from our banks each week. We include the Treasury movement also, so as to bring the whole statement of currency changes into correspondence with the Saturday return of bank holdings. There are, however, several reasons why our weekly results (although useful as a close approximation to the fact they seek to state) should not tally with the bank return. One of them everybody knows; it is that the bank figures represent averages for six days and ours the actual increase or decrease in currency holdings. But that is not the chief cause of divergence; there is another source of difference growing out of the fact that there is a movement we do not and cannot record—it is the inflow and outflow of currency over the counters of the banks. That flow is assumed in all our statements to average itself; and the fact is that it does. Often, though, because of some special call it is a long time before it reaches that condition, while at other periods the week's currents and counter currents will develop nothing to interfere with a normal movement. Notwithstanding these and other minor sources of difference, occasions always happen sooner or later when these divergences adjust themselves and the aggregate of our statements and of the bank returns come into close correspondence. This happened to be the case last Saturday, and as we thought it might interest our readers we give the details of the figures since the first of January:

If our friends will look back to the bank returns of December 31 1898, they will see that bank holdings of specie and legal tenders on that day were $224,940,400, and on April 15 1899 they were $241,591,100, which shows a gain by the banks in those currency items of $16,650,700. It will be noticed that our figures for the same period show the gain $16,510,000.

Two large railroad companies have this week issued circulars offering valuable "rights" to their shareholders. We refer to the Chicago Burlington & Quincy and the Great Northern. Aside from the money value of these rights, the action in both cases is noteworthy as indicating very conservative methods of administration. The Burlington & Quincy offers $4,041,500 of new stock at par and $16,166,000 of 3½ per cent bonds at 75. Of the bonds over 14 million dollars will go to retire existing issues bearing a higher rate of interest. The old bonds to be taken up cover some about to mature, but in the main they are obligations which the company is calling in advance of maturity. In other words the managers are taking advantage of the high credit of the company to replace bonds on which it is now paying 5 to 8 per cent with an issue on which it will be obliged to pay only 3½ per cent. In two cases the old issues have to be called at 105, but altogether $13,787,500 of old bonds will be retired with no more than $14,235,575 of new bonds. In addition to the requirements for refunding, money is needed for equipment purposes and various improvements, and accordingly the total of bonds now offered is made $16,166,000, and is supplemented by the issue of four millions of stock. Burlington & Quincy shares only a little over a year ago sold as low as 86, but are now worth 144. Hence by issuing new stock in the way proposed the company gets needed money without adding to its charges, while at the same time the shareholders in being allowed to take it at par get a privilege which can be disposed of in the market for a substantial consideration.

The Great Northern issues $15,000,000 of new stock to pay for a system of railways in Washington and the Province of British Columbia. In other words, the purpose is to acquire the bonds, the debentures and the capital stock of the Spokane Falls & Northern Railway, the Nelson & Fort Sheppard Railway, the Columbia & Red Mountain Railway and the Red Mountain Railway, aggregating $9,776,200. These lines connect with the Great Northern at Spokane Falls. In addition to the $9,776,200 securities here enumerated, $7,500,000 of the stock of the Eastern Railway of Minnesota is also to be acquired. The latter road, as is well known, is building and has acquired some important new mileage, and it is the intention to pay for this with stock rather than by the creation of new bonds. The stock of the Eastern Railway now amounts to $5,000,000, all of which is owned by the Great Northern. There is to be an increase to $12,500,000, and the additional $7,500,000 will under the arrangement proposed also all be owned by the Great Northern Railway. The Eastern Railway has been a very profitable property, the Great Northern Railway having received $500,000 in the late fiscal year on the stock held by it—that is, 10 per cent. The $15,000,000 of new Great Northern stock is offered to the stockholders at par. As the market price is 194, the shareholders hence get what is the equivalent of a handsome bonus in addition to the regular cash dividends received. But Great Northern stockholders have fared well from the first. It would indeed be difficult to point to another railroad property in the country which within recent times has netted such handsome returns to its owners. The credit, of course, all belongs to Mr. Hill. It is worth noting that this latest step of providing new money by the issue of stock, is in line with Mr. Hill's policy of keeping the bonded indebtedness of his properties down to a minimum.

There has been a revival of talk this week about the building of an independent line to the anthracite coal fields. The projected road is the New York Wyoming & Western, concerning which much has been said in the past. The occasion for the renewal of the talk has been the meeting of the Anthracite Coal Operators' Association at the Waldorf-Astoria. The independent operators are dissatisfied with the rates charged by the railroads in transporting their coal. They would like to have the carriers content themselves with a smaller percentage of the selling price at tidewater, thus leaving a larger percentage for the operators. This request of course is in accordance with the instincts of human nature. The threat of building an opposition line forms a convenient weapon to use in seeking to enforce their desires. Curiously enough, the anthracite stocks have sharply advanced the present week, notwithstanding the repetition of the threat referred to. Perhaps the reason is found in the following interview with President Thomas P. Fowler of the New York Ontario & Western, printed in the "New York Times" yesterday: "I do not know to what extent the anthracite business has been affected by railway rates, but I think it could be shown, on an investigation of the subject, that all the operators have made money out of mining and shipping coal, or in selling their ventures at an advance. Some of them, now said to be millionaires, began ten years ago with a hole in the ground as an asset. One of them, who has recently offered to sell at $1,200,000 a property which cost him not over $200,000, bases his valuation on the fact that he had averaged 70 cents a ton profit during the last few comparatively dull years on all coal mined. They have nearly all made money, and collectively they have made more money than the railways which have been doing their business. * * I have never taken any stock in their new railway and I don't believe that they have—or its bonds either." This is certainly a neat and effective way of disposing of the project.

The market for money has had an easier tone this week, though no very important change is noticeable in rates, either on call, on time or for commercial paper. The consensus of opinion on the Street seems to be that money rates, especially on call, should rule easier in the near future. This opinion is based upon the fact that there is comparatively little employment for money in the commercial paper market, the supply of good names being almost unprecedentedly small for the season; that the principal banks in the interior are abundantly supplied with money for which they have little employment at home and they are in competition with the city banks in the paper market; that it is difficult to make time contracts on acceptable collateral at better rates than 4 per cent for four months and 4½ per cent for six months, and that there should be a return flow of money not long hence from the interior, as the requirements for the April settlements have now been, and for crop planting will soon be, satisfied. The fact is recognized that unusually large amounts of money are being employed for the purchase of industrial and other properties which are being absorbed by heavily-capitalized combinations, but the money collected or accumulated for this purpose is only temporarily withdrawn from the market and after its distribution the equilibrium is speedily restored. These are the reasons urged for the prevailing expectation of a gradual reduction in rates for money in this market.

Money on call, representing bankers' balances, has loaned at 3 per cent and at 6 per cent at the Stock Exchange during the week, averaging a fraction less than 4½ per cent. On Monday the range was from 4½ per cent to 6 per cent, with the bulk of the business at 5 per cent. On Tuesday loans were at 3 per cent and at 5 per cent, and the majority of the transactions were at 4½ per cent. On Wednesday the range was from 3 per cent to 5½ per cent, with the bulk of the business at 5 per cent. On Thursday the rate moved between 3 per cent and 5 per cent, and the largest business was at 4@4½ per cent. On Friday the range was from 3 per cent to 4½ per cent, with the bulk of the business at 4 per cent. Banks and trust companies quote 4 per cent as the minimum, some, however, obtaining 4½ per cent and a few loaning at 5 per cent. Money on time on good mixed Stock Exchange collateral continues to be quoted at 4 per cent for sixty to ninety days and 4@4½ per cent for four to six months. Where the borrower seeks to dilute the collateral with an admixture of industrial stocks, higher rates are demanded according to the degree of dilution, and the standing of the borrower. A loan made by a bank this week will probably give a good illustration of the views of conservative bankers regarding collateral. This was a loan to a first-class house at 4 per cent for four months on collateral consisting of one-quarter of good dividend-paying industrial stock and the remainder railroad properties. The margin required was 30 per cent. The same bank last week, it will be remembered, made a six-months' loan at 4½ per cent to a first-class house on one-third railroad collateral and two-thirds good dividend-paying industrial security, the whole loan having 40 per cent margin. In the loan made this week above noted the rate is lower and the time is shorter, but the collateral is better and therefore the margin is reduced. The market for commercial paper is but meagrely supplied with good names, and some bankers report that rarely at this season has there been such a dearth of really first-class paper. The reason assigned is that collections are unusually good, and therefore merchants have comparatively little need to borrow. The demand may be called urgent, for first-class names are promptly taken when offered, and there is no accumulation. The inquiry is quite general, embracing city and country buyers. Rates are  $3\frac{1}{2}$ @ $4$  per cent for sixty to ninety-day endorsed bills receivable,  $4$ @ $4\frac{1}{2}$  per cent for prime and  $5$ @ $5\frac{1}{2}$  per cent for good four to six months' single names. It is reported that high-grade bills receivable have been sold as low as 3 per cent, and that very choice four months' single-name Chicago paper has been done at  $3\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. Banks having large correspondence report generally good business conditions throughout the country, an abundance of money, and the inability of banks satisfactorily to employ their surplus.

The European political situation is undisturbed, and about the only feature in the financial outlook is a speculative movement in copper stocks at London and Paris. The Bank of England minimum rate of discount remains unchanged at 3 per cent. The cable reports discounts of sixty to ninety day bank bills at London  $2\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. The open market rate at Paris is  $2\frac{1}{2}$  per cent and at Berlin and Frankfurt it is  $3\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. According to our special cable from London the Bank of England gained £629,864 bullion during the week and held £30,930,264 at the close of the week. Our correspondent further advises us that the gain was due to the export of £20,000 to the Argentine Republic, to receipts of £172,000 net from the interior of Great Britain, and to imports of £478,000, of which £352,000 was bought in the open market and £120,000 was from Holland and £6,000 from Australia.

The foreign exchange market has been quiet though strong this week, influenced by a reported scarcity of bankers' and of commercial bills, and also by a steady though not urgent demand. The situation seems inexplicable when the fact is considered that the trade balance continues to run largely in favor of this country, and that there are no known or traceable movements of securities large enough to account for the absorption of bankers' sterling based upon bills which must be constantly made by the exports of merchandise and manufactures. Bankers say that the demand for bills is chiefly an over-the-counter inquiry for travelers' credits, etc. There does not appear to be any mercantile inquiry of special importance for remittance, and certainly none of such magnitude as to attract attention. It is said that there has been buying of securities in London for New York account, but aside from the purchases of copper stocks at London and Paris, reported to be for account of the Standard Oil Company, there is no evidence of anything more than the usual arbitrage buying of stocks abroad. There is an attempt to connect this firmness in the market with the $20,000,000 Philippine payment to Spain. The market, according to report, has been more or less influenced by the pendency of this payment at least for three weeks. It is quite likely that the secrecy which necessarily enshrouds the payment and the remittance of this large sum of money has a great influence upon the market at the present time. It is known that the money has not yet been paid by this Government, and that it will probably soon be paid. But when and how payment will be made is not known; neither is it known when or how the transfer to Europe will be effected. Secrecy always imparts undue importance to coming events. The arrivals of gold at the Custom House during the week were $619,298, of which $575,140 was from Europe.

The range for nominal rates for exchange was from 4 85 to 4 85 $\frac{1}{2}$  for sixty-day and from 4 87 to 4 87 $\frac{1}{2}$  for sight until Thursday, when Brown Bros. & Co., the Bank of British North America, Heidelbach, Ickelheimer & Co., Lazard Freres and the Bank of Montreal advanced their rates half a cent, and the range thereafter was from 4 85 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 4 86 for long and from 4 87 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 4 88 for short. Rates for actual business opened on Monday at an advance of one-quarter of a cent for sixty-day compared with those at the close on Friday of last week, at 4 84 $\frac{1}{2}$ @4 84 $\frac{1}{2}$ , while there was no change either in short or in cables, these remaining at 4 86 $\frac{1}{2}$ @4 86 $\frac{1}{2}$  for the former and at 4 87@4 87 $\frac{1}{2}$  for the latter. The tone was strong, and it so continued on the following day, when there was an advance of one-quarter of a cent in rates for actual business all around, to 4 84 $\frac{3}{4}$ @4 85 for long, 4 86 $\frac{3}{4}$ @4 87 for short and 4 87 $\frac{1}{4}$ @4 87 $\frac{1}{2}$  for cables. There was no change on the following day, though the market remained firm, but on Thursday it grew strong again at an advance in rates for actual business of one-quarter of a cent, to 4 85@4 85 $\frac{1}{2}$  for long, 4 87@4 87 $\frac{1}{2}$  for short and 4 87 $\frac{1}{2}$ @4 87 $\frac{1}{2}$  for cables. The tone was easier on Friday at a reduction in rates for actual business of one-quarter of a cent all around. The following shows daily posted rates for exchange by some of the leading drawers.

THE BROOKLYN RAPID TRANSIT DECISION.

The decision handed down this week by the New York Court of Appeals in the suit of Patrick H. Flynn against the Brooklyn City R. R., to annul the lease of that road to the Brooklyn Heights R. R., establishes no new point of law. It, however, covers a matter of considerable interest and importance, and furthermore it attracts attention because both parties to the suit, strangely enough, contend that the decision is in their favor. The Brooklyn Heights people claim a victory because the Court of Appeals has sustained the ruling of the lower courts, declining to set aside the lease referred to. Flynn, on the other hand, maintains that the suit has gone against him on a mere technicality, that the dictum of the Court indicates that if a decision were had on the merits of the case the ruling would be in his favor, and that hence a second suit already brought, in which the technical defects have been avoided, will eventuate successfully. Indeed, the opinion is by some construed as an expression of belief on the part of the Court that the charges of fraud and conspiracy are true. As the Brooklyn City is the backbone of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit system, it is important to know the exact facts and see just what the Court did decide.

The action was brought by Patrick H. Flynn, as the owner of 500 shares of the stock of the Brooklyn City R. R., to set aside the lease to the Brooklyn Heights R. R. The Brooklyn City before the lease was a profitable property, operating an extensive street surface system, with over 100 miles of constructed track. Its capital stock was $9,000,000 (subsequently increased to $12,000,000), and the company had for many years paid regular dividends of 8 per cent per annum. The Brooklyn Heights R. R., on the other hand, operated a railroad only half a mile long and had a capital of but $200,000, which at the time of the lease, in 1893, was worth, according to the allegations of the bill of complaint, not more than 50 per cent of its face value. It is declared, furthermore, that it was not a paying road, that its earnings were less than the operating expenses and fixed charges. A syndicate having acquired a controlling interest in the stock of the Brooklyn City, a proposition was made to the stockholders of the latter to lease the road to the Brooklyn Heights R. R. with a guaranty of 10 per cent dividends, to be secured by a deposit of $4,000,000 as a guaranty fund with a trust company. Brooklyn City shareholders were also to have the right to subscribe at 15 for $300 of stock of the Long Island Traction Company (the predecessor of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company) for every $100 of Brooklyn City stock held. Supposing they exercised this right, nine-tenths of the stock of the Traction Company would have gone to the Brooklyn City shareholders themselves. The other one-tenth, amounting to $3,000,000, went to the syndicate at the same price—that is, at $15 per share.

The proposition had the unanimous approval of the directors of the Brooklyn City, and the scheme was carried through on the terms here outlined, the lease being approved by a more than two-thirds vote of the Brooklyn City shareholders. Flynn was one of the dissatisfied minority. He charged that the scheme was a fraudulent one, that the intention was to divert a portion of the earnings from the shareholders, that under the change in motive power to electricity and the growth in travel and increase in population the road could be made to earn at least 15 per cent on the stock, that the Brooklyn Heights was incapable of paying any dividends upon Brooklyn City stock otherwise than from the earnings of the Brooklyn City itself, and that the difference between the 10 per cent to be paid and whatever might be earned in excess of that sum would inure to the advantage of the Traction Company, the effect thus being to injure and defraud the shareholders of the Brooklyn City Company.

Flynn was unsuccessful in his suit at all stages. When the action came to trial, and after counsel for Flynn had opened the case, the defendants moved on the admissions and statements in the opening and complaint for a dismissal of the complaint "as not stating facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action." The Court granted the motion; the dismissal was later sustained by the Appellate Division, and it has now been finally affirmed by the Court of Appeals. The grounds of defeat were the same in each instance, and there has been no difference of opinion on this point at any time. All are agreed in saying that Flynn erred in not first making demand for relief and protection upon the Brooklyn City Company before entering suit; that the right of action rests primarily in the company, and should not have been taken in his own name until the refusal of the company to recognize his protest. The point of doubt is as to whether the outcome would have been any different had the case been tried on its merits. As already stated, great stress is laid, in support of the affirmative view, upon the references in the opinion to the allegations of fraud. It is assumed that these allegations are regarded by the Court as well founded. Candor compels the admission that in the language used Judge Vann has gone much further than is customary in judicial opinions in dealing with the allegations of a complaint. But that does not alter the fact that there was no trial of the question of fraud, and no evidence either in support or disproof of it. Obviously, therefore, there could be no conclusion on that point except so far as technically the defendants admitted the allegations of the complaint in making the motion of dismissal.

It follows that no inference adverse to the company can be drawn from the remarks of Judge Vann. Moreover, he leaves no room for doubt as to the principles that have guided him. For instance, in one place we find him saying: "For the purpose of this appeal such facts as could properly have been proved under the allegations of the complaint, when supported by reasonable implication and fair intendment, must be accepted as true, and in connection with the admissions made upon the opening must be treated as the facts of the case upon which the rights of the parties depend." Still more important in its bearing on the point in question is the following: "While the complaint is not as definite as it might be, so far as appears there was no motion made by the defendant to make it more definite or certain. No bill of particulars was called for, nor was further information sought by any of the methods authorized by the settled practice. When a party goes to trial upon a loose pleading without any effort to have it made more definite, he can make no lawful complaint if, under the general allegations, all facts fairly covered thereby are admitted in evidence against him." Obviously, in view of this, the remarks of the Court concerning the charges of fraud indicate nothing as to the Court's real opinion on such charges.

The general principles controlling in an application for the annulment of a lease are stated with great lucidity. As a general rule, says Judge Vann, courts have nothing to do with the internal management of business corporations. Whatever may lawfully be done by the directors or stockholders, acting through majorities prescribed by law, must of necessity be submitted to by the minority, for corporations can be conducted upon no other basis. All the questions within the scope of the corporate powers which relate to the policy of administration, to the expediency of proposed measures, or to the consideration of contracts, provided it is not so grossly inadequate as to be evidence of fraud, are beyond the province of the courts. The minority directors or stockholders cannot come into court upon allegations of a want of judgment or lack of efficiency on the part of the majority and change the course of administration. Corporate elections furnish the only remedy for internal dissensions, as the majority must rule so long as it keeps within the powers conferred by the charter.

To these general rules, however, Judge Vann says there are some exceptions, and the most important is that founded on fraud. While courts cannot compel directors or stockholders proceeding by the vote of a majority to act wisely, they can compel them to act honestly, or undo their work if they act otherwise. Where a majority of the directors or stockholders, or both, acting in bad faith, carry into effect a scheme which is intended to circumvent the minority stockholders and defraud them out of their legal rights, the courts interfere and remedy the wrong. It is declared, however, that the right of action belongs to the corporation, and should be brought by it as plaintiff. If the corporation will not bring the suit itself, then an aggrieved stockholder, after due demand and a refusal, or unreasonable neglect to proceed, may bring it in his own name upon making the corporation a party defendant. The complaint of Flynn was defective, because it did not set forth a demand that the corporation should bring an action to annul the lease. He alleged that as a stockholder of the Brooklyn City R.R. Co. he demanded his share of the proceeds of operating the road over and above the 10 per cent paid to him under the lease; that he notified the directors and officers that the lease was unlawful and injured the stockholders, and demanding a distribution among them of all the profits and receipts arising from the operation of the road without regard to the lease. He made the further allegation that such distribution necessarily involved such action on the part of the officers and directors as would effect the annulling of the lease. But Judge Vann holds that this did not meet the requirements of the situation, because no demand was made that the corporation bring an action to annul the lease.

The foregoing leaves no room for misconstruction. The question of merit has not been considered at all. Nor in view of the course of reasoning employed, can it be contended that the Court has undertaken to state conclusions before there has been a trial of the facts. If fraud has been committed, the lease may be set aside provided a complaint is brought in the proper way. But the fraud must first be proved. Finally it should be noted that Chief Justice Parker and Judges Bartlett and Haight (Judge Gray did not sit in the case), express concurrence with Judge Vann on the distinct and specific ground that "the demand to bring the action was insufficient to meet the requirements of the law."

THE ENGLISH BUDGET AND EUROPEAN ARMAMENTS.

The discussion of Great Britain's annual income and expense account, which has been in vigorous progress this week, is a matter of general interest for several reasons. In the first place, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach's speech on the budget on Thursday of last week plainly admitted the certainty, under existing revenue conditions, of a large deficit in the coming fiscal year. It is not wholly exceptional for the Chancellor of the Exchequer to forecast an excess of expenditure. In the greater number of the last ten years the original and supplementary estimates of required supplies have run beyond estimated revenue. So conservatively, however, were both revenue and expenditure estimated by the Government on these occasions that only one year of the decade resulted in an actual deficit. It is possible that similar results would follow Sir Michael's estimate of expenditures next year, larger by two and a half millions sterling than the probable revenue under existing laws. A season of trade prosperity invariably swells the national income and usually raises it well above even hopeful estimates—as when the British revenue of the fiscal year ending with March 1890 ran £3,151,000 beyond the estimates turned in to Parliament. A similar excess in actual receipts over last week's budget forecast would more than have canceled all the deficit predicted by the Chancellor.

But critics of this year's budget have not indulged in any such expectations. Their study of recent exchequer finance has shown one very curious distinction from the earlier years of the decade. From 1890 to 1895, inclusive, the actual national expenditure never in any year came within half a million sterling of the budget estimate. With 1896 came a striking change. Actual expenditure in each of the four succeeding fiscal years ran far beyond the estimate. In 1896 the actual outlay rose £1,500,000 above the budget forecast; in the fiscal year just closed £1,206,000 more was spent than had been originally proposed. It is hardly necessary to point out in detail the reason for this change from previous years. The practice of "supplementary estimates" later in the session is chiefly responsible, and these late estimates find their explanation in the increase in naval estimates from £17,500,000 in 1895 to £26,594,000 for the fiscal year now opening. But the essential point is that this increase in annual navy outlay is reasonably certain to continue, with the international situation what it is. It would, therefore, be at least dangerous to reckon on lighter public expenditure than last week's budget asks for.

The revenue has shown, even in recent years, when trade was less active than it is at present, a steady increase from year to year. Since 1895 this annual increase has averaged nearly two millions sterling. But the budget estimate for the coming fiscal year begins by assuming almost exactly this increase during 1898-99 under existing revenue laws, and even with this assumption the estimate works out an apparent deficit of something like £2,600,000.

As we have shown, the fact that such a deficit should be predicted in Great Britain's public finance under the present revenue provisions is not of itself either abnormal or alarming. It would probably have attracted relatively slight attention but for the general feeling that there was at least a chance that the increase in expenditure during the next few years, as in the two past years, would go on more rapidly than the increase in public revenue. Sir Michael Hicks-Beach very plainly recognized this probability in his speech to Parliament last week. Nobody has doubted in the least the capacity of the English people to foot the increased bill of government. But even people who are able to pay taxes are apt to grumble at them, and no finance minister—even where the objection to a chronic deficit is as strong as in Great Britain—cares to try the public temper on this point too far. The greatest curiosity, therefore, centred in the policy to be selected by the Exchequer to restore equilibrium in the year's finances, and it is the Chancellor's decision on this point which has attracted unusually vigorous criticism.

By a few additional stamp taxes Sir Michael undertakes to add something less than a million sterling to the revenue estimated under existing laws. This, however, would still have left a heavy estimated deficit; but the budget proposition next takes the very radical step of reducing expenditure on the public debt. By the extension of certain portions of the debt, which under the present sinking-fund law would become automatically redeemable during the current year, the sinking-fund charge might be reduced £2,000,000 per annum. The Chancellor did not plead for this reduction as an emergency measure, but with a good deal of ingenuity defended it as a wise provision in itself. The annual sinking-fund expenditure, he maintained, was reaching figures never contemplated by the authors of the law. Six years from now this arbitrary requirement on the Exchequer would reach £9,214,000, and compulsory purchases of such magnitude were, in his judgment, so far narrowing the market for consols that the Government was constantly forcing up the price against itself. He believed persistence in the policy to be extravagant and dangerous. Finally, and on this point the Chancellor recognized the real nature of the Exchequer's attitude—he affirmed that the curtailment of sinking-fund expenditure was justified because "the tax-payers of the future will benefit by our expenditures on armament."

It appears that the sinking-fund proposition, although it was promptly adopted in Parliament, has been received by outside critics with marked disfavor, and it is not difficult to understand why. It is true, as Sir Michael Hicks-Beach alleges, that the heavy Government purchases of its own debt at the market premium are, in a measure, forcing up the price. Such, certainly, was the result of our own redemption operations between 1888 and 1891; though it should be observed that our own Treasury's bond purchases at those times were swelled out of all proportion by the wish to free the public surplus. Our Government's regular annual sinking-fund requirement had never been deemed a factor of disturbance in the market; yet this legal requirement of our own in 1892 amounted to $10,000,000 more than the English sinking-fund allowance for next year, and to $3,000,000 more than the maximum named by Sir Michael Hicks-Beach. Moreover, it must be plain that any sinking-fund plan involving compulsory redemption will in some degree affect a market for public securities.

It is possible that even an automatic plan of debt-redemption will lead to unduly large expense. But current criticism of Sir Michael Hicks-Beach's expedient waives these technical considerations, and takes its stand on the general principle involved. This is the first time in recent years when the sinking fund has been touched, and in this, as in other matters of the kind, it is apt to be the first step that costs. We do not, of course, imagine that a radical change in Great Britain's policy on its public debt is foreshadowed by this new expedient; the very fact that sharp criticism has been evoked by even the present mild experiment is the best assurance for the future. But the critics have recognized the fact, which is unquestionably true, that, taking human nature as it is, postponement of a self-imposed redemption charge is a departure in a dangerous direction, and this is why unfavorable judgment has been expressed so promptly and so generally. Great Britain is doubtless in smaller danger than any other State of falling into the illusion that running expenses in time of peace may be safely met by new fixed liabilities; but the example of the Continental States, and, not very long ago, of the United States, proves that temptation ought to be scrupulously avoided.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach concluded his speech on the Budget by observing that "we must be hopeful that the approaching conference of the Powers, who are animated by a desire for peace, may devise a check for this terrible competition in armaments, so wasteful of our ability, energy and money, from which even the wealthiest nations may well pray to be delivered." This hope will certainly be shared in the United States, and it is conceivable that the approaching so called "Peace Conference" invited by the Czar of Russia will accomplish something. But it must be admitted that not many of the participants are greeting the plan with great enthusiasm. Even Sir Michael Hicks-Beach's allusion is somewhat perfunctory, and contrasts with his very positive subsequent assertion to Parliament that "the strength of our navy during the last year was the main factor in saving us from war."

By "strength of our navy" the Chancellor meant, of course, its preponderance in force over any two other navies combined, and on the same principle, increase in the naval force of France or Germany or Russia, or of all three, will increase proportionately next year's outlay by the British Exchequer. If the Czar can succeed in calling even a temporary halt in the increase of these armaments—and we suppose this to be his purpose—he will have accomplished much. His plan will at least be helped by the fact that each of the European Powers is realizing that the road on which they have been traveling, in the matter of competitive armaments, has no end except exhaustion. Members of the French Government have lately admitted in public that conscription for the army has already practically reached its limit. This is a physical obstacle to continuance in the present plan. The possible financial obstacles may perhaps be emphasized by the Czar's frank statement of the case, reinforced by the admissions of the British Budget.

RATES OF INTEREST ON REAL ESTATE MORTGAGES.

In no line of investments in this country during the past few years has the decline in the rates of interest been more marked than in real estate mortgage loans. Moreover, ten or fifteen years ago the difference between interest rates in the East and in the West was much more marked than at present, the rates varying from 5 per cent to 6 per cent in New York and other Eastern cities, as against 8 per cent to 18 per cent in the newer sections of the West, then being rapidly opened up. The abnormal demand for mortgage money in the West evidenced by these high rates led to the creation of some two hundred mortgage companies, which were tempted by the high return to accept practically every loan offered. The failure of these speculative companies began six or eight years ago, and they are now practically out of existence.

Meanwhile, it is worthy of note, that uninfluenced by the disastrous results of hasty and ill-judged loans on farms in undeveloped sections, the savings banks, insurance companies and trust companies of the East continued to loan on established real estate security in the older cities, with constantly decreasing rates of interest.

The fact that during the years of depression following the panic of 1893 the interest on the best mortgages continued to decline, proved that there was an increasing demand among conservative investors for this class of security. During these years the rates in New York City gradually dropped to 4 per cent for mortgage loans of the highest grade,  $4\frac{1}{2}$  per cent for the next grade of loans, and 5 per cent for the remaining loans. Meanwhile the figures in Boston and Philadelphia closely approximated those in New York, and were in some instances even lower, owing to the small amount of building in these cities and the consequent absence of demand for money, and in the larger cities of the Middle West 5 per cent was the ruling rate for loans, with  $4\frac{1}{2}$  per cent occasionally granted on a loan of exceptional merit.

The past year has shown a still more rapid fall in the interest rates, loans having been made at  $3\frac{1}{2}$  per cent in Boston;  $3\frac{1}{2}$  per cent in New York, Philadelphia and Chicago; 4 per cent in St. Louis, Cincinnati, Cleveland and Toledo;  $4\frac{1}{2}$  per cent in Kansas City;  $4\frac{1}{2}$  per cent in New Orleans, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Minneapolis and St. Paul, and 5 per cent in Salt Lake City, Portland, Seattle, Spokane, etc.

It will thus be seen that the rates of interest on the choicest real estate loans have dropped in unison with those yielded by the highest-grade railroad and municipal bonds, and are rapidly tending to the mortgage rates current in Europe.

The chief difference between the mortgage situation in this country and in Europe is that while the controlling factors in the mortgage field in this country have been the life insurance companies, of whom five hold mortgage investments aggregating over $250,000,000, and the savings banks, whose aggregated loans, scattered throughout the country, run up into the thousands of millions of dollars; in Europe the controlling factors have been the mortgage companies, which started about 150 years ago and have grown to be among the strongest and largest financial institutions in the world; the Credit Foncier of France having $350,000,000 of mortgage bonds outstanding; the German Mortgage Banks $1,200,000,000; the North German Mutual Credit Association $500,000,000; the Austrian Mortgage Companies $300,000,000, and the Denmark Credit Association $200,000,000. These companies were started under government supervision, the fundamental idea being to render convertible at least one-half of the value in the enormous aggregate of improved income-producing real estate, both in cities and in the country, much of which had not been, up to that time, available for collateral. It was owing to this desire to render and keep convertible a large amount of real estate value which led to the making of long-time loans, extending from 20 to 95 years, with an average term of between 40 and 50 years. The mortgage companies protected themselves against possible loss caused by the depreciation of improvements or shifting of loan values by requiring small annual payments in the reduction of the loan, while the borrowers were protected by having the option of paying off the entire loan at any time. The high degree of security offered by these bonds created a market for them at rates of interest from 3 per cent to 4 per cent, while recently the Credit Foncier, it is stated, has sold $10,000,000 of bonds at 2.6 per cent.

The difference in interest on bonds sold and mortgages made was ordinarily limited by competition, but in some cases by law, as in France to 60 of 1 per cent per annum; in Austria to 65 of 1 per cent per annum and in Italy to 60 of 1 per cent per annum.

During the long period in which these mortgage bonds have been listed on the European stock exchanges they have exhibited striking stability in price, even on occasions of national disturbance. They appear to have been in Europe a security which, while not adapting itself to speculation, provides a maximum of safety with a ready convertibility and a fair rate of interest.

This method of financing real estate loans has not as yet been widely adopted in this country owing no doubt to the competition of the life insurance companies, which are so much more powerful than abroad, and of the savings banks, whose investments are limited by law to real estate mortgages and a few classes of bonds. In New York City there are but two companies following the lead of the European mortgage companies—one which started a few years ago making loans at 5 per cent and selling them with the company's guaranty at  $4\frac{1}{2}$  per cent, and which is now making loans at 4 per cent and selling them with the company's guaranty at  $3\frac{1}{2}$  per cent; and the other which started six years ago making loans at 6 per cent and 7 per cent and selling its bonds at 5 per cent, and is now making loans at 5 per cent and 5½ per cent and selling 4 per cent bonds at 101, being a 3·80 per cent basis for a five-year bond. There is still another in St. Louis, recently started, using the same method of making mortgage loans and issuing bonds against them. The endeavor will be watched with interest.

RAILROAD NET EARNINGS FOR FEBRUARY.

No one needs to be apprised as to the character of our compilations of railroad gross and net earnings for the month of February. The conditions were such as to preclude any but an unfavorable result. The weather was the main adverse influence, but this was a factor of great moment. As will be remembered, February was the month when the whole Eastern half of the country experienced a blizzard which in severity and duration was comparable only to the memorable blizzard of March 1888. The effect as far as the railroad lines were concerned was to tie up for longer or shorter periods nearly all the roads in this part of the country, and to seriously impede the operation of the lines in other parts. Thus there was a loss in a double way: first, in reducing the volume of traffic and consequently decreasing earnings, and secondly in greatly augmenting operating expenses because of the cost of removing snow and ice and keeping the lines open.

The state of things here outlined is reflected with striking force in the tables we have compiled. In brief there is a loss in the aggregate in both gross and net earnings. In the gross the loss is comparatively small, reaching only $405,057 or but about ½ of one per cent. In the net, however, the decline is heavy, it amounting to almost three million dollars—in exact figures $2,953,205 or 15·41 per cent. Here are the aggregates for February and for the two months ending with February.

While the weather was such a potent adverse influence, the fact should not be lost sight of that comparison is with very favorable results a year ago. In February 1898 there was very marked improvement, the gross then recording $7,109,078 increase, or 12·65 per cent, and the net $2,776,111, or 17·53 per cent. Indeed the financial return in the aggregate has been good for several successive years, in view of which circumstance it must be regarded as surprising that the falling off the present time was not greater. The following gives the results back to 1894.

There are a few roads that have been able to make quite large gains in earnings, notwithstanding the weather. These are found chiefly among the Western wheat-carrying and the Mexican roads; and the Reading Coal & Iron Company by reason of heavy coal sales shows the largest gain in gross of any road in our list. The roads reporting decreases are very numerous, and in the net many of these are for large amounts. Below we show all changes, whether gains or losses, exceeding $30,000.

It is a striking fact, illustrative of the widespread nature of the adverse weather conditions, that when arranged in groups every group outside of the Mexican records a decrease in net, and all but two groups a loss in the gross. One of these two groups is the anthracite group, where there has been an increase because of the large coal sales of the Reading already referred to.

ITEMS ABOUT BANKS, BANKERS AND TRUST CO'S.

—The sales of bank stocks this week have been larger again, aggregating 760 shares. All of them were sold at auction, except 118 shares which were sold at the Stock Exchange; of these, 50 shares were of the Corn Exchange Bank, 58 shares of the National Park Bank and 10 shares of the Phenix National Bank. The week's record shows no marked advances; the most noteworthy was 150 shares of the Citizens' National Bank at 141 against 134 at the last previous sale, which was in February. Of New York Trust Companies there were 98 shares sold, divided, as will be seen, among six of our trust companies.

—Bankers who are in a position to be well informed positively assert that the opposition on the part of interior banks and of merchants who are affected by the new Clearing House rules regarding the charges for collection of checks is gradually subsiding. The interior banks have had an opportunity to become familiar with the practical working of the new rules, and in very many instances they find that they operate to their advantage. Remittances for collections are made more frequently than under the free system, thus benefitting the correspondents. Merchants who have required their country customers to bear the expense of collecting have, generally speaking, met with ready affirmative response. Some accounts have been withdrawn from New York banks and transferred to Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore and other near-by interior cities, but these accounts have not been important in the aggregate amount nor of such valuable character as to make their loss at all disadvantageous to the city banks. Judging from present indications the new rules will continue in force indefinitely, though it is quite possible that at the end of the three months, during which period they must remain without alteration or amendment except by a majority vote of the Clearing House Association, they may be modified so as to make their operation less burdensome to banks or merchants at the principal interior points.

—Preliminary steps have been taken by some of the prominent residents of Flatbush, in the Borough of Brooklyn, toward the organization of a trust company, with a capital of $300,000 and a surplus of $50,000. The place is rapidly growing, comparatively large real estate interests are centered there, and there would seem to be some need for such an institution.

—The Corn Exchange Bank will on May 1 open a branch of the institution at the corner of Broadway and Spring street to be known as the "Corn Exchange Bank, Broadway Branch." The President will be Mr. F. C. Mahew, formerly president of the Bowery Bank and for twenty years connected with that institution. Mr. B. Hollander, of J. R. Simon & Co., will act as Vice-President and the advisory board will consist of Messrs. B. Hollander, Martin Schrenkelsen, Charles Gulden, Herman C. Strobel, Roswell P. Flower, William E. Clark, Thomas T. Barr, Thomas A. McIntyre, John D. Walsh and William A. Nash, the latter President of the Corn Exchange Bank. On March 20 the merger of the Corn Exchange Bank, the Hudson River Bank and the Astor Place Bank took effect, and when the new branch shall be opened the Corn Exchange will have three branch banks in this city.

—It now seems highly probable that the Franklin National Bank, located at the corner of Greenwich and Day streets, will soon be reorganized with increased capital and a workable surplus. At a meeting of the stockholders held on Wednesday afternoon plans for the reorganization of the bank were submitted by the committee, and it was decided to increase the capital from $300,000 to $500,000, and also to provide a paid-up surplus of $100,000. This action was taken after a formal motion for the voluntary liquidation of the bank had been defeated by a decided majority. Another meeting of the stockholders will be held May 25 at which it is expected that the plan for reorganization will be adopted and the new capital subscribed.

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS OF GOLD AND SILVER AT SAN FRANCISCO

The Collector of Customs at San Francisco has furnished this week the details of imports and exports of gold and silver through that port for the month of March, and they are given below in conjunction with the figures for preceding months, thus completing the results for the nine months of the fiscal year 1898-99. The imports of gold are much less than in any month since January 1898, the amount received reaching $1,156,631, of which $1,042,499 was in coins. Of silver there came in $227,861, of which $156,151 was bullion. During the nine months there has been received a total of $37,948,674 gold and $1,533,442 silver, which compared with $16,356,295 gold and $1,665,210 silver in 1897-98. The shipments of gold during March were $381,189, almost wholly coin, and the exports of silver have been $212,910, of which $111,757 was coin. For the nine months the exports of gold have reached $1,282,772, against $1,098,128 in 1897-98, and $4,055,223 silver has been sent out, against $3,387,121 in 1897-98. The exhibit for March and the nine months is as follows:

Monetary? Commercial English News

LONDON, Saturday, April 8, 1899.

The influence of the Easter holidays continues still to be felt in the markets. As the weather was very fine, large numbers of persons left the city, and very many of them have not yet returned. There is, consequently, but a thin attendance at the Stock Exchange, and the public is keeping aloof from the markets.

In Paris the monthly settlement which ended on Thursday showed a comparatively large account open for the rise, and it is believed that a great number of the operators were weak people. At all events, several of the great banking establishments made difficulties about carrying over, and many of the speculators had to close their accounts. Rates were stiff considering the large supply of money that exists and the really small account. For it is to be recollected that very little business has been done on the Paris Bourse for the past couple of years, and that it is only within the last month or two that any revival of speculation has occurred. Small, however, as has been the increase, many of the leading banks thought it desirable to check buying.

In Berlin the monthly settlement passed off quietly, and considering the state of the money market rates were moderate; but there is very little doing. For years past there has been a very active speculation; especially the number of new industrial companies brought out is exceptionally great. As these companies are doing well, and are paying fairly good dividends, investors are unwilling to sell. On the other hand, it is understood that the banks have lent immense sums on these industrial securities, and the investors therefore are to a large extent indebted to the banks for the means of holding to their securities. The banks, up to now, have not applied much pressure to compel selling; but they are beginning to do so, and they are not willing to afford further accommodation for continued buying. In Austria-Hungary scarcely anything is doing, and in Italy matters are very quiet.

Here at home trade is marvelously good and is still expanding. In the financial year ended on March 1 the total receipts into the Exchequer, that is, the total amount collected for Imperial purposes, amounted to the enormous sum of £108,336,193. In addition over 9½ millions sterling were collected and paid over to the local taxation accounts, so that the total receipts for Imperial and local purposes reached the unprecedented sum of £117,857,353. The Imperial receipts alone exceed by about 1¼ millions sterling the estimates framed by the Chancellor of the Exchequer twelve months ago, and they exceed by nearly 1¼ millions sterling the total amount received in the year 1897-98. The expenditure amounted to £108,150,235, showing a net surplus of nearly £186,000. These immense figures testify to the great prosperity of the country. There is a growth under almost all the great heads of revenue, the only important exception being customs. There, however, the falling off is mainly due to the reduction in the tobacco duty made by the Chancellor of the Exchequer a year ago. The railway traffic returns prove that business is still improving. And all the market reports are to the same effect. The Budget will be introduced on Thursday next. According to the figures it looks as if the Chancellor of the Exchequer will have to impose new taxation to the amount of about 3 millions sterling, and there is naturally much interest as to the way in which he will cover the deficit.

Trade in every form being so good, and the people being so prosperous, there is a very general feeling that we shall soon see a further advance upon the Stock Exchange. It is true, indeed, that the prices of all the great investment stocks are very high, and that even in the more speculative securities, such as gold shares, there has been a very great advance. Still the feeling of the city is that we are about to witness a further considerable rise in prices. On Monday next the fortnightly settlement will begin in mining securities and on Tuesday in other securities. When the account is arranged the expectation is that business will again expand. Money, to be sure, is rather scarce, but it is not likely that it will become dear for some time yet. And therefore the impression is very prevalent that business of all kinds will continue to improve.

In the American department there is a certain amount of speculation; but the public is holding aloof. And, indeed, the same is true of all the great departments. There is more animation, perhaps, in Rhodesian and Western Australian mining shares than in any other market. But even in these there has been a falling off of activity during the week. In Transvaal mining shares there is a decided check, chiefly due to the presentation of the petition from the Uitlanders to the Imperial Government, which inspires a fear that difficulties may arise with the Transvaal Government. In British securities of all kinds, in Colonial and in South American there is little doing for the time being.

As already said, money is rather scarce. The Bank of England on Wednesday paid out about 5½ millions sterling for interest on the national debt and for other purposes, but so large were the loans obtained from the bank, during the preceding three or four weeks that the outside market had to renew several of these loans. It looks, therefore, as if the Bank would continue to maintain control of the outside market for some time yet. The Bank is buying gold in the open market, for, considering all the circumstances of the time, the reserve is not very large. There is little demand for gold for the Continent, and none for the United States; and therefore if the Bank acts vigorously it ought to be able to secure a very large amount of the metal. The India Council, which has to pay large sums at the beginning of April, has been calling in loans from the market during the week, and thus has helped to denude it of supplies; and, lastly, the Scotch banks are preparing to send to Scotland an exceptionally heavy amount of gold. At the end of April or the beginning of May there is always a considerable expansion in the note circulation in Scotland. In the country, what are called term payments amount to exceptional sums in May and November. Consequently the banks have to issue unusually large amounts of notes; and to be able to do this they have to provide themselves with more gold than they usually hold. This year the expansion of the note circulation in Scotland is beginning much earlier than usual, and is likely to prove very much heavier, mainly because trade in Scotland is wonderfully active, especially shipbuilding and all the trades that minister to shipbuilding.

But though it seems certain that the Bank of England will retain control of the outside market for the next six weeks or so, and therefore will be able to regulate rates, it is not at all probable that money will become really scarce and dear, unless, of course, something unforeseen happens. If there were to spring up a very large demand for gold for the United States or for Germany, rates of course would rapidly rise here. But apparently not much gold will be required by either.

In Germany, as already said, the settlement has passed over quietly. Speculation has been checked. And the banks, aware that prices are already high enough, are discouraging new operations. Moreover, they recognize that unless they take timely precautions there will be another serious stringency in September, and it is therefore understood that gradually and cautiously they are inducing their customers to reduce their accounts. At all events, while money is wanted, and the Imperial Bank rate of discount remains at 4½ per cent, it is not thought probable that there will be any stringency for some time to come.

In France, though there is improvement, there seems no likelihood of any considerable rise in rates, and it is thought entirely improbable that the Indian Government will begin to accumulate gold for some time. The Currency Commission is just about closing the taking of evidence. It is thought that the consideration of a report will take up at least a couple of months, for it is known that there is great diversity of opinion amongst the members of the Commission, and the general expectation is that there will be at least two reports. When the Commission has reported the Indian Government will have to arrange with the Home Government as to what is to be done. And it is thought exceedingly improbable that either Government will do anything to disturb the market just at the beginning of the autumn.

Meantime the India Council continues to sell its drafts very satisfactorily. It offered for tender on Wednesday 60 lacs and the applications exceeded 485 lacs. The whole amount offered was sold at prices averaging about 1s. 4d. per rupee.

WALL STREET, FRIDAY, APRIL 21, 1899.—3 P. M.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—Business on the Stock Exchange is apparently getting back to normal conditions after a period of unusual activity and development. Evidence of this is seen this week in the smaller volume of business and the less erratic movement of prices than has been the rule of late. Not that general conditions are less favorable for either activity or development, but the amount of money seeking investment has been reduced by recent heavy purchases, and the speculative demand for stocks is much less urgent than it was a few weeks ago. Naturally at the present level of prices operations will be on a smaller scale than before and during the recent advance.

Railway circles have been interested in the announcement of a new issue of stock by the Great Northern Company and Burlington & Quincy's refunding plan. The stock of both companies advanced, in view of prospective benefits. A steady demand for bills, somewhat in excess of the offerings, has caused an advance in rates for foreign exchange, and the future course of the market is problematical. The money market is slightly easier but has been relatively steady, and has ceased to be the dominant factor in Wall Street that it recently was.

The open market rates for call loans on the Stock Exchange during the week on stock and bond collaterals have ranged from 3 to 6 per cent. To-day's rates on call were 3 to 4 1/2 per cent. Prime commercial paper quoted 3 1/2 to 4 1/2 per cent.

The Bank of England weekly statement on Thursday showed an increase in bullion of £629,561, and the percentage of reserve to liabilities was 40-10, against 38-90 last week; the discount rate remains unchanged at 3 per cent. The Bank of France shows an increase of 2,250,000 francs in gold and 2,060,000 francs in silver.

The New York City Clearing-House banks in their statement of April 15 showed an increase in the reserve held of $2,831,100, and a surplus over the required reserve of $19,471,525, against $15,018,825 the previous week.

State and Railroad Bonds.—Sales of State bonds at the Board are limited to $1,000 North Carolina con. 4s at 108 and $1,000 Virginia fund. debt. 2-3s of 1901 at 83 1/4.

With few exceptions the market for railway bonds has been generally steady to strong. Transactions at the Exchange were larger in volume than last week and the market was relatively more active than the market for stocks. The eagerness with which high-grade offerings are taken and the advance in some issues indicate that an investment demand still exists. The most conspicuous advance on the active list was that of nearly 7 points in Illinois Central St. Louis division 3s. Rock Island general 4s advanced over 2 points on large transactions. A few issues advanced a point or more, including Central Pacific 1sts, Kansas City Pittsburg & Gulf 1sts, St. Louis & South Western 1sts, Columbus Hocking Valley & Toledo 5s, Texas & Pacific 3nds and Colorado Fuel & Iron 5s. In addition to the above, special activity is noted in Atchison, Baltimore & Ohio, Burlington & Quincy, Detroit City Gas, Northern Pacific, St. Louis & Iron Mountain and Reading bonds.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—The stock market has been irregular throughout the week, this feature developing day by day. The volume of business was smaller than of late, steadily declining from over 800,000 shares on Monday and averaging about 615,000 shares per day. The anthracite coal stocks were exceptionally strong, led by Delaware & Hudson which at its highest quotation of the week showed a gain of 7 1/4 points. This advance is based on the expectation that favorable trade conditions will be maintained. The grangers were also relatively firm, and of this group Burlington & Quincy was the buoyant feature. It sold on Wednesday nearly 5 points above last week's closing price and shows a net gain of 2 1/4 points. St. Paul was stimulated by favorable traffic reports. Great Northern advanced on announcement that stockholders will have the right to subscribe for a percentage of new stock to be issued next month and the preferred more than made up the dividend which came off on Tuesday. Louisville & Nashville was strong on dividend rumors, and with Southern Railway preferred shows a net gain of about 3 points. The local traction stocks were erratic, but generally weak, and these with the industrial list have been, as usual, favorites with the speculative element. Of the latter group Anaconda Copper Mining has become prominent and advanced over 11 points this week. Colorado Fuel & Iron exceeded this, however, having sold up to 55 to-day, a gain of over 17 1/4 points. New York Air Brake made an advance of 11 points.

RAILROAD EARNINGS.

The following table shows the gross earnings of every STEAM railroad from which regular weekly or monthly returns can be obtained. The first two columns of figures give the gross earnings for the latest week or month, and the last two columns the earnings for the period from January 1 to and including such latest week or month.

The returns of the street railways are brought together separately on a subsequent page.

Net Earnings Monthly to Latest Dates.—The following shows the gross and net earnings to latest dates of all STREAM railroads furnishing monthly statements. The compilation includes every road from which we can get returns of this character and in that form is given once a month. Early returns are published from week to week, as soon as issued, but for the convenience of our readers all the roads making returns are brought together here in the week in which we publish our monthly article on net earnings—say on or about the 20th of the month.

The returns of the street railways we give by themselves under a separate head at the extreme end of these tabulations—see page 768.

STREET RAILWAYS AND TRACTION COMPANIES.

The following table shows the gross earnings for the latest period of all STREET railways from which we are able to obtain weekly or monthly returns. The arrangement of the table is the same as that for the steam roads—that is, the first two columns of figures give the gross earnings for the latest week or month, and the last two columns the earnings for the calendar year from January 1 to and including such latest week or month.

Street Railway Net Earnings.—In the following we show both the gross and the net earnings to latest dates of all STREET railways from which we have been able to procure monthly returns. As in the case of the steam roads, the returns of the different roads are published by us each week as soon as received, and once a month (on the third or the fourth Saturday of the month) we bring all the roads reporting together, as is done to-day.

was formed some weeks ago, with New York money chiefly behind the move. Promoter Wagner, together with John S. Field, of Chicago, President of the Knickerbocker Ice Co. of that city, were the active pushers of the scheme. It is stated that ice concerns of the following cities will be absorbed: Cleveland, Buffalo, Toledo, Erie, Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis and St. Louis. "While the sale of the various ice concerns will be outright," said Mr. Wagner, "they will continue to remain under their respective managements, and the stockholders of the individual concerns will have the privilege of taking a limited amount of stock in the big company. The ultimate end of the deal will probably be a unification of interests with the Knickerbocker Ice Co. of Chicago," continued Mr. Wagner, "although at present the new concern is a separate institution."

The consolidation is presumably to take place under the title of the American Ice Co., incorporated in New Jersey March 11 with $30,000,000 of authorized capital stock.—V. 68, p. 522; V. 68, p. 720.

American Railways Co.—Incorporated.—This company, with an authorized capital of $25,000,000, was incorporated at Trenton, N. J., on April 19. The company is empowered to build, construct and operate electric and other railways. The incorporators are Frank R. Hansell, George B. Martin and William F. Eidell, all of Camden. A Philadelphia paper describes the project substantially as follows: The business of the company will be confined strictly to the purchase and control of existing electric railways throughout the country. It will not enter the field of electric lighting and power, and will therefore not compete with the Electric Co. of America. The new company will be controlled by the same interests that now predominate in the management of the Electric Co. of America and the United Gas Improvement Co., and its policy, it is stated, will be similar to that pursued in the case of those companies in their control of electric lighting and power companies and gas companies respectively. The capital of the new company will be $25,000,000, divided into 500,000 shares of par value of $50; 250,000 shares will be issued at once, on which the first instalment will be $5 per share; the balance, 250,000 shares, will remain in the treasury; the first call of $5 will give the company $1,250,000 with which to begin business. The 250,000 shares treasury stock will be issued as occasion requires.

Officers.—President, A. A. McLeod; Treasurer, W. F. Harrity; Secretary, C. L. S. Lingley; Counsel, Elias W. Pettit.

Directors.—A. A. McLeod, William H. Sheldermine, Samuel R. Shapley, Jeremiah J. Sullivan, E. J. Matthews, Elias W. Pettit, Edward C. Lee, William F. Harrity and George H. B. Martin.

American Shipbuilding Co.—Organized.—This company, which was incorporated in New Jersey on March 16 with $30,000,000 of authorized capital stock ($15,000,000 being 7 per cent. non-cumulative preferred), on Tuesday authorized the issue of $20,000,000 of the stock, half common, half preferred, and took title to the following properties:

Cleveland Shipbuilding Co., Ohio.	Superior Shipbuilding Co.
Globe Iron Works, Ohio.	Detroit Shipbuilding Co.
Shipowners' Dry Dock Co.	Milwaukee Dry Dock Co.
Chicago Shipbuilding Co.

The meeting was held at 36 Wall Street, where are located the offices of the American Steel Barge Co. The ship yards, machinery, docks, buildings and dry-dock of this last-named company were transferred to the Superior Shipbuilding Co., and by it to the American Shipbuilding Co. The fleet of some forty vessels on the lakes owned by the American Steel Barge Co. will continue to be owned by the original corporation. The American Steel Barge Co. in 1893 made a mortgage to the Farmers Loan & Trust Co. as trustee to secure $2,000,000 of 5 per cent gold bonds due Jan. 1, 1923, but subject to call at any time at 105 and interest on ninety days' notice. Last year there were $1,600,000 of these outstanding. The officers and directors are:

Officers.—President, W. L. Brown, Chicago; Vice-President, R. L. Ireland, Cleveland; Secretary and Treasurer, R. C. Wetmore, New York City; General Manager, J. C. Wallace, Cleveland.

Directors.—Colgate Hoyt, Samuel Mather, W. L. Brown, H. H. Porter, Jr., W. E. Fitzgerald, Andrew Joyce, Robert Wallace, J. C. Wallace, A. McVittie, Gilbert McMillan, Luther Allen, H. M. Hanna, R. L. Ireland and L. C. Hanna.

The company will eventually include, it is understood, nearly all of the lake shipbuilding concerns. The Union Dry Dock Co. of Buffalo, however, it is reported, will remain independent.—V. 68, p. 523.

American Smelting & Refining.—New Securities.—The engraved certificates of stock are being delivered to holders of Manhattan Trust Co. certificates.—V. 68, p. 721.

American Spirits Manufacturing Co.—Bonds Retired.—The company has retired $101,000 of its first mortgage bonds to meet sinking fund requirements, thus reducing the issue from $2,000,000 to $1,899,000.—V. 68, p. 86.

American Steel Hoop Co.—Officers.—The directors and officers are announced as follows:

Directors.—C. S. Guthrie, C. A. Painter, George E. Painter, Veryl Preston, W. E. Taylor, R. M. Gilbert, W. T. Graham, F. S. Wheeler, D. G. Reid, W. E. Rea, Henry Wink, J. H. Moore, W. H. Moore, W. B. Leeds and J. J. Treacy.

Officers.—President, C. S. Guthrie; First Vice-President, C. A. Painter; Treasurer, F. S. Wheeler; Secretary, F. L. Clark. Executive Committee is as follows: C. S. Guthrie, George E. Painter, Veryl Preston, W. B. Leeds, D. G. Reid, W. H. Moore and F. S. Wheeler.—V. 68, p. 721.

American Woolen Co.—Officers.—The company, it is said, began active operations on Tuesday. The officers are: President, Frederick Ayer; Vice-President, Joseph G. Ray; Treasurer, William Wood. The prospectus was cited in V. 68, p. 472. The "National Western Co." is said to be projected as a combination of Western interests on the same general lines as the American Woolen Co.—V. 68, p. 472.

Anacostia & Potomac River Ry.—Mortgage.—The company has created an issue of $3,000,000 five per cent 50-year gold bonds secured by mortgage to the Baltimore Trust & Guarantee Co. as trustee. Of the authorized amount, $750,000, it is stated, will remain in the treasury. The company recently purchased the Belt Ry. and the Capital Traction Co., and has been authorized by Congress to buy the Brightwood Ry. Co.; Washington Woodside & Forest Glen Ry. & Power Co., of Montgomery County, Md., and the City & Suburban Ry. of Washington.—V. 68, p. 428.

Atlanta (Ga.) Consolidated Street Ry.—Atlanta Street Ry.—Consolidation Pending.—Negotiations for the consolidation of these properties, it is known, have been pending for some time. As to the present status of the project the "Atlanta Constitution" of April 13 says the deal involves "the formation of a new company with a capital stock of $2,000,000, the majority being held in Atlanta and the remainder in Baltimore; the purchase of the Georgia Electric Light plant, or in event of a failure to secure that plant, the building of a new light plant; the floating of $5,000,000 in bonds to take up the outstanding indebtedness of the consolidated and Traction companies as it now exists, and for other needed purposes; $750,000 to be applied to the acquisition of an electric-light plant.

The Atlanta Electric Ry. Co., it is said, will also be merged in the consolidated company.—V. 68, p. 84; V. 67, p. 1054.

Bethlehem Steel Co.—Incorporated.—The company was incorporated at Harrisburg on April 17 by Joseph Wharton, Elisha P. Wilbur, Robert H. Sayre, Robert P. Linderman, B. Borie, Philadelphia, E. T. Stotesbury and John Lowber Welsh.—V. 68, p. 617.

Boston & New York Telegraph & Telephone Company.—Incorporated.—This company has been incorporated in Delaware with authorized capital of $5,000,000 by Z. S. Swift, J. Breed, Oakes Ames and Charles E. Adams, all of Boston.

Brooklyn Rapid Transit RR.—Brooklyn City RR.—Decision as to Lease.—The Court of Appeals of this State has this week affirmed the decision of the Appellate Division dismissing the suit of Patrick H. Flynn, seeking an annulment of the lease of the Brooklyn City Railroad to the Brooklyn Heights Railroad. The Court holds that Flynn did not proceed in the right way; that he erred in not first making demand upon the company to bring the action before beginning a suit in his own name. Some remarks of Judge Vann (who delivered the opinion) concerning the allegations of fraud and conspiracy made by Flynn have been taken as possibly foreshadowing the decision of the Court in an action where the case was considered on its merits. But as shown in our editorial columns elsewhere, there is no warrant for this view. Counsel for Flynn have announced that they will now push to trial another suit already begun in which the technical error committed in the present suit is avoided.—V. 268 p. 721.

Brooklyn Gas & Electric Light Co.—Brooklyn Borough Gas Co.—Purchase.—The Brooklyn Gas & Electric Light Co., recently incorporated in New Jersey, it is learned, was organized by Stahl & Straub, of Philadelphia, and has purchased the entire capital stock, $500,000, of the Brooklyn Borough Gas Co., whose plant is in the Thirty-first Ward, Brooklyn. (See description of property and bonds, V. 68, p. 230). The Brooklyn Gas & Electric Light Co., it is stated, has issued 30,000 shares of capital stock, each share being $50, with $5 paid in, and will retain an additional 10,000 shares in its treasury.—V. 68, p. 230.

Canadian Pacific Ry.—Minneapolis St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie Ry.—Guaranteed Second Mortgage Bonds.—At the annual meeting of the Canadian Pacific shareholders on April 5 it was stated that the deficits which the Canadian Pacific Ry. Co. has been called upon to make good for account of the Minneapolis St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie Ry. "have been entirely due to expenditures for equipment, terminal facilities and general improvements, such as are incident to a new and growing property. The total advances amount to $1,431,663, while the expenditures for equipment, terminal facilities and general improvements during the years in which these advances were made foot up $1,748,041." The following resolution relating to an agreement with the Minneapolis St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie Ry. Co., providing for extended traffic arrangements and for the guaranty by the Canadian Pacific Ry. Co. of the interest on an issue by that company of second mortgage bonds, was then recommended and unanimously adopted, viz.:

Whereas, the said agreement provides, amongst other things, for interchange of traffic between the two companies and the division of earnings and other matters relating to such traffic, as therein more particularly set forth, and that the Soo Company shall make an issue of its corporate bonds to be denominated "second 4 per cent fifty-year gold bonds" to an aggregate of $5,000,000, or its equivalent in sterling money, and shall secure the payment of the same by a second mortgage to the Central Trust Co. of New York as Trustees of all its railways and other properties therein described, and that this company shall guarantee the payment of the interest on the said bonds at the rate of 4 per cent per annum, payable half-yearly; all of the said bonds to be executed by the Soo Company and delivered to the said Trustees, after which a portion thereof, namely $3,500,000, or its equivalent in sterling money, is to be in the first instance certified by the Trustees and delivered back to the Soo Company for issue, the proceeds thereof to be applied approximately as follows:

For terminal yards and facilities at Minneapolis, increased accommodation at divisional and intermediate points, permanent bridges and general additions and improvements $950,000

For redemption of interest-bearing securities coming due, and for payments on account of rolling stock equipment already purchased, and for additional equipment estimated to be required..... 1,675,000

For payment of floating debt incurred for additions and improvements to the property, including amount advanced by the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. for that purpose, but not including amount advanced by that company on account of interest on bonds which will be distributed over a term of years..... 875,000

The remainder of said bonds, namely, $1,500,000, or its equivalent in sterling money, to be afterwards certified by the Trustees from time to time in such amounts as the Soo Company, by resolution of its board of directors may direct, the written concurrence and approval of this company having been first obtained; provided that the said remainder of the said bonds or any part thereof shall not be disposed of, or the proceeds thereof applied, except as this company shall from time to time first authorize and approve of in writing.

The Secretary of the Canadian Pacific says: "This arrangement will enable the Soo Company to devote its net earnings to the payment of its interest charges, and at the same time to repay in annual instalments the interest which has been advanced by your company. Its improved earnings justify the belief of your directors that it will not only be able to do this, but to make a return on its capital stock, of which your company holds more than one-half."

Capital Expenditures.—The shareholders also authorized expenditures by the Canadian Pacific Ry. Co. on capital account during the current year aggregating $3,544,176, viz:

Improvement permanent way.....$1,150,979

Additional station yard and terminal facilities..... 788,187

Completion of air brake and automatic coupler equipment 305,010

Branch lines to mines in connection with Crow's Nest Line (as required)..... 300,000

—V. 68, p. 669.

Central Hudson Steamboat Co.—Consolidation.—This company was incorporated at Albany on April 14 to unite the following lines of steamers: Homer Ramadell Transportation Co., Newburg to New York; Ponghkeepsie Transportation Co., Ponghkeepsie to New York; Romer & Tremper Steamboat Co., Kingston to New York; Newburg & Albany Day Line, Newburg, Albany and Troy.

The capital stock is $1,000,000 in $100 shares, of which $600,000 is preferred 8 per cent cumulative. Bonds for $500,000, it is understood, will be issued. The company, it is stated, will own nine steamboats, a barge, valuable dock property, the lease of pier 24, New York City, and dock facilities on the Hudson River at various points. The officers and directors are:

Officers: Wilber H. Weston, President; Jacob H. Tremper, Vice-President; Benjamin H. Odell, Jr., Treasurer, and F. G. Kimball, Secretary.

Directors: B. B. Odell, Jr., Homer S. Ramadell and W. H. Weston, of Newburg; Jacob H. Tremper and Myron Teller, of Kingston; Charles W. Hogan, Nathaniel S. Lancaster, Frank S. Witherbee, J. Murray Mitchell, Lucius N. Litteur and Albert B. Boardman, of New York.

Centralia & Chester RR.—Foreclosure.—At Springfield, Ill., on April 18, the foreclosure suit was heard in the United States District Court, as was also the application of the Missouri Car & Foundry Co. to have the $425,000 receivers' certificates made a lien prior to the first mortgage bonds. Judges Groesbeck and Allen heard the case and decided that the order of sale should be given, and the certificates should be declared a prior lien on the property. —V. 68, p. 722.

Chicago Burlington & Quincy RR.—Official Circular. Right to Subscribe to New Securities.—New Mortgage for $85,000,000.—An official circular offers the stockholders of record May 5 the right to subscribe till May 31 for $16,166,000 3½ per cent bonds at 75, and $4,041,000 capital stock at par, in blocks of $1,000 bonds and $250 stock, for which $1,000 is to be paid, $500 on June 8 and $500 on Sept. 8. Stockholders can subscribe to one of these blocks for each sixty shares of stock held. The circular says:

"For the purpose of providing means to retire, as it matures, the bonded indebtedness of this company on its own and its leased lines east of the Mississippi River and for other purposes, your directors have decided to make a new mortgage on all of those properties to secure an issue of bonds to be dated July 1, 1899, to mature July 1, 1949, and to bear interest at a rate not to exceed 5 per cent per annum, payable Jan. 1 and July 1. Such bonds as may be issued bearing interest at the rate of 3½ per cent per annum will be redeemable at 105 per cent and accrued interest, at the option of the company, on any coupon day after thirty years, upon six months' previous notice. The issue of new bonds is to be limited to $85,000,000, and the lien securing them will become an absolute first mortgage upon the payment of $28,924,000 consolidated mortgage 7 per cent bonds due July 1, 1903, and of $2,320,000 Chicago & Iowa Division 5 per cent bonds due Feb. 1, 1905, and upon completion of the purchase and consolidation of the company's leased lines east of the Mississippi River, the preliminary steps for which have been taken.

"If all of the new bonds should be issued as 3½ per cent bonds, the total interest charge would not exceed the present interest charge on the bonds now issued and outstanding against the properties covered by the new mortgage. It is proposed to provide for the payment of the bonds of the Chicago Burlington & Northern RR. Co., which have been called for redemption, and for one other issue, as follows:

"$3,450,000 C. B. & N. second mortgage 6 per cent bonds at par, $3,450,000; $8,053,500 C. B. & N. first mortgage 5 per cent bonds at 105, $8,456,175; $908,000 C. B. & N. equipment 5 per cent bonds at 105, $953,400; $300,000 C. B. & N. funding 6 per cent notes at par, $300,000; $1,078,000 O. O. & F. R. Valley 8 per cent bonds, due July 1, 1900, at par, $1,076,000.

"Being in all $13,787,500 bonds at a cost of $14,235,575.

"In addition to the above requirements new money is needed for improvements and equipment purposes, to provide for all of which it has been decided by the directors to offer to the stockholders of this company as recorded on its books at the close of business at three o'clock P. M., May 5, 1899, the privilege of subscribing," as above stated.

Interest on the new bonds begins July 1, 1899. The stock will be entitled to dividends declared and payable after Sept. 8. The company will issue negotiable receipts on and after June 12, and interim temporary receipts will be given. The bonds and stocks will be delivered after Sept. 20.

The company will receive from this transaction $16,166,000 in cash, of which $14,235,575 will be used for payment of bonds, $1,253,400 of these [the equipment 5s and funding notes 6s] being already in its treasury. The balance will be available for improvements and equipment. The annual interest on the $13,787,500 bonds retired is $759,155, contrasting with $565,810, the annual interest on the $16,166,000 of 3½s to be issued.—V. 68, p. 570.

Chicago & Eastern Illinois RR.—Proposed Purchase.—At the annual meeting June 7 the stockholders will vote on propositions "to enlarge the objects for which said company was formed and to purchase the capital stock, railway property, corporate rights and franchises of the Eastern Illinois & Missouri RR. Co." The last-named company was incorporated Jan. 30, 1899, to extend the road from Marion, Ill., to Cape Girardeau, a distance of about 50 miles, affording connection with the St. Louis Southwestern Ry. and Mobile & Ohio RR.—V. 68, n. 231.

Chicago Great Western Ry.—Earnings.—The company has issued the following statement of net earnings and charges for the nine months ending March 31, 1899, compared with the same months of the previous year (the charges include the interest on the 4 per cent debenture stock):

	1898-99.	1897-98.	Increase.
Net earnings.....	$1,491,336	$1,245,340	$245,996
Charges, including interest on 4 per cent debenture stock.....	1,087,187	1,013,149	74,037
Balance.....	$404,149	$232,191	$171,959
Dividend on pref. stock A at rate of 4 per cent per annum.....	341,172	.....	.....
Balance.....	$62,977	.....	.....

* NOTE.—$31,000 of the increase in charges is for increased taxes.

Secretary R. C. Wight says: "The foregoing statement assures the dividend in July of 2 per cent on the preferred A stock, which has been expected, and seems to give a fair promise of the maximum dividend of 2½ per cent. In the nine months the gross earnings have increased $334,871, and the net $245,996; therefore over 73 per cent of the gross increase has been net.—V. 68, p. 669.

Chicago Indianapolis & Louisville Ry.—Change in Control.—It is currently reported that President Thomas has sold and is about to transfer the controlling interest in this road to J. P. Morgan & Co.—V. 68, p. 722.

Columbus Sandusky & Hocking RR.—Status.—According to current reports the plan of reorganization proposed by the Fitzgerald Committee will probably be abandoned.—V. 68, p. 473.

Continental Tobacco Co.—American Tobacco Company.—Plant Transferred to Syndicate.—On Monday $659,000 of the $1,100,000 stock of the Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co. of St. Louis was transferred to Watson B. Dickerman of Dominick & Dickerman, representing the purchasing syndicate. The remainder of the issue was expected to be turned over to him before the end of the current week. In St. Louis it is said that the average price paid will make the total cost of the plant to the purchasers about $12,500,000. The stockholders of the Continental Tobacco Co. met yesterday and authorized the proposed increase of $25,000,000 in the capital stock of their company. The purpose of the increase is not announced, but the general impression seems to be that after all the Continental Tobacco Co. will acquire the plant of the Liggett & Myers concern, and for that purpose will use a considerable portion of the additional stock, half of which is to be preferred. No positive information on the subject was obtainable yesterday.

The Liggett & Myers plant is described as occupying an area of 2,400 by 271 feet, and as employing on the average 3,000 persons. President Moses C. Wetmore, in a typewritten statement, says in regard to the company: "During the last five years, for which term I have been its President, it has made an average of over $900,000 annually, and the prospect for increased trade was never better than at the present time. On the day of transfer of the certificates of stock of the company there was on its books approximately 1,000,000 pounds of unfilled orders for tobacco. I received at the rate of $15,000,000 [$1366 per $100] for my stock."—V. 68, p. 670.

Eastern RR. of New Hampshire.—Boston & Maine RR.—Consolidation.—The directors of the Eastern RR. of New Hampshire have notified the stockholders that consolidation with the Boston & Maine RR. Co. has been agreed upon, subject to ratification by the stockholders, and will take effect after the payment of the rent by the Boston & Maine due May 31. Holders of Eastern RR. stock will receive 65 per cent of the par value of their holdings in stock of the Boston & Maine at par.—V. 63, p. 427.

Electric Storage Battery Co.—The new directors elected April 11 are: P. A. B. Widener, Wm. L. Elkins, Geo. A. Hohn, F. S. Pearson, Philip T. Dodge, D. H. Shea and Thomas J. Reagan. Messrs. Pearson, Dodge, Shea and Reagan are New Yorkers, and include representatives of the Whitney interests. Messrs. Thos. F. Ryan and Wm. N. Brady, retired, as did, Clement A. Griscom, Edward C. Lee, Randall A. Morgan, Edward Tuck and John I. Waterbury. The old members who remain on the board are: W. W. Gibbs, Geo. S. Philler, Isaac L. Rice, Rudolph Ellis, Joseph S. Sinnott, General Manager Lloyd, W. D. Winsor and Grant B. Schley. Mr. Rice continues President. A new plant, in addition to the one in Philadelphia, it is stated, is to be established in New York.—V. 63, p. 723.

Fidelity International Co.—Listed in Philadelphia.—The Philadelphia Stock Exchange has listed the company's $400,000 stock; par value of shares, $50, full paid. Principal office, Land Title & Trust Building, Philadelphia, Pa. The official statement says:

The company was incorporated Nov. 7, 1898, under the laws of New Jersey, for the purpose of manufacturing cotton seed products, and to manufacture and deal in moss and other fibres. Its property consists of United States and foreign patent rights, machinery, stock and fixtures, and about six acres of land at Berkeley, Va. (a part of Norfolk, Va.), on which two factories are about to be erected, and machinery for same, purchased and awaiting completion of buildings. The company is now doing business in a leased factory in Philadelphia, until completion of Berkeley plants. Authorized capital stock $1,000,000, of which there has been issued $360,000 for patent rights, machinery and land and $40,100 for cash; $1,599,900 is reserved to be issued as the business may require. No floating or funded debt.

Fort Wayne Electric Corporation.—Sold.—The property was purchased at receiver's sale on Tuesday by the General Electric Co. for $356,400.—Vol. 63, p. 671.

Great Northern Ry.—$15,000,000 New Stock.—Right to Subscribe.—President J. J. Hill has issued a circular announcing the intention of the company to issue $15,000,000 new stock, raising the total issue to $90,000,000. The new stock is for the purpose of acquiring, for an amount not exceeding $15,000,000, all of the bonds, debentures and capital stock of the Spokane Falls & Northern Ry. Co., Nelson & Fort Sheppard Ry. Co., Columbia & Red Mountain Ry. Co. and Red Mountain Ry. Co., aggregating $9,776,200 (which companies own a system of railways in the State of Washington and Province of British Columbia, connecting with the Great Northern Ry. at Spokane Falls), and $7,500,000 capital stock of the Eastern Ry. Co. of Minnesota. Shareholders of the Great Northern Ry. Co. at the close of business on May 20, 1899, are offered the opportunity to subscribe till 3 p. m. Croker, Charles King and Frank E. Bradley. The capital stock is $3,000,000, half of it being 7 per cent preferred. The company's specialty will be rubber tires. The "New York Times" says:

The new company has just purchased the plants of L. C. Chase & Co., at Boston and Chelsea, Mass. (one of the largest tire concerns in the world); also the Newton Rubber Works, Newton, Upper Falls, Mass., and the right to make the Apex tire and the Blaurock pneumatic

The plant, which is now at Kayport and South Amboy, will be assembled at South Amboy, where a site of 150 acres has been secured. As a by-product we shall utilize our acids to manufacture blasting powder, and as cellulose has been found to be the best absorbent known, we can confidently claim a large share of the dynamite gelatine business.

Kansas City Pittsburg & Gulf RR.—Reorganization.—Examination of Property and Accounts.—Ernst Thalmann, Chairman of the Readjustment Committee, makes the following statement: "The accounts and physical condition and needs of the property are to be examined by an auditor and railroad expert appointed by the committee. Subject to any modification made necessary by the reports of the auditor and expert, the committee proposes to first reorganize the affairs of the K. C. P. & G. Railroad Co. proper, endeavoring to give the present bondholders an amount of new bonds and preferred stock equal to the par of their present bond holdings. It is proposed to make the plan sufficiently comprehensive to permit of dealing with the terminal and other properties at a later date if deemed wise. The reorganization is making satisfactory progress and very substantial deposits have already been made." A. E. Stilwell, August Heckscher and J. De Goeyen, Jr., have withdrawn from the committee.

New Committee.—A committee, consisting of William F. Harry of Philadelphia, Chairman; B. N. Baker, Baltimore, August Heckscher, New York, and Samuel R. Shipley, Silas W. Pettit and Winthrop Smith, Philadelphia, requests the holders of the securities of the Kansas City Pittsburg & Gulf RR. and its terminal companies to "refrain from depositing their securities with any committee until a proper plan of reorganization has been formulated. We will publicly request," the committee says, "the deposit of securities as soon as, by ourselves or by co-operation, such a plan has been prepared and approved. Pending such action, we ask the security holders to communicate with the chairman of the committee, care of the Equitable Trust Co., Philadelphia, giving their addresses and amounts of their respective holdings."

Plan.—The reorganization plan of the Thalmann Committee, it is stated, will not be ready for several weeks, but the following is given as the current gossip as to its provisions, subject to further modification: Each $1,000 first mortgage 5 per cent bond to be exchanged for $700 of new 4 per cent bonds and $300 in 4 per cent preferred stock, the April 1 coupon to be taken up with preferred stock for its face value. The present stock to be assessed $10 per share and to get $10 in 4 per cent preferred stock and 100 per cent in new common stock. The $2,300,000 raised by assessment to pay off the car trust obligations, improve the property, purchase new equipment and leave a balance in the treasury. Keokuk & Des Moines Ry.—Dividend.—The company has declared a dividend of ½ per cent on its preferred stock. This is the first dividend since Jan. 15, 1895, when 90 cents per share was paid. The income account for the four years ended Sept. 30, 1898, shows: Balance after paying dividend Jan. 15, 1895, $460; rent from Chicago Rock Island & Pacific Railway Co., $559,376; all other income, $96; total, $559,933; interest on 5 per cent bonds, $550,000; all other expenses, $1,156; total expenses, $551,156; balance, $8,777; dividend of 50 cents per share, $7,622; balance in hands of treasurer, $1,154.

As to the electrical equipment of the elevated road, Mr. Skitt said: "We are advancing the change of motive power rapidly, and to us most gratifyingly. In eighteen months at longest we shall have completely effected the change, and on a section of the railway much sooner."—V. 68, p. 672, 674.

Metropolitan R.R. of Washington—Columbia Ry.—Anacostia & Potomac Ry.—Georgetown & Tennallytown R.R.—Operations of Syndicate.—A Washington paper says:

The stockholders of the Anacostia & Potomac River Ry. Co. have ratified the purchase of the Belt Ry. The bonds of the new company, to the amount of $2,225,000, are said to have been over-subscribed in Baltimore, and it is understood that the work of reconstructing the road will be vigorously prosecuted.

O. T. Crosby has also resigned the presidency of the City & Suburban system, and Thomas J. Hayward of Baltimore was elected in his place. Mr. Crosby has been elected President of the United States Electric Lighting Co. He was already President of the Potomac Electric Light Co.

The agreements between F. C. Stevens and a number of the principal stockholders of both the Metropolitan and of the Columbia roads have been consummated, and the sales of these properties to Mr. Stevens are now in process of completion. The agreed price was 230 for Metropolitan stock and 150 for Columbia. Sept. 1 next is the date fixed for the final winding up of the sale. There is no reason to anticipate anything except a speedy conclusion of these purchases, as the requisite stock of the Columbia has been subscribed, and nearly, if not quite, the requisite amount of the Metropolitan stock.

Mr. Stevens and his associates have also acquired ownership of a majority of the stock of the Georgetown & Tennallytown R.R., and Mr. Stevens has purchased at 102 and accrued interest $60,000 out of the entire issue of $70,000 first mortgage bonds of that company. Mr. Stevens and associates did not consummate the purchase of the Great Falls road. Their option expired on the 5th. There is more or less rumor as to negotiations between the Stevens people and parties interested in the Capital Traction road.

Washington & Great Falls Electric Ry.—The "Baltimore Sun" on April 17 said: "By the purchase of the Washington & Great Falls Electric Railway the syndicate represented by F. C. Stevens has now acquired control of all the street-car lines in the city except those held by the Capital Traction Co. The syndicate made its latest purchase Saturday, buying the line to the upper Potomac from Stilson Hutchins for $475,000."—V. 68, p. 619, 426; V. 63, p. 229.

Metropolitan West Side Elevated R.R. of Chicago.—New Securities.—The securities to be issued under the plan of reorganization are now ready for delivery. National Fish Co.—Incorporated.—This company has been incorporated in Delaware with $3,000,000 capital, to effect, it is said, a consolidation of fish interests, the chief promoter of the scheme being Congressman Ernest W. Roberts, of Boston.—V. 68, p. 672.

All expenditures for the foregoing purposes shall be made "only on the approval of the trustee," i. e., the State Trust Co. The sworn statement of the officers of the Power Company and a copy of the resolutions of its board of directors, it is provided, "may be received by the trustee as sufficient and conclusive evidence of any of the facts" relating to the proposed issue of said $3,500,000 bonds.

Norwalk Street Ry.—Reported Sale.—The property is reported to have been sold to W. F. Sheehan, R. A. C. Smith, H. G. Runkle, A. M. Young, and others, who already control the Norwalk Gas Light Co. and the Norwalk & South Norwalk Electric Light Co. In addition to the amounts named, Brown Brothers & Co. must pay the first and second mortgages on the line, and whatever claims are allowed by the Court. The People's line was not acquired by Brown Brothers & Co. in their own name. It was conveyed to the St. Louis Traction Co. Murray Carleton is President of this company and H. F. Hunter Secretary. The directors are Murray Carleton, Edwards Whitaker and James Campbell. This company has a capital stock of only $2,000, but this amount will probably be increased in the near future.

United Zinc & Lead Co.—Stock Offered.—This company was incorporated on March 27, under the laws of New Jersey, with share capital of $6,000,000, full paid and non-assessable, of which $1,000,000 is 8 per cent preferred, with preference as to assets as well as dividends. Prospectus says:

This company is organized for the purpose of consolidating a number of the best producing zinc and lead properties in the Missouri-Kansas District, which is now supplying more than three-fourths of the entire zinc output of the United States. These properties have heretofore been operated in a superficial manner by individual workers. The property thus far acquired comprises first leases on 600 acres of producing land and the fee title clear from encumbrance on 800 acres of proven mineral land which is not at present producing, but is adjacent to the best paying mines in the district, and mines and mills will at once be opened thereon. All of the above property has been acquired with one-half of the capital of the company, and yet, with the small part developed, shows net earnings of $160,000 per annum.

Returns from one of the properties acquired shows for the year 1898: Lead lbs., 2,603,130; zinc lbs., 5,408,160; total value $112,164. This property is now producing every week $22,000 worth of ore, and is paying a net profit to the first lease, which is owned by the United Zinc & Lead Co. of from $1,200 to $1,500 a week.

The company has no debt and no incumbrance on its property. The present income is from royalties received from leased mines upon its lands, and the only fixed charges are the expense for collection of weekly earnings and the superintendence of the property.

Of the preferred stock $500,000 is offered for public subscription at par, and with each 100 shares of preferred a bonus of 25 shares of common will be given. The shares are of the par value of $25 each.—V. 68, p. 620.

The Commercial Times.

COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

FRIDAY NIGHT, April 21, 1899.

With the advance in the season some reaction has been apparent from the active demand latterly experienced in the wholesale trade. The general business situation, however, has continued a healthy one, as in most lines of trade merchants have had a reasonably active demand and there has been no pronounced sagging of values. The official opening of the Erie Canal has been postponed to noon, April 26. The lateness of the opening of navigation in the interior is having some influence in checking a free movement of merchandise between the seaboard and the interior. Crop damage reports have continued to be received from the winter-wheat belt, and it is now generally conceded that damage has been done. Latterly, however, weather conditions have been favorable and good progress has been reported made in the preparations for the spring-wheat crop. Planting of the cotton crop also has progressed rapidly. Advices from the West report that the Missouri River is rising and that an overflow is expected.

Lard on the spot has continued to meet with only a very moderate sale, but as the offerings have been limited prices have advanced and the close was steady at 5-53½c. for prime Western and 5-20c. for prime City. Refined lard has been in only very moderate demand, but prices have advanced, closing steady at 5-75c. for refined for the Continent. Speculation in lard for future delivery has been fairly active, and prices have advanced on buying by packers and a sharp falling off in the receipts of swine.

☞ The imports into Continental ports the past week have been 63,000 bales.

The above figures indicate an increase in the cotton in sight to-night of 507,531 bales as compared with the same date of 1898, a gain of 1,121,303 bales over the corresponding date of 1897 and an excess of 992,999 bales over 1896

AT THE INTERIOR TOWNS the movement—that is the receipts for the week and since September 1, the shipments for the week and the stocks to-night, and the same items for the corresponding period of 1897-98—is set out in detail below.

RECEIPTS FROM THE PLANTATIONS.—The following table indicates the actual movement each week from the plantations. The figures do not include overland receipts nor Southern consumption; they are simply a statement of the weekly movement from the plantations of that part of the crop which finally reaches the market through the outports.

The above statement shows: 1.—That the total receipts from the plantations since Sep. 1, 1898, are 8,219,437 bales; in 1897-98 were 8,493,670 bales; in 1896-97 were 6,518,061 bales.

2.—That although the receipts at the outports the past week were 61,603 bales, the actual movement from plantations was 57,500 bales, the balance being taken from stocks at interior towns. Last year receipts from the plantations for the week were 44,830 bales and for 1897 they were 28,087 bales.

SOUTHERN COTTON MILLS.—PROPOSED PRINT CLOTH COMBINE.—A meeting of men connected with Southern cotton mills making print cloths was held at Charlotte, N. C., Thursday night, April 20. The purpose of the meeting was to put the control of the products into the hands of an executive committee of three with a forfeiture of $5 per loom in default of holding goods at prices made by this committee. The articles proposed to be agreed to were signed by Messrs. T. C. Duncan, Union, S. C.; H. D. Wheat, Gaffney, S. C., and W. B. Smith, Whaley, Columbia, S. C. Many mill men who are in Charlotte but not attending the meeting refuse to commit themselves to the above proposition. It is deemed doubtful that any pool that would be binding can be made by those here representing the mills.

This statement shows that the receipts since Sept. 1 up to to-night are now 341,733 bales less than they were to the same day of the month in 1898 and 1,424,368 bales greater than they were to the same day of the month in 1897. We add to the table the percentages of total port receipts which had been received to April 21 in each of the years named.

EXPORTS OF COTTON GOODS FROM GREAT BRITAIN.—Below we give the exports of cotton yarn, goods, &c., from Great Britain for the month of March and since October 1 in 1898-99 and 1897-98, as compiled by us from the British Board of Trade returns. It will be noticed that we have reduced the movement all to pounds.

The foregoing shows that there has been exported from the United Kingdom during the six months 663,301,000 lbs. of manufactured cotton, against 659,869,000 lbs. last year, or an increase of 3,432,000 lbs.

A further matter of interest is the destination of these exports, and we have therefore prepared the following statements, showing the amounts taken by the principal countries during March and since October 1 in each of the last three years:

A considerable portion of the Sea Island cotton shipped to foreign ports goes via New York, and some small amounts via Boston and Baltimore. Instead of including this cotton for the week in which it leaves the Southern outports, we follow the same plan as in our regular table of including it when actually exported from New York, &c. The details of the shipments of Sea Island cotton for the week will be found under the head "Shipping News," on a subsequent page.

Charleston, Carolinas, medium fine, 13c.; fine, 30c.; fully fine, 22 to 25c.; extra fine, 40 to 50c.

GOVERNMENT WEEKLY COTTON REPORT.—Mr. James Berry, Chief of the Climate and Crop Bureau of the Agricultural Department, made public on Tuesday the following telegraphic reports on the crops in the Southern States for the week ending April 17.

VIRGINIA.—Week favorable for farm work and crop growth. NORTH CAROLINA.—Extremely favorable week; dry and warm, encouraging active work everywhere; much plowing done; patches of cotton planted in one county only.

SOUTH CAROLINA.—Weather favorable for preparing lands and for growing crops; some cotton planted.

GEORGIA.—Under more seasonable conditions farm work has progressed rapidly; cotton planting being pushed in central and southern counties.

FLORIDA.—Early part week unfavorable, latter part warmer; delinquent rainfall; favorable changes latter part of week; seeding for cotton continues.

ALABAMA.—Very favorable week; much cotton planted in southern and middle counties, and early planted coming up.

MISSISSIPPI.—Favorable for all kinds of farm work; little cotton planted to date, although some is being put in in southern and central counties.

LOUISIANA.—Crop outlook more favorable than at any time since February; cotton planting in progress.

TEXAS.—Warm week, generally favorable for farming operations, which are behind; excellent rains just as needed in most sections, although insufficient in some localities; cotton planting nearing completion in southern portion and crop coming up to good stands; planting well under way in northern portion and early-planted coming up in central portion.

ARKANSAS.—Weather conditions favorable for farm work; plowing and planting progressing; preparations for cotton planting progressing, but little has been planted, and in some sections none.

KENTUCKY.—Favorable temperature and sunshine; rapid progress in farm work, but drying winds hardened the soil, causing it to break up badly; some cotton planted in western section.

OKLAHOMA.—Cotton planting just begun.

MISSOURI.—Week exceptionally favorable for farm work.

These reports on cotton are summarized by the Department as follows:

The week has been by far the most favorable of the season, and rapid progress has been made with farming operations, which have been much delayed as a result of the unusually backward season. A little cotton has been planted over the northern portion of the cotton belt; over the southern and central portions planting has been vigorously pushed during the week, and the early-planted is coming up over the southern portion of the East Gulf States. In Southern Texas cotton planting is nearing completion and good stands are reported; the early-planted is coming up in Central Texas, and planting is well advanced in the northern part of the State.

BREADSTUFFS.

There has been a firmer market for wheat flour, sellers holding for higher prices owing to an advance in the values for the grain. At the increased costs, however, the volume of business transacted has been of only very moderate proportions, as buyers as a rule have been disposed to confine their purchases to immediate wants. In a few instances there have been some sellers who have quietly shaded asked prices to effect sales. Exporters have shown little disposition to trade, as they have few orders. City mills have had a limited sale at slightly higher prices. Rye flour has been quiet but steady. Corn meal has had only a moderate sale prices have been well maintained.

Speculation in wheat for future delivery has been fairly active at advancing prices, particularly for the distant deliveries. The strengthening feature has been numerous; reports received from the winter-wheat belt stating that considerable damage had been done to the crop by the severe weather experienced early in the spring. At the higher prices, however, there has been free selling by outside longs to realize profits, and this has had a tendency to hold the demand in check to some extent. Weather conditions latterly have been favorable, and the fact that within the past week good progress has been made in the preparations for the spring wheat crop also has had its influence in holding the upward tendency to values in check. Foreign markets have been slow to respond to the advance in prices, and exporters have been slow to make purchases of actual wheat other than for opening of navigation on the cut freight rates. To-day there was a fairly active market. Early in the day the tone held steady, but toward the close, under realizing sales, prices declined, and the close showed prices  $\frac{1}{4}$  to  $\frac{1}{2}$  lower for the day. The spot market has been active at lower prices. Exporters have been free buyers. The sales reported here and at outports were 960,000 bushels, of which about one-half were confirmed.

Indian corn futures have been quiet, but there has been a fractional advance in prices. Early in the week a large decrease in the supply in sight, a light movement of the crop and a good export inquiry stimulated something of a demand from shorts to cover contracts. Subsequently, however, increased pressure by recent buyers to sell, prompted by the talk of an increase in the acreage for the new crop, had a weakening influence, and most of the improvement was lost. Business in the spot market has been active at slightly higher prices. Exporters have been good buyers. To-day the market was quiet and prices weakened slightly. The spot market was active, as exporters continued buyers. Sales here and at outports were 750,000 bushels.

Oats for future delivery at the Western market have been only moderately active. Early in the week, on a light crop movement, a small decrease in the supply in sight and sympathy with the rise in other grains, prices advanced slightly. Subsequently, however, following the reaction in corn, the improvement in prices was lost. Business in the spot market has been more active at steady prices. Exporters have been fair buyers. To-day the market was quiet but steady. The spot market was moderately active at unchanged prices. No export sales were reported.

GOVERNMENT WEEKLY GRAIN REPORT.—Mr. James Berry, Chief of the Climate and Crop Bureau of the Agricultural Department, made public on Tuesday the telegraphic reports on the grain crops in the various States for the week ending April 17, summarizing them as follows:

Corn planting is nearly completed in the Gulf States, including Arkansas, and is in progress in the central portions of Missouri and Kansas. East of the Mississippi River practically no corn has been planted north of Tennessee and North Carolina. In Georgia and Texas much replanting has been necessary, while over the central portion of the Gulf States the stands are generally reported good.

The reports generally indicate quite a decided improvement in winter wheat as compared with the unfavorable conditions reported at the close of the previous week in the principal winter-wheat States east of the Rocky Mountains. Good growth is also reported in Oregon and the prospect of a heavy crop in California continues excellent, while the outlook in Washington remains unfavorable, owing to continued cold and wet weather.

Rapid progress has been made with the seeding of spring wheat, which is now well advanced over the southern portion of the spring-wheat region, a little having been sown as far north as North Dakota.

Oat seeding, which up to the close of the previous week was confined to the States south of the Ohio and Missouri rivers, is now well advanced in Illinois, and is in progress in Indiana and the Middle Atlantic States. A general improvement in the condition of oats in the Southern States is reported.

The movement of breadstuffs to market as indicated in the statements below is prepared by us from the figures collected by the New York Produce Exchange. The receipts at Western lake and river ports for the week ending Apr. 15, and since Aug. 1, for each of the last three years, have been:

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

NEW YORK, FRIDAY, P. M., April 21, 1899

The general run of business in the market showed no change of any moment until near the close of the week, when there was an upward movement in the bleached cottons division. Coming after several weeks of quiet and indifferent demand, this action on the part of sellers was a surprise to the trade, and its effect upon general sentiment has been quite noticeable. It has corrected certain irregularities in prices which have recently developed and encouraged sellers to take a more favorable view of the outlook. The weather has improved of late, and the effect is seen in some increase in the volume of business passing with jobbers and retailers, and there should be a good supplementary business coming forward for the balance of the season. In the woolen goods division the demand has been uniformly quiet. Silks strong, with upward tendency. Collections are satisfactory.

WOOLEN GOODS.—The demand for men's wear heavy-weight woollens and worsteds has not expanded to any material extent during the past week, and the aggregate volume of business doing is still unsatisfactory, particularly in fancy lines of woollens. Serges are as a rule well situated in both heavy and light-weights, and the latter have a hardening tendency for quick deliveries. Clay worsteds in generally fair shape. There has been no quotable change in prices, but fancy heavy-weights are somewhat irregular. Business in overcoatings is moderate at unchanged prices. Cloakings generally firm. Dress goods have ruled steady, but the demand shows a falling off. Flannels and blankets in moderate request at firm prices.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The exports of cotton goods from this port for the week ending April 17 were 12,597 packages, valued at $423,380, their destination being to the points specified in the tables below:

(long price) and of Fruit of the Loom  $\frac{1}{4}$  c. to 6 $\frac{1}{4}$  c. net, and the tone of the market is decidedly firmer for other lines of bleached cottons. In brown sheeting and drills the home demand has been limited, but there is a noticeable increase in the inquiries on export account for heavy-weights. Prices generally well maintained. Wide sheetings, cotton flannels and blankets and quilts quietly steady. Denims in light supply and firm. Ticks also firm, and other coarse, colored cottons quiet but steady at previous prices. Kid-finished cambrics and cotton linings generally are in quiet demand in a steady market. Prints steady in both fancy and staple lines, and moderate business passing. Alabama.—Extra Session of Legislature.—The Governor on April 20, 1899, issued a call for an extra session of the Legislature for the purpose of repealing the Constitutional Convention Act passed by the last Legislature.

Arkansas.—Legislature Adjourns.—The Thirty-second General Assembly of this State adjourned on April 19, 1899.

Attica, Kan.—Bonds Compromised.—We take the following dispatch from Attica, dated April 15, 1899, from the Kansas City "Star": "The old sugar mill bond deal has been compromised. An indebtedness of $33,000 has been settled for the sum of $10,000, payable in twenty years, bearing 8% interest for the first ten years, after which time yearly payments of $1,000 will be made. It was proposed for a time to move the town to avoid payment."

Colorado.—Legislature Adjourns.—The Legislature of this State adjourned on April 8, 1899. Among the bills passed during the session were the following: Bill to enable school districts to refund their bonded indebtedness; bill to reduce the legal rate of interest on school, county and municipal warrants from 8 to 6%; bill to enable counties to refund their bonded indebtedness; bill to enable counties to issue bonds in satisfaction of judgments, and a bill to authorize the issuance of bonds by the city of Denver for the erection of an auditorium.

Connecticut.—Savings Bank Investments.—The Senate Committee on Banks has reported the substitute bill regarding the investments by savings banks. The changes made by this bill were noted in the editorial columns of the STATE AND CITY SUPPLEMENT issued last Saturday. It is interesting to note that the bill as reported by the committee retains the State of Kansas amongst the other States, as heretofore. The story that the committee had decided to omit Kansas bonds had, according to the Hartford "Courant," the following basis:

"In the substitute bill (before the Committee on Banks relative to savings bank investments, the present list of Western States, whose bonds are considered worthy, was retained with the exception of Kansas. This caused outside rumors of retaliation on Connecticut insurance companies doing business in Kansas. But the committee only recently noted the dropping of Kansas, has not reported the bill [it has now been reported, as stated above], and does not know but that the name was dropped inadvertently. The bill was drafted by a committee of the savings bank managers and was favored before the committee by several officers of savings banks."

Healdsburg, Cal.—Injunction Dissolved.—On April 8, 1899, Judge Burnett of the Superior Court handed down an opinion in the action of the Healdsburg Electric Lighting Co. against the City of Healdsburg, sustaining the demurrer of the defendant and dissolving the temporary injunction which he granted some time ago restraining the city from issuing the $90,000 5% gold water-works which were sold last August. It is thought this decision will end the litigation.

Illinois.—Legislature Adjourns.—The State Legislature adjourned on April 15, 1899.

Minnesota.—Legislature Adjourns—Bonds Authorized.—The State Legislature adjourned on April 18, 1899. Among the bills passed during the session may be mentioned the following: Senate bill No. 609, authorizing the city of Minneapolis to issue certificates of indebtedness sufficient to complete the construction of the city hall and court house; Senate bill No. 321, authorizing cities of more than 50,000 inhabitants to issue bonds to fund their floating indebtedness; Senate bill No. 662, authorizing cities of more than 50,000 inhabitants to issue certificates of indebtedness in anticipation of the collection of taxes; Senate bill No. 304 permits the issuance of bonds by the Board of Education of any independent school district for the purchase of a site and the erection thereon of a school house; Senate bill No. 390 permits the issuance of bonds for building and enlarging school houses; House bill No. 22 authorizes cities of less than 10,000 population to issue certificates of indebtedness for the purpose of re-building bridges which have been destroyed;

Senate bill No. 313 provides for road bonds in any township. The Legislature also passed Senate bill No. 111, authorizing the State Capitol Commission to issue certificates of indebtedness in anticipation of the tax levy.

Interest Rate Reduced.—Senate bill No. 17 reduces the legal rate of interest from 7% to 6%, and leaves the contract rate at 10%.

Nebraska.—Bill Regarding Interest Rate on Bond Issues and Warrants Signed.—The Governor has signed House bill No. 55, fixing the rate of interest of city, county, township or district warrants at 7%, State warrants at 4% and bonds of counties and lesser municipal sub-divisions at 6%.

A Senate bill fixing the interest at lower rates than the above was defeated in the House, as stated in the CHRONICLE March 4, 1899.

Authority to Issue Bonds.—Senate bill No. 20 has also received the official sanction of the Governor. This bill empowers cities of the second class, villages and counties to issue bonds to refund valid outstanding bonds issued pursuant to the votes of the electors. Senate bill 120, also signed by the Governor, authorizes cities of the second class to vote bonds for the purchase and improvement of parks.

New York City.—Legislature Passes Hempstead Bill Over Mayor's Veto.—The State Legislature has passed over Mayor Van Wyck's veto the bill taking from the Greater New York certain territory and annexing it to the town of Hempstead, Nassau County. See CHRONICLE April 8, 1899.

Pennsylvania.—Legislature Adjourns.—On April 20, 1899, the legislative session of 1899 adjourned sine die shortly after 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Spokane, Wash.—Election to Vote on City Charter Amendments.—On May 2, 1899, the voters of this city will vote on the question of amending several of the sections of the city charter. One of the sections (No. 161) is amended to read as follows, subject, of course, to the approval of the voters at the election:

To secure any existing indebtedness of the city, or any indebtedness about to be incurred, the city may by ordinance authorize the issuance of bonds of the city therefor and pledge the faith and property of the city for the payment of such bonds and direct the time and manner of the payment of both principal and interest thereon, and may, from time to time, authorize the refunding of any indebtedness of the city.

Said bonds shall not be sold unless they have been advertised for sale at least sixty days, and in no event shall said bonds be sold or negotiated at less than par and accrued interest.

Tennessee.—School Bond Bill.—A bill recently introduced in the Senate authorizes incorporated Boards of Education in taxing districts of 60,000 or more inhabitants to issue bonds for school purposes.

Texas.—Bond Legislation.—A bill has passed both houses of the Texas Legislature requiring all original bond issues, both city and county, to be submitted to a vote of the people of the municipality issuing the bonds.

County School Fund Investments.—The State Senate has passed Davidson's bill authorizing the several counties in this State to invest the permanent school fund belonging to such counties in their own bonds and to use the proceeds thereof for general purposes and to make the county liable for such investments.

Permanent School Fund Investments.—The Legislature has passed the bill enlarging the power and authority of the State Board of Education. As stated in the CHRONICLE of March 18, 1899, this bill permits the board to invest the permanent school fund in city bonds in addition to United States, State and county bonds heretofore permitted. The board is also authorized to purchase, in its discretion, bonds bearing as low a rate of interest as 3%, whereas the minimum rate before was 5%. This will practically shut out all outside investors in these securities.

Wilkes County, N. C.—Bonds Valid.—On April 13, 1899, the United States Circuit Court held that the $100,000 bonds issued in aid of the Northwestern North Carolina Railroad were a legal obligation of the county. As was stated in the CHRONICLE Nov. 26, 1898, the State supreme Court held that the bonds were invalid, on the ground that the Act authorizing the issue was not passed in accordance with the mandatory provisions of the Constitution.

Windsor, N. Y.—Bill Legalizing Bonds Signed.—The Governor has signed a bill legalizing the issuance of the $20,000 3½% water bonds sold March 6, 1899, to R. B. Smith & Co., New York City, at 103-60.

by a certified check, payable to the City Treasurer, for 2% of the amount bid for.

The official notice of this bond offering will be found among the advertisements elsewhere in this Department.

Punxsutawney, Pa.—Bonds Proposed.—This borough will shortly issue $8,000 bonds for the paving of Mahanoy Street. The borough has also under consideration the issuance of bonds for a water-works system, but we are advised nothing has as yet been fully decided upon in the matter.

St. Joseph (Mo.) School District.—Bond Election.—On April 20, 1899, this district will vote upon the question of issuing $50,000 4% school bonds. St. Louis, Mo.—Bonds Proposed.—Concurrent resolutions to provide for constitutional amendments authorizing an appropriation of $1,000,000 for a State Exhibit at the World's Fair and giving the city of St. Louis the power to increase its bonded indebtedness $5,000,000, which is to be turned into the World's Fair fund, were introduced in both Houses of Legislature at Jefferson City on April 14, 1899.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—Bond Election Probably Illegal.—We are advised by the Town Clerk that the election held on March 7, 1899, to vote on the question of issuing $10,000 water-works and sewer bonds will probably be declared illegal for reasons not stated.

Salem, Ore.—Election Illegal.—It is stated in local papers that the election which was held on March 30, 1899, to vote on the question of issuing $90,000 4% funding bonds was invalid. These bonds were provided for in the new city charter granted by the State Legislature in February. It was thought, according to the Portland "Oregonian," that Section 78 of the city charter, which reads, "This Act shall be in force from and after its approval by the Governor," implied that the bill went into effect immediately, but such, under the provisions of Section 28, Article 4 of the Constitution, is now stated not to be the case, as has been held in several decisions of the Supreme Court. The section referred to says with regard to bills passed by the Legislature: "No Act shall take effect until 90 days from the end of the session at which the same shall have been passed, except in case of emergency; which emergency shall be declared in the preamble or body of the law."

As it is not expressly declared in the charter that an emergency exists, the only statement being that it shall be in force after its approval, the bill will not go into effect, it is stated, until about the middle of May, and therefore another election will have to be held to authorize the bonds.

San Francisco, Cal.—Bond Election Proposed.—It is probable that this city will vote in July on the question of issuing bonds to the amount of from three to five millions for parks, sewers and school houses.

Scarsdale, N. Y.—Bond Offering.—Proposals will be received until April 26, 1899, by this town for $35,000 3% highway improvement bonds. Securities will be in denomination of $1,000; interest will be payable at the Central Bank of Westchester County, White Plains, N. Y. Principal will mature part yearly from 1910 to 1930.

Schenectady, N. Y.—Bond Offering.—Proposals will be received until 11 A. M. April 20, 1899, by J. H. Bernardi, City Treasurer, for $18,000 4% registered school bonds. Securities will be in denomination of $1,000, dated April 1, 1899; interest will be payable April 1 and October 1 at the office of the City Treasurer. Principal will mature as follows: $3,000 on April 1, 1920, and $5,000 on April 1 in the years 1921, 1922 and 1923. Bonds are issued in conformity with a resolution of the Common Council adopted on the 14th of March, 1899. Proposals must be accompanied by 10% of the amount bid for.

Scott County, Ky.—Bond Offering.—According to local papers the Fiscal Court of this county will sell on June 3, 1899, $100,000 4% refunding railroad-aid bonds.

Sea Cliff, Nassau County, N. Y.—Bond Offering.—Proposals will be received until 1 P. M. May 2, 1899, by Samuel C. Ransom, Village Clerk, for $8,000 gold sidewalk bonds and $4,000 gold paving bonds. Interest (to be named by bidders) will be payable February 1 and August 1. Principal will mature, one bond of each series yearly, beginning February 1, 1900. A certified check for $500, payable to Henry C. Smith, Treasurer, must accompany proposals.

District of Columbia (including the late corporation of Washington).

On July 1, 1873, the duties of the Sinking Fund Commissioners of the District of Columbia were transferred to the Treasurer of the United States, and since that date Congress has appropriated annually a sum sufficient to pay not only the interest on the District's bonds but also, it is believed, sufficient to extinguish the entire debt of the District upon the maturity of the 3-65 per cent loan, in 1924. Bonds are tax exempt.

In the water district, which includes about one-half the city, the water tax (per $1,000) is $50.00. Property is assessed at "about 25 per cent of its actual value."

POPULATION in 1890 was 22,565; in 1880 it was 19,450; in 1899 (estimated), 30,000.

The full details of clearings for the week covered by the above statement will be given next Saturday. We cannot, of course, furnish them to-day, bank clearings being made up by the various clearing houses at noon on Saturday, and hence in the above the last twenty-four hours of the week have to be in all cases estimated, as we go to press Friday night.

We present below our usual detailed figures for the previous week, covering the returns for the period ending with Saturday noon, April 23, and the results for the corresponding week in 1898, 1897 and 1896 are also given. In comparison with the preceding week there is a decrease in the aggregate exchanges of one hundred and thirty-nine million dollars, the loss at New York being one hundred and twenty-two millions. Contrasted with the week of 1898 the total for the whole country shows an increase of 75.3 per cent. Compared with the week of 1897 the current returns record a gain of 101.3 per cent, and the excess over 1896 is 95.6 per cent. Outside of New York the increase over 1898 is 32.5 per cent. The excess over 1897 reaches 148.1 per cent, and making comparison with 1896 the gain is seen to be 49.7 per cent.

THE INVESTORS' SUPPLEMENT.

The usual quarterly number of our INVESTORS' SUPPLEMENT is issued to day, and is sent to all our subscribers. The SUPPLEMENT contains editorial articles on the following topics.

PER DIEM CAR SERVICE.

DEVELOPMENT OF STEEL RAILS.

COMPOUND LOCOMOTIVES.

STANDARD CODE OF TRAIN RULES.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

Continued irregularity but an uninterrupted development of strength would seem to describe as nearly as may be our stock market the past week. The favorable influences that have been operating are bright and seasonable weather, better reports respecting the condition of winter wheat, excellent progress making in planting other crops, larger railroad gross earnings than were generally anticipated for this season of the year, an easier money market both present and prospective, favorable news from the Philippines, and the generally buoyant feeling which lends color and confidence to every promising suggestion about almost any property that gets a footing on the Exchange. Many leading railroad stocks have advanced and some of the more prominent industrials also, but the most conspicuous movement has been in copper and copper stocks, especially Anaconda Mining stock. Various rumors have at the same time prevailed with reference to combinations and consolidations of the chief copper properties of the country for the purpose of further advancing the price of that metal.

These rumors changed to facts Friday morning, when the announcement was made of a New Jersey corporation just formed for mining, milling, converting, smelting, etc., of copper, silver, zinc, brass, iron and steel. At the same time the names of the officers and directors were given, showing a strong and highly influential organization, not only as regards capital but likewise business capacity and experience. It is said that the organization will at the start control nine copper-mining companies. Judging from the most conspicuous names connected with the combination, we should say that the public had full guaranty that its aim will not be to sit down on and corner copper and so advance price, but that its policy will be distinguished as enterprising and broad, making money by increasing production and affording the metal to consumers at as low a price as it will pay to mine it. The new company enters upon its work with current market conditions of a character in control quite the opposite of what we have described. As a result consumption has of late decreased and the trade in copper and its allied industries has been unsettled and disorganized. We look for a change to a wiser and more liberal policy—one that makes money by developing industries, not by crippling them.

Widening the field for the investment of savings banks' deposits, so as to include the bonds of a larger number of railroads than heretofore allowed, is a highly important feature of the legislation of several States this year. In an editorial in our STATE AND CITY SUPPLEMENT issued on the 15th of the current month we showed what in that respect was in prospect. None of the legislation had been completed at the time we wrote that article. Since then the new provisions have passed the legislatures of New York and Massachusetts and have been reported by the Committee in Connecticut; that State has not yet taken final action on the proposals pending in its legislature; it will, we are informed, do so shortly. But with or without that State the change in the situation as affecting investments is of decided consequence. We do not refer so much to the influence the laws will have on savings banks, but more to their influence in imparting added stability to the value of many of our first-class railroad bonds, which, through these laws, have been opened, and in the case of Connecticut are about to be opened, to a steady demand for investment on the part of the savings banks located in the three States named. The deposits in New York savings institutions amounted on January 1 1899 to $816,144,367, in Massachusetts to $488,642,923 and in Connecticut to $163,482,498. Hereafter 20 per cent of the deposits of the New York banks and an unlimited amount of the deposits of the Massachusetts savings institutions, and probably the same of Connecticut, may be invested in the bonds named. This will not only operate to enhance the market value of the bonds included, as it already has this week begun to do, but will tend decidedly to keep that price stable even in times of depression. We cannot take the space to specify here the details of these enactments. It is not necessary, as all three of the laws will be found to-day on page 803.

Another important railroad company has taken the conservative step of providing for maturing bonds by the issue of new stock. The Central of New Jersey has \$4,444,000 of bonds outstanding which fall due the present year. These bonds nearly all bear 7 per cent interest, and of course they could be refunded at a much lower interest rate, as the company's 5 per cent general mortgage bonds sell at a premium of 19 per cent on the Stock Exchange. But it has been decided to retire the whole amount, and to raise the necessary funds for that purpose by the issue of new stock at par to the shareholders. The company's share capital now is \$22,519,000. It is proposed to increase this by \$4,503,800, so as to give shareholders exactly one share of new stock for every five shares now held. This will raise the total of the stock to \$27,022,800. Through the retirement of the bonds referred to the annual fixed charges will be reduced in the sum of \$306,970. Dividends on the stock at present are only 4 per cent per annum, and on that basis the requirement for dividends on the \$4,503,800 of new stock would be but \$180,152 per annum. In other words, by the arrangement proposed the fixed charges ahead of the stock will be cut down by a substantial sum, while at the same time the call for dividends and charges combined will be \$126,000 less than at present. But the stockholders get a further advantage in being allowed to take the new stock at par, when the shares are selling in the market at 120. The money value of this privilege is easy of ascertainment. It is equal to nearly  $2\frac{1}{2}$  per cent on the existing holdings of stock—that is, besides receiving 4 per cent in cash, stockholders get  $2\frac{1}{2}$  per cent more in the shape of the privilege referred to.

While speaking with reference to the Central of New Jersey, it seems important to point out that th long-expected improvement in the earnings of the anthracite coal companies appears at last to have arrived. At least the returns of several of these companies for the month of March, received the present week, are strikingly favorable. The Central of New Jersey itself furnishes the most conspicuous instance of such improvement. Its statement for the month of March shows gross of $1,247,500 the present year, against only $883,643 in the same month last year, and net of $495,707 against $228,651. The increase in this last instance, it will be observed, is over 100 per cent. Nor does the New Jersey Central stand alone in these respects. The New York Ontario & Western for the same month reports gross of $402,018 in 1899, against only $308,489 for March 1898, and net of $142,005, against $84,592, the latter an increase of over 65 per cent. We also have the return of the New York Susquehanna & Western, showing gross of $203,877, against $158,480, and net of $90,262, against $61,258. The Reading, on the other hand, has not fared so well, and yet the company evidently did a greatly enlarged business, only expenses were added to in considerable amounts. For the Railroad Company there is an increase of $145,988 in gross, but an increase of only $1,817 in net. The Coal & Iron Company reports a loss from operations of $6,424, against a loss in the corresponding month of 1898 of $20,445, but in this case gross receipts increased no less than $656,374. The profit in the anthracite business comes not from the mining of coal, but from its transportation. The fact, hence, that the gross receipts of the Coal company increased so heavily without a corresponding expansion in the revenues of the Railroad company, would seem to indicate that the sales of coal must have been from stock. If this supposition is correct then there seems to be a prospect of a considerable addition to the revenues of the Railroad in the immediate future.

The report of the General Electric Company has been issued this week, and is published at length on subsequent pages. It attracts attention by reason of the complete transformation that has been effected in the condition of the company. Not only is it enjoying great prosperity, it having the past year done the largest volume of business in its history, but by reason of the reduction in the amount of its stock and the wiping out of the profit and loss deficiency of previous years the financial status of the company has been entirely changed. The amount of the stock (common and preferred) has been cut from $34,712,000 to $20,827,200, being a reduction of $13,884,800. This is more than the amount of the profit and loss deficiency, which was reported January 31 1898 only $11,725,561. But as an additional step in the management's radical and comprehensive plans of revision, patent account was cut precisely in two, involving the further elimination of $4,000,000. The total shortage to be provided for, therefore, was $15,725,561—that is, $11,725,561 plus $4,000,000. The reduction in the share capital extinguished $13,884,800 of this and the other $1,840,761 was met out of the year's current profits. Moreover the company also paid or charged off against the year's surplus all the old accrued dividends on the preferred stock, amounting to $1,526,914. At the same time all the accounts are stated in the most conservative manner. To mention only one instance, additions to factory plants costing $897,739 were made during the late year without the addition of a single dollar to the book value of these plants—that is the cost of these additions was paid for out of, and charged directly against, earnings. Because of the many exceptional items entering into the year's results and covering past transactions, the extent of the company's earnings for the twelve months is in a measure hidden. After charging in full for the additions to factory plant already mentioned, and after making other charges for various similar improvements, net profits still aggregate $3,896,884. Interest on the debentures called for only $290,000, leaving $3,606,884. This latter is equal to over 17 per cent on the aggregate of common and preferred stock as it now stands after the reduction made last year.

The Pennsylvania Railroad earnings return for the month of March reflects comparatively moderate changes, but the important fact is that they are all in the direction of improved results. On the lines east of Pittsburg and Erie there is an increase of $382,600 in gross and of $1,800 in net, and on the lines west of Pittsburg and Erie an increase of $267,700 in gross, with $155,900 increase in net. On the combined lines, therefore, there is $650,300 improvement in gross and $157,900 improvement in net. Considering that this follows $890,400 gain in gross and $428,300 gain in net last year, the showing must evidently be regarded as very satisfactory. We furnish herewith a comparison for the Eastern lines for the last six years.

Mr. O. P. Austin, Chief of the Bureau of Statistics at Washington, has this week made a very gratifying departure from methods previously followed in that Bureau. For the purpose of placing before those interested, as promptly as possible, the details of the month's commerce, he has inaugurated the plan of issuing advance sheets from the Monthly Summaries of Commerce and Finance. In this way the important facts relating to each month's commerce are available several days earlier than heretofore. From the advance sheets for March we have extracted the following interesting exhibit of our exports for that month for both 1899 and 1898 and for the nine months ending March 31 in each of the last two fiscal years.

This compilation furnishes clear evidence of the very satisfactory position of our foreign trade. Notwithstanding the considerable decline from March 1898 in the value of exports of agricultural products—approximately eighteen million dollars, largely due to a falling off in price—the aggregate domestic exports for March 1899 were only $8,584,903 less than a year ago, all other items showing gains. It is especially gratifying that manufactures furnish nearly eight millions of the increase contributed by products other than agricultural. For the nine months of 1898-99, while there was a decline of 22 millions in agricultural commodities, the gain in manufactured products was 34 millions, notwithstanding the exports of manufactures in 1897-98 were the largest up to that date in the Government record. By going back a few years the developing character of this movement is even better realized. In six years, i. e. since 1893, the increase in the exports of manufactures has been over 100 per cent, and as late as 1895 the figures for the nine months were only 132 millions.

The market for money, not only on call but on time, has been distinctly easier this week. Money on call, representing bankers' balances, has loaned at 3 per cent and at 6 per cent at the Stock Exchange during the week, averaging about 4 per cent. On Monday loans were made at 3 per cent and at 5 per cent, with the majority at 4@4½ per cent. On Tuesday the range was from 3 per cent to 4½ per cent, with the bulk of the business at 4 per cent. On Wednesday loans were at 3 per cent and at 5 per cent, with the majority of the transactions at 4 per cent. On Thursday the range was from 3 per cent to 6 per cent, though the higher rate was only momentarily recorded, and the bulk of the business was at 4@4½ per cent; on Friday loans were made at 3½ per cent and at 6 per cent, with the bulk of the business at 4½ per cent, the market being affected by calling in of loans incident to the close of the month. Banks and trust companies early in the week quoted 4 per cent as the minimum, but after Wednesday these loans were quite generally marked down to 3½ per cent, though some institutions maintained the 4 per cent rate. Time contracts on good mixed Stock Exchange collateral have been freely offered this week at 3 per cent for sixty days, 3½ for ninety days to four months and 3¾@4 per cent for five to six months. Comparatively large blocks have been offered by institutions on exceptionally good collateral at 3½ per cent for six to eight months. One transaction by a leading bank was a four-months' loan at 4 per cent, discounted, on 20 per cent good industrial stock and the remainder first-class railroad property, the whole loan having a margin of 25 per cent, and this bank has placed about $1,000,000 during the week at the same rate for four months on collateral of a similar character. Commercial paper is more freely offered, but the demand is sufficiently urgent to absorb all offerings, and consequently there is no accumulation of names. The inquiry is good from city buyers and comparatively urgent from the interior. Rates are 3½ per cent for sixty to ninety day endorsed bills receivable, 3¾@4½ per cent for prime and 4½@5½ per cent for good four to six months' single names.

The European political situation remains without change, and about the only important feature in the financial situation has been a continued active speculation in copper at London and at Paris and an advance in silver at the first-named centre. The Bank of England minimum rate of discount remains unchanged at 3 per cent. The cable reports discounts of sixty to ninety-day bank bills in London 2½ per cent. The open market rate at Paris is 2½ per cent, and at Berlin and Frankfurt it is 3½@3¾ per cent. According to our special cable from London, the Bank of England gained £291,659 bullion during the week and held £31,271,923 at the close of the week. Our correspondent further advises us that the gain was due to the import of £357,000 (of which £347,000 was bought in the open market and £10,000 imported from Australia) to the export of £5,000 to India and £60,000 net sent to the interior of Great Britain.

The foreign exchange market has been strong, influenced by a demand for remittance in excess of the supplies. Some bankers assert that there does not appear to be any particular urgency in the inquiry, it being confined to the usual counter demand. Other bankers, however, note a comparatively large inquiry from sugar and rubber importers and also from dry goods merchants, who are making settlements, and this demand seems to be sufficient to absorb offerings and keep the market quite bare of bills, and consequently rates advance. The supply of commercial drafts against cotton are meagre, while those against grain show some increase this week, but they are held at high prices. The $20,000,000 Philippine indemnity payment has apparently ceased to have any influence upon the market, and an impression seems to prevail that the remittance of this money has already been provided for. New sterling loans are said to have been negotiated this week in moderate amounts against first class Stock Exchange collateral on quite satisfactory terms. Though rates for actual business in sight sterling are within about half a cent of the gold-exporting point, there is no expectation of such an urgent demand for exchange as will force the rate to figures which will make gold exports profitable. It is possible that a part of the inquiry for remittance this week has been due to the purchase in London and Paris of copper stocks; this view seems to find some support in the advance of Continental exchange, and particularly of francs. The arrivals of gold reported at the Custom House this week have been $43,030.

Nominal rates for exchange ranged from 4 85½ to 4 86 for sixty day and from 4 87½ to 4 88 for sight until Thursday when all the bankers quoted the higher figures. Rates for actual business opened on Monday at an advance of one quarter of a cent all around, compared with those at the close on Friday of last week, to 4 85@4 85½ for long, 4 87@4 87½ for short and 4 87½@4 87¾ for cables. The market was strong. On the following day and on Wednesday the tone was steady to firm and business was small and no change was made in quotations. On Thursday, however, the market grew strong again and rates for actual business advanced one quarter of a cent all around, to 4 85½@4 85¾ for long, 4 87½@4 87¾ for short and 4 87¾@4 88 for cables. Compared with the rates ruling April 21, since when there has been a gradual rise, these rates are half a cent higher, and compared with the beginning of the month they are one cent higher for long, three-quarters of a cent higher for short and half a cent higher for cables. The tone was steady on Friday, with rates for actual business 4 85½@4 85¾ for long, 4 87½@4 87¾ for short and 4 87¾@4 88 for cable transfers. Commercial on banks 4 84¾@4 85 and documents for payment 4 84@4 85. Cotton for payment 4 84@4 84½, cotton for acceptance 4 84¾@4 85 and grain for payment 4 84½ @ 85. The following shows daily posted rates for exchange by some of the leading drawers.

THE PROFITABLENESS OF A TUNNEL RAILROAD IN NEW YORK.

There is no more important inquiry before the people of this city to-day than is involved in the question, What are the financial prospects for an underground railroad? Misinformation that leads the public to gross exaggerations of the profitableness of the enterprise is especially harmful. New York greatly needs the road and needs it without unnecessary delay. Hence, the problem is—who shall build it? Shall the city or shall private capital assume the risks? If the latter course is taken, what kind of a charter should the city grant and what returns should it require? In either case, before one can form an intelligent judgment it is necessary to estimate the measure of the risks and the measure of the profit promised.

At this juncture Mr. W. N. Amory, a correspondent of the "Evening Post," an "expert in street railway traffic," as that paper calls him, has produced a statement of what he terms passengers carried for a series of years, which he seems to think relieves the question of the road's profitableness from all uncertainty. Using this compilation he reaches the following conclusions: (1) That the average increase in passengers carried by the street surface and elevated railroads in the boroughs of Manhattan and The Bronx for the last three years has averaged 56,000,000 passengers; (2) "accordingly the only part of the question"—whether rapid transit will pay or not—"difficult to answer is, how many passengers could a rapid transit road expect to carry the first few years of its operation?" (3) such a road—assuming that it were begun this year and completed in three years—"ought to count on having a business the first year at least equal to this increase of travel during the previous three years;" "if such increase is only as much as the increase between 1896 and 1899 (56,000,000 passengers) and it will likely be more, then the company would start business with a total traffic for the first year of more than 168,000,000 passengers;" (5) the "income on 168,000,000 passengers at 5 cent fare would be $8,400,000, operating expenses 50 per cent, $4,200,000, leaving net earnings of $4,200,000, equal to 5 per cent upon $84,000,000 of capital"; (6) subsequent traffic returns would increase so rapidly and yield so large an income on cost of construction that within "a decade or two" there would be "several such rapid transit railways in operation in this city."

The objection to these rose-colored anticipations lies chiefly in the fact that the statement out of which they originate is something quite different from what it is claimed to be. It is assumed that the figures for the last three years indicate just what the earlier figures indicate; whereas the truth is they have in them a new factor—"transfers" that pay nothing additional for the transfer; all of which must be eliminated before the year's total can be put in condition for comparison with the earlier years, or can be made a basis for estimating number of passengers furnishing the revenue for a tunnel road. It is hard to conceive how any one having the capacity to form such a table as the writer has given in his communication should not have been driven to mistrust his calculations by the extraordinary additions to the totals the late years disclose. We cannot make room for the whole of his compilation, but we have made up and give a summary to show the average annual increases for each five-year period except the last three years, the average for which we have stated separately.

Presented in this form the annual variations, so far as they have been produced by temporary causes from year to year, become less prominent and the average natural increases more definite; these latter are found to be quite moderate until we get down to the latest period. Omitting that period for the moment, the extremes of the others are 22,295,984, the yearly average increase for the five years ending with 1890, and 12,584,180 for the five years ending with 1895. Mr. Amory, however, seems to have overlooked these parts of his compilation, and has had regard only to the final three-year period in reaching his conclusions. It will consequently be interesting and needful to determine what is the extent of the error he has worked into his deductions, and how far from the truth he has thus wandered through such a partial method of using his lengthy record—that is, through picking out a period, which on its face appears to serve the end he has in view, and taking no interest in the teaching of former periods. We have prepared the following statement from official sources of the number of transfers which enter into the last two years' statements. Transfers only became a conspicuous feature three years ago. Even for 1896 we are unable to procure the details, as some of the roads did not then keep a record. The two years we give are, however, sufficient for present purposes.

	320,801,300	299,077,462

With the above before us the strained and distorted inference Mr. Amory has drawn from his statistics becomes very obvious. The foregoing analysis shows that he should have deducted 135,882,945 from his 1898 total, 100,358,281 from his 1897 total, and probably 60 or 70 millions from his 1896 total, before those totals could be usable in the way he has attempted to use them. Had he taken that course and eliminated his error, he would have found that the aggregate of individuals the surface roads carried in 1898 was only 320,801,300 and in 1897 was only 299,077,462; adding these figures to the returns of the elevated roads the corrected total for 1898 and a comparison of that year with 1890 would stand as follows.

Surface roads, passengers in 1898.....	320,801,300
Elevated roads, passengers in 1898.....	183,360,846
Total carried in 1898.....	504,162,146
Total carried in 1890.....	408,512,222
Total increase in 8 years.....	95,649,924
Average annual increase .....	11,956,240

Applying the same method to the 1897 figures and comparing the result with the year 1889 (that is 8 years previously) we find the annual average increase for those 8 years 11,614,914. Instead, therefore, of accepting for the last three years of Mr. Amory's table an annual average increase of 56,000,000, which he multiplies by 3 and makes his basis of 168,000,000 passengers, each paying 5 cents fare the first year of the operation of the underground tunnel road—instead of such a method and result, we should have to start with an average annual increase in individuals carried on our surface and elevated roads the last three years of, say, about 12,000,000, making 36,000,000 for the three years, giving a profit and loss statement for the tunnel road which would compare as follows with the corresponding statement in Mr. Amory's letter.

	Mr. Amory.	Corrected.
Aver. annual increase 3 years 1896-1898.	56,000,000	12,000,000

Five per cent on $84,000,000 capital....	4,200,000	4,200,000
Total deficit on first year's operations..		$6,600,000

We have not prepared the "corrected" column as reflecting our own view at all. The revenue and expense of a tunnel road the first year of its operation is a subject with reference to which we have no figures to base any kind of an estimate upon. All that we intend to convey by the column above marked "corrected" is that if Mr. Amory's method of working out a result sheds any light on the subject discussed, the deficit as given in that column represents the state of the accounts at the end of the first year's operations far more accurately than the first column.

GERMAN-AMERICAN RELATIONS.

The diplomatic incident suddenly created last week by the remarks of Captain Coghlan, of the Raleigh, at the Union League Club's dinner, has both its humorous and its serious side. The German Government itself, and especially the German press, appear to have realized that formal inquiry made into the after-dinner exchange of reminiscences at a private clubhouse would be apt to end in some absurdity. Our own State Department, while wholly disavowing the sentiments regarding the German Navy imputed to Captain Coghlan in the newspaper reports, has very positively stated that it does not regard itself as called upon to take formal action on statements made to a private gathering of gentlemen.

As we understand it, the German Government has expressed itself satisfied with this quasi-apology of our State Department. It is exceedingly gratifying to observe, from this week's later cable advices, that the German newspapers are taking a sober and reasonable view of the episode. This seems to us particularly reassuring, because however the foreign officers may smooth over such irritating incidents, mischief will have been done if the sting remains in the public mind; and it depends very largely on the utterances of the press whether this is to happen or not. That Captain Coghlan's references to Admiral von Diederichs and the German Navy might have caused a real outburst of exasperation, may best be judged by reversing the position of the two nations and imagining similar remarks concerning our own navy to have been made by German officers in Berlin and to have been transmitted here by cable. But the really influential press of Germany, after a brief expression of annoyance, have accepted the State Department's action as a friendly and satisfactory solution of the whole matter. What is perhaps even more of an earnest that international good feeling will not be interrupted, is the fact that in their comments of this week on the incident the newspapers of the German cities have frankly acknowledged that the American officers at Manila last summer had ample cause for irritation. The Frankfurter Zeitung, for example, plainly affirmed last Tuesday that the German war-ships in Manila harbor "were very officious at the beginning of hostilities," and that American resentment "was not to be wondered at;" but it reasserts positively that the fault did not lie with the Berlin foreign office. Other newspapers of influence and standing in the German cities go quite as far in admitting provocation, and comment on the Coghlan incident only to pay tribute to the graceful and discreet action of our State Department. This recognition of the facts in the recent friction at Manila appears to us all the more honorable, under the circumstances, since the Manila incident itself had already been smoothed over by the official disavowal by Germany of any sympathy with the actions of Admiral von Diederichs, and by the formal recall of the German fleet from Manila harbor.

The present episode, however, has, as we have said, its serious side, and this fact has been properly recognized, not only by our foreign office but by the Navy Department, which is now reported to have decided on a formal reprimand of Captain Coghlan. In the view of the Government, the circumstances of the remarks by the Captain of the "Raleigh" made it impossible to recognize the officer's indiscretion as a diplomatic incident. It is recognized as a breach of navy discipline; and we trust that this fact will be very forcibly impressed on the rest of our gallant commanders and officers. There is probably no public officer, in these days, whose action and utterances may have more ready influence on international good feeling than the naval commanders. It is through the navies that the different nations come most closely in contact, on the most critical occasions, and usually at the greatest distance from the observation of citizens at home. The public or semi-public representations of the situation by these officers are therefore the surest and quickest means of shaping public opinion. A very long experience has decreed that diplomatic officers at distant posts must exercise the most unflinching tact in their public remarks, even on social occasions. It is quite impossible that a naval commander should be wholly absolved from such restrictions. Officially, he does not of course personify his government as does a minister at a foreign capital. But his influence on the public mind of both nations is much the same; and this after all is the necessary criterion. It is for precisely this reason that we can give no weight whatever to the argument, advanced here and there during the past week, that Captain Coghlan's remarks were merely the utterances of a frank and thoughtless sailor. It is the business of such an officer to see that his utterances on weighty diplomatic topics, in which he happened to be concerned, are not thoughtless. We presume that a denunciation of the French by Sir Herbert Kitchener, during last year's period of tension, might have entailed far more serious international consequences than a similar utterance even by Lord Cromer. A few careless words from Admiral Dewey on the German Navy would have had vastly more immediate effect than anything which could have come from the members of our Philippine Commission. The rule, we think, holds good throughout the service.

Like most incidents of the kind, when properly managed, the recent episode has had its uses. It will fix the rule for our naval officers, in the first place, as it could not easily have been fixed otherwise. Our navy having never before been involved in disputes with first-class Powers at a distance from home, little attention has been paid to this matter of discretion in the public utterances of its officers. It will probably be realized, after this week's events, that our new position in international diplomacy involves new and very delicate responsibilities, extending much wider than the diplomatic service.

But the really new light into which German-American relations have been brought, as a result of this week's international criticism, is a matter of still greater importance. It has seemed to us, from the start, that this question of "German hostility" or "German aggression," as it has been variously described by the sensation-mongers, has been absurdly exaggerated—so absurdly, in fact, that but for the undoubtedly bad impression which such discussion<sup>s</sup> make on the public mind, it would have been wisest to ignore it altogether.

The German press itself, as we have seen, now acknowledges that a mistake was made in making a demonstration of force by the German Navy at Manila. But the mistake, if it be so called, was not altogether unnatural or inexcusable. It was in some ways a sequel to the naval demonstration on the Chinese coast, shortly before, in which nearly all the European Powers participated. That the German Government had to some extent taken the side of Spain in the controversy preliminary to the Cuban war is not improbable, and it would naturally follow that the sympathies of the people and the navy would at least be tinged by knowledge or suspicion of this official attitude. But sober observers owe it to the German Government to recognize that it not only had the right to pass judgment on the merits of the initial quarrel with Spain, but that a good many of our own people, at the time, entertained exactly similar conclusions.

That a neutral State should refrain from interfering after the actual outbreak of hostilities, is one thing; that it should be estopped from expressing sympathy for one or the other of the two contestants before any act of war, is quite another. Nothing, we are happy to say, remains of the ill-feeling which blazed up against France in the early months of the war; indeed, we venture to say that most intelligent Americans will now, in the days of sober second-thought, admit that human nature and the circumstances of the case being what they are, the attitude of the French people last June was entirely excusable. But for the indiscretions of a German naval commander, formally disavowed since then by his Government, we imagine that a similarly indulgent view would now be taken by our people regarding Germany. It is this fact, we think, which rendered Captain Coghlan's utterances a very proper subject for rebuke. It is this fact, also, which makes us believe that this week's later international incidents may serve to remove the last vestige of bad feeling.

The truth is, the idea of a diplomatic collision between the United States and Germany has been absurd from the start—a notion developed from slight misunderstandings by excited and feverish imaginations. There is no cause of friction between ourselves and Germany in the colonial field; even in Samoa, as we have lately seen, a situation with apparently serious possibilities is in process of adjustment with the utmost courtesy and good feeling. There is no long-standing international grudge, as there has been between Germany and France. If our two nations are rivals in the field of international commerce, the rivalry is far less keen than that between the United States and the nation now universally recognized as our strongest friend among the foreign Powers. We trust that the time is not far distant, now that our people have tasted the pleasures of international prestige, when it may learn to value the more highly, for that very reason, international friendship.

LOCAL POLICE POWERS AS AFFECTING THE RUNNING OF THROUGH TRAINS.

To railroads engaged in inter-State commerce it is a matter of great importance whether in the exercise of the so-called police powers, which are inherent in the States, a State can impose regulations or restrictions whose effect is to interfere with the satisfactory running of through trains. Thus the requirements of modern society and business make fast passenger and mail trains between leading cities imperative. In their course these trains obviously must pass through a good many local points. Can the authorities at these points invoke the aid of a State statute and compel the stoppage of the trains at such points for the taking on or letting off of passengers. We all know that every village and town aspires to the dignity of a great emporium of trade, and would like to have all the facilities and conveniences enjoyed by the largest trade centre; but it is easy to see that if trains are required to stop at every little place on the route, the making of fast time and the rendering of expeditious service on through trains would be out of the question. It has hitherto been supposed that the attempted enforcement of a policy of this kind would be held invalid as an unlawful restraint upon inter-State commerce and therefore repugnant to the Federal Constitution. The United States Supreme Court, however, is authority for the opposite doctrine.

In Ohio there is a State statute requiring that every road shall cause three of its regular trains, each way, carrying passengers, if so many are run daily, to stop at a station, city or village containing over three thousand inhabitants. The Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Railway in running fast mail and limited express trains between Buffalo and Chicago, through Ohio, paid no heed to this statute. Accordingly one Lawrence, a resident of West Cleveland, which is a village having more than 3,000 inhabitants, made complaint before a justice of the peace, and thereupon an action was brought in the name of the State for the recovery of the penalty for violation, as provided in the statute. It appears that the number of villages in Ohio containing 3,000 inhabitants through which the Lake Shore trains pass is thirteen, and that the average time required to stop a train of cars, and receive and let off passengers, is three minutes, so that the total detention would be 39 minutes. The trial court gave judgment against the Lake Shore Company, holding as a conclusion of law that within the meaning of the United States Constitution the statute was not a regulation of commerce among the States and was valid until Congress acted upon the subject. This general view was affirmed by the Circuit Court of Cuyahoga County and later by the Supreme Court of Ohio. The United States Supreme Court has now given the final stamp of approval to that doctrine, though by an almost evenly divided Court, Justices Shiras, Brewer, White and Peckham all dissenting.

Speaking by Justice Harlan the Court decides (1) that the power of the States to regulate matters of internal police within their limits applies not only to the health, morals and safety of the public, but also to whatever promotes the public peace, comfort and convenience. The Court decides furthermore (2) that the Ohio statute above referred to is a valid exercise of the police power, and applies to an inter-State road incorporated by and operating through such State, the Federal Government not having taken any affirmative action on the subject under its powers to regulate inter-State commerce. The Court also holds (3) that the Ohio Act is not inconsistent with Section 5258 of the Revised Statutes of the United States authorizing every railroad company to carry over its road, etc., all passengers, troops, Government supplies, mails, freight and property on their way from one State to another, and to connect with roads of other States, so as to form continuous lines for transportation to the place of destination. The Court says the section referred to was not intended to interfere with the State's authority to enact regulations designed to subserve public convenience, which only incidentally or remotely affect inter-State commerce and are not in themselves regulations thereof.

It had not been contended in the arguments that the Ohio statute was in conflict with the Constitutional prohibition when applied to railroad trains carrying passengers between points wholly within the State of Ohio. But it was insisted that to require railroad companies, even those organized under the laws of Ohio [the Lake Shore is an Ohio corporation], to stop their trains or any of them carrying inter-State passengers at a particular place or places in the State, so directly affects commerce among the States as to bring the statute, whether Congress has acted or not on the same subject, into conflict with the grant in the Constitution of power to regulate such commerce. In other words, it was argued that a State regulation which to any extent interrupts the absolute continuous freedom of inter-State commerce is forbidden by the Constitution, although Congress has not legislated upon the particular subject covered by the State enactment. The U. S. Supreme Court refuses to give sanction to this view. Under such a construction, it says, it would be difficult to sustain the numerous judgments of the Court in the past upholding local regulations which in some degree, or only incidentally, affect commerce among the States, but, which were adjudged not to be in themselves regulations of inter-State commerce but within the police powers of the States, and to be respected so long as Congress did not itself cover the subject by legislation.

After reviewing a long line of previous decisions, and noting the points and bearing of each, Justice Harlan declares that consistently with the doctrines thus announced it cannot be adjudged that the Ohio statute is unconstitutional. The power of the State, by appropriate legislation, to provide for the public convenience, he affirms, stands upon precisely the same ground as its power by appropriate legislation to protect the public health, the public morals or the public safety. Of course the reasonableness or unreasonableness of a State enactment is always an element in the general inquiry by the Court, whether such legislation encroaches upon national authority or is to be deemed a legitimate exercise of the power of the State to protect the public interests or promote the public convenience. Considering all the facts of the case the Court thinks the assumption that the Ohio statute was not directed against inter-State commerce, but is a reasonable provision for the public convenience, is not unwarranted.

Justice Harlan asserts that the requirement that a railroad company whose road is operated within Ohio shall cause three each way of its regular trains carrying passengers (if so many are run daily) to stop at any station, city or village of 3,000 inhabitants, so far from being unreasonable, will greatly subserve the public convenience. The statute, he argues, does not stand in the way of the railroad company running as many trains as it may choose between Chicago and Buffalo, without stopping at intermediate points, or only at very large cities on the route, if the required number of trains stop at places containing 3,000 inhabitants. He notes that the average time required to stop a train and receive and let off passengers is only three minutes, and then declares that the State of Ohio did not endow the Lake Shore with the rights of a corporation for the purpose simply of subserving the convenience of passengers traveling through the State between points outside of its territory. The company accepted its charter subject necessarily to the condition that it would conform to such reasonable regulations as the State might from time to time establish and which were not in violation of the supreme law of the land. Hence in the absence of legislation by Congress it would be going very far, he thinks, to hold that such an enactment as the one before the Court was in itself a regulation of inter-State commerce. It was for the State to take into consideration all the circumstances affecting passenger travel within its limits, and as far as practicable make such regulations as were just to all who might pass over the road. The State was entitled of course to provide for the convenience of persons desiring to travel from one point to another in the State on domestic trains. But it was not bound to ignore the convenience of those who desired to travel from places in the State to places beyond its limits, or the convenience of those outside of the State who wished to come into it. The statute is in aid of inter-State commerce of that character. The State was not compelled to look only to the convenience of those who desired to pass through the State without stopping.

The Court thinks that any other view of the relations between the State and the corporation created by it would mean that the directors of the corporation could manage its affairs solely with reference to the interests of the stockholders, and without taking into consideration the interests of the general public. "It would mean not only that such directors were the exclusive judges of the manner in which the corporation should discharge the duties imposed upon it in the interest of the public, but that the corporation could so regulate the running of its inter State trains as to build up cities and towns at the ends of its line or at favored points, and by that means destroy or retard the growth and prosperity of those at intervening points. It would mean also that, beyond the power of the State to prevent it, the defendant railway company could run all its trains through the State without stopping at any city within its limits, however numerous its population, and could prevent the people along its road within the State who desired to go beyond its limits from using its inter-State trains at all, or only at such points as the company chose to designate. A principle that in its application admits of such results cannot be sanctioned."

By this process of reasoning the Court reaches the conclusion that there is no basis for the contention that the State has invaded the domain of National authority or impaired any right secured by the National Constitution. It is the opinion of the Court that Ohio, by the statute under review, has done nothing more than to so regulate the use of a public highway established and maintained under its authority as will reasonably promote the public convenience. "It has not unreasonably obstructed the freedom of commerce among the States. Its regulations apply equally to domestic and inter-State railroads. Its statute is not directed against inter-State commerce, but only incidentally affects it. It has only forbidden one of its own corporations from discriminating unjustly against a large part of the public for whose convenience that corporation was created and invested with authority to maintain a public highway within the limits of the State."

As already stated, these views are not concurred in by the entire Court. There are two dissenting opinions, the main one by Justice Shiras, to which the other dissentients subscribe, and then some observations by Justice White in which he makes an argument of his own on a separate point. Justice Shiras in his opinion points out that the theory on which through passenger trains are run is necessarily and widely different from that followed in making up ordinary trains to do a wayside business. There must be provision for sleeping at night and for furnishing meals. In order that each and every passenger may receive the accommodation for which he pays, the seats are sold in advance with reference to the number of through passengers. To maintain speed the number of cars in the train must be limited and they are advertised and known as limited trains. A traveler purchasing tickets for such trains has a right to expect that he will be carried to his journey's end in the shortest possible time consistent with safety. The railroad companies compete for business by holding out that they run the fastest trains and those most certain to arrive on time. A company which by its own regulations or under the coercion of a State Legislature stopped its through trains at every village would soon lose its through business to the injury of the company and the detriment of the traveling public. It follows, therefore, that interference with the movements of trains is a serious matter. Moreover, if, as often happens, the through trains are full of through passengers, no advantage to local travel could result, for there would be no room or accommodation for the occasional passengers. This suggested difficulty could not be obviated by attaching to each train coaches for use at the way stations. Such additional coaches would impede the speed of the through trains and interfere with the business of the local trains.

Justice Shiras urges that it is fallacious to contend that the Ohio legislation in question was enacted to promote the public interest. That could only mean the public interest of the State of Ohio, and the reason why such legislation is pernicious and unsafe is because it is based upon a discrimination in favor of local interests, and is hostile to the larger public interest and convenience involved in inter-State commerce. If each and every State through which these inter-State highways run could make such regulations as in the opinion of its Legislature are for the convenience of its own people, then we should have restored the confusion that existed in commercial transactions before the adoption of the Federal Constitution. It is to avoid such confusion that the people of the United States have by Constitutional mandate and legislative enactment removed the control and regulation of inter-State commerce from the State legislatures.

THE WAGES DISPUTE IN THE ENGLISH COTTON-WEAVING INDUSTRY.—THE COTTON TRADE OF THE EUROPEAN CONTINENT.***

MANCHESTER, APRIL 19TH.

The threatened wages war in the cotton-spinning industry was happily averted by the agreement concluded on March 20th, that the work-people should receive an advance equal to 7d. in the £. At that time, and for a fortnight afterwards, the demand of the weavers of an increase of 10 per cent was momentarily in abeyance. Since then a ballot of the operative weavers has been taken, the result of which was a very large majority in favor of pressing home the demand. No time was lost by the council of their association in requesting a conference with the committee of the Master Manufacturers for the purpose of formally presenting and discussing the demand. Yesterday the committee met and resolved to accept the proposal and the conference is to be held on the 25th instant.

It is at present quite impossible to forecast with anything like confidence the issue of the negotiations. The question involved was earnestly discussed on the Manchester Exchange yesterday (Tuesday) this being one of the days of the week when there is the largest attendance of spinners, manufacturers and others from all parts of the country and from the adjacent portions of Cheshire, Derbyshire and Yorkshire into which the Lancashire cotton industry overflows. With the result of the ballot before their eyes and their knowledge of the mind of their own work-people, the manufacturers do not conceal from themselves the evidence of determination amongst the wage-earners. But for the most part they themselves show no less determination to resist than do their work-people to enforce the required advance. They contend—and the contention is well founded—that although their productions have been in much better demand during the last six months, the orders in hand much larger, and the prices obtained more favorable than before, the margin between the current quotations of yarn and of cloth is insufficient to give them more than a scanty profit at best; and that in most cases it leaves them no remuneration at all, so far at least as the greater part of the production—that of plain cloth—is concerned. Thus there is, on both sides, at the moment no visible room for a peaceful settlement of the controversy. Nor are the facilities for an amicable conclusion so abundant or so effective as in the spinning industry, where the "Brooklands Agreement," which is practically a code of conciliation, has proved recently an important means of averting a struggle in that branch. Nor, it must be added, are the leaders on either side so experienced in the conduct of negotiations of this kind, nor the bodies they represent so well organized as in the spinning industry. Still opportunities will be presented in the course of the interviews which are to take place, for the discussion of the question at issue and for pacific proposals which may avert war. All that can be said now is that the prospect of a peaceful settlement is far from being encouraging.

It needs no great discernment to see that if a strike should ensue in the weaving department of the industry the cotton trade of the whole country, and indeed of the world, will be greatly disturbed. Probably not less than 400,000 looms will be stopped and of necessity some millions of spindles also. And of course the consumption of cotton will be correspondingly lessened so long as the conflict may last.

The condition of the Manchester market for cotton goods and yarns is not unaffected by the weavers wages question. Manufacturers are generally giving quotations subject to the contingency of a strike, and, as a rule, are asking higher prices in view of the curtailment of supplies of cloth if a stoppage of work should occur. To a large extent the production of goods is under engagement for some weeks—occasionally some months—to come, either with or without a strike clause in the contracts. Where this does not exist the sellers will plead force majeure and take the risk of settlement with the buyers as they have done before when strikes have occurred. The yarn market is also much disturbed. Manufacturers abstain from buying for forward delivery in very many cases and spinners are slightly easier to deal with, although they repeat the quotations current before the weavers' wages question assumed its present threatening form.

Reports of the state of the cotton industry in Central Europe are decidedly brighter than they were a few weeks ago, and much more encouraging than those received at this time last year. In Austria the improvement is very marked. Stocks of yarns and goods were heavy during the greater part of 1898 and the production had to be extensively curtailed. Now spinners and manufacturers hold considerable contracts extending to the end of the present year, and prices of both yarns and goods have much improved, those of the latter being very profitable for manufacturers. The mills are reported to be working full time. From Germany, on the contrary, the advices are not much better. True, the employment of work-people, not only in the cotton but also in all the textile industries, has become much fuller and more regular during the last two months, but cotton spinners and manufacturers complain of great difficulty in selling, and their stocks have latterly been increasing. These advices are rather confirmed by the difficulty of executing orders for yarns for Germany in Manchester, where the demand for that quarter is usually an important item. In Italy over-production of yarn has been a feature for more than a year past and Manchester shippers to the East Mediterranean markets have for some time past been able to buy certain descriptions of the lesser counts on much more favorable terms in Italy than here. Now however business is improving in that country, stocks of yarns have been much reduced, and the position of spinners is more encouraging than it has been for nearly a couple of years past.

In Spain, too, the cotton industry is rapidly recovering from the severe depression caused by the war and the loss of the colonies. Barcelona spinners and manufacturers, who are much more energetic and enterprising than any other class of Spaniards, have long been casting about for new outlets, and adapting their production to the requirements of markets which they had not needed to seek before. Their attention has been especially directed to South America, and Manchester shippers to that part of the world have for some time past had offered to them Spanish cotton goods, a fair quantity of which some of them have been able to purchase. In France the position of the cotton industry, though a little better than it was three months ago, is far from being so good as it was two or three years ago, particularly in Rouen. Stocks of yarn are large and of goods somewhat excessive. The Rouen manufacturers, who have now obtained possession of the Madagascar market, have lately become alarmed at the possibility of a concession in response to the representations of Lord Salisbury to the French Government saying the heavy export duties now levied in the island on British cotton goods are not in accordance with the Anglo-French Agreement of 1890. They have consequently made urgent appeals to the Minister of Commerce to refuse all concessions on this point, pleading the depressed state of their trade as a powerful reason in support of this course. Reports of the Russian cotton industry are highly encouraging, and it is estimated that not less than 1,000,000 new spindles will be added to the spinning capacity of the country during 1899. Generally it may be said that the prospects of the demand for cotton this year throughout Europe, Great Britain included, are decidedly promising, the only serious cloud on the horizon just now being the threatened strike of weavers in Lancashire. That, if it should happen, will for a time greatly lessen the demand, and the loss will not be very speedily made good.

RAILROAD BONDS AND SAVINGS BANK INVESTMENTS.

Undoubtedly one of the most important movements of the year is the extension of the scope of the investments of the savings banks in the leading States so as to include many issues of railroad securities not previously within the reach of these institutions. In New York and Massachusetts measures of this kind have already become laws; in Connecticut a bill of like nature is under consideration. The funds at the command of the savings banks in the three States mentioned are of enormous magnitude, and therefore if only a small part is put in the new securities it must mean a very large absorption of such securities in that way. Here is a table showing aggregate deposits and aggregate resources of the savings banks for each of the three States separately and for the whole three combined:

	Deposits.	Total Resources.
New York, Jan. 1, 1899.....	$416,144,367 53	$923,420,861 82
Massachusetts, Oct. 31, 1898....	489,642,023 92	519,999,625 14
Connecticut, Oct. 1, 1898.....	163,452,498 52	173,925,546 32
Total.....	$1,068,269,789 97	$1,617,346,033 28

In New York, by an amendment passed last year, the savings banks for the first time received permission to invest in the first mortgage bonds of railroads the principal part of whose road is located within this State. Now this provision has been broadened and widened so as to include a great many other roads. Here is the new Act in full. It was signed and became a law last Saturday, April 22.

AN ACT to amend the Banking Law, relative to securities in which deposits in savings banks may be invested.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Subdivision six of section one hundred and sixteen, of chapter six hundred and eighty-nine of the laws of eighteen hundred and ninety two, entitled "An Act in Relation to Banking Corporations," as amended by chapter eight hundred and thirteen of the laws of eighteen hundred and ninety-five, and chapter two hundred and thirty-six of the laws of eighteen hundred and ninety-eight, is hereby further amended so as to read as follows:

Subdivision 6. In bonds and mortgages on unincumbered real property situated in this State, worth at least twice the amount loaned thereon. Not more than sixty-five per centum of the whole amount of deposits shall be so loaned or invested. If the loan is on unimproved and unproductive real property, the amount loaned thereon shall not be more than forty per centum of its actual value. No investment in any bond and mortgage shall be made by any savings bank except upon the report of a committee of its trustees charged with the duty of investigating the same, who shall certify to the value of the premises mortgaged or to be mortgaged, according to their best judgment, and such report shall be filed and preserved among the records of the corporation. Also in the first mortgage bonds of any railroad corporation of this State, the principal part of whose railroad is located within this State; or of any railroad corporation of this and any other State or States connecting with and controlled and operated as part of the system of any such railroad corporation of this State, and of which connecting railroad at least a majority of its capital stock is owned by such a railroad corporation of this State, or in the mortgage bonds of any such railroad corporation of an issue to retire all prior mortgage debt of such railroad companies respectively; provided that at no time within five years next preceding the date of any such investment shall such railroad corporation of this State or such connecting railroad corporations respectively have failed regularly and punctually to pay the principal and interest or all its mortgage indebtedness, and in addition thereto regularly and punctually to have paid dividends upon all its outstanding capital stock during the preceding five years, at the rate of not less than four per centum per annum; and provided, further, that at the date of every such dividend the outstanding capital stock of such railroad corporation, or such connecting railroad company respectively shall have been equal to at least one half of the total mortgage indebtedness of such railroad corporations respectively, including all bonds issued or to be issued under any mortgage securing any bond in which such investment shall be made. Also in the mortgage bonds of the following railroad corporations: The Chicago & North Western RR. Co., Chicago Burlington & Quincy RR. Co., Michigan Central RR. Co., Illinois Central RR. Co., Pennsylvania RR. Co., Delaware & Hudson Canal Co., Delaware Lackawanna & Western RR. Co., New York New Haven & Hartford RR. Co., Boston & Maine RR. Co., Maine Central RR. Co. Provided that at the time of making such investment the said railroads shall have earned and paid regular dividends of not less than four per centum per annum in cash on all their issues of capital stock for the ten years next preceding such investment, and provided the capital stock of any of said railroad corporations shall equal or exceed in amount one-third of the par value of all its bonded indebtedness; and further provided that all bonds hereby authorized for investments shall be secured by a first mortgage of the whole or a part of the railroad and railroad property actually in the possession of and operated by such company; also in the first mortgage bonds of the Fonda Johnstown & Gloversville RR. Co., or in the mortgage bonds of said railroad company of an issue to retire all prior mortgage debts of said railroad company, and provided the capital stock of said railroad company shall equal or exceed in amount one third of the par value of all its bonded indebtedness; and provided also that such railroad be of standard gauge of four feet eight and one-half inches. Not more than twenty per centum of the whole amount of deposits of any bank shall be loaned or invested in railroad bonds, and not more than five per centum of the deposits of any bank shall be invested in the bonds of any one railroad. Street railroad corporations shall not be considered railroad corporations within the meaning of this subdivision.

Section 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

In Massachusetts also important changes have been made. The provisions of the old law will be found in our STATE AND CITY SUPPLEMENT for April 15, 1899, pages 16 and 17. The present year's amendment is as follows. The Act became a law April 14:

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

AN ACT Relative to the Investments of Savings Banks and Institutions for Savings.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

SECTION 1. In addition to the investments authorized by statute savings banks and institutions for savings may invest their deposits and the income derived therefrom:

First. In the legally-authorized bonds of the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad Company, of the Michigan Central Railroad Company, of the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Railway Company, of the Illinois Central Railroad Company, of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, of the Delaware Lackawanna & Western Railroad Company, of the Chicago Burlington & Quincy Railroad Company, of the Chicago & North Western Railway Company and the Delaware & Hudson Canal Company: provided that all such bonds hereby authorized for investment shall be secured by a first mortgage of the whole or a part of the railroad and railroad property actually in the possession of and operated by such company, and provided that each railroad whose bonds are hereby authorized for investment shall have earned and paid regular dividends of not less than four per cent each fiscal year on all its issues of capital stock for the ten years next preceding such investment, and that such capital stock shall equal or exceed in amount one-third of the par value of all its bonded indebtedness.

Second. In the legally-authorized bonds of any railroad company incorporated under the authority of the States of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois or Iowa whose road is located wholly or in part in the same, and has earned and paid regular dividend of not less than four per cent per annum on all its issues of capital stock for the ten years preceding such investment: provided said bonds be secured by a first mortgage of the whole or a part of the railroad and railroad property of such company, and be guaranteed, both principal and interest, by one or more of the companies named in the first clause of this Act.

Third. In the note or notes of any citizen of this Commonwealth with a pledge as collateral of any of the aforesaid securities at no more than the par value thereof.

SECTION 2. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

In Connecticut equally important revisions; are in prospect, but the measure has not yet become a law. To have the record complete, however, we furnish herewith copy of that part of the bill relating to railroad securities. The law as it now stands is given in our STATE AND CITY SUPPLEMENT, pages 33 and 34.

(7) Or in the bonds of any railroad company organized under the laws of any of the States mentioned in this Act, and which bonds are secured by a first mortgage (as the only mortgage security) given by said railroad company upon some portion of the railroad owned by it, or given by a railroad company (a majority of the capital stock in which is owned by the railroad company issuing said bonds), upon some portion of the railroad owned by it but leased or operated by the railroad company issuing said bonds, and which portion of said railroad in either case shall be located wholly or in part in one or more of the States mentioned in this Act, provided the entire railroad of said company is located wholly within the United States; or in the consolidated bonds of any railroad company incorporated by this State and authorized to issue such bonds to retire the entire funded debt of said company; provided, that in every case the railroad company in the bonds of which an investment is made shall have paid each year, for a period of not less than five years next previous to such investment, in addition to the interest on its funded indebtedness, dividends of not less than four per centum per annum upon its entire capital stock outstanding; and provided, further, that said outstanding capital stock at the time of such investment equals or exceeds in amount one-third of the entire outstanding issue of said bonds; also in the bonds of the following-named railroad corporations, viz:

Boston & Albany Railroad Company,
Boston & Lowell Railroad Company,
Boston & Maine Railroad Company,
Concord & Montreal Railroad Company,
Fitchburg Railroad Company,
Hudson River & Port Chester Railroad Company,
Maine Central Railroad Company,
New England Railroad Company,
New York & New England Railroad Company,
New York New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company, Old Colony Railroad Company, and in any general or consolidated mortgage bonds issued by any of the following-named railroad corporations to retire all of the outstanding prior mortgage bonds secured upon the property covered by said general or consolidated mortgage:—

Chicago & North Western Railway Company,
Chicago Burlington & Quincy Railroad Company,
Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Company,
Chicago Rock Island & Pacific Railway Company,
Chicago & Alton Railroad Company,
Cleveland & Pittsburgh Railroad Company,
Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Railway Company,
Michigan Central Railroad Company,
Morris & Essex Railroad Company,
New York Central & Hudson River Railroad Company,
Pennsylvania Railroad Company,
St. Paul Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway Company, and in the mortgage bonds hitherto issued which the said consolidated or general mortgage bonds are to retire at maturity; provided, that at no time within five years next preceding the date of such investment shall such railroad corporation have failed regularly and punctually to pay the principal at maturity, (or as extended,) and interest of all its mortgage indebtedness, and in addition thereto regularly and punctually to have paid dividends upon all its outstanding capital stock during the preceding five years; further, that at the date of every such dividend the outstanding capital stock of such railroad corporation shall have been equal to at least one-third of the total mortgage indebtedness of such railroad corporation, including all bonds issued or to be issued under any mortgage securing any bond in which such investment shall be made, but this Act shall not be held to authorize any investment in the bonds of any corporation operating its railroad exclusively by any means other than steam as a motive power, or in the bonds of any street railroad company.

ITEMS ABOUT BANKS, BANKERS AND TRUST CO'S.

—There have been only moderate sales of bank and trust companies' stocks this week, the total bank stocks being 332 shares and trusts 42 shares. Almost all show advances. All the sales were at auction except 106 shares of Park National Bank, 515 to 525, and 12 shares Market & Fulton National Bank at 235.

*Sale at the Stock Exchange.

—The passage by the New York Assembly of the bill prohibiting State banks from joining or being members of any association which requires the collection of charges on checks in this State excited only slight comment in banking circles. It is regarded as improbable that the bill will pass the Senate or if it should so pass that it will become a law by the signature of the Governor.

—The City Trust Company has set apart from its holdings of stocks of the company a sufficient amount of the shares to enable each of its employees to become a stockholder, if he desires to purchase the same, at a slight premium over the issue price of $200 per share. The stock was quoted last week at 350 bid.

—The rumors of intended bank consolidations, to which brief reference was recently made in this column, continue to circulate, and they seem to excite increasing interest among bank officials and stockholders. So far as is known, however, there appears to be at the moment no progress making; indeed, it seems that the opposition which has developed to such a scheme has been so formidable that its projectors are not at present sanguine of success as they were.

On general principles consolidations of banking interests are deprecated by conservative bankers. It is felt that if such consolidations as have been proposed during recent weeks should be carried through, it would be harmful, and if the consolidated capital were so large and if the institutions absorbed were so important as reports indicated, the effect upon the financial interests of this city, and indeed of the entire country, might be highly prejudicial. For illustration, suppose two or three of the large banks were combined so as to have a capitalization of $25,000,000 or more, the consolidated bank, no doubt, would be in a position, with its enormous deposits, to control the money market almost at will by expanding or contracting the supply of loanable funds. Moreover, the management of such an institution might easily become unwieldy, and in periods of financial tension from any cause the existence of such an institution might be a serious menace to the situation. Furthermore, such a consolidation of national banks if effected, might easily be provocative of legislation by Congress adverse to banks.

Another suggestion has been to unite practically under one management, through ownership of stock, several banks, leaving, however, each individual institution under the direction of its own officers, they to be appointed or elected by the central bank. For example, The National City Bank is understood to control the Second National Bank through ownership of stock either individually or by some of its directors; the National Park Bank is likewise understood to control, much in the same manner, the Mount Morris Bank and the Plaza Bank; the Mercantile National Bank controls the Hamilton Bank, and the Hamilton, which is a State institution, has established a new branch on Amsterdam Avenue. The First National Bank presumably controls the stock of the Astor National Bank. The institutions thus controlled, though operated independently, are practically branches of the parent banks. But the distinction between them and the present proposals is that they are small concerns; that such control is consequently not prejudicial to important public interests. On the other hand, if one of our large banks should similarly control one or two or more equally large institutions, there would be a practical consolidation of interests, and it is claimed it would prove objectionable for much the same reasons as consolidations.

—Mr. Edward P. Steers, President of the Twelfth Ward Bank, died suddenly in this city on Saturday of last week. He was born in Cork, Ireland, in 1837, and when a child was removed by his parents to Canada, where his father was agent for the Crown lands. At the age of twelve he entered the employ of the American Transportation Company at Buffalo, and subsequently became cashier of a bank in that city. In 1862 he came to this city and engaged in the lumber business, and in 1886 he organized the Twelfth Ward Bank, and was its first President. He was prominent in up-town financial circles, and was a director in the United States Life Insurance Company, the Produce Exchange Trust Company and the Empire City Savings Bank. He was also a member of the Numismatic Society, of the American Museum of Natural History and of the Harlem Board of Commerce. He was an authority on conchology, and he leaves, partially compiled, a dictionary on this science.

—The Mercantile National Bank has bought the building, 189 Broadway, adjoining its present structure at the corner of Dey Street, and it will soon erect a new bank building with a frontage of forty-six feet on Broadway and about one hundred feet on Dey Street. The property now bought was sold about fifteen years ago for $154,000, and it is reported that the price paid by the bank was $330,000. The Mercantile Bank was chartered in 1850, and for several years, until 1861, occupied the opposite corner, where the Seventh National Bank is now located.

—The increase in the gold holdings of the New York banks during the last twelve months is clearly reflected in the almost constant gain in the gold payments for duties at the Custom House. In March last year these payments were 17.6 per cent of the whole. There was a sharp rise to 52.7 per cent in April, followed by 73.5 per cent in May. By July the proportion of gold payments for Customs had fallen to 59.9 per cent, but there was a gain thereafter and in December the proportion was 80.2 per cent. In January gold payments were 78.4 per cent, increasing to 85.6 per cent in March. For the first ten days of April the proportion was 89.1 per cent. Specie holdings of the associated banks, which are almost wholly of gold, are now greater by $48,160,300 than they were on April 2, 1898. Since September 17, when the specie holdings were reduced to $128,599,800, the gain has been $80,816,600. Comparing the amount on April 2 with the maximum this year on February 23, there was an increase in specie holdings of $61,102,100.

Monetary and Commercial English News

LONDON, Saturday, April 15, 1899.

Business on the Stock Exchange continues dull in spite of the great prosperity of the country and the steady expansion of trade. Partly this is due to the fear of dear money, a fear which undoubtedly is exaggerated. A still more potent cause, however, is the troubles in Samoa. Nobody here believes that they will lead to a serious quarrel with Germany. But all the same they are very unfortunate, and tend to discourage operations on the Stock Exchange.

Moreover, a gradual but steady and careful liquidation is going on upon the German Bourses. Trade in Germany has been very prosperous for a long time, and one result has been the creation of a very large number of industrial securities. Undoubtedly most of these are sound and pay fair dividends. But they have been created too rapidly and in too great a number, and they have been bought by the public on far too large a scale with borrowed money. The banks have lent upon an immense scale, and therefore have had themselves to obtain money abroad—in this country, in the United States and in France chiefly. One result was great stringency in the money market from the end of August until the beginning of this year. Even since then money has been scarce and dear. To-day, for example, the discount rate on the Imperial Bank is  $4\frac{1}{4}\%$ . It is obvious that if this goes on there will be another period of great stringency in the autumn, and the banks at length have recognized the necessity for making preparations. Accordingly they are putting pressure upon borrowers to reduce the loans, and this naturally can only be done by the sale of securities. The industrial securities have no market abroad, or, at all events, no market worth talking of, and consequently borrowers have to sell American securities, South American, Chinese, Russian and the like. And this steady selling tells naturally upon other bourses.

In Paris there is likewise inactivity, mainly due to apprehensions respecting Spain. The Spanish Government is endeavoring to pay the full interest upon not only the Spanish but also upon the Cuban and Philippine debts as far as they are held abroad. It is impossible that it can continue to do so, and there is no serious doubt among the well informed in Europe that Spain is hopelessly bankrupt. Still, if order is maintained at home, the present condition of things may be maintained for a while. But there are fears of a Carlist rising, and consequently the market for Spanish securities has been much weaker.

One other influence that has depressed markets is the uncertainty respecting the immediate future in the Transvaal.

For some time past negotiations have been going on between the Transvaal Government and the chiefs of the mining industry. The Government wants money and the industry wants reforms. At one time strong hopes were entertained that the Government would get its loan and that the industry would get a considerable part, at all events, of the reforms required. President Kruger, in fact, made a couple of speeches in which he indicated a desire to meet the demands. But these speeches were immediately followed by the publication in the South African papers of outlines of the scope of the negotiations. The publication is resented by the Government as a breach of confidence. And on the top of this came the Uitlanders' petition to the British Government. Consequently a fear has sprung up that not only will the negotiations be broken off but that the relations between Uitlanders and Boers will become worse and worse. The result of all is a falling off in the activity upon the Stock Exchange, and a general unwillingness to engage in new risks. It is not probable, however, that this will continue long, and most people are looking for an early recovery.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer on Thursday evening made his budget statement. It has given very general dissatisfaction; even many of his supporters are utterly disappointed. In round figures the total Imperial expenditure for the new financial year will be a little under 113 millions sterling. On the basis of existing taxation the revenue is estimated by the Chancellor of the Exchequer at a little over 110 $\frac{1}{4}$  millions sterling; so that there is an anticipated deficit of somewhat less than 2 $\frac{3}{4}$  millions sterling. The general expectation was that the Chancellor of the Exchequer would put on again the portion of the tobacco duty remitted last year; that he would impose a few new taxes, and would increase a few old ones; and thus would make his budget balance. Instead he proposes to cut down the Sinking Fund by 2 millions sterling a year. At the present time the whole charge for the debt—interest, management and sinking fund—is fixed at 25 millions sterling per annum, of course any surplus on the year being likewise applied to the redemption of debt. The Chancellor of the Exchequer now proposes to cut down the fixed charge from 25 millions sterling to 23 millions sterling per annum. In this way he reduces the expenditure by two millions sterling, and of course the deficit to somewhat under  $\frac{1}{2}$  of a million sterling. He proposes to impose two new stamp duties and to increase two old ones so as to get about £450,000 a year, and to increase the mine duties so as to obtain £420,000 a year. Thereby he gets altogether £870,000 and secures an estimated surplus of somewhat under  $\frac{1}{2}$  of a million sterling. The new taxes are unobjectionable in themselves. But they are peddling matters. The real objection to the Budget is the reduction of the Sinking Fund by as much as two millions sterling per annum.

The outside market has not yet succeeded in paying off its debt to the Bank of England. But it will probably be able to do so next week; for much of the money that went out at the end of March in payment of interest and for other purposes is now coming back from circulation; and besides the Government payment for ships and the like are large. The probability appears to be, therefore, that the supply of money in the open market will increase next week. At all events, as this week draws to a close the rate of discount is undoubtedly falling in the open market, and so are the short-loan rates. The Bank of England is gradually getting in gold, though not to a large extent. It looks as if the market will become easier and remain easy for some weeks, assuming, which is the general opinion here, that gold is not shipped to New York. From the accounts that reach us from New York the general impression in London is that money is becoming easier there, and that gold, therefore, will not be shipped.

Respecting the Berlin market, it is to be remembered that the discount rate of the Imperial Bank is  $4\frac{1}{4}\%$ ; while the discount rate of the Bank of England is only 2%. But although rates are much higher in Germany, the German banks generally, as explained above, are taking measures to compel the borrowers to reduce their loans. In this way it is hoped that the banks will both reduce their liabilities and increase their reserves, and that they will not be dependent to the same extent as they have been for some years back upon money obtained abroad. There is no doubt that a very large amount of American, British and French money is being employed at present in Germany, and if much of this were withdrawn there might be serious consequences. However, if the liquidation is persevered in, as is generally expected, matters will undoubtedly improve in Germany.

In France money was in fairly strong demand at the last monthly settlement. But it is easing off now. Still, the Bank of France looks with disfavor upon the policy of the great French banks in employing so much money in Germany and Belgium, and is inclined to take such measures as will compel them to withdraw some part of these funds. Moreover, anxiety about Spain tends to keep up rates.

Assuming that gold is not shipped to New York and that the liquidation continues in Germany, it is not thought at all probable that gold will be taken from this market. And if it is not, the supply in the open market will gradually increase, and there is not the least probability of anything like a squeeze in money.

In India the active export season is now drawing to a close. Wheat, however, will continue to be exported for some time yet, and so will cotton. But a large part of the export business is coming to an end, for the weather is becoming very hot. Moreover, the plague is bad, both in Bombay and Calcutta, and is interfering seriously with business, more particularly in the latter city. Rates in India, therefore are likely to fall off. In the meantime, however, the India Council continues to sell its drafts in a satisfactory manner. It offered for tender on Wednesday 60 lacs and the total applications exceeded 185 lacs. The whole amount offered was sold at an average price slightly exceeding 1s. 4d. per rupee.

WALL STREET, FRIDAY, APRIL 28, 1899.—3 P. M.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—A steadier and more healthy condition of the stock market this week indicates that the liquidation incident to the break which occurred during the first week in April is practically closed. The unusually broad distribution of business suggests that interest in the market is no longer so exclusively confined to Wall Street as it has recently been, and the advance in high-grade shares, together with a decidedly firm market for railway bonds, is evidence of a better investment demand. Moreover the general situation seems to favor such demand. There are abundant reasons why available funds should seek investment in the better class of railway securities with confident expectation that present dividend rates will be maintained.

A feature of the week was an advance in silver to the highest quotations recently recorded for it. There is reported to be an unusual demand from the Far East for the metal, but this alone would hardly warrant such an advance, and the latter has the appearance of being in part due to speculation. The money market was easy during the early part of the week, but showed a hardening tendency towards the close on a somewhat better demand in anticipation of the May 1 settlements.

The open market rates for call loans on the Stock Exchange during the week on stock and bond collaterals have ranged from 3 to 6 per cent. To-day's rates on call were 3½ to 6 per cent. Prime commercial paper quoted 3½ to 4½ per cent.

The Bank of England weekly statement on Thursday showed an increase in bullion of £291,659, and the percentage of reserve to liabilities was 40.60, against 40.10 last week; the discount rate remains unchanged at 3 per cent. The Bank of France shows an increase of 1,250,000 francs in gold and 3,000,000 francs in silver.

Foreign Exchange.—The market for foreign exchange has been quiet but firm on a limited demand for bills and increasing ease in money market rates. A better demand from remitters caused additional firmness towards the close.

State and Railroad Bonds.—Sales of State bonds at the Board include $9,500 Louisiana con. 4s at 110 and $50,000 Virginia 6s deferred trust receipts at 8¼ to 8¾.

The railway bond market has been firm on a good demand, which was increased by Act of the Legislature enlarging the list of bonds in which savings banks may invest. Transactions at the Exchange were only a trifle larger than last week, averaging about $4,000,000 par value per day. Special activity is noted in some low-grade issues, including Mexican Central 1st and 2d incomes, which advanced 8½ and 3 points respectively, Colorado Midland 1st 4s, Norfolk & Western consol. 4s, International & Great Northern 2ds, Central Georgia consol. 5s and 1st incomes, which gained about 2 points each, and others less conspicuous. The new Hocking Valley 4½s were traded in for the first time on Thursday, and advanced a point during the day. The various New York Central and some other issues advanced on the savings bank demand, as noted above.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—The stock market as a whole has been steadier this week than during the two weeks previous, although there were a few notable exceptions. The tone improved and the volume of business, which increased to nearly 600,000 shares per day, was somewhat better distributed, showing a larger outside interest, especially in railway shares. The trunk line stocks were strong features. Pennsylvania advanced nearly 3 points, New York Central and Illinois Central each 2 points, apparently the result of investment buying. Minneapolis & St. Louis common was exceptional in an advance of nearly 10 points on rumors that the first preferred stock will be retired. Denver & Rio Grande and Mexican Central shares advanced from 3 to 4 points, in sympathy with the advance in silver. The anthracite coal stocks were weak, led by Lackawanna, which declined 6½ points, on rumors that a strike was imminent. This was officially declared to be without foundation in fact, and a substantial recovery took place. Brooklyn Rapid Transit was by far the most active stock on the list and fluctuated over a range of about 6½ points. Manhattan Beach suddenly came into prominence and advanced from below 20 to 39, on rumors of consolidation, subsequently losing more than half the gain.

The miscellaneous list shows about the usual irregular movement. Anaconda Copper Mining made a further advance of 16 points, about half of which it has lost. New York Air Brake covered a range of 14 points, People's Gas 3 points, American Sugar Refining nearly 8 points and American Smelting & Refining 4½ points.

STREET RAILWAYS AND TRACTION COMPANIES.

The following table shows the gross earnings for the latest period of all STREET railways from which we are able to obtain weekly or monthly returns. The arrangement of the table is the same as that for the steam roads—that is, the first two columns of figures give the gross earnings for the latest week or month, and the last two columns the earnings for the calendar year from January 1 to and including such latest week or month.

Street Railway Net Earnings.—The following table gives the returns of STREET railway gross and net earnings received this week. In reporting these net earnings for the street railways, we adopt the same plan as that for the steam roads—that is, we print each week all the returns received that week, but once a month (on the third or the fourth Saturday) we bring together all the roads furnishing returns, and the latest statement of this kind will be found in the CHRONICLE of April 22, 1899. The next will appear in the issue of May 20, 1899.

President Wm. W. Crapo says in substance:

General Results.—The returns for the year 1898 show gratifying gains. There has been an increase in gross of $271,212 over the preceding year and an increase of $45,333 in net earnings. Since 1894 the increase has been steady and continuous, showing a gain in the four years of $670,877 in gross and $186,143 in net earnings. These figures have been reached notwithstanding the reduction in rates both on freight and passenger traffic. The commercial, industrial and agricultural developments along the line are very gratifying and promise continued increase of traffic. The present output of coal from the Saginaw Valley gives assurance of a large traffic in the immediate future.

Improvements.—The narrow-gauge track of the Port Huron division from Port Huron to Grindstone City, 92.26 miles, has been changed to standard gauge, and the cost, $61,123, added to the construction account, and met by the sale of Port Huron Division 5 per cent bonds. An additional expenditure will be made in 1899 in further substitution of heavier rails. There was placed in the track between Saginaw and Birch Run and between Steiner and Carlton two thousand tons of 70-lb. steel rails. The 56-lb. rails released were used on the Port Huron division. The net cost of the new rails was charged to operating expenses. A further purchase of 2,200 tons of 70 lb. steel rails has been made and the same will be placed in the track early the present season.

Equipment.—The purchase of 250 freight cars and one derrick car was made during the year at a cost of $135,389. A portion of this cost ($15,389) was charged to profit and loss account and the balance is being met by monthly payments which are charged to operating expenses.

Financial.—The company has no floating debt except the ordinary current accounts incident to the operation of the road. A sale of $500,000 of consolidated 5 per cent bonds was made and the proceeds used for the retirement of the entire amount of outstanding bills payable. There has been received from the land trustee during the year the sum of $99,241. This sum has been placed to the credit of the profit and loss account. The moneys received from the land grant, less expenses, have from the outset been appropriated for construction and permanent improvements. No part of the fund has been used for operating charges. There has been charged against profit and loss, for permanent improvements, for discount on bonds, and for new equipment, the sum of $102,597.

The general or common capital stock of the company was increased on March 28, 1899, from $21,000,000 to $36,000,000. Of the $35,000,000 increase $21,000,000 is to be issued in payment of the stock dividend declared March 31, 1899, "and the remaining $14,000,000 of said stock to be placed in the treasury of the company subject to the action of the board of directors."—V. 68, p. 771.

GENERAL INVESTMENT NEWS.

Alabama Iron & RR.—Foreclosure Sale.—The foreclosure sale is advertised for May 17 at Talladega, Ala. The company is the successor of the Talladega Iron & Steel Co.

Allouez Mining Co.—Increase of Stock.—The stockholders on Wednesday voted to increase the capital stock from $2,000,000 to $2,500,000, and authorized the directors to sell the additional shares from time to time as deemed advisable. The removal of the office of the company from New York to Boston was ratified.—V. 68, p. 720.

Amalgamated Copper Co.—Copper Company Consolidation.—Incorporated.—The Amalgamated Copper Co., with a capital of $75,000,000, filed articles of incorporation at Trenton, N. J., on Thursday. The directors are as follows:

Name.	Identified with	Name.	Identified with
Marcus Daly, Anaconda Min. Co.	R. P. Flower, Flower & Co.
F. P. Olcott, Cent. Tr. Co. (Pres.)	W. G. Rockefeller, Standard Oil.
Robt. Bacon, J. P. Morgan & Co.	Henry H. Rogers, "
Jas. Stillman, Nat. City B'k (Pres.)	A. C. Burrage, " (as counsel)

The officers are: President, Marcus Daly; Vice President, Henry H. Rogers; Secretary and Treasurer, William G. Rockefeller; Executive Committee, Henry H. Rogers, William G. Rockefeller and Albert C. Burrage. Mr. Daly is one of the leading stockholders in the Anaconda Copper Mining Co., the remarkable advance in the price of whose shares this week gave the warning that the consolidation was impending.

The authorized capital stock of the new company, while only $75,000,000, it is understood will be largely increased before all the properties proposed to be absorbed are taken over. The company has already purchased large interests in Anaconda Copper Co., Parrott Silver & Copper Co., Washoe Copper Co., Colorado Smelting & Mining Co. and other companies and properties. See advertisement on another page.

American Alkali Co.—New Enterprise.—A Philadelphia paper says: "This is a new enterprise in which W. W. Gibbs is interested. It will engage in the heavy chemical trade, utilizing valuable patents. The company will capitalize at $30,000,000—$6,000,000 8 per cent cumulative preferred stock and $24,000,000 common stock."

The company, it is stated, proposes to manufacture by an electrolytic process, protected by patents, 170,000 tons of caustic soda and 93,000 tons of bleaching powder per annum. Of the 600,000 shares (par $50) 120,000 are to be preferred 8 per cent (on the amount paid in) and cumulative, with the right to share pro rata with the common stock in all additional dividends.

American Cereal Co.—New Plan.—The "Chicago Inter-ocean" of April 23 said:

It is proposed to expand the capital of the American Cereal Co., pay off its floating and bonded indebtedness, build a new mill, and enlarge generally the business of the corporation. The new capital will consist of $10,000,000 preferred and $12,000,000 of common stock. Subscribers to the underwriting pay par for the preferred and receive a bonus of 100 per cent in common. It is understood the underwriting has been provided for. The company proposes to build at South Chicago a cereal mill, costing something like $1,500,000. This will be the finest mill in existence. Then it is proposed to pay off the $1,600,000 first mortgage 6 per cent bonds. The outstanding stock issue is $3,341,700. The old stock will, it is understood, be redeemed in cash at par, and the holders receive in addition 50 per cent in preferred stock of the new company. The new company, it is understood for the present, will include the properties only of the American Cereal Co. The principal asset is the Quaker Oats brand. It is likely in time that additional valuable concerns may be taken over. Announcement was made some time ago that the American Cereal Co. was earning about 18 per cent on its capital, which would be approximately $601,500 per annum.

The American Cereal Co. was the leading concern in the unsuccessful plan for a general cereal consolidation. See V. 68, p. 426.

American Cotton Co.—Dividends.—This company, whose President is John E. Searles, and whose office is at No. 27 William Street, N. Y., has declared a dividend at the rate of 8 per cent per annum on the $1,500,000 of outstanding preferred stock, payable May 2. The authorized issue of preferred stock [8 per cent cumulative] is $3,000,000, of which $1,500,000 is in the treasury and applicable for future development of the business. The common stock is $4,000,000, all outstanding.

Like the Planters' Compress Co., the American Cotton Co. is the parent company of a system for making uniform compressed cylindrical bales of cotton, the bales being generally about three feet long, weighing about 250 pounds, and so tightly pressed and carefully covered as to be easily handled without injury from dirt, moisture, fire or pilfering. The density of the bale of the American Cotton Co., it is stated, is 35 to 40 pounds per square foot, as against about 22½ pounds for the old style compressed square bale. The machine forms the cotton as it comes from the gin and the special condenser into a "bat," and runs it through rollers that compress it into a continuous piece of sheeting, which is tightly wound on a core. Each press is designed to operate with from two to six gins, and to handle from 800 to 3,200 pounds of lint cotton per hour. In spite of the opposition in the South to the new methods, the company handled 45,000 of its cylindrical bales in 1897, and about 200,000 during the past season.

American Plumbing Supply & Lead Co.—Incorporated.—This company, projected as a consolidation of various properties under plans now forming, was incorporated under the laws of New Jersey, on April 23, with authorized capital stock of $35,000,000, of which $10,000,000 is to be preferred 7 per cent cumulative. H. B. Hollins & Co. are interested. The incorporators are: John B. Summerfield, Henry M. Haviland, Robert P. Barry, Jr., and Armitage Mathews, all of New York, and James Hunt, of Deal Beach, N. J.

American Radiator Co.—First Dividend.—The company last week declared its first dividend, namely 13½ per cent on the preferred stock for the three months ending April 3, payable May 15. The organization, it is stated, was not completed until Feb. 11, but the properties absorbed were taken over as of Feb. 1.—V. 68, p. 329.

American Railways Co.—Office.—Instalment.—The company is to have its office in the Real Estate Building, Philadelphia. The $5 per share called is payable on or before May 8.—V. 68, p. 770.

American Smelting & Refining Co.—Stock and Bonds.—The application to the New York Stock Exchange to admit the company's stock to quotation on the unlisted department shows that there is outstanding $27,400,000 preferred and a like amount of common stock, and also $2,133,000 bonds of two of the companies acquired.—V. 68, p. 770.

American Tobacco Co.—To be Listed May 11.—The New York Stock Exchange has authorized the listing on May 11 of the $21,000,000 additional common stock, issuable on that date as a 100-per-cent dividend on the common stock. The company's annual statement is given under the heading "annual reports."—V. 68, p. 771.

American Vinegar Co.—New Proposed Consolidation.—Henry Clews & Co. have offered for subscription $2,500,000 of this company's 7 p. c. cum. preferred stock at par with an equal amount of common stock as bonus. The company is to be incorporated under the laws of the State of New Jersey with an authorized issue of $4,000,000 7 per cent cumulative preference stock, $7,000,000 common stock "for the purpose of acquiring the business of the various companies and firms engaged in the vinegar, yeast and pickle trade, and, it is stated, will control the spirit vinegar trade east of the Rocky Mountains. The businesses to be acquired comprise, it is said, about 80 per cent of the vinegar trade and about 20 per cent of the compressed yeast trade in the United States. The company will have a working capital of $500,000 in cash and $300,000 of preferred stock and $1,000,000 of common stock will be reserved in the treasury. The prospectus says further:

A conservative appraisal of the constituent companies places the value of their real estate, buildings, plants, machinery, etc., at $6,400,000. The additional value of good-will, trade marks, brands, manufacturing secrets, etc., etc., is appraised at over $5,000,000. White wine vinegar is used in very large quantities by all the large meat-packing and pickling concerns. It is produced from grain (principally corn), or sugar, by fermentation and distillation, and is the staple vinegar for commercial and manufacturing uses, and requires for its manufacture large plants and modern machinery and methods; elder vinegar, which is only made in small quantities for table use, being unfit for pickling and manufacturing purposes. Barrow, Wade, Guthrie & Co. report: "Our investigations satisfy us that the 42 plants proposed to be combined do an annual business of over 700,000 barrels per annum. Taking this figure at $1 17, and there is a net income derivable from vinegar amounting to $819,000. The sales of yeast by the factories entering this combine will average about 8,000 pounds per day, and the net profit earned thereupon is between ten and fifteen cents per pound, say, at the lower figure, $240,000 per annum. We are of the opinion that a conservative estimate of profit to be derived from the manufacture and sale of pickles, mustard and other table condiments, including also the manufacture and sale of apple elder, will amount to a minimum of $125,000 per year. The above items of revenue make a total annual profit of $1,184,000, which is net after charging all cost and expenses, salaries and wear and tear of plant. This result is reached without taking into account any savings which can be effected when the combination is completed."

Atlanta (Ga.) Street RR.—Reported Plan.—The plan for the consolidation of the street railways of Atlanta, it is reported, provides for the issue of $5,000,000 fifty-year 5 per cent gold bonds, of which $2,000,000 to be sold to the public, $2,250,000 to be trusted against outstanding bonds, and the remaining $750,000 to be used only to build an electric-lighting plant and for extensions and improvements of the railway system.—V. 68, p. 770.

Atlantic Coast Lumber Co.—Incorporated.—This company was incorporated at Norfolk, Va., on April 25, with a minimum capital of $1,000,000, which may be increased to $20,000,000. The company will own lumber properties in Virginia and North and South Carolina, and has already, it is claimed, acquired 1,000,000,000 feet of standing timber in these States. The officers, etc., are:

OFFICERS.—President, Lewis A. Hall, Bay Mills, Mich.; Vice-President and General Manager, Edward B. Freeman, Norfolk; Treasurer, Charles B. Fearing, New York; Sec., Robert L. Montague, Norfolk.

DIRECTORS include also Wallace B. Flint and Frank J. Saxe, New York; Waterman A. Taft, Boston; Wrightson W. Tule, Norfolk, Va.

The company, we are informed, is not a consolidation, and it will not attempt to control the soft lumber trade of the States named.

Bennington & Rutland RR.—Receiver.—Superintendent E. D. Bennett was appointed receiver on April 24. The road was damaged by floods last fall and since then has not been operated.—V. 68, p. 975.

Bethlehem Iron Co.—Bethlehem Steel Co.—Lease Authorized.—The stockholders of the Bethlehem Iron Co. on April 22 ratified the lease of the property to the Bethlehem Steel Co. at a guaranteed rental of 6 per cent per annum, payable quarterly, free from all taxes and deductions, on the $7,500,000 old stock. The officers of the Steel Co. are:

Robert P. Linderman, President; Abraham S. Schropp, Secretary, and C. O. Brunner, Treasurer. Directors—Joseph Wharton, Philadelphia; Robert H. Sayre and Robert P. Linderman of Bethlehem; Beauvean Borie, Edward T. Stotesbury and John Lowber Welsh of Philadelphia.

The capital stock of the Bethlehem Steel Co. is $15,000,000, and the Bethlehem Iron shareholders are entitled to subscribe on May 25 for two of the $50 shares for each share of the old stock held by them, the new stock to have $1 per share called for payment at subscription. A second $1, it is said, will probably be called in October, the subsequent calls to follow at not over $2 per year.—V. 68, p. 617, 770.

Borden's Condensed Milk Co.—Incorporated in New Jersey.—This company (formerly the New York Condensed Milk Co.) was incorporated under the laws of New Jersey on Monday with a capitalization of $20,000,000. The incorporators are Lee Borden, Joseph Milbank, William J. Rogers, Albert J. Milbank and Isaac Milbank. The new corporation, it is stated, is simply an expansion of the old company to meet the demands of increasing business. The former capitalization was $3,000,000.

Central New England Ry.—Assessment on Old Securities.—Notice is given that 25 per cent of the assessments levied on the A and B income bonds, common and preferred stocks of the Philadelphia Reading & New England is due May 8.—V. 68, p. 570.

Central New York & Northern RR.—Central New York & Western RR.—Extension.—The Central New York & Northern RR. has been incorporated with authorized capital of $1,500,000, in $100 shares, to construct a steam road 55 miles long from the Central New York & Western RR. at Perkinsville or Portway, Steuben County, to the West Shore RR. at Macedon, Wayne County, with branch 5 miles. The directors are: William W. Clark, Martin Kimmel, Henry V. Pratt and George Nold, of Wayland; Frederic H. Mollenhauer, Egmond Mollenhauer, George S. Birby and Simeon M. Ayers of New York City, and Ward J. Spafford of Brooklyn. It is understood that Major John Byrne, President of the Central New York & Western, is largely interested in the new deal.—V. 68, p. 523.

Central RR. of New Jersey.—$4,503,800 New Stock to Retire Bonds.—Stockholders of record May 10 will be offered the privilege of subscribing at par for $4,503,800 new stock to the amount of one new share for each five shares held. The proceeds will provide for the retirement of the following bonds due this year, viz.:

Consol. mtge. (now 1st mtge.) 7 per cents, due July 1, 1899, $3,836,000

The $4,443,000 bonds so to be retired represent an aggregate interest charge of $306,970. The company's capital stock, with the new issue of $4,503,800 outstanding, will aggregate $27,022,800. The dividend rate is at present 4 per cent per annum. No scrip will be given for fractional lots in connection with the new issue.—V. 68, p. 278, 283.

Central Union Gas Co.—Consolidation Abandoned.—Owing, it is said, to legal objections, the proposed consolidation of natural gas companies under this title was abandoned.—V. 68, p. 379.

Central Vermont Ry.—Officers.—The reorganized company has elected the following:

The common stock is $300,000, shares $100 each. The business was established in 1862, and incorporated in 1889, with $100,000 capital stock, upon which, it is said, the company has earned net annually for the past nine years 46 per cent. The company has no bonded or mortgage debt, and can have none while the issue of preferred stock, which is made to meet an increasing business, is outstanding. The works are located corner of Spring and Varick streets, New York City.

General Electric Co.—Annual Report.—The main facts from the annual report for the year ended Jan. 31, 1899, are given at much length on other pages of to-day's CHRONICLE. The exhibit is of especial interest both because of the reduction in the capital stock that was effected during the year and because of the marked change that has taken place in the company's finances. On Jan. 31, 1898, the capital stock outstanding aggregated $34,712,000 and there was a profit and loss deficit of $11,725,561. On Jan. 31, 1899, the stock aggregated only $20,827,200, there was a profit and loss surplus of $156,571, and patents and franchises figured in the balance sheet at only $4,000,000, as against $8,000,000 the year before. In other words, during the year to wipe out the profit and loss deficit and the excessive valuation of franchises and patents shown by the balance sheet, both common and preferred shares were in August, scaled 40 per cent, a holder of five shares of old stock receiving only three shares of new. The price of 120, therefore, for the new common stock is equivalent to only 72 for the common stock before the reduction took place. It should be added that of the amount written off $1,840,761 was charged against the earnings of the late fiscal year, as were also the old accrued dividends, aggregating $1,527,914, on the preferred stock.

The growth in the company's business is indicated by the increase in the orders received. This increase amounts to more than $5,000,000 since 1894-95 as shown by the following:

ORDERS RECEIVED FOR THE PAST FIVE YEARS.

1897-8.....14,382,342	1895-6.....13,235,016

The increase over last year in orders received is 21 per cent. The profit from the operations of the year after deducting all general patent and miscellaneous expenses, the interest ($290,000) on the debentures and a full year's dividend, at 7 per cent ($178,584), on the preferred stock is $3,428,302, or nearly 19 per cent on the common stock.

The utilization of water power by electrical transmission has also been a marked feature of the past year, and the successful transmission of electrical power over the eighty mile line of the Southern California Power Co. at Los Angeles, Cal., is the long distance record to date of commercial transmission. The company has now in operation about 40 long distance transmission plants, employing potentials of from 10,000 to 40,000 volts and transmitting power from 10 to 80 miles.

About 80 per cent of the year's orders was on the company's standard terms—cash within sixty days. The change in the matter of cash payment is brought clearly to view by comparing the item of "notes and accounts receivable" at their face value on January 31 of each of the past six years, as follows:

NOTES AND ACCOUNTS RECEIVABLE (FACE VALUE) ON JAN. 31.

1898.....5,199,659	1896.....11,158,751	1894.....$14,984,697

In other words, on Jan. 31, 1899, at the end of a year when the business done was greater by 44 per cent than in 1894-5, the notes and accounts receivable were $5,806,961, contrasting with $14,984,697 in 1894. Another point of interest is that "patents and patent expenses" cost the company in 1898-9 only $269,441, contrasting with $349,919 in 1897. Patterson, Corwin & Patterson say they have made a critical examination of the company's books and accounts and certify that they believe them to be accurately and conservatively kept.—V. 68, p. 571.

Great Northern Ry.—Duluth Mississippi River & Northern Ry.—Reported Acquisitions Confirmed.—The Great

Northern Railway Company's new issue of $15,000,000 stock, as announced last week, is made partly to acquire $7,500,000 additional stock of the proprietary company, the Eastern Railway of Minnesota, making the total capital stock of that company to be held by the Great Northern $12,500,000. The following is an official statement showing the purposes to which the new issue of the Eastern Railway of Minnesota will be put:

1. To acquire the stocks and bonds of the Duluth Superior & Western Railway Co., and to pay for the railway and properties purchased by this company from the Duluth Superior & Western Railway Co.
2. To acquire the railway, appurtenances and rights of the Duluth Mississippi River & Northern Railway Co.
3. To obtain the means of constructing, completing and equipping an additional line of railway from a point near Coon Creek to Sandstone, in the State of Minnesota.
4. To pay for the construction, completion and equipment of this company's line between Lake Superior and Fooson.
5. To pay for the acquisition of additional equipment, and for the acquisition and construction of additional facilities at this company's Lake Superior terminals and elsewhere on its system.
6. To acquire $500,000 of the mortgage bonds of the Duluth Superior & Western Terminal Co.
7. To acquire $500,000 of the mortgage bonds and $500,000 of the capital stock of the Park Rapids & Leech Lake Railway Co.

The above confirms the reported acquisition of the Duluth Mississippi River & Northern Ry. It also shows the purchase of $500,000 each of the stock and bonds of the Park Rapids and Leech Lake Ry.—V. 68, p. 772, 187.

Hallidie Wire Rope Tramway & Cable Co.—Incorporated.—This company's certificate of incorporation has been filed at East Orange, N. J., the incorporators being Adelbert J. Warner, Frederick W. Garvin and Oscar L. Lefferts. The company will have an authorized capital stock of $1,000,000 (of which $800,000 will be 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock), and, it is stated, will consolidate certain Chicago and San Francisco wire rope manufacturing plants. The chief stockholders are reported as A. S. Hallidie and George T. Gaden of San Francisco and A. J. Warner of Chicago.

Hannibal (Mo.) Street Railway.—Sold.—A press despatch from Hannibal, Mo., April 21, says this property has been sold by J. H. Garth to Haynes Brothers of New York, who will extend the road five miles to Oakwood and to Mark Twain Cave. The cave, it is stated, also has been purchased by the firm named and will be improved and lighted by electricity.

Hecker-Jones-Jewell Milling Co.—Deposits.—The committee representing the security holders have requested the deposit of stock and bonds with the Franklin Trust Co., 164 Montague Street, Brooklyn. Thomas A. McIntyre has been endeavoring to arrange a consolidation of leading flour mills, and, it is supposed, the action above mentioned is preparatory to participating in some such combination. It is said the new company may be called the United States Milling Co.—V. 66, p. 336.

Herring-Hall-Marvin Co.—Deposits.—About 80 per cent of the preferred and about 60 per cent of the common stock have been deposited under the agreement.

The creditors at a meeting in Cincinnati last week passed a resolution accepting the reorganization plan.—V. 68, p. 722.

Hoboken Land & Improvement Co.—Sale of Lands.—The company this week conveyed to the Pennsylvania RR. Co. the railroad repair shops and grounds at the foot of Tenth Street for $332,500, and to the Hamburg-American Steamship Co. for $462,000 property vacated by the Pennsylvania RR. An indemnity bond of $500,000 was given to protect the Pennsylvania RR. Co. against the operation of a mortgage for $1,500,000 to the Hudson Trust Co., as trustee, covering the lands of the Hoboken Land & Improvement Co.

Hocking Valley RR.—Listed.—The New York Stock Exchange has listed the company's $7,200,000 first consolidated mortgage 100-year 4½ per cent gold bonds of 1899; also $10,000,000 preferred stock and $6,000,000 common stock; also $1,401,000 Columbus & Hocking Valley RR. first mortgage extended 4 per cent gold coupon bonds of 1948.

Description of Bonds.—The first consolidated mortgage 100-year 4½ per cent gold bonds (part of an authorized issue of $30,000,000) bear interest from July 1, 1899, payable semi-annually, i. e., the first coupon is payable Jan. 1, 1900. Principal matures July 1, 1999. Both principal and interest are payable in gold coin of the United States of the present standard of weight and fineness, in the city of New York, and without deduction for any tax which the railway company may be required to pay or to retain therefrom. Coupon bonds may be registered as to principal, or may be converted into full registered bonds. The mortgage was made jointly by the Hocking Valley Ry. Co. and the Buckeye Coal & Ry. Co., and covers the railway company's entire railway property, equipment and franchises, together with all property to be acquired by the use of reserved bonds as herein-after mentioned; also certain stocks and bonds as below mentioned, and the lands of the Buckeye Coal & Ry. Co. The mortgage provides that the Coal Company shall pay two cents per ton on all coal mined from the lands of the Coal Company, to be used in purchasing bonds, if obtainable, at not over 105 per cent and accrued interest, all bonds so purchased to be canceled. All sums not so used within six months after their receipt by the trustee to be returned to the Coal Company.

Of said $30,000,000 of 4½ per cent bonds, $7,200,000 have been delivered as a part of the purchase price of the properties acquired; $7,155,000 are reserved to provide for the following underlying bonds:

C. & H. V. 1st mort. 4s. $1,401,000	O. & W. V. 1st mort- gage 7s. $1,584,000
C. & T. 1st mortgage 7s. 2,500,000	Car trusts. 1,070,000
C. & T. 2nd mortgage 7s. 600,000

[The mortgage reserves the right to the company to "extend" any of these bonds should it so desire, rather than to redeem them at maturity by use of the reserved 4½ per cent bonds.]

An additional $5,645,000 of 4½s are reserved under careful restrictions for new constructions and acquisitions, the property so acquired to be subject to the lien of the mortgage.

The following securities have been delivered to the trustee as part security for the 4½s.

$1,345,000 first mortgage bonds Ohio Land & Ry. Co.
$278,000 bonds Wellston & Jackson Belt Ry. Co.
2,495 shares capital stock Buckeye Coal & Ry. Co.
2,500 shares capital stock Wellston & Jackson Belt Ry. Co.
1,999 shares of the Ohio Land & Ry. Co.

Ignoring the $30,000 bonds of the Ohio Land & Ry. Co., and the $22,000 bonds of the Wellston & Jackson Belt Ry. Co., which are still outstanding in the hands of the public, the security for the above-described 4½ per cent mortgage (subject to $7,155,000 underlying bonds on the parts of railway and equipment for which reservation is made) may be summarized as:

The directors of the company are as follows: Nicholas Monsarrat, George H. Gardiner, William N. Cott, George T. Spahr and Melville E. Ingalls, Jr. It is contemplated that at an early date the board of directors will be enlarged to nine members, and it is probable that in addition some changes in the present membership will be carried out.

Capital Stock.—The authorized capital stock of the company consists of: 150,000 shares, par value of $100 each, of 4 per cent non-cumulative preferred stock, and 110,000 shares, par value of $100 each, of common stock. Of these amounts there have been issued 100,000 shares of preferred stock and 60,000 shares of common stock. The remainder of the authorized stock, viz.: 50,000 shares of preferred stock and 50,000 shares of common stock is unissued, and can be used only "for the purpose of acquiring interests in the Toledo & Ohio Central Ry. Co. and Columbus Sandusky & Hocking RR. Co., or successor companies, if at any time thought practicable and desirable by the reorganization managers."

The rights and preferences of said two classes of stock severally and respectively are as follows:

The preferred stock will be entitled, out of any and all surplus net profits, to non-cumulative dividends, whenever declared by the board of directors, at the rate of, but not exceeding, 4 per cent per annum, for the fiscal year beginning on the first day of July, 1899, and for each and every fiscal year thereafter, payable in preference and priority to any payment of any dividend on the common stock for such fiscal year. In addition thereto, in the event of the dissolution of the company, the holders of the preferred stock shall be entitled to receive the par value of their preferred shares out of the assets of the company before anything shall be paid therefrom to the holders of the common stock. All the preferred stock is and will be subject to the right of the company to redeem the same at par at any time after three years from the date of its issue.

Whenever 4 per cent dividends shall have been declared on both preferred and common stock for any fiscal year, any further dividends for such year shall be equally for the benefit of all shares, whether preferred or common.

One of the regulations adopted by the stockholders pursuant to the laws of Ohio provides:

No mortgage in addition to the $20,000,000 first consolidated mortgage shall be put upon the property of the Hocking Valley Railway Company, acquired under or in pursuance of the provisions of said plan of reorganization, nor shall the amount of the preferred stock be increased except in each instance after obtaining the consent of the holders of a majority of the whole amount of the preferred stock then outstanding given at a meeting of the stockholders called for that purpose, and also the consent of the holders of a majority of such part of the common stock as shall be represented at such meeting, the holders of each class of stock voting separately. But, nevertheless, the board of directors in its discretion, from time to time may extend and may postpone the date of payment of any of the existing underlying mortgages on the property of this company.—V. 68, p. 772.

Planters Compress Co.—Status.—This company was organized under the laws of West Virginia about a year ago to own the Lowry patents for compressing into cylindrical bales cotton and other substances. It has outstanding $5,000,000 of capital stock and is issuing $2,500,000 more. A majority of the stock is tied up for five years in a voting trust, it being merely the voting trust certificates that are listed on the Boston Stock Exchange. There are no bonds outstanding. There has been talk recently of re-incorporating the company with a larger capitalization ($15,000,000) under the laws of New Jersey, but whether this idea is likely to be carried out in the near future we have been unable to ascertain.

The company had twenty-five machines in use during the past season and now has 700 machines contracted for; a much greater number it is stated could be readily disposed of, if they were obtainable. The machines produce uniform bales, about three feet long and weighing about 250 pounds each, in which the cotton forms a spiral extending from one end of the bale to the other. The bale consequently displays little disposition to swell laterally, but when its fastenings are loosed it increases in length from three to eight feet. The density of the cotton so compressed is from 45 to 47 pounds to the cubic foot.

The President of the company is Gen. Stephen M. Weld of Boston, and Mr. T. Jefferson Coolidge, Jr., is one of the directors. Six subsidiary companies were formed to operate in the South, but these six within a short time will be reduced by consolidation to the following: Georgia and Carolina Planters' Co., capital, $3,500,000; Tennessee & Arkansas Co., capital, $4,200,000; Texas Planters' Co., $3,000,000. The charge for making a 250 pound cylindrical bale with the Lowry machine is fifty cents. The parent company receives 38 per cent net of the gross receipts.

The advantages of the bale are officially stated as follows:

The great advantage of our bale arises from the fact that it can be sampled easily; that it can be examined by the eye by stripping the covering down; that it cannot be burned; that it cannot be false packed, and if mixed packed the eye will at once detect it; that it is easily handled on account of its shape, size and weight; that the water freight is one-half what they are for the square bale on account of the great density obtained by the bale, and that all rail freights must come down very much for the same reason.

We have had no trouble from the cotton being too matted except from one mill. They said the staple was not hurt, but they would have to air it two or three days to use it properly. A great deal of the cotton was compressed wet and damp, and while we do not approve of this method of compressing cotton, the results were much better than in the square bale, as the cotton does not rot, there being only 8 inches of cotton that the air does not touch. Our cotton is as thoroughly cleaned as any cotton that is made, and probably more so.

The demand for the cotton at present, owing to the difference in freights, would naturally come from abroad, as the foreigners can pay more for it than the Americans. American mills offer us 4c. and sometimes 5-16c. more than for the square bale, and very much prefer our bale to the square bale.

We can run our machines continuously without stopping the gin when a bale is detached. The estimate as saved per bale as against the old square bale is from $3 to $3½. Furthermore, our machine can compress hay, flax, cow hair, horse hair, cotton waste, in fact anything fibrous, and we consider cotton does not represent more than half the earning power of our machine.

A shipment of 1,800 bales of cotton compressed by the Lowry machine was recently made from Charleston to Genoa at 26c. per cwt., against a rate of 54c. per cwt. for the regular square bale.

Indo Egyptian Compress Co.—The stockholders of the Planters' Compress Co., it is stated, are to be allowed to subscribe at $20 per $100 share for stock in the Indo Egyptian Compress Co. This last-named company was incorporated recently in New Jersey with an authorized capital of $15,000,000, of which $4,000,000 will remain in the treasury, to operate under the Lowry patents in foreign countries other than Mexico. The intention is stated to be to apply its system to the baling of cotton in India and Egypt and to the baling of hay, jute, sisal, etc., in these and other countries.—V. 68, p. 573.

People's Gas Light & Coke Co. of Chicago.—Quarterly Report to City.—The report to the City Comptroller covering sales of manufactured gas to private consumers for the first quarter of 1899 compares as follows: 1899, $1,545,211; 1898, $1,436,227; 1897, $1,429,172. The increase for 1899 amounts to 7.05 per cent.

Natural Gas.—The Chicago "Economist" says: "The Indiana Natural Gas Co., whose product is distributed in Chicago by the People's Company, is building a third pipe line, which will increase the supply of natural gas in the city 66 per cent. The People's Company now handles about 15,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas a day, and when the new pipe line is completed next fall it is expected to handle about 25,000,000 cubic feet per day, or more than its sales of manufactured gas. The natural gas is mostly sold under contracts with large consumers, which provide for the payment of a lump sum per month. The gas is not measured, but it is said that the average price would be somewhere around 30 cents per thousand. The sales of natural gas by the People's Company have been: In 1899, $1,141,996; in 1897, $1,152,836; in 1896, $1,069,611."

Distribution to Stockholders.—The company, it is rumored, proposes shortly to distribute to its stockholders certificates of proprietary interest in the Manhattan Oil Co., representing the stock of that company acquired by the People's Company in September, 1898. The People's Company, it is said, cannot legally hold the stock of another company, and consequently is led to make the distribution.

Officers.—W. S. McCrea has been elected Treasurer; L. A. Wiley, formerly Secretary and Treasurer, continues as Secretary.—V. 68, p. 525.

Quincy (Ill.) Gas & Light Co.—Bonds.—This company has sold to Messrs. Strong, Sturgis & Co. and Wilson & Stephens of this city its issue of $600,000 first mortgage 5 per cent bonds. The bonds are dated January 1, 1899, and mature in thirty years, unless sooner redeemed by the company at 110 and interest. The company is the result of consolidation of the Quincy Gas Light & Coke Co., the Thomson-Houston Electric Co. and the Empire Light & Power Co. Among the directors are J. Manchester Haynes of Augusta, Me.; Harrison E. Gawtry, Frank Tilford, C. W. Morse and J. W. Gelshennen of this city. The trustee will probably be the Illinois Trust & Savings Bank of Chicago, Illinois. We understand that the bonds will be offered to the public shortly by the bankers at 103½ and interest.

Railroad Bonds as Savings-Bank Investments.—New Law in New York State.—The Krum Bill amending the Savings-Bank Law of the State, as finally signed, differs slightly in phraseology from the text as previously published, but not in its legal effect. Savings banks are now allowed to invest in the first mortgage bonds of any railroad in other States connecting with and controlled by any railroad of this State on the same conditions as to solvency and dividend-paying that are required in respect of New York railroads. They may invest also on similar conditions in the first mortgage bonds of the following companies:

Chicago & North Western RR.,	Delaware Lack. & Western RR.,
Chicago Burlington & Quincy RR.,	N. Y. New Haven & Hartford RR.,
Michigan Central RR.,	Boston & Maine RR.,
Illinois Central RR.,	Maine Central RR.,
Pennsylvania RR.,	Ponds Johnstown & Gloversville RR.
Delaware & Hudson Canal Co.,

Not more than 20 per cent of the whole amount of deposits of any savings banks can be invested in railroad bonds and not more than 5 per cent in the bonds of any one railroad. Street railways in cities are not included in the term railroads within the meaning of the act. Mr. Krum's bill is given in full in the STATE AND CITY department, and an editorial regarding it will be found on a preceding page of the CHRONICLE.

Rapid Transit in New York City.—Amended Tunnel Bill Passed.—On Wednesday the Legislature adopted by practically a unanimous vote Senator Stranahan's New York City Rapid Transit bill, in which are incorporated Senator Ford's amendments, suggested by Gov. Roosevelt. The amendments provide two methods of building the rapid transit road, the first by the city and the second by a railroad corporation in case the Rapid Transit Commission decides that construction by the city is impracticable. If the commission adopts the second method of construction it must, beginning on Oct. 2, advertise for four consecutive weeks for sealed proposals for the construction, equipment, operation and maintenance of the railway. The proposals shall be submitted on or before Jan. 2, 1900. The grant is to be for a term not to exceed fifty years and may be renewed for periods not to exceed twenty-five years each, upon terms to be made by arbitration or by the Supreme Court. The grant shall also provide for a valuation of the property in connection with the road and for the purchase of this property at such valuation by the city at its option at the expiration of each period of readjustment. If the city shall elect to purchase the property it may at its option issue gold bonds bearing not less than 3 per cent interest to the amount of the valuation of the property, and such bonds shall be accepted by the grantee at their par value. The Rapid Transit Commission shall have free access to the books and records of the grantee for the purpose of determining the original cost of the road, the amount of the gross receipts and the expenses of operation.

The Assembly on Saturday last adopted the constitutional amendment separating the debt of New York City from that of its constituent counties when determining the city debt limit. The amendment was approved by the Legislature a year ago, and therefore when passed by the Senate will need only the acceptance by the people at the election next November to be operative. The exclusion of the county debt will reduce the city debt considerably below the 10 per cent limit and enable it, it is thought, to borrow the money necessary for building the tunnel road, if decided best.

President Vreeland of the Metropolitan Street Railway Co. is quoted as saying that his company will not undertake to build the tunnel under any circumstances. Secretary Amory of the Third Avenue R.R. Co., on the other hand, expresses the opinion that his corporation will seek to acquire the franchise. While the Metropolitan Street Railway Co. possesses the greater number of branch lines ("feeders") in the city south of 42d Street, it is pointed out that the Third Avenue R.R. controls the greater number north of that street, while above the Harlem River its lines are being extended to cover an immense territory.—V. 68, p. 774.

Republic Iron & Steel Co.—Over-Subscribed.—The $9,500,000 preferred stock offered for general subscription at par with a like amount of common stock as bonus was largely over-subscribed. The total authorized capital is $30,000,000.

common and $25,000,000 seven per cent cumulative preferred, but of this $4,500,000 preferred and $3,000,000 is to be retained in the treasury. See prospectus, etc., in CHRONICLE of April 8, page 674.

Richmond & Mecklenburg RR.—Southern Ry.—New Lease—Bonds to be Refunded.—The Richmond & Mecklenburg RR., previously operated under a temporary agreement, has been taken over by the Southern Railway under a lease dated Nov. 1, 1898. A plan for refunding the $315,000 first mortgage 6 per cent bonds of the Richmond & Mecklenburg RR. into new 4 per cent bonds is operative, and the exchange is expected to be made shortly.—V. 68, p. 620.

Rochester (N. Y.) Ry.—Options on Stock.—A press dispatch on April 25 says that a syndicate has secured options on a large majority of the stock of the Rochester Ry. Co. The same dispatch states that the Cuyler-Morgan syndicate proposes to build an electric road to connect Rochester with Lewiston, N. Y. (a distance of 70 miles), and so with Buffalo. Friends of the Niagara Falls Power Co. are interested with J. P. Morgan & Co. in the consolidation of the Buffalo-Niagara Fall roads under the title of the International Traction Co., and it may be are planning a companion corporation to operate in and around Rochester.—V. 67, p. 951.

St. Louis Terminal Cupples Station & Property Co.—Listed.—The New York Stock Exchange has listed $1,000,000 additional first mortgage 4½ per cent 5-20-year gold bonds of 1917, making total amount listed to date $3,000,000.—V. 66, p. 1087.

San Francisco Breweries Co.—Reorganization.—At an extraordinary general meeting April 6 Daniel Willink, 35 Cophall Avenue, London, E. C., was appointed to liquidate the company with a view to reorganization by the following plan, as reported in the London papers:

Capital of new company to be £210,000, viz.: 84,000 ordinary shares of £1 each, 126,000 eight per cent cumulative preference shares of £1 each. The holders of the £500,000 debentures in the old company to agree to a reduction of 20 per cent in the capital value of their debentures, and to accept in exchange therefor 6 per cent debentures of the new company for £400,000. The new debentures to be part of an issue of £500,000, out of which £100,000 would be available to provide funds to liquidate the present company's debts. The new share capital to be allotted to holders of present capital in the proportion of two new ordinary shares to each holder of one old ordinary share and three new preference shares to each holder of one old preference share. The allotment of each preference share of the new company to carry an obligation to subscribe 13s. 4d. for the new first mortgage debentures, which will provide £84,000, and each ordinary share an obligation to subscribe 2s. 6d. to such first mortgage debentures, which will provide £10,500, or £94,500 in all; this sum to be utilized in paying: Bills payable, £29,500; bank loans, £41,200; debenture interest due 1st April, 1899, £15,000; reconstruction expenses, arrears of income tax, &c., £8,800.

Seaboard & Roanoke RR.—Florida Central & Peninsular RR.—Georgia & Alabama Ry.—Seaboard Air-Line System.—Richmond Petersburg & Carolina RR.—Consolidation.—We learn that the plans of the Williams syndicate contemplate the consolidation of these several properties into a single corporation and the creation by that corporation of a blanket mortgage covering the whole system, aggregating nearly 2,500 miles of railroad. A map showing the system will be found in our INVESTORS' SUPPLEMENT, issued to-day, on the page adjoining the statement for the Seaboard & Roanoke RR.—V. 68, p. 620, 428, 188.

South Carolina & Georgia RR.—Reported Sale.—It is reported that Charles Parsons, the President of the South Carolina & Georgia, has sold his controlling interest in the property, but the report could not be confirmed yesterday at the company's office.—V. 68, p. 674.

Southern Car & Foundry Co.—Consolidation.—The consolidation under this title of the Lenoir City Car Works, of Lenoir City, Tenn., the Elliott Car Co., of Gadsden, Ala., and the Memphis Car Works, of Memphis, is announced. The new company was recently incorporated in New Jersey, with $750,000 of capital stock. The capitalization as now reported is $2,000,000. J. M. Elliott, Jr., of Gadsden, is President, and R. Z. Roberts, of Lenoir City, Vice President. The company, it is said, will have a daily capacity of forty freight and coal cars, and intends also to manufacture passenger cars.—V. 68, p. 725.

Southern Ry.—Carolina & Cumberland Gap Ry.—Consolidated—New Loan.—The Carolina & Cumberland Gap Ry., which was purchased on Sept. 1, 1898, by the Southern Ry., is now owned in fee by that company, which has canceled all the old bonds and issued in their stead its own Aiken Branch first mortgage 4 per cent 100-year gold bonds for an aggregate of $150,000.—V. 68, p. 620; V. 67, p. 427.

Tidewater Steel Co.—Stock Over-subscribed.—This company's $1,500,000 of capital stock, in 10 shares, was offered at par in Philadelphia recently by Dick Bros. & Co., and was largely over-subscribed. The company is being incorporated under the laws of Pennsylvania for the acquirement and improvement of the Wellman Iron & Steel Co. of Chester, Pa., a property described as follows:

The property consists of 26 acres of land, with a water front on the Delaware; a blast furnace with a capacity of 150 tons of pig iron a day, an open hearth steel plant containing 4 furnaces, 2 plate mills, a blooming mill, etc. The works cost originally about $1,500,000. There will be added three additional furnaces for making open hearth steel, new engines, etc., a new plate mill for large size plates, and buildings and equipment to manufacture and roll into plates and billets 3,000 tons of basic open hearth steel per week, for which the sum of $500,000 is set apart.

GENERAL ELECTRIC COMPANY.

SEVENTH ANNUAL REPORT—FOR THE YEAR ENDING
JANUARY 31, 1899.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., April 26, 1899.

To the Stockholders of the General Electric Company:

The prosperity which has attended other lines of business during the past year has been shared by your Company. The important extensions made to its factory plants during the past eighteen months have proved to be most timely, and the Company is now greatly benefited by the increased facilities they afford.

The matters of stock reduction and re-valuation of the patent account of the Company were brought to your attention in the last annual report. Since then a reduction has been made of 40 per cent in the share capital of the Company, by vote of the stockholders at a meeting specially called for that purpose, the common stock being reduced from $30,460,000 to $18,276,000, and the preferred stock from $4,252,000 to $2,551,200. The patent account has been reduced from $8,000,000 to $4,000,000.

The profits for the year, after deducting all general patent and miscellaneous expenses, were .....	$3,896,984 10
Deduct deficit as of August 18, 1898, after reducing patent account and capital stock (see page 829).....	1,840,761 03
Less interest on debentures and current dividend on preferred stock.....	$2,056,123 07
	$1,684,484 67

Your careful attention is invited to the accompanying reports of the First, Second and Third Vice Presidents.

The thanks of the Directors and Officers are due to the Engineers, Department Managers and their associates for the untiring service rendered during the year, in which the demands upon them have been particularly severe.

By order of the Board of Directors,

C. A. COFFIN, President.

SECOND VICE-PRESIDENT'S REPORT

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., April 14, 1899.

C. A. Coffin, Esq., President General Electric Company:

SIR—The Balance Sheet and Statement of Profit and Loss herewith transmitted—with explanations of the items on the Balance Sheet—include the assets and liabilities and profit and loss accounts of the Edison General Electric, Edison Electric Light and Thomson-Houston Electric Companies (which, for convenience of bookkeeping are consolidated with those of the General Electric Company) at January 31, 1899; and when "the Company" is spoken of, all the above-mentioned corporations are included.

FACTORY PLANTS.

This account represents the Real Estate (lands and buildings), Machinery, tools, appliances, etc., Patterns, drawings, etc., and Sundries (fittings and other small property accounts) of the manufacturing plants at Schenectady, New York; Lynn, Massachusetts, and Harrison, New Jersey. The lands of all three plants now amount to about 160 acres, and the total factory floor space of all their buildings is approximately 1,800,000 square feet.

All are free from mortgage or other lien. In the last Annual Report it was estimated that certain extensions to the Schenectady plant would cost about $500,000. The Company's increased business has necessitated much larger additions to its manufacturing capacity, both at Schenectady and Lynn, than were then projected, and $786,000 have been expended during the past year in enlargements, new buildings, improvements and machinery. The cost of these additions has been charged against the general earnings of the Company, as have also all expenditures for the maintenance and repair of buildings and machinery plus an allowance to provide for depreciation.

A summary of the changes in this account since the last Annual Report is as follows:

Book Value Jan. 31, 1898.	Cost of Additions during the Year.	Written off at the End of the Year.	Book Value Jan. 31, 1899.

REAL ESTATE.

(OTHER THAN FACTORY PLANTS.)

This account represents the investment in the Edison Building, 44 Broad Street, New York City; also a four-story brick building covering five lots on the corner of Avenue B and 17th Street, New York City, and sundry parcels of land in various places, mostly improved and rented, which have been acquired at various times, chiefly in payment of debts.

All are free from mortgages and will be sold when opportunities offer.

This account has increased $28,506 11 during the year, chiefly by taking real estate in Chicago, Rockford and Rock Island in payment of debts.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

No material changes in the book valuations of Stocks and Bonds have been made since they were appraised two years ago.

The book value of those not readily salable was fixed on January 31, 1897, after careful examination of their worth at that time. Those having a market value are still carried under the price of then reported sales.

Schedules A and B annexed hereto contain lists of the most important of the Company's holdings of stocks and bonds. Their total par value is $13,745,542 83. They are carried at an aggregate book value of $6,084,775 44. In addition, the Company owns various other securities. As their present value is doubtful and their future value speculative, they are not set forth in the schedules. They are carried on the books as follows:

Stock and bonds of Local Lighting and Street Railway Companies wholly owned (par value $289,560)	116,053 45
Sundry holdings (par value $301,116)	125,161 58
Miscellaneous securities of many underlying manufacturing selling and patent-owning corporations, and also of street railway and lighting companies, carried at one dollar for each lot, in all...	132 00

Total book value of all stocks and bonds, as per Balance Sheet.....$7,226,422 45

I believe the actual present aggregate value of the foregoing described securities is fully equal to the total amount at which they stand on the books.

SALES OF STOCKS AND BONDS.

Pursuant to the established policy of selling securities which there is no special reason for holding permanently, various stocks and bonds have been sold for cash since the last Annual Report.

Their total par value was $1,190,115 00.
They were sold for.....	$1,070,960 39
They had been carried on the books at.....	746,498 36
Profit.....	$324,462 03

The money realized from the above sale of assets was not required for the current business of the Company, but was expended upon extensions to the Factory Plants, in purchasing $300,000 of the Company's own Debentures, and to protect and improve existing investments by acquiring the following securities:

NOTES AND ACCOUNTS RECEIVABLE.

This account represents the total debts now due the Company.

They appear in the Balance Sheet at an estimated realizable value, which I believe to be a fair one—i. e., their face, $5,806,961 75, less an allowance of $720,412 93 for possible losses.

FACE VALUES.

	Notes Receivable.	Accounts Receivable.	Total.

In the above settlements of old debts there was realized $49,799 21 over last year's book valuations, less $1,982 41 loss in settling a few debts below their appraised value. Net gain above appraised value, $44,816 80.

The sales of the last three months of the year amounted to $4,151,904 62.

Total book value as per balance sheet.....	1,195,500 99	3,891,047 83	5,086,548 82

"DOLLAR" NOTES AND ACCOUNTS.

There yet remain—of the $2,432,860 88 old notes and accounts receivable which three years ago were written off to Profit and Loss, except the nominal book value of one dollar for each debtor—notes and accounts of one hundred and thirty-one debtors aggregating $1,374,708 69. These stand on the books at a total of $131, and are being liquidated gradually.

The total amount realized from this class of notes and accounts by settlements made during the past year was $62,190 62.

WORK IN PROGRESS.

This account does not include outlays for anything in process of manufacture at the factories, but represents expenditures for labor, material, etc., at cost, on 315 uncompleted installations of finished apparatus in progress at various places.....	$774,065 67
Less partial payments thereon, received under the terms of the contracts as work progressed.....	267,629 72
Balance as per balance sheet.....	$506,435 95

INVENTORIES.

These accounts represent actual inventories—counted and valued item by item—of raw materials and goods manufactured and in process of manufacture at the factories; of manufactured goods in storerooms of local offices and on consignment; of office furniture, fixtures, instruments, etc., in the general office and in local offices; of machinery, tools and materials in local repair shops; and also of shipments in transit to local storerooms.

Raw materials have been valued at or under the market prices prevailing on January 31, 1899; active selling finished and partly finished apparatus and supplies at factory cost; inactive or slow-selling apparatus and supplies at about 50 per cent of factory cost; obsolete apparatus and supplies at scrap value; and furniture, machinery, tools, instruments, etc., at present value.

FACTORIES.

On the above basis the inventories of the factories exceeded their book value. Following the practice of previous years, however, the whole of such excess has not been taken as a part of this year's profit, but a portion has been retained as a reserve against increased cost of manufacturing due to the advance in prices of raw materials.

The increase of nearly a million dollars over last year's factory inventories is a natural result of the accumulation of work in process at the factories, due to the growth of the Company's business.

GENERAL AND LOCAL OFFICES.

The inventories of apparatus and supplies in all local offices showed a shrinkage from book value of $26,153 47, which has been written off as a loss for the year.

During any year goods are taken in and out of local office inventories at the factory cost prevailing at the close of the previous year. Consequently there must always be considerable shrinkage in values of finished apparatus and supplies carried over, in adjusting their inventory prices to factory costs as well as to meet losses due to returned articles, cost of repairs, breakages, boxing, re-classifying and writing down the book value of goods no longer quick-selling, etc., etc. The total inventoried value of all office furniture and fixtures in the general and local offices was $47,259 75, and of instruments, etc., was $27,222 91. These items have been reduced to $30,000 and $20,000 respectively, and the differences charged to this year's Profit and Loss.

CONSIGNMENTS.

Finished apparatus for novel uses has been delivered to various concerns subject to purchase if its operation is successful. The greater part of consignment account represents such contingent sales, and the remainder represents apparatus on exhibition or loaned to regular customers for temporary use by them.

All such shipments are charged to this account at factory cost. Their total is.....$83,288 48
Less allowance for depreciation.....30,424 18
Net book value of Consignments as per balance sheet.....$52,864 30

LIABILITIES.

The Company has no Note Payable, nor is there under discount any paper bearing the Company's endorsement or guaranty.

Total		$3,831,411
Total Book Value		$3,801,827 41

Average per cent of book value of above-named Stocks to par 47-03.
NOTE.—Corresponding per cent of Stocks in the last Annual Report was 45-39.

It has not borrowed any money, nor has the Company's credit been used during the year either by issuing notes, endorsing customers' paper for discount or lending its name in any way; but by adhering to the policy of the previous four years and maintaining sales on a basis of cash or short credit to desirable customers, all purchases have been paid for in cash.

DEBENTURES.

During the year the Company has purchased and canceled $300,000 of its own 5 per cent Gold Coupon Debentures due June 1, 1922, at an average cost of 99-19 per cent.

ACCRUED INTEREST ON DEBENTURES.

This account, as its name implies, is the full amount of 5 per cent interest accrued to January 31, 1899, on the Company's $5,700,000 outstanding Debentures.

ACCOUNTS PAYABLE.

This account includes all unpaid audited indebtedness. At the close of business on Jan. 31, 1899, the unpaid bills on hand—none of which was then due under the terms of purchase—amounted to.....$146,195 19
Between Jan. 31 and Feb. 27, 1899, the date of closing the general books, additional expenditures belonging to the past year were audited, amounting to 285,301 35
Total as per Balance Sheet.....$431,496 44

The amount of unpaid vouchers which are carried over in this way monthly—by keeping the books, other than the cash book, open a sufficient time to include each month's expenditures in that particular month—is usually about $500,000.

Respectfully submitted,
J. P. ORD, Second Vice-President.

CERTIFIED PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS' CERTIFICATE.

PATTERSON, CORWIN & PATTERSON,
 CERTIFIED PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS,
 Johnston Building—30 Broad Street,
 NEW YORK CITY.

NEW YORK, April 20, 1899.

To the Board of Directors of the General Electric Co.:

We have made a critical examination of the books and accounts of the General Electric Co., the Edison General Electric Co., the Edison Electric Light Co. and the Thomson-Houston Electric Co., for the year ending January 31, 1899, and hereby certify that the consolidated income accounts published in the foregoing Annual Report of the General Electric Co., as of January 31, 1899, correctly state the results of the business for the period, and that the balance carried down in profit and loss account includes the closing of all income and expense accounts; also accrued interest on debentures and all accrued dividends on preferred stock to January 31, 1899.

We further certify that the consolidated condensed balance sheet published herewith correctly states the assets and liabilities of the Company at January 31, 1899, as shown by the books.

In the course of this examination we audited the payrolls, checked all vouchers for disbursements and found that such disbursements were correctly carried into the general books of account; also traced the sales from the shipping department through the sales journals into the general ledger.

We verified the cash balances by comparison with pass books or statements of the various banks of deposit and by actual count of cash in the Treasurer's office. The only cash items not verified were the various small balances carried in the distant branch offices.

We verified the amounts of stocks, bonds and bills receivable owned by the Company, either by actual count of the securities in the office of the Treasurer or by receipts and certificates of the Trust Companies and other custodians of the same.

We examined, item by item, into the book values of the stocks and bonds owned, and we are satisfied that in the aggregate the actual value of the securities is fully equal to the amount at which they are carried on the books.

We observed the methods employed by those familiar with the circumstances to determine the estimated amount charged off as a reserve against bad debts and other possible losses on notes and accounts receivable, and are satisfied that such estimates were carefully and fairly made. These methods are fully justified by the outcome of the estimates of previous years made on the same basis, the result being a profit over the reservation on the notes and accounts collected. The collections are closely made and the results show the credits are well supervised.

The technical nature of the business of the Company, and the wide range, number and variety of the articles manufactured, render it impracticable for any persons not mechanically expert in the various lines and familiar with the goods to correctly identify and inventory them; therefore the inventories at January 31, 1899, were necessarily taken and priced by the Company's own experts. We, however, noted the manner in which the inventories were compiled, item by item, and verified the computations. Our knowledge of the instructions given and the methods and precautions followed to insure correctness leads us to believe that such inventories were carefully and conservatively taken and that the total value of the goods is not overstated in the amount carried over in the balance sheet.

We have not attempted to appraise the manufacturing plants, but in our opinion, which is based upon our observation of the methods of treating improvements to the plants and the amounts charged off for depreciation, the policy of the management regarding charges to plant is unusually conservative and commendable.

As to the value of the patents and franchises, we are not competent to express an opinion.

We observed the instructions given and the precautions taken to enter all existing current liabilities on the books at the time of closing, and are satisfied that all known accounts payable of the Company are included in the Balance Sheet.

The policy of the Company, as reflected in its accounts, is to charge off all ascertained shrinkages or losses immediately, and at the end of each year to make liberal allowance for possible losses; but no profits are written until sales are made.

We have read the report of the Second Vice President and find that it correctly explains each item of the Balance Sheet and sets forth the general accounting methods of the Company.

PATTERSON, CORWIN & PATTERSON,
 Certified Public Accountants.

Texas & Pacific Railway Co.—Certificates of Deposits for Second Mortgage Bonds Listed.—The New York Stock Exchange has listed the Mercantile Trust Company engraved certificates of deposit for $18,080,000 of the $23,172,000 second mortgage bonds. The committee is empowered to add to the list additional certificates of deposit as issued. Depositors of $1,280,000 of said bonds not included in the above $18,080,000 have exercised the option to sell their bonds to a syndicate for cash.—V. 63, p. 774.

Union Steel & Chain Co.—Incorporated.—This company has been incorporated under the laws of Delaware with an authorized capital stock of $60,000,000, of which $30,000,000 will be preferred stock, 7 per cent non-cumulative. The incorporation is preliminary to the carrying out, it found feasible, of a plan of consolidation. The promoters, it is understood, are E. L. Harper & Son.

United States Electric Lighting Co.—Potomac Electric Power Co.—Control Acquired.—Control of these companies, the only electric light companies in Washington, D. C., has been acquired by the United States Mortgage & Trust Co., on behalf of a syndicate which is understood to be arranging a consolidation of street railway and lighting interests in Washington. See Metropolitan R.R. above, also on page 773 of last week's CHRONICLE.—V. 63, p. 234; V. 67, p. 1111, 75.

United States Flour Milling Co.—Incorporated.—This company was incorporated at Trenton, N. J., on Thursday with authorized capital stock of $25,000,000, of which $12,500,000 is to be 6 per cent cumulative preferred. The incorporators are Albro Akin, Herbert C. Plass and Ralph A. Sturges, all of New York; Winthrop Pond of New Rochelle, and Joseph V. Clark of Hoboken. The stockholders of the Hecker-Jones-Jewell Co. are depositing their shares preparatory to a consolidation, presumably into this company.

United States Mortgage & Trust Co.—Called Bonds.—The $1,000,000 first mortgage trust gold bonds, Series "B," of the United States Mortgage Company (now the United States Mortgage & Trust Co.) have been called for redemption, and will be paid on May 1, 1899, at the company's office. See advertisement on another page.—V. 63, p. 620.

United Power & Transportation Co.—United Traction Co. of Reading, Pa.—Roxborough Chestnut Hill & Norristown Ry.—New Enterprise.—The United Power & Transportation Co. was incorporated in New Jersey last week, and, it is authoritatively stated, will control the Reading Traction system, Reading & Womelsdorf Electric Ry., the Electric Light plant of Reading, the Lebanon Electric Railway and the Roxborough Chestnut Hill & Norristown Railway. The authorized capital stock is $12,500,000, consisting of 500,000 shares of $25 each, but the present issue will be only $3,125,000, consisting of 125,000 shares of $25 each, on which an instalment of $10 per share will be called. The directors and officers are:

Directors.—Robert N. Carson, Philadelphia; John A. Rigg, Reading; T. C. Barr, Orange, N. J.; E. J. Moore, Theodore A. Royal, R. Nelson Buckley, Samuel P. Houston, Samuel Moore, Jr., and John T. Windrim, Philadelphia; Richmond L. Jones and James A. O'Reilly, Reading; Samuel P. Light, Lebanon; George H. B. Martin and F. R. Hansel, Camden.

Officers.—John A. Rigg, President; R. N. Carson, Vice-President; E. J. Moore, Secretary and Treasurer.—V. 67, p. 1264; V. 62, p. 1042.

United States Worsted Co.—Incorporated.—This company has been organized under the laws of New Jersey, with a view to uniting the leading worsted yarn spinners of the country. The new company has an authorized capital stock of $70,000,000, of which $30,000,000 is preferred, and it is said will issue at the outset $16,000,000 preferred and $20,000,000 common stock. Frederick S. Coffin of Boston and S. Walker James are mentioned as the promoters. The incorporators are Samuel B. Lawrence, H. C. Everdell, George E. Spencer, L. J. Hunt and J. C. Young.

Washington (D. C.) Gas Light Co.—Purchase.—The street railway and lighting syndicate, headed by Frederick C. Stevens, has deposited $250,000 with the Fourth National Bank of Philadelphia as earnest money for the purchase of a controlling interest in the company's $2,600,000 stock (in $20 shares) at $60 a share. Ex-Senator Smith, of New Jersey, and ex Senator Gorman are said to be interested in the syndicate.

Wheeling & Lake Erie RR.—New Securities, Etc.—The receivers will turn over the property to the new company at midnight April 30 and the Mercantile Trust Co. will begin the distribution of the new securities the early part of next week.—V. 68, p. 574.

Wilkesbarre & Wyoming Valley Traction Co.—Control Sold.—A press dispatch states that a controlling interest in the $5,000,000 stock of this property has been purchased at $41 per $100 share by Brown Brothers & Co., representing private capital. They are also negotiating, it is said, for the Scranton and Carbondale systems, which would give them a continuous electric railway line from Nanticoke to Forest City, thirty-five miles.—V. 66, p. 285.

Wisconsin Central Co.—Holders of Junior Securities to Act on Plan.—The holders of certificates of deposit of the Old Colony Trust Co. for Wisconsin Central Co. income 5 per cent gold bonds (and United States Trust Co. certificates of deposit for same), preferred stock and common stock, will meet at the office of the Old Colony Trust Co., Boston, at 2 P. M. on May 9, 1899, for the purpose of voting upon the plan of reorganization proposed by the committee representing the holders of Wisconsin Central Co. first mortgage 5s. This plan was published fully in the CHRONICLE of April 15, page 725, and has been accepted by the Hart committee, representing the income bonds and stock.—V. 63, p. 725.

—Coupons and dividends payable at the Farmers' Loan & Trust Company in the month of May will be found advertised on page viii.

—Parties having funds to invest are directed to the advertisement of Mason, Lewis & Co., bankers of Boston, Mass., who offer an issue of street railway bonds popular with Eastern investors.

—The $1,000,000 first mortgage trust gold bonds 4 per cent 5-20 year, series "J," of the United States Mortgage & Trust Co. were largely over subscribed.

—The Liberty National Bank reports capital and undivided profits at $885,172. Last year at this time the figures were given at $892,600 and in 1897 at $721,000.

—Attention is called to the offering of Kansas City park certificates by The Trowbridge, MacDonald & Niver Co., Chicago. Particulars regarding the issue will be found in the advertisement in our State and City Department.

—The National City Bank of New York announces that it will receive offers for subscription to the capital stock of The Amalgamated Copper Company of New Jersey until noon of May 4th at the rate of $100 per share. Subscriptions must be accompanied by a certified check to the order of the bank for 5 per cent of the amount of such subscription, the balance to be payable within ten days after date of notice of allotment. In case of over-subscription allotments will be made pro rata. The organization of The Amalgamated Copper Co. of New Jersey has already been announced, but it is now officially stated that the company has purchased large interests in Anaconda Copper Company, Parrott Silver & Copper Company, Washoe Copper Company, Colorado Smelting & Mining Company, and other companies and properties. The capital stock of the company is $75,000,000, divided into 750,000 shares of common stock of the par value of $100 each. There is no bonded or mortgage debt.

The Commercial Times.

COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

FRIDAY NIGHT, April 28, 1899.

Although in some lines of trade some complaint has been heard of a falling off in the demand, the general business situation has continued a healthy one. The movement of merchandise has been on a fairly liberal scale, and while there have been few advances in prices, there have been comparatively few articles for which values have weakened. There has been a revival of the export demand for breadstuffs, but it has been on a lower basis of values. Seasonable weather conditions have been experienced in practically all sections of the country and prospects for both the grain and cotton crop have improved. Some interest has been shown in silver, attracted by an upward tendency to values. Advances from the Philippine Islands reported another battle fought, in which the Filipinos were routed.

Lard on the spot has had a slightly better sale, but it has been at lower prices, as values have declined under free offerings. The close was steady at 5.50c. for prime Western and 5.10c. for prime City. Refined lard has been quiet, and prices have declined, closing at 5.65c. for refined for the Continent. Speculation in lard for future delivery has been moderately active. Early in the week, under larger receipts of hogs than expected, prices declined. Subsequently, however, buying by packers held values steady.

DAILY CLOSING PRICES OF LARD FUTURES.

	Sat.	Mon.	Tues.	Wed.	Thurs.	Fri.
April.....	5.52	5.42	5.47	5.45	5.42	5.45

Pork has been in less active demand and prices have weakened slightly, closing at $8 62½@9 25 for mess, $10 50@11 00 for family and $10 25@12 00 for short clear. Cut meats have had a better sale, as exporters have been buying; prices have advanced slightly, and the close was firm at 4¼@4½c. for pickled shoulders, 7¼@8c. for pickled hams, and 5@5½c. for pickled bellies, 14@10 pounds average. Beef has been in moderate demand and steady at $9@10 for mess, $9 50@10 00 for packet, $10@10 50 for family and $14 50@15 00 for extra India mess in tierces. Tallow has weakened to 4½c., closing steady. Oleo stearine has been quiet but steady at 5½c. Lard stearine has been unchanged at 6½c. Cotton-seed oil has been firmly held at 26@26½ for prime yellow. Butter has been in full supply and values have been only barely maintained, closing at 14½@17c. for creamery. Cheese has been quiet and easier, closing at 7¼@12¾c. for State factory, full cream. Speculation in cotton for future delivery has been moderately active. There has been, however, little new interest shown in the market, as the trading has been largely in the way of liquidating outstanding interests in the near-by deliveries. There has been considerable selling by longs of May and August contracts, but they in turn have bought the new-crop deliveries. Anticipated free issuing of notices for deliveries on contracts forced the liquidation early in the week in May, as there were many holders of contracts who did not care to receive the grade of cotton they knew would be tendered, and they sold out and purchased the far-off months. On Wednesday, which was the first "notice" day, "tenders" were issued to the extent of about 30,000 bales, but they were more promptly taken up than those who tendered the cotton expected, with the result that there developed a steadier tone, and during the latter part of the week there was a better demand to cover short contracts. Shorts, however, were sellers of the new-crop deliveries, prompted by the continued favorable weather conditions in the cotton belt. The movement of the crop has been fairly full, and the demand for actual cotton has been light. To-day the tone of the market was steadier and prices advanced for the near-by deliveries on a demand from shorts to cover contracts, closing at a net gain in prices for the day of 3 points for the near-by deliveries, but the distant months were unchanged to 1 point lower. Cotton on the spot has been quiet; prices declined 1/8c. on Wednesday, and to-day advanced 1-16c., closing at 6 3-16c. for middling upland.

The rates on and off middling, as established Nov. 16, 1893, by the Revision Committee, at which grades other than middling may be delivered on contract, are as follows.

HIGH WATER IN THE MISSISSIPPI.—The first break in the levees along the Mississippi River this year occurred on Monday, April 24, between Lockport and Raceland, on Bayou Lafourche, La. The break was reported to be 250 feet wide. The Levee Board has confined its efforts to holding the ends. The levee, at the point where the break occurred, is between 12 and 13 feet high, and the flood running through the crevasse has inundated a considerable area of cane and corn land. The first break in the levees last year occurred on Bayou Lafourche April 19.

JUTE BUTTS, BAGGING, &c.—The market for jute bagging has been quiet the past week. Quotations are unchanged at 5 1/2 c. for 1 1/2 lbs., and 6 1/2 c. for 2 lbs., standard grades. Jute butts continue very dull at 1 05 c. for paper quality and 1 5/8 c. for mixing to arrive.

GOVERNMENT WEEKLY COTTON REPORT.—Mr. James Berry, Chief of the Climate and Crop Bureau of the Agricultural Department, made public on Tuesday the following telegraphic reports on the crops in the Southern States for the week ending April 24.

NORTH CAROLINA.—Except excessive rains on coast Wednesday and Thursday, weather generally favorable; farm work progressing rapidly; cotton being planted.

SOUTH CAROLINA.—Favorable weather for farm work; planting cotton general.

GEORGIA.—Weather conditions favorable, except rather cool at night for cotton; a large percentage of cotton planted; cotton seed scarce and acreage reduced.

FLORIDA.—Week generally favorable; rapid growth of all crops; chopping cotton quite general over northern and central portions, while some seedling continues in western district.

ALABAMA.—Conditions generally favorable, except excessive local rains in east-central portion, cotton planting well advanced and considerable cotton coming up.

MISSISSIPPI.—Planting of cotton has been advanced by favorable weather conditions; needed rain fell on Friday and Saturday, the ground having been too hard to plow; in northern counties nearly half, and in middle and southern counties about three-fourths cotton planted.

LOUISIANA.—Cool but favorable weather for germinating and growth; cotton planting progressing, good seed scarce; early planted cotton up to a stand in some sections.

TEXAS.—General and sufficient rain in most sections very beneficial to farming interests, except too heavy in few localities; fore part of week warm and favorable, latter part cool, retarding plant growth; crops generally late; cotton up to good stands in southern portion, except scattered localities, and planting pushed in northern portions, although retarded somewhat by rain.

ARKANSAS.—Vegetation made rapid growth; cotton planting progressing rapidly.

TENNESSEE.—Generally warm sunshine favored farm work, and, with good showers latter part of week induced rapid growth of vegetation; cotton planting rushed vigorously in southwestern counties.

MISSOURI.—Cotton planting commenced.

OKLAHOMA.—But little cotton planted, ground being too wet to till.

These reports on cotton are summarized by the Department as follows:

Cotton planting is now general over the northern portion of the cotton region, except in Oklahoma and Northern Texas, where it has been delayed by wet weather, and is well advanced in the central portion. In Southern Texas it is coming up to good stands, except in localities, and chopping is general in Northern and Central Florida. Scarcity of seed is reported from Georgia and Louisiana.

BREADSTUFFS.

FRIDAY, April 28, 1899.

The demand for wheat flour has been quiet. The home trade, as a rule, has been an indifferent buyer, jobbers generally showing an absence of confidence in the situation, and have been disposed to keep their purchases closer to actual requirements. The demand from exporters also has been limited, their purchases being of an unimportant character. Offerings have been quite free, but values have held to a fairly steady basis. Rye flour has had only a jobbing sale, but values have been unchanged and steady. Corn meal has had only a limited sale and prices have weakened slightly with the grain.

Speculation in wheat for future delivery has been only moderately active, and for the week prices show something of a decline. The improved weather conditions in the winter-wheat belt have had a tendency to modify the earlier reports of damage to the crop and the spring-wheat crop is having a favorable start. Immediately following our last report there was a slight decline in prices under realizing sales by longs and some hammering by bear operators, prompted by improved crop accounts. Monday, however, the market again turned steadier, and prices advanced slightly on a larger decrease in the supply in sight than had been expected, and a good export demand. Tuesday there was a decided slump in values, prices for the day showing a loss of 1½¢. Favorable weather conditions at the West for seeding of the spring crop was the principal weakening feature, and improved crop accounts from the winter-wheat belt had a weakening influence. At the lower prices exporters were free buyers, and this held the decline in check to some extent. Wednesday and Thursday there was further selling by longs to liquidate accounts, but a continued good export demand and drought reports from Russia held values to a steady basis. Business in the spot market has been active, as exporters have been free buyers, but it has been at lower prices, following the decline in futures. To-day the market opened easier, in response to weaker foreign advices, but during the day turned firmer, and advanced on a demand from shorts to cover contracts, stimulated by reports of an active export demand. Business in the spot market was fairly active, sales for export reported late Thursday and to-day amounting to about 500,000 bushels.

Indian corn futures have been quiet and prices have weakened slightly. Early in the week, on a large decrease in the visible supply and an active export demand and buying by shorts to cover contracts, prices advanced. Subsequently, however, values gradually weakened under selling by longs, induced by expectations of a larger acreage for the new crop, a fairly free crop movement, and sympathy with the easier market for wheat. Business in the spot market has been active, as there has been a brisk demand from exporters but at lower prices. To-day the market was steady. The spot market was fairly active and firm. Sales for export here and at outports were 476,000 bushels.

Oats for future delivery in the Western market have been moderately active. Early in the week values held steady on a good cash trade, including fair sales for export. Subsequently, however, under realizing sales by longs and sympathy with the decline in other grains, prices gradually weakened. Business in the local spot market has been fairly active. There has been a demand from exporters, and the home trade has been a fair buyer. To-day the market for futures was quiet. The spot market was fairly active and steady. The sales for export here and at outports were 110,000 bushels.

GOVERNMENT WEEKLY GRAIN REPORT.—Mr. James Berry, Chief of the Climate and Crop Bureau of the Agricultural Department, made public on Tuesday the telegraphic reports on the grain crops in the various States for the week ending April 24, as follows:

WEATHER.—On the whole the weather conditions of the week ending April 24, 1899, were generally less favorable than those of the preceding week. Portions of Eastern Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma and Western Arkansas and local areas in Alabama suffered from excessive rains, while in Southern Michigan and portions of the Upper Ohio Valley and Middle Atlantic States, light rains would prove beneficial. Very favorable conditions are reported from the West Gulf States, and generally to the eastward of the Mississippi River. On the North Pacific coast it was too cool, and frosts were more or less injurious to fruit and tender vegetation in the Rocky Mountain districts.

CORN PLANTING.—Westward of the Mississippi, corn planting is now in progress as far north as Southern Nebraska, and eastward of the Mississippi planting has begun in the southern portions of Illinois, Indiana and Ohio and to West Virginia and Maryland. Wet weather has retarded planting in Missouri, but rapid progress has been made in Tennessee, Virginia and North Carolina. In the East Gulf States corn has generally made good growth but cutworms are causing damage in Mississippi and Georgia. In Texas the crop is generally well cultivated and growing fairly well, but needs warm sunshine.

WINTER WHEAT.—Continued improvement is generally reported in the condition of winter wheat; much of the crop, however, has been winter-killed, especially in Southern Iowa and over the northern portions of Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, and Northwestern Ohio. Except in Southern California and in the upper San Joaquin Valley the outlook for wheat in the Pacific Coast States continues promising, an improved condition being reported from Washington.

SPRING WHEAT.—Seeding is nearing completion over the southern portion of the spring-wheat region, but has been delayed by unfavorable soil conditions over the northern portion.

OATS.—The bulk of the oat crop has been sown, except in the more northerly sections, where seeding is in progress. In the States of the central valleys the early sown is coming up well; the crop is beginning to head in the Southern States, where its condition is generally promising, although needing rain in portions of the Carolinas.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

NEW YORK, FRIDAY, P. M., April 28, 1899.

The general condition of the market has shown improvement during the week. There have been further advances in bleached cottons, some makes of grey cottons have hardened in price, and there are indications of a higher price being reached shortly in some other lines. In the woolen-goods division a tangible advance in clay worsteds has imparted a firmer general tone and in domestic silks the situation is a strong one. There has been a fuller demand for both cottons and woolens, but the expansion has hardly suggested an alarmed condition on the part of buyers, the increase being of moderate extent only. Jobbers and others have probably been more engaged in making the best of the improvement which has come to them with the change to seasonable weather conditions this week, and are not doing much more at the present time than attending to well-ascertained requirements. The reports coming in from the chief out-of-town distributing centres are quite encouraging. The retail trade is active in all seasonable merchandise and the outlook for the balance of the season is hopeful. Collections are generally satisfactory.

WOOLEN GOODS.—The Wanskuck clay worsteds and unfinished worsteds were advanced 5 to 7½¢ per yard Tuesday and were followed yesterday by an advance of 7½¢ per yard in Washington Mills clay worsteds. Indications point to an early advance in men's-wear serges also. The tone of the general woolen goods division has been favorably affected, and although there may be no advances in the price of the medium and low grade of woolens this heavy-weight season, sellers are less likely to press goods for sale at concessions. There are some accumulations of these latter goods in the market, but holders are more confident of the supplementary demand taking care of them. Satinets and doeskin jeans are quiet. The demand for overcoatings has been on a moderate scale at previous prices. Cloakings are steady but quiet.

Dress goods also quiet in both staple and fancy lines, prices unchanged. Flannels and blankets quiet but firm.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The exports of cotton goods from this port for the week ending April 24 were 3,724 packages, valued at $174,107, their destination being to the points specified in the tables below:

* From New England mill points direct.

The value of the New York exports for the year to date has been $5,208,516 in 1899, against $3,507,287 in 1898.

The market is strong for all leading makes of bleached cottons, further advances of ¼¢ to ½¢ being reported this week in the finest makes, such as New York Mills, Wamsutta and Pride of the West 4-4 goods. In low qualities prices are firm but higher than before. Heavy brown sheetings and drills have sold to a considerable extent at full prices for export. Home demand moderate. Light-weights steady with good sales. Ducks firm, with more business doing. Brown osenaburgs quiet and unaltered. Wide sheetings steady with moderate sales. Cotton flannels and blankets dull but firm. Denims continue in limited supply and very firm, in face of light demand; ticks, plaids and other coarse, colored cottons in average request at previous prices. Kid-finished cambrics are quiet and prices maintained. Fancy calicoes are well sold up and in average demand at full prices. More staple lines are firm with higher prices probable in some lines. Staple ginghams scarce and tending against buyers, and dress style ginghams very firm. Regular print cloths have been in limited request but Fall River firm at 2¼¢. There have been good sales of "odds" with occasional slight advance secured.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS.—The demand for dress goods for fall is moderate and chiefly for the better grade novelties. Silks are firm but quiet. Ribbons also firm with moderate business. Linens quiet. Burlaps steady.

STATE AND CITY DEPARTMENT.

CHANGES IN SAVINGS BANK LAWS.

On pages 803 and 804 will be found the new laws passed in Massachusetts and New York relating to the investments of the savings banks. We also give there the bill under consideration in the Connecticut Legislature.

Calhoun County, Ala.—County Seat.—At an election held recently a majority of 1,604 votes was cast in favor of changing the county seat from Jacksonville to Anniston.

Massachusetts.—Savings Bank Investment Bill.—The bill enlarging the field for savings banks investments has passed the State Legislature and has been signed by the Governor. We give the bill in full in our editorial columns, together with Senator Krum's bill of New York State and the Connecticut law now pending, both bearing on the same subject.

Michigan.—Bill Reducing Legal Rate of Interest.—The Senate has passed Senator Lyon's bill making the legal rate of interest 5% and by contract 7%.

New Rochelle, N. Y.—New City Charter.—On April 25, 1899, this place ceased to exist as a town and the new city charter became effective. The Mayor is Michael J. Dillon, the Supervisor of the old town.

New York City.—Hempstead Bill Signed.—On April 31, 1899, the Governor signed the bill taking certain territory from Greater New York and annexing it to the town of Hempstead, Nassau County. The Brooklyn "Eagle" recently defined the change as follows:

The new easterly boundary of the city in the territory of the old town of Hempstead is the easterly boundary of the former village of Far Rockaway and a line drawn due north from the northwest corner of the village of Far Rockaway to the south line of the old town of Jamaica. The bill transfers to Nassau County and the old town of Hempstead all that strip of farm territory of the old town of Hempstead east of the old town of Jamaica's eastern boundary, a tract including the Foster's Meadow section. The whole of the territory lost to the city is a tract a mile and a-half in width and ten miles in length, extending from Floral Park to the ocean and including besides the farming territory above mentioned the former villages of Cedarhurst, Lawrence and Inwood, all of which are now portions of the town of Hempstead and of Nassau County.

New York State.—Constitutional Amendment.—The State Assembly has approved a constitutional amendment providing that "when any city shall include within its boundaries more than one county the power of any county wholly included within such city to become indebted shall cease, but the debt of the county heretofore existing shall not, for the purposes of this section, be reckoned as a part of the city debt." This measure was approved by the Legislature of 1898, and the passage by the present Legislature will bring it before the people of the State for adoption. This amendment applies especially to the City of New York and will eliminate from the bonded indebtedness of the city about 30 millions of county debt, thus increasing the borrowing capacity to that extent.

Savings Bank Investment Bill Signed.—The Governor has signed Senator Krum's bill, which permits savings banks to invest in mortgage bonds of railroad corporations outside of New York State. We give the bill in full in our editorial columns.

Legislature Adjourns.—The New York State Legislature adjourned April 29, 1899. The tax rate was fixed at $2.49 per $1,000, as against $2.08 for 1898.

Pennsylvania.—Direct Inheritance Tax Law Declared Illegal.—On April 24, 1899, the State Supreme Court handed down an opinion declaring unconstitutional the law passed April 12, 1897, entitled "An Act taxing gifts, legacies and inheritances in certain cases and providing for the collection thereof." The Court, in a lengthy decision, held that the Act was a special law, changing the law of succession, and was clearly forbidden by Article III. of the Constitution.

Tennessee.—Bond Bill Vetoed.—Governor McMillin has vetoed another bill which permitted the issuance of bonds payable in gold. This bill authorized the issuance of bonds for certain school purposes and provided that the boards of education might fix and determine the kind of money in which the bonds should be payable at maturity. It is stated that the bill applied only to Memphis and that another bill obviating the objections raised by the Governor has passed both houses.

Legislature Adjourns.—The State Legislature adjourned on April 24, 1899.

The old city hall was destroyed by a cyclone in 1896, and as the city was up to its constitutional limit of indebtedness, no bonds could then be issued for a new building. A party of citizens, therefore, contracted for a building to cost $100,000, which was then sold to the city at cost price, with the understanding that $10,000 should be paid annually by tax levy. ### THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

Monday our Stock Exchange had quite a bad turn, the result of an accumulation of unfavorable conditions and reports. Chief among these was the state of foreign exchange, the rates for which hovered suggestively near the gold-export point; indeed, it was rumored on that day that an outflow of that metal was sure to occur at the close of this week. What gave added plausibility to the rumor was the fact that the transfer of the 20 million dollars of gold due by our Government to Spain began on Saturday. It was at the moment assumed that this transfer would give rise to a new demand for exchange and put the rates up still higher than they were, so that gold would of necessity go out. Indeed, the rates did rise and the Street drew the inference that an outflow of the metal thereby became assured. Of course the fear was without substantial cause, and the next day all but one foreign exchange banker pronounced it so. A large amount of American money is still in Europe; besides, it turned out that three quarters of the exchange needed to make the 20 million dollars transfer to Spain had, previous to the issue of the warrants by the Government, been already accumulated by the National City Bank.

This incident and the extreme sensitiveness shown over a possibility of gold exports should serve as a warning to Congressmen and to the Administration. Current report leads us to fear that the currency proposals contemplated by the coming Congress may not be as radical as was hoped; that no new bank note legislation is to be undertaken. We trust there is no truth in this report. The experience had the current week ought to convince every one that a complete cure for our defective currency arrangements should be provided as soon as possible. What is needed is to put our finances into a condition so secure that an outflow of gold may cause no more alarm in New York than it causes in London. That situation can only be attained by a thorough reform.

There were, as already said, several other influences at work against the market on Monday which helped to cause the "slump" that day. The serious cut in the rates charged for gas by our city organizations, and the bitter contest between the gas companies it apparently indicated as in progress, was one of them. Since then the fight has gone on, but as it has not served to depress the stocks of the companies concerned in it, the contest has become in public estimation of less moment. Monday, also, there were especially unfavorable reports in circulation respecting winter wheat; the planting of spring wheat likewise in important districts was claimed to be very backward. These rumors did not more than last out the day. The chief adverse influence, however, other than the fear of gold exports was the passage of what has been called the Ford Franchise Tax Bill. This piece of legislation was born of the prejudices cultivated by politicians against corporations and every other combination of capital. The danger from it and other like legislative transactions grows mainly out of the two facts, (1) that the class who let others do all their thinking for them is larger than the class who think for themselves, and (2) that the unthinking class get such distorted ideas of wealth that they are easily led to look upon any organization or combination of capital as a fair subject for oppressive tax burdens. It never occurs to them to think what a debt this vast country owes to just such combinations for all its development and what a paralysis would settle upon the activities of to-day if the spirit of these laws could be carried out and all combinations suppressed.

We bring these thoughts together because Monday was an epochal day and because the influences we have mentioned were all active in making it so. No doubt, too, the public nerves have become quite tense and high-strung through the rapid rate at which capital seems to be going into industrial organizations. This situation means a conversion of floating capital into fixed forms which has a limit. We are, however, inclined to think that rather more is made of this feature than it deserves. It is a matter of doubt whether nearly as large a portion of these industrial securities has gotten into the hands of outsiders as many imagine. What the Amalgamated Copper Company has done in offering $75,000,000 of stock to the public and having it subscribed for fully five times over (approximately $400,000,000) is not typical but special. The names connected with that organization not only represent financial strength but, better still, unsurpassed industrial capacity and experience, and would draw as very few others could. Under all these adverse circumstances perhaps the most significant feature of the situation was not the break on Monday but the very marked recovery on Tuesday. Since Tuesday there has been a variable market, ups and downs from day to day, but within narrow limits, the movement yesterday being strongly in the direction of lower prices.

The most notable event of the week has been the payment to Spain of the twenty million dollars indemnity money. On Saturday last the State Department officially requested the Treasury Department to pay the money to M. Cambon, the French Ambassador, who had been duly authorized by Spain to receive it. Thereupon four warrants of $5,000,000 each were drawn, and on Monday M. Cambon received and receipted for the same. Not until Thursday was anything further heard of the transaction. On that day the first of three warrants was delivered by the representative of the French Embassy to Mr. James Stillman, President of the National City Bank; it passed through the Clearing House yesterday (Friday), on which day the Treasury was debtor to the Clearing House about $5,500,000. On Wednesday, it is stated, two more of these warrants will be delivered to the same bank. When the final $5,000,000 warrant will be deposited, has not yet transpired. The reason for the selection of the National City Bank as the depository and collector of this money is that the City Bank sustains intimate relations with the Deutsche Bank of Berlin, which bank is understood to have contracted with the Bank of Spain for the transfer of the money. A Madrid cable under date of April 30 said that the Bank of Spain has accepted in payment in part of its advances to the Treasury all the bills the United States has authorized Spain to draw for the indemnity and that the Bank has consented to regard the amount as 115,750,000 pesetas (about $23,150,000) though the rate of exchange is over 19. Spain's indebtedness to the Bank is thus reduced to $215,000,000.

Industrial affairs continue highly satisfactory. The volume of trade is large, and profits in most lines fair, in some exceptional. The encouraging nature of the situation is strikingly reflected in the decreased mortality in trade. Col. W. M. Grosvenor has compiled the statistics for the month of April for "Dun's Review," and he finds that the mercantile failures for that month were the smallest of any month as far back as his compilations go. What may have happened in the far-off years for which no monthly records exist cannot be stated, though he thinks the indications are that one of the months in the second quarter of 1881 may have yielded smaller failures—very naturally so in view of the far smaller volume of business then transacted. But in the nearly six years during which the monthly statistics have been kept, there has been no month in any year in which failures were as small as those of last month. In number they were only 666, against 927 in April 1898, 941 in April 1897 and 1000 in April 1896. In amount of liabilities they were $5,790,096, against $9,367,802 in 1898 and $17,613,477 in 1897. It is pointed out, furthermore, that the improvement does not extend to any one department of business, but that both in manufacturing and in trading the disasters were less than ever before known in April.

Bank clearings also continue to give evidence of the satisfactory conditions prevailing. We have this week compiled the results for the month of April. The total is not quite equal to that for the month preceding, but is nevertheless of extraordinary dimensions. Moreover, allowing for the fact that April contains one less day than March, and that besides there were five Sundays in April against only four in March, the difference in favor of the earlier month is entirely eliminated. Including New York the aggregate for April stands at 8,282 million dollars, which compares with 8,726 million dollars for March, 6,981 million dollars for February and 8,492 million dollars for January. It is only when comparison is made with the volume of clearings in other years that one gets a proper idea of the magnitude of the present year's figures. Hence it is well to note that as against 8,282 millions for April 1899, the bank exchanges for the corresponding month in 1898 were only 4,979 million dollars, for 1897 4,106 million dollars, for 1896 4,302 millions and for 1895 4,255 millions. As compared with last year the expansion is over 66 per cent. and as compared with the earlier years still heavier. Of course this includes New York, where financial transactions have been of such enormous volume, but even outside of New York the gain is 28.2 per cent, which is the largest ratio of increase for any month this year.

The death of President Hyde, of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, removes a man of note in the financial community. Mr. Hyde founded the Equitable, and thus reared one of the great financial structures of the day—one whose assets to-day exceed a quarter of a thousand million dollars. The decision of the Appellate Division this week in the case of a suit of one of the policy-holders of the Equitable has also attracted a good deal of attention. The decision was to the effect that policy holders are entitled to share in all the net surplus of the company, instead of only such portion of it as the directors may choose to set aside for division. But this decision has been given greater importance than it deserves. In the first place the decision is not that of the final tribunal, and the case will go for review to the Court of Appeals. In the second place, the action was not tried on its merits. The case came up on demurrer, and therefore the allegations made in the complaint had to be treated as true. The Court before which the demurrer was first argued ruled that even if the facts were as stated in the complaint no cause of action was set forth against the company. The Appellate Division now reverses this ruling, the presiding Justice however dissenting. Furthermore, assuming that this reversal shall stand, the ruling is not as broad as generally supposed, for the following declaration is part of the opinion of the Court: "That the Society has a large discretion in determining the amount of the surplus; that it may largely increase its reserve fund for the security of its policy holders, or that it may deduct much more than at present to cover contingent liabilities, is not disputed." Altogether, therefore, it is better to wait before drawing conclusions as to the effect of the supposed new doctrine.

The reorganization plan of the Wisconsin Central was approved by the Wisconsin Central 1st mortgage bondholders on Tuesday of this week, and the success of the scheme may therefore be considered assured. The plan reflects great credit upon those who took part in evolving it. The task was an unusually difficult one. The Reorganization Committee is to be congratulated in the first place upon having once and for all discarded the complex organization and arrangements now existing between the different parts of the system. We have often puzzled over these arrangements ourselves and we have never yet met any one who would admit that he thoroughly understood them. The property is represented by the bonds, notes and stocks of no less than thirteen separate corporations. But this hardly indicates the full nature of the obstacles that had to be overcome. The holders of these various obligations all had their own ideas of the value of their particular piece of property to the system as a whole; each holder thought he had a better lien or a better obligation than his neighbor. This made the situation delicate as well as complex, and it seemed an impossibility to reach an agreement upon any common basis. Hence the long delay in placing the property on its feet, the receivers having been in possession since September 1893—that is, not far from six years. Probably the reorganization would still be in the air if the Committee had not, as the easiest way out of the maze, determined to purchase for cash the greater part of the obligations of the constituent companies. When the Wisconsin Central Company was formed in 1887 it was intended that the bonds and stock of that company should ultimately displace those of the original companies. As a matter of fact, however, this was not done, and the so-called first mortgage 5 per cents never became a first lien upon any part of the system except some terminals at Eau Claire.

The reorganization plan provides for taking up all the multifarious issues of stocks and bonds of the old companies. In the case of the most of these securities this, as already stated, is to be accomplished by direct purchase. Obviously a large amount of cash is required for that purpose, and accordingly a syndicate has been formed to raise $21,550,503, about 3½ millions of which will be repaid by the contributions of the income bondholders and the preferred and common shareholders. The sum mentioned includes, of course, an allowance for the financial needs of the new company in the way of requirements for improvements, equipment, etc. The new concern will have only three classes of new securities—$27,000,000 of 1st mortgage bonds, $12,500,000 of 1st preferred stock and $17,500,000 of common stock. Besides the merit of simplicity, the reorganization has the further merit of keeping the system intact and of unifying it. The fixed charges under the reorganization are to be $1,080,000, while net earnings in the calendar year 1898 were $1,413,636. It is thought that by means of certain improvements, etc., net earnings can be further increased in the sum of $325,000, giving an estimated surplus above charges of $658,636. It will thus be seen the plan has many strong features. Besides the credit due to the Reorganization Committee itself (composed of George Coppel, John Crosby Brown, William L. Bull, Gerald L. Hoyt, Fred T. Gates and James C. Colgate) we understand that Mr. Charles C. Beaman is entitled to much credit for what has been accomplished.

The market for money on call has been a little more active this week, gradually growing easier. This activity has been due in part to shifting of loans early in the week, consequent upon the liquidation in the stock market and also to accumulations of money in anticipation of the payment on Thursday of 5 per cent of subscriptions to the stock of the Amalgamated Copper Co. of New Jersey. On Friday the payment by the Sub-Treasury, through the Clearing House, of $5,000,000 of the Philippine indemnity, together with the loaning of the money paid on account of the Copper Company's stock, made the tone of the market easier, and the National City Bank, which was the custodian of the money paid for the 5 per cent instalment of the Copper Company stock, and which also received the proceeds of the first of the Philippine indemnity warrants, was a liberal lender.

Money on call, representing bankers' balances, has loaned at the Stock Exchange during the week at 3 per cent and at 7 per cent, averaging about 4½ per cent. On Monday loans were made at 7 per cent and at 3½ per cent, with the bulk of the business at 4@5 per cent. On Tuesday the range was from 6 per cent to 4 per cent, with the majority of the transactions at 5 per cent. On Wednesday the loans were at 5 per cent and at 3½ per cent, the bulk of the business being at 5 per cent. On Thursday the range was from 5 per cent to 3 per cent, with the majority of the loans at 4 per cent. On Friday loans were made at 4½ per cent and at 3½ per cent, chiefly at 4 per cent. Banks and trust companies quoted 4 per cent as the minimum, though some obtained 5 per cent early in the week, and only in exceptional cases were standing loans marked down to 3½ per cent after Wednesday. Money on time has been in fairly good demand, while the supply has been liberal on ordinary mixed Stock Exchange collateral. The banks generally seem inclined to prefer contracts for long rather than for short periods. Quotations for time loans on the above-mentioned security are 3 per cent for sixty days, 3½ per cent for ninety days to four months and 3½@4 per cent for five to six months. Loans have been made by one of the large down-town banks during the week of $200,000 at 4 per cent, discounted, for six months, and of a like amount, at the same rate, for four months, with 25 per cent of listed industrials having a well established market value, the remainder of the collateral being good mixed railroad securities. Both loans had 25 per cent margin, and they were made to first-class houses. Commercial paper is in moderate supply at present, but more liberal offerings are expected soon. The demand is good from city buyers, and it continues to be urgent from out of town. Rates are 3½@3¾ per cent for sixty to ninety day endorsed bills receivable, 3¾@4½ per cent for prime and 4½@5½ per cent for good four to six months' single names. Bankers look for easy money in the near future. They base their opinion upon the indications that financing of large manufacturing and other corporations is nearly completed; that the underwriters and the promoters of these schemes will naturally seek to keep money easy in order to market the new stock, and that the money paid on the Philippine indemnity will add to the market supply of funds. Though the Treasury Department is gradually reducing the deposits in the specially-designated depositary banks, the effect upon the market of such withdrawals is almost imperceptible. Banks having large correspondence continue to report that institutions in the interior are over-supplied with money, which they find difficulty in employing even at low rates.

The European political situation is without feature, and there is no important change in the financial situation. The Bank of England minimum rate of discount remains unaltered at 3 per cent. The cable reports discounts of sixty to ninety day bank bills in London 2½ per cent. The open-market rate at Paris is 2½ per cent and at Berlin and Frankfurt it is 3½ per cent. According to our special cable from London the Bank of England lost £853,815 bullion during the week and held £30,418,108 at the close of the week. Our correspondent further advises us that the loss was due to the export of £200,000 to the Cape, to shipments of £680,000 net to the interior of Great Britain, and to imports of £26,000, of which £17,000 were from Australia and £9,000 bought in the open market.

There was a temporary, and, as it subsequently appeared, an entirely unwarranted, disturbance in the foreign exchange market on Monday. Washington dispatches on Saturday announced that the long-expected payment of the $20,000,000 Philippine indemnity would be immediately made. Thereupon the tone of the exchange market grew distinctly firmer, though, as is usual on Saturdays, little or no business was done. It appeared to be assumed by Monday that the bankers who had contracted to remit the money to Europe had not obtained all the sterling they required; and, acting upon this assumption, there was a speculative demand for sterling, which resulted in a general advance in nominal rates and in a sharp rise in those for actual business. The market was quite strong and it so continued until the following morning. Then official assurances were given that three fourths of the exchange necessary to remit the Philippine indemnity had been accumulated, and also that the remitting operation would be so conducted as not to disturb the markets. Thereupon the tone became distinctly easier, the offerings of bills which had been bought for speculation were comparatively liberal, and rates fell off. The decline seemed to be checked, however, by a demand for remittance supposed to be for account of the Anaconda Copper speculation, and the market grew steady by the close, so continuing on Wednesday. So far as the Philippine indemnity remittance was concerned the market was entirely unaffected. The tone was easier on Thursday and it was steady on Friday. Gold received at the Custom House for the week amounted to $293,490, of which $250,900 was from Europe.

Nominal rates for exchange opened on Monday generally at an advance of half a cent, and a further advance by the Bank of British North America made the range from 4 86 to 4 87 for sixty-day and from 4 88 to 4 89 for sight. On the following day a reduction by the above-named bank and an advance by those drawers quoting the lower rates made the posted figures uniform at 4 86½ for sixty-day and 4 88½ for sight, and there was no change thereafter. Rates for actual business opened on Monday at an advance of half a cent all around, compared with those at the close on Friday of last week, to 4 85½@4 86 for long, 4 87½@4 88 for short and 4 88½@4 88½ for cables. The market was quite strong, with some talk of impending gold exports in connection with the remittance of the Philippine indemnity. On the following morning the official assurances, above noted, that the remittance would produce no disturbance, caused a fall of one-quarter of a cent all around in rates for actual business, to 4 85½@4 85½ for long, 4 87½@4 87½ for short and 4 88@4 88½ for cables. The tone was easy until near the close, and on Wednesday it grew steadier though without quotable change. On Thursday the market was dull and easy at a further decline in rates for actual business in sterling of one-quarter of a cent all around, and, compared with Monday's rates, of ½ of 1 per cent for Continental exchange. Sterling rates were 4 85½@4 85½ for long, 4 87½@4 87½ for short and 4 87½@4 88 for cables, these figures being the same as those ruling on Friday of last week. On the following day the tone was steady. The following shows daily posted rates for exchange by some of the leading drawers.

MR. AMORY AND THE COST OF AN UNDERGROUND ROAD.

From the character of Mr. Amory's second letter in the "Evening Post" we should judge that he had lost confidence in his compilations we criticized, and was even ashamed of the use he had made of them, and yet wanted to raise dust enough to put the real situation out of view. We see no other reason why he shifted his base and sought by a dull dissertation on the advantages of transfers to street railroads and other solemn platitudes to cover up and induce the public to lose sight of the faulty features in his previous ill-judged statements and groundless estimates. The following confused sentence with which he opens his letter is a fair specimen of the style of the answer he has adopted.

"The CHRONICLE writer argues that transfer passengers are not passengers at all, but something or other not exactly determined and probably nothing at all, and therefore are beneath any consideration."

We can hardly wonder that, in taking the padding out of Mr. Amory's inflated figures and bringing them down to a normal condition, we should have produced such a distressing contrast for the inspection of the compiler as to give the figures the appearance of being "beneath any consideration." Would it not be wise, though, in the interest of truth, to lay aside this lofty air, correct these distorted imaginings and get back to a point of view from which the real issue can be seen and judged. There has been and is only one question raised worth discussion. It involves a proposition as simple and self-evident, in our opinion, as that 1 + 0 is equal to one, and we cannot understand how any pretension or sleight of hand can make out of it any other result. But the point at issue is so intimately connected with the success of a tunnel enterprise that it is highly important it should not be misapprehended.

The question referred to was raised by Mr. Amory's method of estimating the problematical earnings of an underground railroad. It was not whether transfer passengers should be counted once, for we as well as he counted them once, but whether they should be counted twice. Mr. Amory counted them twice, and in his final figures more times; but—for the present confining ourselves to the simpler form—he counted them once when they paid their 5 cent fare and again when they paid nothing. We insisted that his method, in such a matter as he had undertaken to investigate, was obviously wrong; that each passenger should be counted only once. Doubling an individual so as to make him two persons because he happens to go forward and take a seat in another car, or because, like so many of the Elevated Railroad passengers at Chatham Square, he has occasion to change cars for the “Bridge” and for “South Ferry,” is clearly inadmissible and was what we took exception to. It introduced an error at the outset of the investigation that could not fail to be destructive of any argument based upon it.

Moreover, we showed last week that even our reference to that error did not express the dimensions or disclose the gravity of Mr. Amory's mistake. His deeper error consisted not alone in counting transfers twice; he did far worse than that, he counted them each time as full-paying 5-cent individual passengers. This error followed directly from the former error and was a necessary part of it. That is to say, there was no gain and no advantage to Mr. Amory's argument in simply counting individuals twice. What he was seeking was to make out an inflated income for an underground railroad, and that could not be done except by assuming that “transfers” paid two fares, that is, 10 cents instead of 5 cents. Only in this way was he able to exaggerate the present and prospective growth of the paying population riding in the surface cars. A quasi-census was Mr. Amory's ostensible object. Instead of disclosing a true result the affair was so manipulated as to show many more people tributary to the district and many more fares drawn from it than there really were.

We are likewise compelled to add that Mr. Amory does not permit us to doubt what he wanted to do with and what he has done with these inaccurate figures. He has clearly ciphered out his thought step by step in making up his final result, and we must say, he has thus produced the most remarkable piece of statistical work that has ever come under our notice. For the purpose of bringing up the estimate of the first year's income of a tunnel road to an amount sufficient to cover running expenses and 5 per cent interest on cost of building, he has arbitrarily taken this quasi-census of passengers carried, with the errors we have specified incorporated, and so used it as not only to credit each transfer passenger with paying ten cents, or two full fares, but much more than that. This is done and the error is made progressive and cumulative by multiplying the average gain in passengers (56,000,000) during the last three years (in which total are included not only the individual passengers but the transfers as individuals)—by multiplying that total (56,000,000) by 3, and that result again by 5 cents. We last week indicated how far astray this kind of figuring had led Mr. Amory. We showed in our article at that time the measure of this error in a small table prepared by us in which we gave Mr. Amory's figures, taken from his first letter, and in a separate column our own results correcting his. We reproduce that table and would refer our readers to last week's article for any further explanation.

Total deficit on first year's operation..		$6,600,000

Instead of showing a net profit sufficient to cover interest on capital as Mr. Amory's figures do, our corrected totals show a deficit of $6,600,000. We should add, as we did last week, that we do not give that statement as our estimate of the results of an underground road the first year of its operation. We give it simply as the result of Mr. Amory's method worked out free from his errors and to its logical conclusion.

We should not have taken so much time and space for this discussion were it not that we earnestly desire the city should not build an underground railroad. It is far better in our opinion, and for reasons we have given on previous occasions, that private capital be induced to construct it, taking the risks and the profits. We acknowledge that we are in the minority; that a large majority of our people favor the city doing the work. Public opinion has however, we think, been influenced to a considerable extent by just such loose statements as the one we have here criticised. At all events we intend to do what we can to enforce our views. We shall urge them as we have opportunity, because, as we said a few weeks since, we believe them to be in the interest of good morals, good government and future taxation.

THE SOUTH CAROLINA & GEORGIA LEASE TO THE SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

The lease of the South Carolina & Georgia Railroad (old South Carolina RR.) to the Southern Railway, entered into last week, is an event of importance for a number of reasons. In the first place it emphasizes the tendency towards the absorption of the smaller roads by the larger systems, to which we referred in a special article in our issue of April 15. In the second place it shows that the Southern management are still enterprising and wide awake, for there can be no doubt that the South Carolina & Georgia is a desirable acquisition; indeed, in some respects, as we shall presently show, it was absolutely essential to the Southern Railway. Finally, the change of control means a great deal for Charleston and the State of South Carolina.

The South Carolina & Georgia has had a checkered career. Once a very prosperous road, in recent years misfortune after misfortune has attended it. When the Parsons people bought it at foreclosure sale, a few years ago, it became evident that sooner or later there would be another move in the game, for these people buy only to sell. It has long been a wonder that a road so eligibly situated and occupying such a commanding position on the South Atlantic seaboard should remain under independent control. That its strategic value was appreciated was made obvious before the recent foreclosure, when the Louisville & Nashville invested a large sum in the securities of the old company. But the hard times came then, and it was not deemed advisable to prosecute the venture any further; so the Louisville & Nashville suffered the loss of the whole of its investment in the property, amounting to over a million dollars. Nor did the Southern Railway or any of the other systems make any effort at that time to get possession. Despite its advantageous location Mr. Parsons was not successful in adding greatly to its earning capacity, and it almost seemed as if this sagacious operator, who had been so successful in other similar ventures, might have difficulty in finding some one to take this property off his hands.

But recently important changes have been going on in the railroad map of that part of the country, and the owners of the South Carolina & Georgia have not been slow to avail of their opportunity. Thus the Seaboard Air Line changed ownership and passed into the possession of the parties controlling the Georgia & Alabama and the Florida Central & Peninsular, and a grand consolidation of those roads is planned. The Atlantic Coast Line people have also been showing great aggressiveness. They acquired the Charleston & Western Carolina. Then, to solidify control of their system they last year united their roads in South Carolina under the title of the Atlantic Coast Line of South Carolina and made similar consolidations in other States. They also have plans for the building of various pieces of road to make their confederation harmonious and complete.

The situation now became interesting for the Southern Railway. The Louisville & Nashville could afford to be an onlooker, for it has little mileage in that part of the country. Not so the Southern, whose lines grid-iron that section. With new combinations being formed all around it, it was in danger of being hemmed in. It will be remembered that the announcement was made recently that owing to the change of ownership of the Florida Central & Peninsular the Southern had determined to build a new line into Savannah from Columbia, S. C., or Augusta, Ga. But it behooved the Southern people to guard against danger from another direction. Its lines in South Carolina could reach the seaboard at Charleston by only one of two routes, namely the Atlantic Coast Line or the South Carolina & Georgia. The Coast Line was a rival, the South Carolina & Georgia was still available; but suppose it, too, should be bought up in the interest of one of the neighboring combinations? The Southern Railway people were quick to see the logic of events, and before outsiders had the slightest idea of what was going on, the lease had been made and the Southern Railway was securely in possession.

The arrangement seems to have given general satisfaction, and there can be no doubt that it will prove mutually advantageous to the contracting parties. The people of Charleston also seem to be gratified, and well they may be, for they get what they have so long desired—namely, connections with the Ohio and Mississippi rivers through the rich coal and iron fields of the South. With its affiliated lines the Southern controls about eight thousand miles of road, much of which will in a measure become tributary to Charleston. There does not seem to be the slightest inclination to think that the process of consolidation will be harmful, which is rather significant, as showing that the people of South Carolina appreciate the benefits in store for them. The Charleston "News & Courier" well says, it pays the railroads to centralize, and, what is of more concern, it pays the public to have centralized roads. Through rates are lower than joint rates, and better service and more direct connections are assured by through lines. Moreover, the wealthier the corporation the better it can equip the road and the better the service can be.

THE MEXICAN CENTRAL REPORT.

The Mexican Central annual report is issued at a time when there is renewed activity in the securities of the company, and when also there is a revival of the talk of a prospective great advance in the price of silver. Some of the current statements have gone even beyond the suggestion of a rise in the price of the metal, and have spoken of the possibility of Mexico changing her standard of values from the silver to the gold basis. With reference to this last point, however, we observe President Robinson is inclined to entertain doubt. In his remarks at the stockholders' meeting this week he stated that so far as he could learn no such policy was contemplated. Furthermore, he thought it would seem unjustifiable on the part of the Mexican Government to change from silver currency, with a large surplus over its yearly requirements, to a gold basis and an experimental period, especially as that country appeared now to be developing as fast as it safely could.

That Mexico has undergone wonderful development in recent years and that this development is still in progress admits of no question. The railroads have been a chief element in the growth and activity and have in turn profited most by it. Their earnings have been steadily and largely expanding. We showed recently in reviewing the reports of the Mexican National and the Mexican International how noteworthy had been the growth in the revenues of these two roads. In the case of the Mexican Central the record is still more striking, for the Central is the largest of all the Mexican systems. We referred a year ago to the great gain established by the Central in 1897, it amounting for the twelve months to $2,807,000, or about 28 per cent, this coming on top of continuous gains in all the preceding years. In the earnings for that year there was included $410,890 derived from the transportation of corn imported into Mexico by reason of the crop failure in that country. In 1898 all this revenue was lost, and yet, despite that fact, there was a further gain in the gross revenues of nearly three-quarters of a million dollars—in exact figures, $743,146. Moreover, this increase was made in face of some other circumstances that operated greatly to diminish the year's earnings. For instance, the war between the United States and Spain, the report tells us, caused the suspension of the regular sailings of the liners to Tampico, and substituted irregular tramp service in their place. During the months of July, August, September, October and November a pernicious fever prevailed at Tampico and along that part of the San Luis Division lying in the hot country, which seriously interfered with the traffic of that division, owing to the inability to secure labor to handle the business. In September and October unprecedented floods occurred on the San Luis Division, resulting in extensive wash-outs between Tamasopo and Tampico, causing an absolute suspension of traffic, the report says, for twenty-one days. It is estimated that by reason of these hindrances and drawbacks the road sustained a loss in gross revenue in the amount of fully $500,000.

Consider this loss of $500,000 in connection with the loss of $410,890 on the corn traffic, and it becomes evident that the further increase of $743,147 in the gross earnings in 1898 reflects a degree of progress as striking as that of any preceding year. This appears particularly true when it is borne in mind that there was no increase in the miles of road operated during 1898. The Parral extension from Jimenez to Parral, 54 60 miles, was completed the latter part of the year, but it was not operated for revenue account until the 1st of January 1899. To show how the revenues of the system have expanded from year to year, we present the following table, giving the figures back to 1885.

1886..123-90		3,857,705	none	3,857,705	3,121
1887..1235-90		4,846,578	301,317	4,545,261	3,710
1888..1316-40		5,774,331	471,831	5,302,500	4,028
1889..1461-85		6,337,225	475,451	5,861,774	4,009
1890..1527-20		6,425,694	303,020	6,122,674	4,009
1891..1865-11		7,374,538	431,798	6,942,740	4,169
1892..1824-83		7,968,253	397,376	7,565,877	4,146
1893..1846-84		7,981,768	none	7,981,768	4,322
1894..1859-83		8,426,025	none	8,426,025	4,530
1895..1859-83		9,495,865	68,258	9,427,607	5,069
1896..1869-80		10,208,000	200,442	10,007,558	5,352
1897..1955-64		12,845,819	31,198	12,814,621	6,552
1898..1955-66		13,588,966	83,543	13,505,423	6,906

It will thus be seen that even since 1891 the gross earnings from commercial business have almost doubled, they having risen from $6,942,740 to $13,505,423. In the whole of the thirteen years covered by the statement, there has not been a single year that has failed to record an increase. Perhaps the most striking feature disclosed is that as new mileage has been added there has been a steady enlargement of the earnings per mile. In 1885, with 1,235 miles of road in operation, the earnings per mile were $2,858; in 1890 with 1,527 miles the per mile was $4,009; in 1895 with 1,860 miles the per mile had risen to $5,069, while now for 1898 with the results based on 1,956 miles the gross per mile is up to $6,906.

The one drawback in the management of this as of all the other Mexican roads is that the revenues of the company are in silver while so much of the payments have to be made in gold. That is a feature to which we have referred so many times that it almost grows irksome through repetition. Yet it continues by all means the most important factor in the company's operations. And the worst of it is that the depreciation in the price of silver has been growing each year more pronounced. Even during 1898 there was a further decline, the company having realized an average for the twelve months of only 46.59 cents for the Mexican dollar against 48.24 cents for the twelve months of 1897. The depreciation operates not only to reduce the gold equivalent of the Mexican currency net earnings, but it also operates directly to reduce these net earnings. This latter is a factor frequently ignored. Much of the materials and supplies needed in the operation of the road can not be obtained in Mexico, but has to be bought in foreign countries and paid for in gold. But as the gold value of the silver declines, it takes more Mexican silver dollars to pay a given amount in gold. The result is that operating expenses are added to in increasing amount in order to pay for the cost of exchange. Here is a table showing how enormously this item has grown since 1891. We give first the cost in U. S. money of purchases made in the United States, then the premium in silver which had to be paid on these purchases, and a final column to indicate the total cost in Mexican currency.

Years.	Cost in U. S. Money.	Premium Acct. rate.	Amount.	Cost in Mex. Currency.
1892.....	1,386,065 88	143.18	598,277 01	1,984,342 69
1893.....	1,213,270 38	160.04	728,475 62	1,941,746 00
1894.....	1,089,472 37	192.69	1,009,829 98	2,099,302 35
1895.....	929,877 49	188.94	826,880 83	1,756,558 32
1896.....	1,048,481 21	184.65	929,442 18	1,977,923 39
1897.....	1,447,530 13	209.39	1,583,446 21	3,030,976 34

Expressed in U. S. money the purchases made in this country cost almost exactly the same in 1898 as seven years before in 1891—namely $1,549,692 against $1,549,999. But on account of the shrinkage in the gold value of the Mexican dollar, the premium which had to be paid amounted in 1898 to $1,772,935 against only $446,841 in 1891. Here, then, is a direct loss of 1½ million dollars occasioned by the addition of that amount to the ordinary operating expenses. In other words, what cost $1,996,840 in Mexican currency in 1891, cost no less than $3,322,626 in 1898.

Besides the loss in this way there is the further and still larger loss resulting from the conversion of the net earnings into gold for the payment of interest on the bonds. The net in Mexican currency in the late year was $4,427,534, or $411,185 better than in the previous year. In U. S. currency, however, the net was only $2,062,804, being an increase of but $125,321. Notwithstanding the great and wonderful growth in business and revenues which has been established from year to year, the problem which the management have had to meet has been a trying one, for as far as the final net result has been concerned the shrinkage from the decline in silver has served to offset the gains arising from the growth in business. For the same reason it has been found necessary in all recent years to draw upon the Subsidy Trust Fund to provide for the deficiency in earnings to meet the company's fixed charges. In 1898, fortunately, the deficit reached only $413,222, against $538,947 in 1897.

All these results possess especial value at this juncture because of the prediction, already referred to, of a much higher price for silver. Whether this expectation will be realized or not remains to be seen. Some increase has already been established, and the Mexican dollar is now quoted at about 50 cents. The figures we have given show how much a rise will mean to the company. But if only further depreciation shall be arrested—if, instead of the uninterrupted decline which has been experienced for so many years there should now be stability in values, and the development of Mexico continue—even in that event the whole outlook for the property and the security holders would change.

ITEMS ABOUT BANKS, BANKERS AND TRUST CO'S

Although the sales of bank stocks have not been large the current week (only 657 shares in all), there have been some very notable changes in price. We see that 5 shares of National City Bank sold at 1,805, against 1,656 April, 1899, the date of the last sale; that is an advance of 149 points. Five shares also of the Hanover National were sold, the price being 730, against 656 in April, 1899, or an advance of 74 points. The foregoing were sales at auction. At the Stock Exchange there were 200 shares of the National Park Bank sold at 540 to 560, the latter being the latest sale, and showing an advance of 50 points since April, 1899, when the stock sold at 510. The following are all of the week's transactions, both at auction and at the Exchange.

—On Saturday of last week, soon after noon, the American Exchange National Bank began its removal from the premises which it has occupied since 1858, at the northeast corner of Broadway and Cedar Street, and on Monday morning business was resumed on the second floor of the Boreel building, nearly opposite, on Broadway. The work of demolition of the American Exchange Bank building has begun, and on the site the bank will erect a sixteen story modern structure which will cost about $500,000; the building, it is expected, will be ready for occupancy on or about May 1, 1900. The old building was entirely unsuited for modern requirements. The site is a valuable one, however, and it was felt that the bank needed better quarters, and furthermore that it was desirable, as promptly as possible, to meet the demand for office accommodation which is now increasing in that section of the city. Mr. Dumont Clarke, the President of the bank, says that applications have already been received for at least one-half of the offices the new building will contain, indicating that by the time the structure is completed it will be fully and profitably rented. As an illustration of the progress in construction facilities, it may be stated that the old building, five stories in height, was begun early in 1857 and was not completed until the fall of 1858, whereas the new building of sixteen stories will require only a year in construction. Mr. Clarke has been connected with the bank in various capacities for thirty-six years, succeeding Mr. George S. Coe as President.

—Mr. Albert H. Wiggin, who has been Vice-President and the practical manager of the Eliot National Bank of Boston, has been elected a vice-president of the National Park Bank of this city and he will assume the duties of his office on or about May 15. During the protracted illness of Mr. Edward E. Poor, President of the National Park Bank, Mr. Richard Delafield, the active Vice-President, has had the principal direction of the affairs of the bank and its increasing business has necessitated the addition to the official force which has now been secured by the election of Mr. Wiggin. This gentleman has made many friends in Boston during his connection with the Eliot National Bank and he is highly regarded by bank officers of this city. The present official staff of the Park Bank consists of Mr. Edward E. Poor, President; Mr. Richard Delafield, Active Vice President; Mr. Stuyvesant Fish, Honorary Vice-President; Mr. George S. Hickok, Cashier, and Mr. Edward J. Baldwin, Assistant Cashier.

—Mr. Orlando M. Packard has been elected a director and Vice-President of the Capital National Bank of Indianapolis, Ind., the growing business of the institution requiring an increase of its official staff. Mr. Packard has, for the past six years, been National Bank Examiner for Indiana, serving for five years under Comptroller Eckles and over a year under Comptroller Dawes, resigning the position in April. His reputation for efficiency has been excellent, and the experience gained during his incumbency of the office of Bank Examiner will be valuable in his new field of labor.

—At a meeting of the Providence, R. I., Clearing House on Friday of last week, a proposition was recommended for the action of directors of the banks in the Clearing House that interest on deposits should be paid only on amounts in excess of an average daily balance of $1,000. If the proposition shall be favorably received, it will be made a permanent policy by the banks. At this meeting the Clearing House Committee recommended a rule charging depositors with the cost of collecting out-of-town checks. The proposition was rejected, but it may be again submitted for consideration if the plan now in force with the New York Clearing House shall be made permanent after the expiration of the three months' trial.

—Mr. Henry B. Hyde, President of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, died on Tuesday in this city from heart trouble. He had been an invalid for more than a year. Mr. Hyde was in the sixty-sixth year of his age. He was born in Catskill, N. Y., and at the age of sixteen obtained employment as a clerk in a mercantile house in this city and two years later entered the employ of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, subsequently becoming its Cashier. He resigned this position in 1859 to become Vice-President and Manager of the Equitable Life Assurance Society on its incorporation, and in 1874 he became its President, succeeding Mr. William C. Alexander. He was Vice President of the Mercantile Trust Company and a director of the Western National Bank. The directors of the last-named institution have adopted resolutions of respect to his memory.

—Mr. Lawrence Turnure, of the banking firm of Lawrence Turnure & Co., 50 Wall Street, and one of the directors of the National City Bank, died on Monday of this week in the seventy-fourth year of his age. He was for many years associated in business with the late Moses Taylor. The immediate cause of Mr. Turnure's death was a second attack of paralysis following a serious stroke about eighteen months ago. Mr. Turnure was a direct descendant of Daniel De Tournear, a member of an ancient French family, who emigrated to this country in 1652, and he was the most prominent member of this Huguenot family. In early life he began his financial and mercantile career in this city and, as noted above, was associated for many years with the late Moses Taylor in the banking business, the firm subsequently becoming Lawrence Turnure & Co. Mr. Turnure was a brother of the late David M. Turnure, also a banker and merchant of this city. At the time of his death the deceased was a trustee of the Atlantic Mutual Insurance Co., a director of the National City Bank, as above mentioned, and a director of the Syracuse Binghamton & New York and of the Mobile Street Railway companies. He was also a member of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the St. Nicholas Society, the National Academy of Design, the American Museum of Natural History and the American Geographical Society.

—It is claimed by the Post-office authorities at Washington in charge of the money-order division of the department that the action of the New York banks in charging for the collection of country checks has resulted in increasing the demand for money orders. The Post-office officials are familiar with the causes which have resulted in the augmented demand for money orders, and they doubtless base their statements upon their observation of the character of the orders which have been handled by the Department during the month of April. In addition to the estimated normal increase of $20,000,000 in money orders for the current fiscal year, it is calculated that there will be a gain of $5,000,000 due to remittances in these orders which have heretofore been made in bank checks.

—There was a new high record established for bank clearings on Tuesday, the exchanges at the New York Clearing House amounting to $343,031,922, against $315,236,782 on January 4, which was the highest previously recorded. The exchanges on Tuesday were largely affected by the May 1 payments of interest and dividends, by checks in part settlement for the Republic steel combination and by the large business on the Stock Exchange on the previous day.

—Mr. Eugene H. Pullen, Vice-President of the National Bank of the Republic, died suddenly on Saturday. Mr. Pullen was prominent in the State bankers' organizations, and he was for three years Chairman of the Executive Council of the American Bankers' Association and the President of that organization in 1895. He entered the service of the Bank of the Republic in 1861 as a clerk, was gradually promoted, becoming Cashier in 1879 and Vice-President in 1892, when Mr. Oliver S. Carter, now the President, succeeded the late John Jay Knox.

Clearings by Telegraph.—Sales of Stocks, Bonds, &c.—The subjoined table, covering clearings for the current week, usually appears on the first page of the CHRONICLE, but on account of the length of the other tables is crowded out once a month. The figures are received by telegraph from the leading cities. It will be observed that as compared with the corresponding week of 1898 there is an increase in the aggregate of 63.8 per cent. So far as the individual cities are concerned, New York exhibits an increase of 92.0 per cent, and the gains at other points are: Boston 58.5 per cent, Philadelphia 48.6 per cent, Baltimore 122.7 per cent, Chicago 19.4 per cent, New Orleans 7.7 per cent and St. Louis 6.7 per cent.

Monetary &amp; Commercial English News

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENTS.)

LONDON, Saturday, April 22, 1899.

At the beginning of the week markets were dull and undecided, chiefly under the influence of renewed political uneasiness. The first cause of this was the trouble in Samoa. Happily, the three governments have come to an understanding for carrying on the administration of the Islands and the Commission has been sent out. Still the fact that so strong a difference of opinion has been shown between Germany on the one hand and this country and the United States on the other has made a very bad impression, and people feared for a while that it may be very difficult for the Commission to agree upon any course of action.

Furthermore, the opposition which the American troops are meeting in the Philippines and the reported bad impression that has been made in the United States had an unfavorable effect. People here think that too much is made of the opposition and that if the American people exercise a little patience all will come out satisfactorily. But the telegrams report much uneasiness in the United States and much discontent with the whole cause of affairs in the Philippines.

There have also been fears of renewed tension with the Transvaal. Some time ago negotiations were entered into by the Transvaal Government with the leaders of the mining industry, the Government wanting money and the industry wanting reforms. And for a considerable time it was understood that the negotiations were going on smoothly, and it was hoped that an arrangement might be finally arrived at. President Kruger's recent speeches, in which he held out hopes of certain concessions, were accepted by the leaders of the industry as exempting them from the secrecy in regard to the negotiations that they had previously maintained. They believed, or affected to believe, that the President having spoken out, they were bound to follow his example, the more particularly as they feared that if they did not do so the great body of the Uitlanders would assume that the leaders of the industry were bartering away the rights of the non-Boer population for their own personal interests. Accordingly information respecting the negotiations was published in some of the newspapers. This was resented by President Kruger who regarded the publication as a breach of faith. Just at the time a petition very numerously signed was presented by the Uitlanders to the British High Commissioner for South Africa, and this was further resented by the President. For a time it looked as if the negotiations would be broken off and as if, in fact, the Transvaal Government might adopt an angry policy. But it is understood that the President now recognizes that there was no intention on the part of the leaders of the mining industry to show him disrespect or betray confidence, and it is believed that the negotiations will be resumed. At all events, in the course of the week a very much better feeling respecting the Transvaal has sprung up.

Lastly, a curious incident in connection with the recent naval fetes in Italy has attracted some notice and comment. It would be too much to say it has excited apprehension. It is alleged that when the French Admiral and his chief officers were entertained on board the Italian Admiral's ship, he told the Italian officers that Italy would have greatly to increase her navy and that this was desirable inasmuch as France and Italy ought to have control of the Mediterranean. Probably the speech was inspired by the good cheer of the luncheon and had no real political significance. But the French Admiral undoubtedly went too far and protests are being raised in the Italian press against the insinuation that Italy is prepared to break off from the British alliance.

As the week is drawing to a close, however, the political apprehensions are passing away and a more hopeful feeling is again springing up. Trade everywhere is very good. Money is comparatively easy. And though there is not very much business doing upon the Stock Exchange, prices generally are higher than a few days ago.

There has been a very considerable rise in copper. And this has been accompanied by a general advance in copper company shares, Rio Tinto shares leading. There has also been a revival in the Transvaal mining shares and in West Australian gold shares; while the advance in Rhodesian shares is maintained. In British securities of all kinds there is not very much doing. But quotations are steady. In the International Department there is also a lack of activity, but fair steadiness. And generally speaking there is a more hopeful feeling without any great extension of buying. The outside market has at last succeeded in paying off the loans it obtained from the Bank of England. But the supply in the open market is not very great. And if the directors of the Bank of England are energetic they can very easily recover control of the market. For the moment, however, the market has broken away and rates both of interest and discount are lower. Apparently the market is passing from one extreme to another. A little while ago it seemed to think that money would become very scarce and that rates would rise rapidly. Now it is of the opinion that rates will be very low for a considerable time to come. The opinion is altogether improbable. Trade is so good, not only at home here but in the United States, in Germany and in Belgium, that it is impossible that money can remain very cheap for any length of time. Speculation, it is true, is not very active, at all events, not here at home, either upon the Stock Exchange or in trade. But trade is wonderfully good. And there has been a vast speculation both in Germany and in Belgium. It does not look in the least likely that money will become scarce and rates very dear for some months yet. But it is almost as unlikely that money will become very plentiful and rates very cheap.

In Germany the liquidation of bad business is going on very gradually and very cautiously. And if it continues, as now seems probable, the crisis in the autumn, which has

WALL STREET, FRIDAY, MAY 5, 1899.—3 P. M.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—The course of business this week at the Stock Exchange illustrates how, under certain conditions, the stock market can be made to yield to professional manipulation. With practically no change in the general situation, with only a brief and limited rise in money market rates, with nothing of importance to cause any change in values, the stock market has suffered rather a severe decline. Naturally, in view of recent advances, the market is more sensitive to any unfavorable influence, real or imaginary, than was the case a few weeks ago, and to this fact largely, no doubt, the change is due. The market for railway bonds has been steady to firm, showing a fair investment demand, and the readiness with which the capital was supplied for the new Copper Combination is evidence that there is abundant confidence in the future prosperity of the country. Moreover, the fact that the transfer of $20,000,000 from this centre to Europe on account of the Government indemnity to Spain has been effected or provided for this week with scarcely a ripple in either the money or foreign exchange markets illustrates how much better equipped we now are for such transactions than formerly. Rates for foreign exchange advanced during the early part of the week in anticipation of a demand for the Spanish indemnity, but when it was officially announced that a local bank had already provided for the transfer, rates declined and the market settled back into normal condition. The money market was similarly affected, chiefly from the same cause, and with about the same result.

The open market rates for call loans on the Stock Exchange during the week on stock and bond collaterals have ranged from 3 to 7 per cent. To-day's rates on call were 3½ to 4½ per cent. Prime commercial paper quoted 3½ to 4½ per cent.

The Bank of England weekly statement on Thursday showed a decrease in bullion of £353,515, and the percentage of reserve to liabilities was 38.80, against 40.60 last week; the discount rate remains unchanged at 3 per cent. The Bank of France shows an increase of 4,175,000 francs in gold and a decrease of 1,375,000 francs in silver.

The New York City Clearing-House banks in their statement of April 29 showed an increase in the reserve held of $1,147,700, and a surplus over the required reserve of $25,524,675, against $24,175,000 the previous week.

State and Railroad Bonds.—Sales of State bonds at the Board are limited to $48,000 Virginia fund, debt 2-3s of 1891 at 83½ to 84½.

The market for railway bonds has been generally steady on the smallest volume of business recorded this year. Daily transactions at the Exchange averaged only about $2,800,000 par value, in which the better class of bonds was conspicuously absent. Changes in quotations on the active list are generally unimportant and but few are worthy of note. The Wisconsin Central 1st trust receipts advanced 2½ points, to 72, the highest yet recorded for them; Texas & Pacific 1sts gained 1½ points and Baltimore & Ohio 4s nearly a point. St. Louis Iron Mountain & Southern 4s (when issued) lost a part of the gain noted last week and in a few other cases small fractional declines are recorded.

NOTE.—The total of sales on the Boston Exchange for the week ending April 29, omitted last week on account of non-receipt of our telegram for Friday, were as follows: Listed shares, 441,582; unlisted shares, 84,763; bonds, $1,524,390.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—The market for stocks has again been irregular and unsteady, with the result that quotations in the railway list are generally lower. A wider difference than usual in the amount of business transacted from day to day is noted. The industrial stocks were conspicuous, generally taking the lead in each movement and every phase of the market. The active railway list fluctuated over a range averaging from 2 to 3 points, and in most cases the lowest quotations were recorded on Thursday. Flint & Pere Marquette was a prominent exception. The preferred advanced from 54 to 62 on rumors that one of the Vanderbilt roads had obtained control and that the preferred stock would be exchanged for a 3 or 3½ per cent bond. The local traction shares covered a much wider range than the average mentioned, Metropolitan Street showing a difference of 17½ points between its highest and lowest, Brooklyn Rapid Transit a difference of 10 points and Manhattan Elevated over 7 points. Burlington & Quincy was relatively strong but otherwise the granger, trunk line and coal stocks were included in the general course of the market.

Of the miscellaneous list the iron and steel stocks were active and generally strong. American Sugar Refining was conspicuous for activity and erratic movement as a result of bold manipulation. The gas shares were weak on aggressive competition and sharp cutting of prices.

STREET RAILWAYS AND TRACTION COMPANIES.

The following table shows the gross earnings for the latest period of all STREET railways from which we are able to obtain weekly or monthly returns. The arrangement of the table is the same as that for the steam roads—that is, the first two columns of figures give the gross earnings for the latest week or month, and the last two columns the earnings for the calendar year from January 1 to and including such latest week or month.

Street Railway Net Earnings.—The following table gives the returns of STREET railway gross and net earnings received this week. In reporting these net earnings for the street railways, we adopt the same plan as that for the steam roads—that is, we print each week all the returns received that week, but once a month (on the third or the fourth Saturday) we bring together all the roads furnishing returns, and the latest statement of this kind will be found in the CHRONICLE of April 22, 1899. The next will appear in the issue of May 20, 1899.

Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Railway.

(Report for the fiscal year ending Dec. 31, 1898.)

The report contains the following:
The capital stock and outstanding bonds of the Elkhart & Western R.R. Co., whose road extends from Elkhart to Mishawaka, Ind., 11.72 miles in length, were purchased on May 26, 1898, and on that day a perpetual lease of the road to this company was executed.

During the period from June 1, 1897, to Jan. 1, 1899, $24,918,500 of the various old issues of 7 per cent bonds were surrendered, and in conformity with the provision made for their retirement the new 3½ per cent 100-year gold bonds were substituted therefor. There is included in these exchanges the outstanding balance of the Buffalo & Erie bonds, $1,829,000, which became due April 1, 1898. By reason of these refunding transactions thus far the addition of $3,892,500 to the company's funded debt down to Jan. 1, 1899, is accompanied by an annual interest saving of $735,910.

* Obligations of Michigan Telephone Co.

Cuyaboga Falls Rapid Transit was not purchased by the Cleveland syndicate.—V. 68, p. 616.

Amalgamated Copper Co.—Official Statement.—An official statement says: "This company is organized under the laws of New Jersey for the purpose of purchasing and operating copper producing properties. Its capital is $75,000,000, divided into 750,000 shares of common stock of the par value of $100 each. It has no bonded or mortgage debt. The company has already purchased large interests in Anaconda Copper Co., Parrott Silver & Copper Co., Washoe Copper Co., Colorado Smelting & Mining Co. and other companies and properties." The "Boston News Bureau" says:

"This first amalgamation will furnish money to pay for the Anaconda mining stock which has been purchased, the Washoe Company, the Boston & Colorado, and the Parrott. Substantial control of these four properties is embraced in the $75,000,000 financing. Of course not all the shares of these companies are yet taken in. The Anaconda itself, at $60 a share for its 1,200,000 shares would require $72,000,000, but enough stock for control has been secured, together with the Washoe property of Messrs. Hagglin and Daly, five sixths of the Boston & Colorado and a large majority of the Parrott Company. The absorption of these stocks calls for about $70,000,000 cash.

The Rutte & Boston and the Boston & Montana will be put in later, as well as the minority interests of the Anaconda and other companies. This will require more than $200,000,000. The Washoe Company is very necessary in the combination, as it owns all the available timber land."

Public Subscription.—Public subscriptions for the company's 750,000 shares of the par value of $100 each were received at the National City Bank of New York until 12 o'clock noon, Thursday, May 4, at the rate of $100 per share and were very largely in excess of the amount offered.—V. 68, p. 820.

American Hide & Leather Co.—Upper Leather Company Incorporated.—This company was incorporated in New Jersey on Wednesday with authorized capital stock of $70,000,000 (in $100 shares), of which $30,000,000 is 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock] as a consolidation of the upper leather companies.

The merger was financed by J. & W. Seligman & Co., Seward, Guthrie & Steele managing the legal details.—V. 68, p. 52.

American Steel Hoop Co.—On "Unlisted."—Official Statement.—On April 14th the company's $14,000,000 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock and $19,000,000 common stock were admitted to quotation in the Unlisted Securities Department of the N. Y. Stock Exchange. Official statement says:

Organized April 14, 1899, under the laws of New Jersey. Authorized capital: Preferred 7 per cent cumulative stock $14,000,000; common, $19,000,000, all outstanding. Par value of shares $100 each. No personal liability. Registrar, First National Bank, N. Y. Transfer agent, Manhattan Trust Co., N. Y.

The American Steel Hoop Co. either actually own in fee or own every share of stock of the corporation which does own in fee the properties of every one of the constituent companies, and all of said companies are free of lien or encumbrance. The cash working capital is $3,000,000. There is no bonded indebtedness authorized or outstanding. The net earnings of the constituent companies during the period from July 1, 1898, to April 1, 1899, amounted to $740,000.

The certificate of incorporation says: "The preferred stock shall be entitled in preference to the common stock to cumulative dividends at the rate of 7 per centum yearly, payable quarterly, half-yearly or yearly; that is to say, dividends may be paid upon the common stock only when the preferred stock shall have received dividends at said rate from the time of the issue thereof. The preferred stock shall also have a preference over the common stock in any distribution of assets other than profits until the full par value thereof and 7 per centum per annum thereon from the time of issue shall have been paid by dividends or distribution. The preferred stock shall not receive any dividends from profits in excess of said 7 per centum per annum, nor any share in distribution of assets in excess of said par value and the amount then unpaid of such cumulative dividends; but the common stock alone shall receive all further dividends and shares in distribution. The officers and directors were given in V. 68, p. 770.

American Tobacco.—Application to List.—The company has applied to the New York Stock Exchange to list $12,500,000 additional common stock.—V. 68, p. 820, 821.

Baltimore & Ohio RR.—To Authorize the New Securities.—At Baltimore on April 28 an order was signed by Judge Morris in the United States Circuit Court setting a hearing for May 15 on the petition of the company for authority to issue the new securities provided for under the reorganization plan. The petition asks for the release by the various trustees of the mortgage liens securing issues of bonds upon the payment of the bonds secured, or upon satisfactory security for the payment. Upon such payment being made the Court is asked to direct the various trustees to deliver to the company the various securities, properties and money in the sinking funds, and to discharge the receivers. This step is one of the final steps in the reorganization of the property without foreclosure.—V. 68, p. 774.

Belle City Electric Co. of Racine—Milwaukee Racine & Kenosha Electric Ry.—Milwaukee Electric Ry. & Light

Co.—Properties Transferred.—Papers were filed in the office of the register of deeds at Racine, Wis., on April 28, transferring the property of the Belle City Street Ry. of Racine and the entire property of the Milwaukee Racine & Kenosha Ry. Co. to the Milwaukee Light, Heat & Traction Co., which is a subsidiary company of the Milwaukee Electric Ry. & Light Co.—V. 68, p. 619.

Bennington & Rutland Railroad.—No Receiver.—It was stated last week that this road had been placed in receivers' hands. This was a mistake, the company concerned being the Bennington & Woodford Electric Ry., nine miles in length, extending from Bennington to Glastonbury.—V. 68, p. 821.

Bennington (Vt.) & Woodford Electric Ry.—Receiver.—This line has been placed in the hands of E. D. Bennett, Superintendent of the Bennington & Rutland R.R., as receiver.

Brooklyn Development Co.—Stock Increased.—On May 2 the company filed a certificate at Albany increasing its capital stock from $350,000 to $2,000,000.—V. 68, p. 721.

Brooklyn Rapid Transit.—Settlement Consummated.—The settlement with Mr. Flynn has been consummated. It provides for the withdrawal of the pending suits, the acquisition of Mr. Flynn's holdings in the Brooklyn City R.R., the Nassau Electric R.R., the Coney Island & Brooklyn R.R. and the Brooklyn Union Elevated R.R.s, and also of the stocks, franchises and ownership of the Gravesend & Coney Island R.R., which holds perpetual franchises on over 30 miles of public streets and roads in Gravesend. The amount paid Mr. Flynn is reported as about $2,250,000. Mr. Flynn's withdrawal from the field, it is said, may enable the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company to modify its lease of the Brooklyn City R.R. Co. and to obtain the release of the $4,000,000 deposited as a guaranty fund for the payment of dividends on the stock of the latter. Mr. Flynn's holdings are said to have included about 10,000 shares of the old Nassau common stock, 5,000 shares of the Nassau preferred stock, 450 of the Coney Island & Brooklyn stock, 100 Brooklyn City & Newtown stock and 3,500 Coney Island & Gravesend R.R. stock.

Increased Earnings.—Electrical Equipment.—The company's increased earnings (see earnings department), it is stated, have thus far been made in spite of the fact that only about one half of the open cars are equipped for running, and neither the Brighton Beach nor the Prospect Park & Coney Island roads were open for traffic. Both roads will be in operation by or before Decoration Day. The running time from Manhattan Borough to Coney Island, via the Brooklyn Elevated route, is now 36 minutes, but will be reduced to 30 minutes. The Fifth Avenue line of the Brooklyn Union Elevated R.R. will also be equipped electrically by Decoration Day. A large increase in traffic it is expected will result from these changes.—V. 68, p. 821.

Carnegie Steel Co.—Steel Combination.—Incorporation.—Pending Negotiations.—A certificate incorporating the Carnegie Steel Company was filed on Thursday with the Secretary of State at Trenton, N. J. The capital named is nominal—only $3,000—but this amount, it is stated, will be increased to several hundred millions. It is understood that Mr. Carnegie has sold his entire plant to the new company, of which H. C. Frick will be the head, and that the new company will acquire also the H. C. Frick Coke Co., the Oliver Mining Co., the Pittsburg Bessemer & Lake Erie Railroad, the Union Railroad, and allied properties. By the articles of incorporation Andrew Carnegie is to receive in payment for his interest in the individual concerns $100,000,000 worth of 5% first mortgage bonds of the new company.

Negotiations have been pending in this city during the week for the consolidation of the American Tin Plate Co., the National Steel Co. and the American Steel Hoop Co. with other concerns, into a single corporation, with a capitalization of several hundred millions. Reports are contradictory as to whether actual consolidation, or only an operating agreement, will be made with the Carnegie Steel Co. The Federal Steel Co. and the American Steel and Wire Co. have been asked to take part in the consolidation movement, which it is understood is backed by the Rockefeller interests and the Moores of Chicago.—V. 68, p. 84, 283.

Catskill Electric Ry.—Mortgage Filed.—The company has filed a mortgage for $400,000 to the Hamilton Trust Co. of Brooklyn as trustee to secure an issue of 5 per cent bonds. The road is projected from Catskill to Cairo, 16 miles.—V. 67, p. 427.

Central New York & Western Ry.—Increase of Stock.—The stockholders have voted to increase the capital stock from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000, in order to standard-gauge the narrow-gauge division, fill trestles, re-lay tracks and purchase equipment. Several short lines, it is stated, have been purchased recently with a view to consolidation.—V. 68, p. 823.

Central Vermont Railway.—Mortgage Filed.—The company has filed its mortgage for $12,000,000 to the American Loan & Trust Co. as trustee.—V. 68, p. 822.

Central Vermont Ry.—Grand Trunk Ry.—Possession Taken May 1.—The receivers of the Central Vermont RR. turned over the property to the new company, the Central Vermont Railway, at 12:01 A. M. May 1. The officers and directors were given last week. The Grand Trunk Ry. Co., under the reorganization plan, acquired a controlling interest in the new company, and owns, it is said, two-thirds of the stock.

Interest Payment.—One per cent was paid May 1 on the certificates of deposit representing the Consolidated RR. of Vermont 5s at the American Loan & Trust Co., No. 53 State Street, Boston, or at R. L. Day & Co., No. 1 Broad Street, New York.—V. 68, p. 427, 822.

Chicago & West Michigan Railway.—Coupon Payment in Full in Cash.—Coupon No. 16, due May 1, 1899, of the Chicago & North Michigan RR. 5 per cent bonds was paid in full on that date at the National Webster Bank, 87 Milk Street, Boston, Mass.—V. 68, p. 376.

Cleveland Belt & Terminal RR.—Wheeling & Lake Erie RR.—Control Secured.—The syndicate that acquired the Cleveland & Canton first mortgage bonds has secured deposits of over $600,000 bonds of the Cleveland Belt & Terminal Company out of a total of $902,000, and $2,200,000 stock out of a total of $3,191,300.—V. 68, p. 830.

Consolidated Gas Co.—New York Mutual Gas Co.—Standard Gas Co.—New Amsterdam Gas Co.—Gas War.—A reduction in the price of gas from $1 10 to 65 cents per thousand feet was made on May 1 by the Consolidated and the New York Mutual Gas Companies. Harrison E. Gawtry, President of the Consolidated Gas Co., says: "Our competitors have been cutting rates and we deemed it wise to make this sweeping reduction in order to protect our business. The reduction is not intended to be permanent, for there would be no profit in the gas business at 65 cents per 1,000 feet. We are obliged to fight owing to the aggressiveness of our competitors. It is not especially a fight against the Standard Gas Light Co., for the New Amsterdam Gas Co. has been equally, if not more, aggressive."

On Wednesday the Standard Gas Co. reduced its rate to 65 cents per 1,000 feet and the New Amsterdam Gas Light to 50 cents from May 1.

The New Amsterdam Co. is reported to have been entering the domain of the older companies. Moreover until within a few months the Standard Gas Co. worked in harmony with the Consolidated and the Mutual, there being an agreement that neither should invade the other's territory, but this agreement has been disregarded. Russell Sage is one of the largest owners of stock in the Standard Gas Light Co.; J. P. Morgan became interested in the New Amsterdam Company some time ago, while the Rockefellers are heavy holders of stock in the Consolidated Company.—V. 68, p. 569; V. 67, p. 1263; V. 68, p. 577; V. 66, p. 616.

Consolidated Gum Co.—Consolidation.—The "Chicago Inter-Ocean" states that the consolidation of chewing gum interests will be effected under the name of the Consolidated Gum Co., to be incorporated under the laws of New Jersey, and capitalized at $9,000,000. Of this $3,000,000 is preferred and $6,000,000 is common stock. The consolidated company, it is said, will become the owner of the following manufacturing: W. J. White (Yacatan), Cleveland; Adams & Sons' Co. (Tutti Frutti), Brooklyn; Beeman Chemical Co. (Pepain Gum), Cleveland; J. P. Primley (California Fruit Gum), Chicago; Stephen T. Ford Franchise Tax Bill.—Bill Passed.—The Assembly at Albany at its last session passed by a vote of 104 to 33 the bill of Senator Ford providing for the taxation of franchises as real estate, that is without deduction or allowance for debts. The bill is published in full in the State and City Department to-day. An official of the Tax Department is reported as stating that the increases in the assessed valuations of four companies alone, doing business in this city, would amount to nearly $260,000,000. Grave question, however, is raised as to the constitutionality of the bill, and various companies, like the Third Avenue RR., and a number of the constituent companies of the Metropolitan Street RR. system, it is claimed, will be exempt from its enforcement, since they operate under municipal or State contracts which, it is said, would be violated by the imposition of an additional tax. The Tax Department has decided that it is out of the question to attempt to tax the franchises this spring. The matter will therefore lie over until September, and after the assessment is announced next January the companies will have time to make their complaints. One lawyer says: "Nothing will be paid this year, and by next year there will be, I believe, an entirely different law for the taxation of franchises."

Houston & Texas Central RR.—Bonds Called.—The company has called for payment with the proceeds of land sales $200,000 of its first mortgage bonds. Hudson River Tunnel Ry.—Sale Postponed.—The sale of the property, which was set for May 2, has been postponed at the request of the committee till June 1 in Jersey City and June 2 in New York. The postponement was due to the death of Daniel Lord, of Lord, Day & Lord, who represented the English bondholders.—V. 68, p. 671.

Indianapolis & Broad Ripple Rapid Transit Co.—Sold.—William H. Schmidt of Indianapolis has been elected President of the road. He confirms the report that "a new company" has acquired the property "by purchase." Bonds for $100,000 were pledged to secure a loan for $125,000.—V. 64, p. 664.

International Packing Co.—No Interest May 1.—The directors have voted to pass the semi-annual interest on the $2,438,000 of 6 per cent debenture bonds due May 1, viz.:

Whereas, The net profits made by this company during the five months ending March 31, 1899, are $104,661; and

Whereas, The working capital was on Oct. 25, 1898, impaired to the extent of $166,695;

Kansas City Pittsburg & Gulf RR.—Announcement by Harry Committee.—Plan to be Presented.—The new reorganization committee, William F. Harry, Chairman, says:

The recent change in the receivers has not in any way injured your interests. We feel assured that the property will continue to be managed by the new receivers for the benefit of its security-holders only, and that they will not be influenced by rival or competing interests. The real matter in controversy is the method of reorganization. The committee first appointed, after four months' delay and repeated promises to announce a plan, have failed to do so.

Our committee expects to announce a plan of reorganization as soon as it can be properly formulated, which plan, it is expected, will receive the support of the foreign holders, representing, as we are informed, a majority of all the securities affected. Pending such action we ask the security holders to communicate with the Chairman of the committee, care of Equitable Trust Co., Philadelphia, Pa.

Announcement of Thalman Committee.—The committee announces that at the request of, and in conjunction with, the representatives of the Amsterdam bondholders, expert accountants have been appointed to examine the books and accounts, and an expert has also been appointed for the physical examination. The plan will be formulated as soon as these examinations shall have been completed.—V. 63 p. 824.

Long Island RR.—Atlantic Avenue Tunnel Bill Passed.—On April 28, the last day of the session, the House at Albany passed Senator Marshall's bill authorizing the Atlantic Ave. improvement (see V. 68, p. 546) and granting a 50 year franchise for the tunnel road, which the Long Island RR. Co. has agreed, as part consideration for the participation of the city in the Atlantic Avenue improvement, to build from Flatbush Avenue Station in Brooklyn to Manhattan Borough. The tunnel is to be 70 feet below the surface, and will pass under Flatbush Avenue and Fulton and Pineapple streets in Brooklyn and Maiden Lane and Cortlandt Street in Manhattan. Besides the stations on Flatbush Avenue and Cortlandt Street, the plan provides for intermediate stations at Maiden Lane and Pearl Street in this borough and at a point near the Borough Hall in Brooklyn. Elevators will carry passengers to the service, and frequent electric car service will be maintained between Jamaica and lower New York. President William H. Baldwin, Jr., says:

I think the Mayor will approve the bill. The city will receive 3 per cent of the net earnings, and the increased valuation in property which will certainly result from the construction of the tunnel will add much to its tax revenue. We are ready to begin the construction of the tunnel just as soon as the city and State authorities have passed upon the bill. The tunnel will cost in the neighborhood of $6,000,000, and will take about two and a-half years to build.

Manhattan Ry. of New York.—Third Avenue RR.—Transfer System.—The new transfer system between these roads went into effect on Saturday, April 29. By paying eight cents at the point of taking the elevated cars the passenger gets a coupon ticket, of which the coupon is deposited in the box of the elevated company and the remainder is given for passage on the surface car. At present Yonkers, Mount Vernon, Pelham and New Rochelle are the furthest points with which connection is made.—Vol. 68, p. 772.

Not Included in Lease.—The proposed consolidation of the South Carolina & Georgia Extension RR. This is not, as reported, a consolidation of the Minneapolis mills, but of mills in Duluth, West Superior, Milwaukee, Buffalo, Syracuse and New York, the organizers buying only such properties as they could at a fair price.

"The company will own nineteen mills, including some of the latest and most modern mills in the country, and will have a daily capacity of about 40,000 barrels of flour. The capitalization, therefore, should not be regarded as excessive. This corporation has issued only securities for property. Totals.....	$13,588,966 02	$12,845,819 48	Inc. $743,146 54

The increase in local freight and passenger earnings amounted to $562,855 02, or four-fifths of the total increase in commercial business.

The war between the United States and Spain suspended regular sailings of the liners to Tampico, and substituted irregular tramp service in their place. During the months of July, August, September, October and November a pernicious fever prevailed at Tampico, and along that part of the San Luis Division lying in the hot country, which seriously interfered with the traffic of that division, owing to our inability to secure labor to handle the business. In September and October unprecedented floods occurred on the San Luis Division, resulting in extensive wash-outs between Tamasopo and Tampico, causing an absolute suspension of traffic for twenty-one days. Owing to these adverse conditions the international freight traffic shows an increase over 1897 of only $76,849 59.

It is estimated that by reason of the conditions above noted, the Company sustained a loss in actual gross revenue of fully $500,000 00.

The freight earnings in 1897 on corn imported into Mexico were $110,890 09, none of which obtained in 1898, and it is a gratifying evidence of the increasing earning power of the property to note that, in addition to making up this amount, the gross earnings increased $743,146 54 over 1897.

Excluding from consideration the freight on construction material, the percentages of local and international earnings to gross earnings in 1898 and 1897 compare as follows:

Earnings on local business.....	68.91	68.04
Earnings on international business.....	31.09	31.96

It will be noticed from the foregoing statement that with an increase in operating mileage between 1885 and 1898 of 58.24 per cent there was an increase in gross commercial earnings of 282.28 per cent, or nearly five times the increase in mileage; and the commercial earnings per mile, operated during the same period, increased from $2,858 50 to $6,905 81, or 141.59 per cent.

OPERATING EXPENSES.

The comparison of classified expenses with 1897 follows:

Classification.	1898.	1897.	Inc. or Dec.
Maintenance of Way and Structures.....	$2,099,818 49	$1,733,762 60	Inc. $366,055 89
Maint. of Equipment, Transportation and Traffic Expenses....	1,460,118 49	1,640,421 99	Dec. 180,303 50
General Expenses.....	4,888,580 76	4,803,843 71	Inc. 84,737 05
Totals.....	$72,884 45	$51,442 61	Inc. 61,441 84
	$9,161,432 19	$8,829,470 91	Inc. $331,961 28

Of this increase $74,090 94 was caused by higher rates of exchange on the United States Currency Material and Expenses, and in order to make a proper comparison with 1897 the expenses should be placed on the same basis of exchange as in that year by deducting this amount, which would reduce the expenses to $9,087,341 25, as compared with $8,829,470 91 in 1897, an increase of $257,870 34; and on the same basis the net earnings would show an increase of $485,276 20 over 1897.

The maintenance-of-way expenses were 22.92 per cent of the total, and increased $366,055 89, principally in heavier general repairs to track and bridge work, the general repairs being $207,716 92 and the repairs and renewals of bridges $149,488 39 more than in 1897. Of the increase under this head $19,181 62 was caused by higher rates of exchange.

There were 1,924,442 tons of new 66-pound steel rail placed in track on the Mexico Division, and 4,774,791 tons of new 66-pound steel rail placed in track on the San Luis Division. Since the rail renewals were commenced in 1896, track has been re-laid with 56 and 66-pound rail, as follows:

Year.	Weight of Rail.	Division.	Tons.	Feet of Track.
1894.....	66 lb.	Mexico	7,263,980	360,802
1896.....	56 lb.	"	3,507,107	210,426
1897.....	66 lb.	"	1,878,010	95,653
1898.....	66 lb.	"	1,924,442	97,071
1898.....	66 lb.	San Luis	4,774,791	248,080
Totals.....			19,349,230	1,016,932

The tie renewals were 551,040, costing $573,460 26, compared with 530,740 in 1897, at a cost of $573,119 91, an increase of 20,300, and making a total of ties renewed from 1883 to 1898, inclusive, of 4,766,850.

During the year 4,572 feet of wooden trestle bridges were taken out, the drainage diverted by ditching and the openings filled with earth; 4,645 feet were replaced by cast iron culverts; 1,015 feet were replaced by stone culverts and 1,984 feet were replaced by iron structures, making a total of 12,216 feet of wooden bridging replaced by permanent structures or by ditching. The amount charged to operating expenses for bridge work in 1898 was $486,159 14.

When the road was built considerable wooden bridge construction was introduced. The wooden bridges were maintained by repairs until four years ago, when extensive renewals became necessary, and will continue during the next year, after which they will be materially decreased. These bridges are being replaced, as far as practicable, with permanent structures of stone or iron, or a combination of the two; and only creosoted material is used when wooden structures are rebuilt, insuring a bridge of at least twice the life of one built with untreated timber.

Year.	Filled and Abandoned.	Replaced with Iron Pipe.	Replaced with Stone Outlets.	Replaced with Iron Bridges.	Total ft.
1895.....	1,448	1,370	0	0	2,818
1896.....	3,158	5,642	0	0	8,800
1897.....	3,149	2,223	360	195	5,927
1898.....	4,572	4,645	1,015	1,984	12,216
Totals.....	12,327	13,880	1,375	2,179	28,761

The expenditures of maintenance of equipment were 15.94 per cent of the total. The expenses under this head were increased $19,884 88 on account of higher rates of exchange, but all items in this class show decreases compared with 1897, excepting repairs to floating equipment, which increased $10,218 87, accounted for by the extensive repairs of the steam tug "Tampico," it being necessary to send her to New Orleans for that purpose.

The repairs to freight cars include the cost of rebuilding thirty-seven 30-ton box cars, one 20-ton box car, seven 30-ton stock cars, two 30-ton coal cars, three flat cars, two coke cars and one caboose.

The repairs of passenger cars include the cost of rebuilding four coaches, and one 50-foot baggage, mail and express car into a 60-foot car. Eighteen coaches also received heavy general repairs.

The expenditures for maintenance of equipment include $103,120 (the equivalent of $48,000 U. S. Cy.), credited to Equipment Fund to provide for replacement of condemned and destroyed equipment.

The transportation and traffic expenses were 53.36 per cent of the total, and increased $84,737.05, compared with 1897, of which $25,461.00 was due to higher rates of exchange on United States Currency Material and Expenses.

The amount paid for use of foreign cars was $138,120.42, compared with $215,577.15 in 1897, a decrease of $77,456.73; and the items generally under this heading show decreases, excepting station expenses and supplies, which increased $185,284.93, of which $177,176.91 was for demurrage on vessels at Tampico, owing to the inability of the Company to effect prompt discharging on account of the conditions and difficulties at that port, previously referred to.

The general expenses were 7.78 per cent of the total, and increased $61,441.84, of which $9,563.44 was due to higher rates of exchange.

During the period from 1892 to 1898, inclusive, the loss to the Company from depreciation in the value of the Mexican dollar has amounted to $6,198,021.04 United States currency. This matter was discussed more fully on pages 19 and 20 of the annual report for the year 1897.

The United States Currency values of the stock of material and fuel at the periods specified have been as follows:

showing a decrease between December 31, 1892, and December 31, 1898, of $565,549.33, or 66.08 per cent.

The only addition during 1898 to the equipment was two 60-foot baggage, mail and express cars, built at the Mexico shops. Various changes in classification, including four small box cars changed to beer and ice cars, forty small box cars changed to fruit cars and fifty-eight flat cars changed to ballast cars, reduced the number of freight cars thirty-two and added the same number to "Sundry Cars."

Since 1893 the number of freight cars has been increased about 43 per cent, but the tonnage capacity has very nearly doubled, of which over 10 per cent has resulted from the policy of replacing condemned and destroyed cars of 15 and 20 tons capacity by cars of 30 tons capacity, the entire cost of which has been included in the operating expenses.

MILEAGE.

The Parral Extension from Jimenez to Parral, 54.60 miles in length, was completed in the latter part of 1898, but was not operated for revenue account until the first of January, 1899, and there have also been added 11.70 miles of new side tracks. The total mileage on December 31, 1898, was as follows:

Main Line, City of Mexico to Ciudad Juarez.....	1,224.16

TAMPICO HARBOR.

The floods at Tampico made a further scouring out of the channel, recent soundings showing a depth of 27 feet on the outer bar and 30 feet on the old inner bar at mean high tide.

On February 20, 1898, the new Custom House wharf at Tampico, which had just been completed by the company for the Government, and was about to be opened for business, was entirely destroyed by fire, together with a large amount of material stored on the wharf for the construction of the Custom House. The Custom House structure itself was not damaged. As the wharf was owned by the Government, and the Company had received its payment for the work, it suffered no money loss, but the loss of the facilities which would have been furnished by the wharf proved a serious impediment to traffic, and in order to meet immediate requirements for shipping until the Government wharf could be rebuilt, an extension of 400 feet was made to the company's merchandise wharf at Dona Cecilia, and a similar extension to the company's coal wharf at that point, at a cost of $48,972 57 United States Currency. The Government is now considering plans for the erection of an iron wharf to take the place of that burned.

At Dona Cecilia thirty-four employes' cottages have been erected, and at La Barra two cottages for the station agent and Customs agent, at a cost of $7,285 61 United States currency.

On the following page will be found a statement showing the tonnage and value of exports and imports, via the various seaports and gateways of Mexico, for the years 1885 to 1898, inclusive.

The tonnage of exports and imports through Tampico and El Paso for the year ending June 30, 1898, was 712,586, compared with 686,011 in the previous year, an increase of 26,575 tons, or 3·87 per cent; but the values of the exports and imports show an increase over the previous year of 13·62 p. c.

The value of exports through all the ports and gateways of the Republic for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1898, amounted to $128,972,749 Mexican silver, of which $56,076,066, or 43·47 per cent, was through Tampico and El Paso; and the value of the imports through all the gateways and ports of the Republic for the same period amounted to $43,603,492 gold, of which $11,719,784, or 26·88 per cent, was through Tampico and El Paso, in addition to which a considerable amount of the exports and imports via Eagle Pass was delivered to and received from the Mexican International Railroad at Torreon. The corresponding percentages in 1897 were respectively 43 and 27·68, showing that the Company's gateways of Tampico and El Paso about maintained their proportions of the total exports and imports.

The above figures show the importance of the Mexican Central Railway to the industrial interests of Mexico, and the development it is instrumental in accomplishing.

The following is a statement of the cost in United States currency of the Tampico Harbor Company works and property to December 31, 1898, all of which has been advanced by the Mexican Central Railway Company Limited:

FINANCIAL.

The Income Accounts for the years 1898 and 1897, in United States currency, compare as follows:

	1898.	1897.	Inc. or Dec.
Net Earnings.....	$2,062,804 57	$1,937,483 19	Inc. 125,321 38
Interest on Bonds and other charges, less
Miscellaneous Inter.	2,476,027 21	2,476,430 61	Dec. 403 40

Deficit..... $413,222 64 $538,947 42 Dec. $125,724 78

which was provided for in both years by amounts withdrawn from the Subsidy Trust Fund, in accordance with the terms of the Trust Indenture.

It will be seen by reference to the Income Account, that the partial payment of $50,000 00, account of new equipment, is included in the fixed charges, although on account of new property, the title to which does not become vested in the company until all the partial payments are completed and the Equipment Bonds redeemed and canceled. The payment is for Capital Account, however, and if excluded from the charges for the year, the deficit in operation is reduced from $413,222 64 to $363,222 64 United States currency.

The maximum price at which the Company sold Mexican silver dollars in 1898 was 48 cents, and the minimum was 45 cents, and the average for the year was 46·59 cents, against 48·24 in 1897, an average decrease of 1·65 cents per dollar.

The loss to the Company in net earnings from this decrease in the value of the dollar amounted to $108,779 22 U. S. Cy., to which should be added the depreciation in the United States currency value of the Mexican currency assets, amounting to $2,233 93, making a total loss in the Income for the year of $111,013 15 U. S. Cy., being a loss of $67,280 70 U. S. Cy. for each cent of depreciation in the gold value of Mexican silver dollars.

The balance of the Mexican Government Interior Redeemable Debt 5 per cent Bonds, amounting to $499,300 00, received as Subsidy on the Tampico Harbor Works, and held as collateral under the mortgage securing the Tampico Harbor Company Bonds (all of which are owned by the Railway Company), were sold by the trustee in 1898, in accordance with the provisions of the mortgage, and the proceeds, together with those obtained from the amortization of $700 00 of the bonds by the Mexican Government were used to purchase from the Railway Company and cancel $168,000 00 of the Tampico Harbor Company Mortgage Bonds.

The first partial payment of $50,000 00 under the Equipment Agreement of April 1, 1897, was made to the Trustee February 1, 1898, and applied to the purchase and cancellation of that amount of Equipment Bonds, which appears in the balance sheet under the heading of "Canceled Bond Account," and reduced the amount of outstanding Equipment Bonds correspondingly.

The following is the statement of the Subsidy Trust Fund:

Showing the net income of the Trust during the year 1898 to have been..... $74,747 97 an average rate of 2.96 per cent.

Exclusive of the loss on securities sold, the net receipts during the year amounted to $136,139 32, or 5.39 per cent.

The $380,000 withdrawn from the Subsidy Trust Fund for account of the 1898 deficit was based on a statement of operations, those for the latter months of the year being estimated, but on completion of the accounts the actual deficit was found to amount to $413,222 64, and the amount overdrawn, viz., $175,777 36, will be returned to the Trust Fund.

At the time the settlement of the subsidy was made with the Government, $6,122,646 37 of the proceeds were invested in Priority Mortgage Five per cent Bonds to the par value of $5,597,000. This is an investment by the trustee for the same purposes as the Subsidy Trust Fund, amounting, as stated above, to $2,121,147 79, so that the security at the end of 1898 for the payment of the interest on the Consolidated Mortgage Bonds amounted to $8,243,794 16, as shown by the general balance sheet, in addition to net earnings.

IN GENERAL.

Federal and State concessions were acquired in 1898 for a line of railroad from Yurecuaro, on the Guadalajara Branch, to Ario, an estimated distance of 190 kilometers, with a Mexican Government subsidy of $6,000 per kilometer in 5 per cent silver bonds and a State Subsidy of $2,500 per kilometer in cash. The construction of this branch, which will be known as the "Zamora Extension," has been authorized by the directors to the extent of 60 kilometers.

Federal and State concessions were also obtained during the year for a line from Guadalajara, or some adjacent point on the Guadalajara Division, to Colima, an estimated distance of 261 kilometers (162 miles), with a Mexican Government subsidy of about $9,000 per kilometer in 5 per cent silver bonds, and a State subsidy of $3,000 per kilometer in 6 per cent silver bonds and cash. The concessions require the completion of the line October 1, 1904. No financial arrangements have yet been made for the construction, but engineering work is in progress. The territory to be traversed by this line is of the same character as that occupied by the Guadalajara Branch; it is well populated, business is now offering, and the outlook is favorable.

During the year the Division Point on the San Luis Division has been changed from Rascon to Cardenas, on account of the unhealthy conditions at the former place, and in order to economize in conducting transportation. At Cardenas a new switching yard has been established, and in addition to the shop and engine house provided; 15 new dwelling houses, a new storehouse and new carpenter shop and necessary tracks have been added at Cardenas; and the headquarters of the Superintendent and other Division Officials moved to that point, from San Luis Potosi. A new yard has been established at Tamasopo (the foot of Tamasopo Mountain) to be used in connection with the mountain service.

A new reservoir for fresh water has been completed at Velasco, on the San Luis Division, which was filled with surface water during the rainy season, and which will be of great benefit to the locomotives on that section of the line.

The washout which occurred near San Jose, on the Chihuahua Division, in 1897, has been repaired by re-locating and rebuilding the line around the lake, a distance of 3.71 kilometers.

The grade has been raised between kilometers 1817 and 1851 on the main line, between kilometers 37 and 41, and 58 and 60 on the Laguna Extension, and between kilometers 587 and 592 on the San Luis Division, at all of which points washouts have heretofore occurred.

During the year, 19.09 miles of track were thoroughly ballasted with broken stone and volcanic ash on the main line, and 41.60 miles on the San Luis Division, a total of 60.67 miles, and making a total of track ballasted in the last four years of 105.36 miles, at a cost of $338,434 28 Mexican currency, which has been charged to construction account.

Mr. Robert R. Symon, of London, a Director and Vice-President of the Company, died on January 28, 1899. He was one of the original concessionaires, and had been connected with the company since its inception.

The Comptroller's report following gives the balance sheet and income account of the company in United States currency, and detailed statements of the earnings and expenses in Mexican currency.

Respectfully submitted by order of the Board,

A. A. ROBINSON, President.

There will be constructed during the year 1899 buildings at the following places: Merriam Park, Minnesota; Relay Station; Detroit, Mich., four Branch Office Buildings and one Relay Station; Main Office Buildings at Battle Creek, Bay City, Kalamazoo, Lansing, Marquette and Port Huron, in Michigan; Fort Worth, Paris and Waco, in Texas; Relay Stations at Dallas and Houston, Texas.

RELAY STATION.

Relay Stations are located in small buildings some miles distant from the main Exchange building in the suburban districts, where center all the long distance wires, thereby avoiding the necessity of carrying them to the main Exchange and city proper. This greatly improves the through long-distance service. The relay station is also used as a branch office for subscribers in the immediate locality.

LONG DISTANCE SERVICE.

The value of the long-distance service to the Exchange subscribers and general public has not been over-estimated. We had supposed the Northwestern and Southwestern territory would be pretty well covered with long-distance wires before the close of 1898, but as the work of construction moves forward new towns are connected with the general system, a large and unexpected business has rapidly developed, which is a sure indication that continued extensions will be necessary. Undoubtedly it will be advisable to connect every post office within a reasonable distance of a trunk line route during the next two years. The wires are mostly copper and give excellent service. They are, however, on account of their tensile strength, being much less than iron, quite easily broken by sleet storms, causing an interruption of service at times and some extra expense for repairs. We have, however, been specially fortunate during the past year, not having had a sleet storm causing any material damage.

The gross earnings of the long-distance lines increased over 48 per cent in 1898 over the year 1897.

Long-distance extensions, to be made during the next eighteen months, have been authorized as follows:

Company.	Pole, Miles.	Wire, Miles.
The Northwestern Telephone Exchange Company.....	800	3,000
The Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Company.....	1,200	8,000
The Michigan Telephone Company.....	1,500	19,000
Total.....	3,500	30,000

The excess of wire miles over pole miles provides for metallic circuits and extra metallic circuits on poles already constructed; this to establish additional facilities for a large and rapidly increasing business.

The development of Michigan is much less in ratio to telephonic population than either the Northwest or Southwestern systems, and an opportunity here presents itself for many important and valuable extensions in our newly-acquired territory, many of which will be made during the year 1899.

The long-distance service of the Northwestern Telephone Exchange Company extends from Park River, in North Dakota, to Sioux City, in Iowa, a distance of 750 miles, with lines radiating in all directions to important points. A similar condition exists in the Southwest, the Company's longest line extending from Waldron, in Arkansas, to Brownsville, Texas, a distance of 1,400 miles.

Our entire long-distance system is now connected with the long-distance wires of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company and its connecting Companies, thereby establishing telephonic service with all the cities and towns connected in the United States and Canada.

The increase of subscribers, exclusive of the Michigan Company, during the year, was 7,446, and 4,083 were changed from grounded to metallic circuits. The Michigan Company made a net gain of 3,269 subscribers.

It is estimated that the increase of subscribers for the year 1899 will exceed 20,000.

The net earnings of the Sub-Companies, exclusive of the Michigan Company, for the year 1898 were $610,455 35—based upon the net earnings for the three months ending December 31, and not allowing for any increase during the year 1899, the net earnings should be $867,554 20; an increase of $257,098 85.

THE MICHIGAN TELEPHONE COMPANY.

December 9, 1898, contracts were authorized to be executed for the purchase of a controlling interest in the capital stock of the Michigan Telephone Company.

The Company operates exclusively under the American Bell Telephone Company's perpetual licenses in the State of Michigan. A committee consisting of six members of your Board of Directors occupied twelve days in a most thorough inspection of the Company's property and made a report to the full Board of Directors. In closing the report the committee say: "That they are satisfied we have obtained at a low price property that will prove of great value to the Company."

The Michigan Telephone Company have sold Five Million General Consolidated Mortgage Bonds to be delivered as the Company may require funds for extensions.

BONDS.

To provide funds for the future growth of the business, the Capital Stock of the Cleveland, Northwestern and Southwestern Companies will be increased from time to time—and to take the new stock allotted this Company it will be necessary to issue the bonds heretofore authorized. ## COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

FRIDAY NIGHT, May 5, 1899.

The reactionary tendency which has been experienced in financial circles the past week has not been reflected to any extent in the commercial markets. Business has been fairly active. There has been a good steady demand in most lines of merchandise and values in the main have held to a steady to firm basis. Crop accounts, although not as favorable as a week ago, have been, nevertheless, of a fairly satisfactory character. Early in the week there was some talk of gold exports, arising from an advance in the rate of exchange, the result of speculative purchases in anticipation of the Philippine indemnity payment.

Speculation in cotton for future delivery has been dull, the market for the week being a small, narrow one. Both regular operators and outsiders have shown little disposition to operate extensively, they generally preferring to hold off and await developments regarding the prospect for the new crop. According to some advices received from the South during the week the acreage to be given to the new crop will show little if any decrease from last year. The report of the Agricultural Bureau is due next week and owing to the late start of the crop it is expected by many of the trade that this report will be of an unfavorable character. Owing, however, to the fact that weather conditions latterly have been decidedly better and advices from the South generally note good progress in planting, there has been no buying of importance in anticipation of an unfavorable Bureau report. Early in the week English advices reported quiet sagging markets and there was a renewal of the talk of labor troubles, as mill owners refused to accede to the demand of the workers. To-day there was a little more activity to the trading and prices advanced slightly in response to stronger advices from Liverpool, where Manchester spinners were reported as moderate buyers of futures on the belief that the labor troubles will be satisfactorily settled on Monday. There was also some buying in anticipation of an unfavorable Bureau report. The close was steady at a net gain in prices for the day of 4 to 5 points. Cotton on the spot declined 1-16c. on Tuesday but to-day advanced 1-16c. and closed steady at 6 3-16c. for middling uplands.

The rates on and off middling, as established Nov. 16, 1898, by the Revision Committee, at which grades other than middling may be delivered on contract, are as follows.

NEW ENGLAND MILLS SITUATION.—The strike among the weavers employed in the Rhode Island cotton mills is at an end, and most of the men have returned to work. The Whittenton Mfg. Co., of Taunton, Mass., advanced wages in the various departments of their mills on Monday, May 1, thus placing the hands on the same schedule as prevailed prior to Feb. 7, 1898.

MANCHESTER MARKET.—Our report received by cable to-night from Manchester states that the market is firm for both wools and shirtings. The demand for both home trade and foreign markets is improving. We give the prices for to-day below and leave those for previous weeks of this and last year for comparison.

GOVERNMENT WEEKLY COTTON REPORT.—Mr. James Berry, Chief of the Climate and Crop Bureau of the Agricultural Department, made public on Tuesday the following telegraphic reports on the crops in the Southern States for the week ending May 1:

NORTH CAROLINA.—Satisfactory progress in farm work and growth of crops continue; preparation for cotton-planting advanced and bulk of crop will be put in during next two week; early planted coming up.

SOUTH CAROLINA.—Weather favored farm work. germination and growth of crops; cotton-planting will be finished by the 10th; early planting coming up well.

GEORGIA.—Weather throughout week most favorable for farm work as well as growth of all crops; cotton planting completed in a number of counties and chipping is in progress.

FLORIDA.—Week favorable for work; cooler than normal over eastern district; and rainfall generally deficient; cotton looks well, but damaged in some sections by grasshoppers.

ALABAMA.—Warm, dry week; rain would benefit all crops; cotton nearly all planted considerable up and some being chopped.

MISSISSIPPI.—Crop conditions are generally improved, although lack of rain has materially retarded the germination of cotton; cotton now up is a good stand and being worked in some southern counties; outworn still working in northern and central counties.

LOUISIANA.—Favorable conditions prevailed during the week, but rain is now needed; outworn damaging cotton; cotton poor stand, and much yet to be planted.

TEXAS.—Warm week, with just sufficient sunshine for rapid vegetable growth; farm work pushed; cotton being chopped out in southern portion and growing nicely, except some danger from brisk winds; cotton planting well advanced in northern portion and crop coming up to good stands.

ARKANSAS.—Rain in portions of northwest section Wednesday benefited crops; cotton planting progressed rapidly; some coming up; outworn doing damage.

TENNESSEE.—Good rains, followed by warm sunshine; work of the season was so well advanced that it is nearly up to the average; cotton planting nearing completion; first plantings up and growing well.

MISSOURI.—An excellent week for crop growth; considerable cotton planted.

OKLAHOMA.—Cotton planting delayed until Thursday by wet ground but has advanced rapidly since.

These reports on cotton are summarized by the Department as follows:

Cotton planting is now well advanced over the northern section of the cotton belt, considerable having been planted in Missouri. The stands are generally reported as good, with favorable growth during the week throughout the central and southern portions, where cultivation is in progress. Complaints of damage to cotton from insects are reported from Florida and Louisiana.

JUTE BUTTS, BAGGING, & C.—There has been little or no business in jute bagging the past week. Quotations are as last quoted, viz., 5% @ 5 1/2 c. for 1 1/4 lbs. and 6 1/4 @ 6 1/2 c. for 2 lbs., standard grades. Jute butts continue dull at 1'05c. for paper quality and 1 1/2 c. for mixing to arrive. From Messrs. Ira A. Kip & Co.'s circular we ascertain that the deliveries of jute butts and rejections at New York and Boston during April were 95,834 bales against 32,397 bales for the same month last year, and since January 1 the deliveries have been 125,149 bales, against 178,552 bales last year. Importers and speculators at New York and Boston held no stock on April 30 in either year; amount afloat for the United States reaches 66,780 bales, against 140,743 bales last year.

NEW YORK COTTON EXCHANGE.—At the meeting of the Board of Managers of the Cotton Exchange on Thursday the question of establishing a fixed rate which must be charged by dealers in cotton was laid on the table.

The abolishment of membership certificates was also considered yesterday, and with that end in view the formulating of the amendment to the existing by-laws was decided upon. The proposed action is for the purpose of preventing trading in certificates, considerable of which has, it is said, been carried on of late.

COTTON FROM NEW ORLEANS TO NEW YORK BY SAILING VESSELS.—The ship St. Paul arrived at New York from New Orleans Thursday with 3,088 bales of cotton. This is the first sailing vessel to bring a cargo of cotton to this port in many years, and is due to exceptional circumstances. The St. Paul was at New Orleans early in April, and was chartered to load at New York, for Japan. Her owners therefore, made a very low rate on cotton to secure a cargo for this port.

EGYPTIAN CROP.—Mail advices to Mr. Fr. Jac. Andres, of Boston, of date Alexandria, April 15, are to the effect that

New crop is making good progress, and the weather, though on the cool side, is still favorable for the germination of the seed.

BREADSTUFFS.

FRIDAY, May 5, 1899.

A quiet market has been experienced for wheat flour. Both the home trade buyers and shippers have shown an indifferent spirit in making purchases, and generally have confined their takings to small lots. The fact that buyers' ideas of values have been low also has had tendency to hold business in check, as sellers have been disposed to hold for steady prices. Rye flour has had only a small sale, and prices have ruled slightly in favor of buyers. Corn meal has been in fair active demand from both the home trade and exporters, and prices have ruled firm.

Speculation in wheat for future delivery has been only moderately active and the net change in prices for the week has been unimportant. Early in the week there was a firmer tone and prices made fractional advances. Crop accounts from the winter-wheat belt were generally of a less favorable character, complaints of drought being received and weather conditions in the spring-wheat belt were reported unfavorable for sowing the new crop. Subsequently, however, there developed an easier tone, as there was no spirit to the buying power, and tame foreign advices also had an unfavorable influence. At the lower prices, however, exporters were good buyers. Wednesday there was a firmer market during early 'Change on drought reports from Russia, but later in the day more favorable weather conditions in the winter-wheat belt prompted increased offerings, and the improvement was lost. Thursday there was an easier market under moderate offerings by bear operators and absence of aggressive buying. Business in the spot market has been active, exporters being good buyers of wheat for early shipment; prices have followed futures. To day there was a slightly easier market under weaker foreign advices, generally favorable crop accounts and large receipts from Argentina. The spot market was fairly active. The sales for export here and at outports were 420,000 bushels.

Indian corn futures have been quiet and there has been a gradual sagging of prices. Early in the week values held to a steady basis in sympathy with the improvement in wheat. Subsequently, however, there developed an easier tone under increased pressure to sell prompted by advices from the West indicating that the acreage to be planted in corn will be the largest on record. Business in the spot market has been active, as exporters have been large buyers; prices have weakened slightly with futures. To day there was a quiet and easier market. The spot market was active. Sales for export were 765,000 bushels.

Oats for future delivery at the Western market have been moderately active, and prices have been irregular. There has been fair buying of May contracts against cash sales, and prices have advanced, while under moderate offerings, prompted by favorable crop prospects, values for the distant months have gradually weakened. Business in the local spot market has been fairly active and exporters have been buyers; prices have ruled about steady. To day the market for futures was steady but the spot market was fairly active and firmer. Sales for export were 190,000 bushels.

GOVERNMENT WEEKLY GRAIN REPORT.—Mr. James Berry, Chief of the Climate and Crop Bureau of the Agricultural Department, made public on Tuesday the telegraphic reports on the grain crops in the various States for the week ending May 1 as follows:

WEATHER.—In the districts eastward of the Rocky Mountains the temperature conditions of the week ending May 1, 1899, were highly favorable. There was, however, too much rain in portions of the Missouri and Red River of the North Valleys, and destructive local storms in portions of Kansas, Missouri and Georgia, while rain is needed in the Central Gulf States, Ohio Valley, Middle Atlantic States and Southern New England. In the Rocky Mountain districts and along the Pacific coast the week was unfavorable owing to unseasonably low temperatures and frequent frosts, which were more or less destructive.

CORN.—The week has been exceptionally favorable for planting, germination and growth of corn. Rapid progress with planting has been made in the States of the Ohio, Central Mississippi and Lower Missouri valleys, and with favorable conditions planting will begin this week in Iowa. About half the crop has been planted in Kentucky and West Virginia, and planting nearly completed in Tennessee and Arkansas. In the Southern States corn has made good growth and is being cultivated; some complaints of damage from insects are reported from the Gulf States, where, however, good stands are reported.

WINTER WHEAT.—Further improvement is generally reported in the condition of winter wheat, but, as stated in previous bulletins, much of the crop has been winter-killed, particularly over the northern portions of Missouri, Illinois and Indiana and northwestern Ohio, and the southern portions of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota. A marked improvement in winter wheat is reported from the Ohio Valley, Tennessee and the Middle Atlantic States. The crop is now heading in the Southern States, Alabama and Texas reporting the stalk very short. On the Pacific Coast the outlook for wheat continues favorable in Oregon and California, but it is less promising in Washington.

SPRING WHEAT.—Early-seeded spring wheat is coming up to good stands and with vigorous plant over southern portions of the spring-wheat region. Seeding is about finished over the southern portions of Minnesota and North Dakota, but has been delayed in the Red River Valley and Oregon, and that sown in Washington is coming up slowly.

OATS.—In the Southern States the oat crop has made favorable progress and the outlook is generally promising, although heading short in some sections. A general improvement is reported from the Ohio Valley and Middle Atlantic States. In the more northerly section seeding continues under conditions favorable for rapid germination.

For other tables usually given here see page 207.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

NEW YORK, FRIDAY, P. M., May 5, 1899.

There has been no marked change in the general character of the market this week. The improvement in demand noted in last report has been maintained, but without further development in any particular direction. The home trade is re-ordering cotton goods for seasonable purposes to quite an average extent for the time of year, and is operating fairly in specialties for fall, but has not so far started to supply its needs for next season in staple lines with any degree of freedom. The export demand for heavy cottons is still a good feature of the situation and keeps the market for these in excellent condition. Price changes have not been important, but where made have always been in the shape of advances, as more particularly noted below. The woolen goods division of the market shows a somewhat better undertone. The jobbing trade reports good results this week, particularly in cotton fabrics, and there has been an active distribution by retailers. The general outlook is regarded with assurance. Financial conditions are satisfactory, complaints being heard but rarely from either the primary market or jobbing circles.

WOOLEN GOODS.—There has been a fair demand for Clay worsteds at the advanced prices reported last week and the market is in good shape in these. The heavier weights of men's-wear serges are also well situated and firm in prices but some of the lightest weights are dull and irregular. The demand for medium and low-grade chevots and cassimeres has been quiet but there is less appearance of pressure to sell than of late. Fine worsteds have sold rather more freely at steady prices. Cotton-warp and union goods are dull and irregular. The demand for overcoatings has run mostly to kerseys which are firm in price. Cloakings quiet and unaltered. Only a moderate demand is reported for dress goods without change in prices of leading makes. Flannels and blankets quiet and unchanged. Carpets in good request for fall season and prices steady.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The exports of cotton goods from this port for the week ending May 1 were 2,571 packages, valued at $114,729, their destination being to the points specified in the tables below:

* From New England mill points direct.

The value of the New York exports for the year to date has been $5,323,245 in 1899, against $3,792,318 in 1898.

Several advances have been reported in bleached cottons this week, bringing the lines affected up to regular parity with those previously advanced. There has been a fair demand, and the bleached goods situation is still strong in medium and fine grades. Heavy brown sheetings and drills are well sold ahead, and export grades have an upward tendency. Export business good, but home demand moderate. Light-weight grey goods are firm, with a good business doing. Wide sheetings are quiet and unchanged. Re-orders on cotton flannels and blankets moderate at full prices. Denims are firmly held, being in limited supply; demand moderate. Ticks firm. Checks occasionally ¼c. higher. Other coarse, colored cottons quietly steady. Prints have been in full average demand. Fancies are unchanged. Mourning and pinks and purples occasionally ¼c. higher. Gingham continue very scarce in both staple and dress styles. Regular print cloths have been inactive at Fall River, but firm at 2¼c; sales outside at 2½c. A good business has been done in wide odds at steady prices.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS.—The demand for woolen and worsted dress goods has been fair for high novelties, but dull otherwise. Silks are firm; demand moderate. Ribbons also firm. Linens are quiet; prices maintained. Burlaps steady, with better demand.

MUNICIPAL BOND SALES IN APRIL.

An increase in the municipal bond sales for the month of April over that of March is here recorded. Not only is the aggregate of sales larger, but the number of municipalities issuing bonds as well as the number of issues floated is also much above that for the month previous. There have been two large issues, namely those of Providence, R. I., and Cleveland, Ohio, but these are the only ones exceeding $200,000.

Prices have continued strong and bids have been frequently made for original issues on a much better basis than that quoted on the street for outstanding bonds of the same municipality. Instances of the high prices commanded are numerous, but for example we will only mention the two issues referred to above. On April 5 1899 Cleveland, Ohio, sold $300,000 4 per cent park bonds, maturing one-half Oct. 1 1929 and one-half Oct. 1 1931, to Denison, Prior & Co. of Cleveland, on a basis of 3.113 per cent. In February an issue of bonds by the same municipality was sold netting the investor 3.147 per cent interest. Providence, R. I., on April 23 sold to Adams & Co., Boston, $620,000 3½ per cent 30-year bonds to net 3.014 per cent and to the Industrial Trust Co., Providence, $334,000 3 per cent 30-year bonds, on a basis of only 2.973 per cent. The last sale in this city was on July 20 1898 and the basis then was 3.107 per cent.

Our usual monthly compilation shows that the total amount of municipal securities marketed during April 1899 was $7,447,906, not including $3,119,000 of temporary loans reported. This aggregate may be compared with $3,570,963 for April 1898 and $5,507,311 for March 1899.

The number of municipalities issuing bonds during April 1899 was 147 (emitting 183 separate issues), as against 100 and 111 for March 1899 and 105 and 118 for April 1898.

In the following table we give the prices which were paid for April loans to the amount of $6,308,318, issued by 115 municipalities. The aggregate of sales for which no price has been reported is $1,139,588, and the total bond sales for the month $7,447,906. In the case of each loan reference is made to the page of the CHRONICLE where a full account of the sale is given.

Special Topics.

Butler County (P. O. Greenville), Ala.—Injunction Issued.—We are advised by Jas. T. Bland, County Treasurer, that an injunction has been issued to prohibit the County Board of Revenue from issuing the road bonds which were recently authorized by the State Legislature until the constitutionality of the Act can be tested before the courts. As stated in the CHRONICLE of April 15, this county recently sold to A. M. Baldwin of the First National Bank of Montgomery, Ala., $100,000 bonds, but we are not informed whether these are the bonds affected by the above injunction.

Colorado.—Bill Permitting School Districts to Refund Voted.—The Governor has vetoed the bill passed by the recent Legislature permitting school districts to refund their bonded indebtedness. The Governor stated that "the subject was satisfactorily covered by the law of April 8, 1897, still on the statute books."

New York State.—Franchise Tax Bill.—The following is the Ford Franchise Tax Bill passed by the State Legislature on April 28, 1899, just prior to adjournment. The bill has not yet been signed by the Governor, to whose special efforts the bill owes its passage at the last moment. He has designated May 11, 1899, as the date for a hearing.

Section 1. Sub-division three of section two of the tax law is hereby amended to read as follows:

3. St. Clair County, Mo.—Another Attempt to Compromise.—We take the following item from the Kansas City "Star" relative to the bond case of this county which has gained so much notoriety in recent years:

A great mass meeting of the voters of St. Clair County has been called to convene May 6 in Osceola, Mo., the county seat, and another attempt will be made to agree upon a compromise that will settle the enormous debt which has hung as a cloud over the county for twenty-seven years. General John B. Henderson of St. Louis, one of the attorneys for the holders of bonds against the county, will make a speech at the meeting and offer terms of compromise. The bondholders are willing to settle this debt, now amounting to 1½ millions, for $400,000. The amount of bonds originally issued was $250,000. Of these the county has paid $19,000. O. E. Robinson, former prosecuting attorney of the county, who was in Kansas City yesterday, says that the people of St. Clair County are willing now to pay the balance of $231,000.

The three county judges of St. Clair County are still hiding in the brush. If there is to be any money in the county treasury next year the judges must meet May 1 and make the annual tax levy. The United States authorities hope to get a trace of them when their meeting is held and serve the attachment on the judges.

About two years ago, at the instance of Judge Phillips, a mass meeting was called in St. Clair County and Judge Phillips tried to persuade the people of the county to accept the compromise of $400,000 offered by the bondholders. His efforts, however, bore no fruit.

Vineland (Cal.) Irrigation District.—Bond Litigation.—The following appeared in the Los Angeles "Times" of April 22, 1899:

In the suit of Edwin Baxter against A. W. Dickinson et al., arguments were heard by Judge York, and the case was submitted. The suit was to have declared invalid an issue of $62,000 worth of bonds by the Vineland Irrigation District, and to stop the district officers from selling the lands to collect interest on the bonds. Dr. E. T. Maxwell of Sierra Madre and the University Bank, who hold about $12,000 worth of the bonds, came into the case as intervenors to protect their interests.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

The week has been conspicuous in Wall Street for striking irregularity in the course of the stock market. Monday a severe reaction set in on the Exchange, and Tuesday it assumed almost the character of a semi-panic, in which all classes of stocks participated to a greater or less extent. There seemed to be no special cause for the decline except that prices were top-heavy, having been advanced by speculators beyond present conditions of value on the anticipation of future advantageous movements yielding increased earnings and increased dividends—an anticipation which has remained unrealized. Weak holders were consequently easily discouraged and dislodged under the influence of heavy sales made to depress prices, uncovering, as they did, all thinly-margined accounts. The liquidation was likewise in some measure stimulated by the character of the loan market. For although money has been easier, this situation only apparently favored the weak holder, because in his case accommodation has become harder to get, as evidenced in the fact that margins demanded on collaterals have grown distinctly broader than they were a short time since, and especially on applications of more needy borrowers. Coal stocks were probably the least affected by the demoralization, while Brooklyn Rapid Transit and Traction stocks were the greatest sufferers, though even a few railroads showed large declines. Perhaps a greater surprise than the foregoing is that on the following day the whole face of affairs changed. Whereas during the first two days, and especially on Tuesday, sentiment was wholly pessimistic, on Wednesday a decidedly buoyant feeling prevailed and large recoveries in prices were established. Since then the feeling has been more quiet, the close yesterday showing continued irregularity. Conditions which permit of these intermittent flushes, alternate chill and fever—a state that has prevailed now for weeks—evidently indicate a deeper than a surface cause and are not favorable to and do not encourage investment buying.

The circumstance that the pressure was most severely felt on Monday and Tuesday and most easily yielded to by the Rapid Transit and Traction stocks points to a feature in the situation which is no doubt to-day a very prominent source of public uneasiness. We referred to it last week in speaking of the Ford Franchise Tax bill. We do not mean that bill alone; we have more in mind the spirit which produced that bill, the same spirit that antagonizes every attempt by a combination of capital to build up a successful business. If Mr. Ford has been correctly reported, he exposed Monday night the animus which gave birth to the measure which bears his name, and its possibilities, not of good, but of evil. In an address delivered at that time before the People's Institute at Cooper Union he is reported to have uttered these words: "I venture to say that the attorneys of the corporations haven't waked up to the possibilities of the bill [the Ford bill] yet. They will, however, and you will see the stocks of these corporations going down. There will be a cry of 'sell short' when it comes to the Metropolitan, the Third Avenue Road, Consolidated Gas and other such stocks." If those are Mr. Ford's ideas, they show that he is in league with the destructionists, and that his bill is simply the outcome of that envious spirit which, if allowed to have its way, will strike down every successful industrial venture. We would most earnestly commend Mr. Ford's words to Governor Roosevelt's serious consideration.

An illustration of this work of demolition now in progress is the Texas Anti-Trust Bill. We have several times referred to that measure and refer to it now because this week in the Texas Senate a grotesque amendment has been added to the bill that serves to bring out in stronger light the desolating character of the principle on which it is framed. The amendment was passed almost unanimously, and places the Associated Press in the category of trusts; indeed every corporation, co-partnership, firm or individual which may gather items of news for sale is put under a ban. As is well known, the Associated Press is simply a body of individuals which gathers information from all parts of the world for the benefit of those newspapers that are included within its membership. The Association does not give this news to any newspapers except such as are members, and it admits only such members as it chooses. There have at times been two organizations of that character existing contemporaneously, and the field is so entirely open that nothing except brains and money prevents the formation of other like associations. All then any body of men that feels aggrieved at the existing condition of things has to do, is to organize and employ correspondents, covering, as it chooses, either one county or one State or one country or every part of the two hemispheres, and so set up a rival concern.

But apparently the people of Texas, unless they can have their news served alike in every newspaper in the State, are determined not to have anything published that is newsworthy, desiring we presume to confine the press and themselves to clippings from the cyclopedias. No more able and enterprising journals are to-day issued anywhere than Texas produces, but the Legislature proposes to bring down the best to the level of the worst, ruling out associated press organizations and even individuals who gather and sell news, by adjudging them monopolies, "subject to all the pains and penalties provided in this Act," unless forsooth such associations or individuals "sell to or exchange with newspapers not members of said associations any news items or press despatches" gathered or purchased by them. In other words success is criminal and must be condemned not only to carry its own burdens but be yoked with incompetency. Such requirements suggest that the Texas law even yet needs one more amendment to bring out its spirit fully and make it complete and thoroughly comprehensive along the lines the Legislature has established. Let it be enacted that "any man who happens to have more brains or capital or energy than his neighbor, and who refuses to divide his surplus among his townsmen so that each may have the average quantum for use in the struggle for existence, and also that every man who having so distributed shall use his portion more advantageously than his neighbor and make it more productive, be adjudged a monopolist." With that short and simple addition the Texas people can say of their law, as Mr. Ford is reported to have done in his address at the Cooper Union Monday night respecting his measure, that "the method of my bill is so effective in its terms and scope as to be without precedent in the United States; but I venture to say it will hereafter be a precedent for every State." What a noble ambition! What a glorious outlook!!

The extremely artificial state of the exchange market all the year through has found illustration in the movement of gold to the United States through San Francisco. We have not received our official figures for April as yet; but the matter is called to mind to-day by the high rates of exchange that have ruled in New York of late (very near the gold-export point), and yet there have been during the last seven days both arrivals of gold at San Francisco and shipments of gold for that point, all from Australia. Last Saturday the Moana arrived at the port named with £150,000 (say $750,000), and on Wednesday there was shipped from Sydney, N. S. W., for San Francisco by the Alameda £150,000 (say $750,000) gold. Since the first of January there have been monthly arrivals aggregating an average of about two million dollars, and the above shows that the movement is still kept up. The same thought finds further support in the gold arrivals at New York every week. They are small, to be sure, but would not be continued and constant unless they were profitable; that is to say, if to-day foreign trade conditions controlled the rates for foreign exchange and the rates were as high as they now are, imports of gold at New York and San Francisco would stop. Yet, although they do not, we are told that our large trade balance has all been settled for with securities, and that gold exports from New York are a certain event during the summer. We place no reliance whatever in such forecasts; our information all goes to show that there is still in Europe considerable American money, and unless some disturbance of affairs occurs at present unforeseen, gold exports from the United States will not be an event of 1899.

More than the usual interest has been manifested in the May report of the Agricultural Bureau at Washington on the condition of the growing wheat crop. The report was made public after the close of business on the 10th, and its influence as far as Stock Exchange values are concerned has been on the whole assuring. From this, however, it must not be supposed that the report reflects an absence of damage to the crop. The feeling of satisfaction is based on the fact that the further impairment of condition during the late month is found to have been on the whole comparatively slight, whereas it was feared it might be very great. The Bureau makes the general average of condition 76.2 May 1, against 77.9 on April 1, a decline of less than two points. At 76.2 the average compares with 86.5 on the corresponding date in 1898 and with 80.2 on May 1 1897. Moreover, the Bureau says that the mean of the averages on May 1 of the last ten years has been 85.9. It was thought until recently that increased acreage would count as a considerable offset to the loss from impaired condition. The area devoted to wheat at the time of the sowing of the seed last autumn did show a very large addition, but on account of the severity of the winter a considerable portion has now had to be plowed up (about four million acres), leaving the acreage under cultivation on May 1 only 25,900,000 acres, or but slightly in excess of the area of winter wheat harvested last year. The most decided drop in condition during the month was in Illinois, where the average now is 54 against 74 a month ago; Michigan also suffered a considerable shrinkage, but aside from these two States the further losses have been small. Still, in the whole of the Central Western belt a greatly reduced yield as compared with last year must be looked forward to. In Ohio the condition stands at 82, just the same as in May of last year, but for Indiana the figure is 68 against 87, for Illinois 54 against 86, for Missouri 65 against 88, for Kansas 64 against 105, and for Michigan 60 against 95. On the other hand, in California, where the crop in 1898 was almost a complete failure, the promise is exceptionally good this year, the condition the last month having further improved three points, raising it to 96, as against but 26 in May 1898.

The state of the iron and steel trades is a subject which is now being watched by an increasing number of interests. Not only will the developments there have an important bearing on our domestic and our foreign trade alike, but the matter comes directly home now to a large number of persons who deal or invest in the shares of the companies controlling properties in that industry. In a subsequent article we show the extent and magnitude of the iron and steel combinations which have recently been formed or announced as in prospect. It will be observed that they represent an enormous share capital. Hence the fact that the iron and steel trades continue to manifest great activity and prosperity is a circumstance of much moment. The "Iron Age" gives this week its monthly compilation of the number of iron furnaces in blast, with their weekly capacity, and this shows a new high record established. In other words, during April the number of active furnaces was increased by 12, adding 4,349 tons per week to the weekly capacity, and raising the number to 217 and the gross weekly capacity to 250,095 tons. Since March 1 there has been an addition of 21,900 tons per week to the product, being at the rate of 1½ million tons a year. At 250,095 tons per week, aggregate production is at the rate of 13,000,000 tons per annum. In the whole history of the iron trade, the yearly out-turn has never previously reached even twelve million tons, the make of iron in 1898 (the largest ever attained) having been 11,773,934 tons.

The most significant fact, however, in connection with the present steadily rising product is that simultaneously stocks continue to diminish. We referred to this feature in previous months, but the movement still continues in progress. The "Age" reports the total of furnace stocks, sold and unsold, May 1 at 280,708 tons, against 311,963 tons April 1 and 544,024 tons last December, while the stocks of warrant iron held May 1 were 86,500 tons against 109,700 April 1 and 160,800 Dec. 1. The "Age" thinks the indications are that the iron markets are again reaching a critical period, and says it will require tact and forbearance on the part of producers and consumers alike to prevent another sharp advance. It says leading producers are "sold up" for the third quarter and many beyond that period. Of course radical advances are to be avoided if possible. If carried to extremes, serious adverse effects on the domestic and foreign trade alike might follow. We notice that in a letter written by Andrew Carnegie and printed in the "Iron Trade Review," Mr. Carnegie takes a very hopeful view of the future, and in discussing the foreign demand points out that prices on the other side are still advancing, suggesting that even at present prices the United States may, so long as this situation lasts, find a market abroad for considerable quantities of iron and steel.

Conferences of our railroad managers with the members of the Inter-State Commerce Commission are evidently becoming a regular feature of affairs. We have already referred to some of the previous meetings of this character. This week there have been two other meetings, between fifty and sixty representatives of the roads being present at that of the Western lines on Wednesday and about twenty-five at that of the Southern lines yesterday. As on former occasions, the results seem to have been highly satisfactory. No conclusion was reached at the first meeting on the question of relative rates on import and export traffic, which has been a troublesome one for some time, the matter being referred to the Western Traffic Committee, with instructions to devise a plan and submit it to the trunk-line managers. In other respects the outcome fully met expectations, and those attending the gathering expressed themselves as well pleased with what has been accomplished. As we have before pointed out, these conferences are in every way to be encouraged. They are proving highly beneficial. One evidence of this is that, notwithstanding some slight special disturbances, rates as a whole thus far in 1899 have been better maintained than has been the case for years. They are also very useful in promoting harmony among the roads themselves and in bringing the roads more closely in accord with the Inter-State Board.

The market for money, though active, has been easier this week, and had it not been for more or less disturbance caused by shifting of loans incident to the violent liquidation in the stock market early in the week, doubtless a lower average for call loans would have been recorded. Considering the fact, however, that the borrowing is very largely on call and that considerable money is required for financing new corporations, the average of 4 per cent for the week will not be regarded as high. Money on call, representing bankers' balances, has loaned at the Stock Exchange during the week at 6 per cent and at  $2\frac{1}{2}$  per cent, averaging, as above noted, 4 per cent. The higher rate was recorded on Tuesday late in the afternoon, and only a small amount was loaned at that figure. Eliminating this transaction, therefore, would make the range for the week from  $4\frac{1}{2}$  per cent to  $2\frac{1}{2}$  per cent and the average would be slightly below 4 per cent. On Monday the extremes were  $4\frac{1}{2}$  per cent and  $2\frac{1}{2}$  per cent, though the bulk of the business was at  $4@4\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. On Tuesday loans were at 6 per cent and at  $3\frac{1}{2}$  per cent, with the majority of the transactions at  $4\frac{1}{2}$  per cent, there being a good demand for money caused by the decided fall in stocks. On Wednesday the range was from  $4\frac{1}{2}$  per cent to 3 per cent and on Thursday it was from 4 per cent to 3 per cent, with the majority of the transactions each day at 4 per cent. On Friday loans were made at 4 per cent and at  $3\frac{1}{2}$  per cent, the bulk of the transactions being at 4 per cent. Banks and trust companies quote 4 per cent as the minimum, some, however, obtaining  $4\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. Time contracts on good mixed Stock Exchange security are freely offered on the basis of  $3@3\frac{1}{2}$  per cent for sixty to ninety days and 4 per cent for four months, or for longer periods. Even where the collateral is partly good dividend-paying listed industrial stock, loans are made at 4 per cent for four to six months; but much consideration is given by lenders to the name of the borrower. A loan on a larger proportion of industrials would command  $4\frac{1}{2}@5$  per cent for four to six months, but it would require to be very well margined. The supply of commercial paper is not so liberal as was expected, and city buyers are disposed to wait for larger offerings and better rates; consequently business is somewhat restricted. There is, however, a good inquiry from the interior. Rates are  $3\frac{1}{2}$  per cent for sixty to ninety-day endorsed bills receivable,  $3\frac{1}{2}@4\frac{1}{2}$  per cent for prime and  $4\frac{1}{2}@5\frac{1}{2}$  per cent for good four to six months' single names.

The only important feature in the European financial situation is the pendency in London of negotiations for a Japanese  $4\frac{1}{2}$  per cent loan for £10,000,000, which it is reported will be offered at 90. There are also rumors of a new Russian loan. The Bank of England minimum rate of discount remains unchanged at 3 per cent, but the Imperial Bank of Germany has reduced its rate to 4 per cent from  $4\frac{1}{2}$  per cent, at which it has stood since February 21. The cable reports discounts of sixty to ninety-day bank bills in London  $2\frac{1}{2}@2\frac{3}{4}$  3-16 per cent. The open market rate at Paris is  $2\frac{1}{4}$  per cent and at Berlin and Frankfurt it is  $3\frac{1}{2}@3\frac{3}{4}$  per cent. According to our special cable from London, the Bank of England lost £20,422 bullion during the week and held £30,397,686 at the close of the week. Our correspondent further advises us that the loss was due to exports of £50,000 to the Cape, to shipments of £260,000 net to the interior of Great Britain, and to the import of £290,000, of which £260,000 were bought in the open market and £30,000 were from Australia.

The foreign exchange market has been lower this week, claimed to be influenced in some degree by offerings of bills against securities bought in our stock market for European account. It is fair to assume that the ending of all suspense regarding the remittance of the Philippine indemnity, which was an important factor in the market until last week, has exerted more or less influence, especially by inducing sales of exchange, which were speculatively bought in the hope of supplying the expected demand for the above-mentioned remittance. The downward tendency has likewise been aided by the absence of important inquiry and also by a better supply of commercial bills, drawn chiefly against grain and provisions. Another factor has been the easier tone in the London discount market. The decline in rates for actual business this week has carried them to about the figures ruling April 21, when the demand in anticipation of what was supposed to be the requirements of the remitters of the Philippine indemnity became distinctly noticeable. Rates rose, it will be remembered, to  $4\frac{1}{2}@4\frac{3}{4}$  for long and  $4\frac{1}{2}@4\frac{3}{4}$  for short by May 1, or fully one cent compared with those on April 21, and, as now appears, the advance was almost wholly without reason, the exchange for the Philippine indemnity remittance having nearly all been provided for. The steamship Alameda left Sydney, N. S. W., on May 10 with £150,000 gold for San Francisco. An arrival of gold at San Francisco was reported last Saturday of £150,000 by the Moana from Australia. Arrivals of gold at the New York Custom House for the week were \$253,106, of which \$231,600 were from Europe. Though the nominal rates for exchange opened on Monday without alteration at 4 86½ for sixty-day and 4 88½ for sight, there was quite a general reduction on the following day of half a cent, and after Wednesday, when Brown Bros. & Co., Heidelberg, Ickelheimer & Co. and Lazard Freres reduced their rates, the range was from 4 85½ to 4 86½ for sixty-day and from 4 87½ to 4 88½ for sight. On Friday a reduction in the highest rate made the range from 4 85½ to 4 86 for the former and from 4 87½ to 4 88 for the latter. Rates for actual business opened on Monday unchanged, compared with those at the close of Friday of last week, at 4 85½@4 85½ for long, 4 87½@4 87½ for short and 4 87½@4 88 for cables. On the following day there was a reduction of one-quarter of a cent all around, to 4 85@4 8½ for long, 4 87@4 8½ for short and 4 87½@4 87½ for cables, and the market was weak, influenced as above noted. On Wednesday there was a further fall of one-quarter of a cent in long and short, to 4 84½@4 85 for the former and 4 86½@4 87 for the latter, while cables remained at 4 87½@4 87½, and the tone was easy. The market was barely steady on the following day, though not quotably lower, and it was steady on Friday. The following shows daily posted rates for exchange by some of the leading drawers.

STEEL AND IRON CONSOLIDATIONS.

The announcement that the Carnegie-Frick and allied interests in the iron, steel and coke business are to be consolidated is not a matter of small moment. Taken in connection with the other great changes in the personnel of the trade the past few months, it is an occurrence of the first importance. This will prove true even if the greater consolidation, the consolidation of consolidations, which certain interests are seeking to effect, should fail of accomplishment.

In a general way it is known to all that the spirit of combination which has affected American industries so materially of late has found lodgment among the producers of iron and the makers of steel. It is only, however, when we group together the names and capitalization of the companies produced by these consolidations and remember that each one of them is counting on an increased output through an invasion of foreign markets if possible, and then note the steps taken by concerns still independent to extend their field of operation, that we appreciate the full extent of the revolution to which our iron and steel industry has been subjected the last half-year.

The following table brings together the chief consolidations of iron, steel and allied interests that have gone into effect or been definitely arranged and shows the amount of their capital stock and the number of companies absorbed by them:

* Estimated, not yet announced; bonds (l). There are also bonds as follows: (a) $28,334,000; (b) $730,000; (c) $2,561,000; (d) $265,000; (e) $7,500,000.

Other recent consolidations using more or less iron and steel in manufactured products are the following: American Radiator Co., common, $5,000,000; preferred, $5,000,000; International Steam Pump Co., common, $15,000,000; preferred, $12,500,000; Pressed Steel Car Co., common, $12,500,000; preferred, $12,500,000; International Heater Co., $1,800,000; total capitalization, $64,300,000, including railroads, etc.

This compilation is remarkable in several respects. In the first place the twelve companies concerned have a total stock capitalization of more than $700,000,000, and this is after taking, in nearly every instance, the amount of stock actually outstanding or arranged to be issued and not the total issue authorized by the articles of incorporation. In the case of the Carnegie Steel Company to be on the safe side, we have estimated the issue presently to be made at just half the amount talked of for the company in the daily press. If we take 500 millions as the capitalization of the Carnegie Company, the total shown by our table would exceed one thousand millions. In the second place the incorporation of all these companies has occurred since the first of last September. The American Steel & Wire Company alone may be said to date back a few months earlier than this, inasmuch as seven of the twenty concerns united by it were first brought together in March, 1898, by an Illinois company having the same name as, and subsequently merged in, the present corporation. In the third place these twelve great companies have absorbed nearly two hundred existing concerns of various kinds. As a matter of fact the total of merged companies is not fully shown, since to some extent they themselves were the result of earlier consolidations. Thus the Federal Steel Co., one of the principal of the new organizations, figures in the table as formed of six companies, but the Illinois Steel Company, one of its constituent properties, was itself a consolidation.

A fourth point of interest is seen in the fact that a considerable number of these consolidations have been drawn on very broad lines and with a view to the highest degree of economy in operation, eliminating not alone the middle man handling their raw material, but the original producer of the raw material. In other words, the plan has been to equip the leading companies with iron mines from which to get the necessary ore, the transportation facilities to carry it (in two cases railroad lines, as well as steamships on the lakes, are provided), the furnaces to smelt the ore, and even in a measure coal mines, coke ovens and lime quarries. The map in THE INVESTORS' SUPPLEMENT, on page 154, indicates in graphic fashion the comprehensive nature of the property of the Federal Steel Company, including as it does not only manufacturing plants at Chicago, Joliet and Milwaukee, at Lorain, Ohio, and Johnstown, Pa., but iron mines in the Mesaba Range in Minnesota, a railroad to carry the ore to the company's docks on Lake Superior, steamship lines to carry it thence to the different plants, a railroad connecting the Chicago and Joliet plants with the lake and the railroads entering Chicago, coal mines in Pennsylvania, etc. The American Steel & Wire Company, barring the railroads, has the same kind of facilities. The Republic Iron & Steel Company also owns extensive coal and iron mines, as well as coke ovens and blast furnaces, to supply its rolling mills. The National Steel Company, owning blast furnaces and rolling mills able to supply 1,800,000 tons of steel a year, has within a short time, it is stated, acquired iron mining interests on the Mesaba Range and also coking coal in Pennsylvania. The American Steel Hoop Company and the American Tin Plate Company are closely allied to the National Steel Company, and the talk of uniting the three into a single corporation is based on the appropriateness of making the manufacturing companies independent of market variations as regards the raw material.

But the activity in the production of iron and steel is being quickened not alone by the great consolidations. The companies not included in these are many of them extending their field of operations materially, and are likely to prove an important factor in the situation. The times have been propitious for securing new capital for this purpose. The following table contains the leading independent concerns that are having their scope of action broadened, either directly with their own capital or through the intervention of a new company organized to that end:

OLD COMPANIES WHOSE OPERATIONS ARE BEING EXTENDED BY NEW COMPANIES OR OTHERWISE.

Old Company.	How & Outstanding Treated.	Stock.	New Company.	When Organized.	& Stock Auth.
Cambria Iron Co.	Leased	$8,498,000.	Cambria Steel Co.	Nov. '98.	$16,000,000

Diamond State S.	Leased	(?)	Diamond Steel Co.	May, '99.	3,000,000

Penn. Steel	.....	$6,250,000.	(Fiduciary plan likely any time)
Total	.....	$56,218,000.			$47,990,000

z There are also the following bonds outstanding: (a) $2,000,000; (b) $1,851,000; (c) $9,200,000; (d) $7,857,000; (e) $1,233,000; (f) $1,100,000. y Only $960,000 to be paid in to June 2, 1899. z Only $300,000 called.

New companies, it will be seen, have been organized with a total authorized capital of $47,990,000, empowered to purchase outright or to lease, or to operate in connection with, the old companies. Two of the new concerns, however (Cambria Steel and Bethlehem Steel), will not reach their maximum requirements for new capital for several years to come, and of their total capital stock ($31,000,000) only $1,260,000 will have been paid in on June 2. Allowing for this and adding the capital stock of the old companies in so far as it remains outstanding, we find the total capital of the several companies to be $74,448,000.

In the next table we give a summary of the companies already mentioned and add to the list three other concerns that deserve recognition, in order to furnish a more complete idea as to the size of the interests involved:

GENERAL SUMMARY.

Name or class of company.	Stock.	Bonds.	Total.
Important consolidations (as above), say	$750,000,000	$39,125,000	$789,125,000
Companies as above extending operations	74,448,000	27,791,000	101,739,000
Add other large co's, viz.:
Gloss Iron & Steel Co.	5,000,000	4,000,000	9,000,000
Lackaw'a Iron & Steel Co.	3,750,000	.....	3,750,000
Jones & Laughlin Co. of Pittsburg	4,000,000	.....	4,000,000
Grand total	$837,198,000	$70,916,000	$908,114,000

The total capitalization here shown exceeds 900 millions, and yet, as will be remembered, it includes, on a basis of 250 millions, the Carnegie consolidation, which may have considerably more than this. Were the compilation strictly complete as regards the concerns producing iron and steel, the total would reach a still more imposing aggregate, while if the allied industries were given adequate representation the total might be enormously swelled. Certain consolidations that have been on foot would alone make a notable change in the result. These include the iron and steel bridge interests, representing a reported capitalization of about $50,000,000; the metallic roofing companies, $10,000,000; the projected Union Steel & Chain Company, $60,000,000; the horse-shoe trust, $7,000,000; the safe company consolidation, $17,000,000, the plow trust, $65,000,000, etc. Others might be added, but it is unnecessary to say more to prove the extent of the field covered.

The foregoing compilation brings clearly to view a number of facts that may well be observed together. First, there has been in recent months a remarkable concentration of interests in the steel and iron trade. Second, this concentration, to a large extent, has been of a kind to increase materially the effectiveness of the country as a producer of iron and steel articles at minimum cost. Third, the presumption is that in so far as the consolidated companies organized are complete units in themselves, and are so situated that they "start at the bottom and have all the profits there are, from ore to finished material," it will prove difficult to make them see any advantage in surrendering their identity in favor of greater consolidations. Fourth, the enterprise shown in the case of the smaller companies indicates competition that would stand in the way of any would-be monopoly. This is made more prominent by the apparent success that is attending the preparation for a new fifteen-million-dollar steel plant at Buffalo. Fifth, the most promising field for the union of large iron and steel companies seems to lie in the direction of an alliance of those that manufacture staple articles of the metal with those that can supply the iron and steel bars and plates. Finally, the changes in the entire industry are of such recent origin that little knowledge can be had for months to come, either by ourselves or the world at large, of the effect the changes will have on foreign or even on domestic trade.

THE ANGLO-RUSSIAN AGREEMENT IN CHINA.

The various rumors which have for some time been circulating in regard to English and Russian jealousies on the Chinese partition have been for the most part set at rest by the agreement announced a few days ago. It will be remembered that the mutual attitude of the two Powers not long since became distinctly threatening. The hostile sentiment in England was aggravated by a seeming diplomatic victory of Russia at the Chinese Court. A so-called "palace conspiracy" resulted in the virtual removal from authority of the young Chinese Emperor, who was regarded as the friend of England. His Ministers, who had favored the administrative reforms advised by England, were disgraced, and in some cases escaped with their lives only through taking refuge under the British flag. For a time it was doubted whether the Emperor himself was still alive.

Following this incident came open claims by Russia, particularly in regard to concessions for railway construction in interior China, and the claims met with concessions, on the part of the Chinese Government, so sweeping that it was thought that prior grants to England were arbitrarily superseded. The anger of the English people and press burst forth for a day or two, almost as violently as it did some months later in the dispute with France regarding the upper Nile. But the outburst quieted so rapidly as to suggest to shrewd observers that the British Foreign Office had dropped a hint against premature agitation. The suspicion is verified by subsequent events. There was a season during which English exasperation was again directed at what seemed to be a policy of surrender on the part of the English Government. Now it is semi-officially announced, and no doubt correctly, that a friendly understanding has been reached between the two Powers; that England recognizes Russia's "sphere of influence" in Manchuria, where the Russian Government wishes to control the railroad serving as an outlet from its own Siberian dominions to the coast, while Russia responds by recognizing England's prior right to commercial occupancy of the territory below Peking.
